Summary

Summary

The first recorded white visitor to The Basin was W. H. Hovell who explored the area in 1827.

Rev. James Clow’s Corhanwarrabul run included The Basin, and he pastured stock there as early as 1838.

William Turner and his family were the first long term white residents of The Basin, settling in 1851. No official records support the claim that they resided in The Basin except some letters written by Turner and unvalidated claims by other authors. However, a detailed argument is provided supporting the claim.

The name “The Basin” is attributed to Baron Von Mueller who established a camp in 1853 on the creek flats near the corner of The Basin-Olinda and Sheffield Roads. The flat area of land on this corner combined with the surrounding hills form a distinct basin. Von Mueller, musing as he camped in this area, named it “The Basin”. In 1868, John Hardy created the first map of the Dandenongs and was the first to officially pen the name “The Basin” on a map.

William Peverill Watson was the first official occupier of land in The Basin. On the 5th February 1867, Watson was granted title to Crown Allotment A.

Dobsons, Chandlers and Wicks families settled in The Basin in the 1870s as market gardeners. All families and their descendants have made enormous contributions in influencing development in The Basin area.

John James Miller, James and Emily Griffiths and Sir Matthew Davis all built palatial houses in The Basin. In 2021, only John James Miller’s house remains and is owned and maintained by The City of Knox. The other two houses were destroyed by bushfire.

James and Emily Griffiths were religious people and devoted their time as benefactors to the local community. Both were killed in a tragic railway crossing accident in Bayswater. In 2016, the railway crossings were removed with the railway relocated underground.

Distinguished Resident
Helen Chandler

Helen Chandler is one of The Basin’s most distinguished residents having been awarded an MBE in 1967 for services to the community. Helen lived in The Basin for over 60 years after marrying Bert Chandler, who inherited Como Nurseries from his father, William Chandler.

The Red Cross, Royal Children’s Hospital Auxiliary and Glengollan Retirement Village were just a few of the community organisations Helen devoted her life to. Her community work involved much car driving and when she obtained her drivers licence in the 1930’s she was one of a rare breed of women drivers.

The MBE award was a fine tribute to this great lady who devoted her life to those less fortunate than herself. Helen Chandler passed away in August, 1987.

The Basin is Formed

In 1770, the British ship “The Endeavour” was nearing the end of a three-year voyage. The year before on 1st June 1769, the captain, Lieutenant James Cook, had observed from Tahiti the crossing of the sun by the planet Venus. Cook then sailed around New Zealand and headed west. He discovered the east coast of Australia on the 20th April 1770 and sailed north along it for eight days. Stepping ashore at Botany Bay on 28th April, he proclaimed the land “New South Wales” — a nation was born.

On his voyage, undertaken for scientific observation and discovery, Cook had with him two eminent botanists, Joseph Banks and Dr. Carl Solander. Both were greatly interested in the many new plant species they found around Botany Bay.

In later years after Batman and Fawkner had started another settlement at Port Phillip in 1835, other botanists were attracted to the fauna and flora to be found in the nearby hills. These hills, known by the aborigines as “Coran warabile”, were to reveal the most exquisite and unique flora and fauna to be found anywhere in the world.

Depasturing Licences

Depasturing Licences were issued for the purpose of allowing the grazing of stock on Crown Land and were part of the “Act to restrain unauthorised occupation of Crown Lands” passed in 1836 in Sydney by the Legislative Council.

Soon after the foundation of Melbourne in 1836, settlers flooded into Victoria and by 1840 they had settled on and “claimed” most of pastoral Victorian land. The land they claimed was vacant Crown Land. These settlers were known as “squatters” and had no legal claim to the land until they applied for, and were granted, a Depasturing Licence for the land. The land was then known as a “pastoral run” or a “run”. Initially, the licence fee was set at 10 pounds per year irrespective of the size of the run. In later years, the fees and allowed land sizes were varied.

Pastoral runs were only on lease from the Crown, and the lease holder had no title to the land. In 2021 a number of pastoral runs still exist in the northern parts of Australia.

Pastoral runs were usually given a distinctive name by the original licence applicant and boundaries were loosely defined, usually by geographical features. The first licences were not issued until 1838, and one of the first was to Rev. Jas. Clow for the Corhanwarrabul run which included The Basin area.

In such a setting, The Basin was formed.

The First Inhabitants

Aborigines have inhabited Australia for 40,000 years or more and The Basin area was home to the Wurundjeri tribe. Early white settlers had contact with the Aborigines and implements (stone axes, knives and spear heads) have been found by men ploughing and cultivating The Basin’s soil.

The Aboriginal tribes knew of the fertility of The Basin area, and indeed even up to the 1860s members of tribes hunted the forest and fern gullies for wallaby, possum and native bear. Some trekked through The Basin and Bayswater foothills en route to hunting grounds in the Warburton Ranges.

The First White Visitor

The first recorded white visitor to the area now known as The Basin was the explorer W. H. Hovell.

In late 1826, Captain Samuel Wright arrived off Phillip Island in command of the vessels Dragon and Fly. He carried orders to establish a convict settlement in Westernport to discourage French interest in the area.

Captain Wright’s group consisted of soldiers, convicts and a few civilians — one being W. H. Hovell. Hovell’s intention was to survey the country around the settlement before heading across country toward Sydney. Hovell came well-equipped, with four fine horses, two pack saddles, horseshoe nails, and presents for the blacks. Three convicts had been assigned to go with him.

On Hovell’s fifth exploratory trip in February 1827, he explored the southern and western faces of the Dandenongs. This route would have taken him through the area now known as The Basin.

Hovell’s explorations were so successful he abandoned the idea of crossing to Sydney by country and instead returned by boat.

The Westernport settlement was abandoned in February 1828.

Prominent Early Visitors

Prominent Early Visitors

Daniel Bunce

The settlement at Port Phillip was five years old when Daniel Bunce, a botanist, arrived from Hobart. The blue range of hills lying some 25 miles east of Melbourne attracted his attention and, helped by a group of natives, he explored the area.

In 1840, he blazed a track east of Melbourne through to the foot of the Dandenongs and ascended to the top. The Basin would have the most likely place for him commence his ascent up the Dandenongs as it is a direct route east of Melbourne. Following the Dandenong Creek would have been a logical route for Bunce. Allan

Dodd, a descendant of the George Dodd, who selected land below Sassafras in 1878 (known as "Dodd's Gully" and in 2021, "Rainbow Gully"), claimed that Bunce's route passed through his descendant's property located below the source of the spring which feeds the Dandenong Creek.

It seems as if others may have previously ventured into the Western Port Range, as they were then called, but Bunce must be accorded the distinction of having been the first known white man to have ascended the Dandenongs. During his ascent, he made copious notes of the area and collected botanical specimens.

In later years Bunce joined Leichardt's expedition along the Condamine in Queensland, and later again became curator of the Geelong Botanic Gardens.

The Turner's house in The Basin circa 1860. Turners descendants claim that this house was located on The Basin-Olinda Road near the corner of Sheffield Road.

Baron Von Mueller

Baron Ferdinand Jakob Heinrich Von Mueller (an imposing name for an unpretentious man) showed real interest in The Basin.

Appointed Government Botanist to the State of Victoria in 1852, "The Doctor" as he was known, spent a week in The Dandenongs and became enthralled with their beauty. After many subsequent visits he established a camp in The Basin in 1853 on the creek flats near what became William Chandler's property at the corner of The Basin-Olinda Road and Sheffield Road. From this and other camps he made excursions into the bush collecting botanical specimens.

Von Mueller, born in Germany in 1825, came to Australia because of poor health. In 1852, he was appointed the State's first Government botanist. It was in this capacity that he first visited the Dandenongs in 1853.

From 1857 to 1873 Von Mueller was Director of the Melbourne botanical Gardens. Von Mueller first exported eucalypts to many parts of the world and introduced many valuable plants, including the Monterey pine to Australia. It has been said he also introduced the blackberry.

A busy, but simple kindly man, Mueller invariably wore a white muffler, and at times wore wooden clogs. He enjoyed bread and butter, German sausage and ginger beer.

For his outstanding work Mueller received many honours. The King of Wurttenburg made him a baron, Queen Victoria knighted him, and he received honours from France, Spain, Portugal, Italy, Austria, Denmark, Holland and Sweden.

The First Pasturing of Stock

The first pasturing of stock in The Basin area can be credited to Rev. James Clow. In 1838, he was granted a Depasturing Licence (see inset on page 3) to graze cattle on an area of land (or run) he named "Corhanwarrabul". The name was taken from the Aboriginal word "Coran Warabile" which refers to the Dandenong Ranges. This run was approximately 36 square miles and roughly bordered by the Dandenong creek from the Police Paddocks in Rowville along past Bayswater and The Basin, parts of The Dandenongs and back around through Narre Warren East.

By 1860, this run had been broken up into several smaller runs. The closest of these runs to The Basin being the "Dandenong Creek Run" which was roughly bounded by Burwood Highway, the Dandenong Creek and Dorset Road — a total of 6 square miles.

The Name

The name "The Basin" is attributed to Baron Von Mueller, a botanist, who established a camp in 1853 on the creek flats near what later became William Chandler's property at the corner of The Basin-Olinda Road and Sheffield Road. The flat area of land at this corner combined with the surrounding hills form a distinct basin. Von Mueller, musing as he camped in this area, named it "The Basin". From this and other camps he made excursions into the bush collecting botanical specimens.

The earliest written recording of the name "The Basin" is on a plan of the Dandenong State Forest prepared by Surveyor John Hardy in 1868 (see map on page 12) and in his field book described below. It has been suggested that "The Basin" was added on the map later. However, Hardy's entries in his field book were entered as he surveyed the area, so it unlikely he entered the name later.

Early surveyors used field books to record raw survey information used for the later creation of plans and maps. They showed physical features on the William Chandler referred to “The Basin” when in 1872 he applied for a licence to occupy 40 acres (see page 20).

In some early land transactions, The Basin area was called “North Scoresby”.

“... the School be known as “The Basin” State School No. 2329, North Scoresby. Dandenong Ranges is too indefinite and is not recognised in the district. “The Basin” is the local name and is likely to be permanent.”

Residents in the early 1890s referred to the area near the corner of The Basin-Olinda Road and Sheffield Road as “The Little Basin” and the low area west of the Salvation Army buildings (known as the “Army flats”) as “The Big Basin”.

Advertisements for the guest houses Hazel Dell and Clevedon used Sassafras and Bayswater up until about 1930 and then used The Basin.

The motion to change the name was opposed by the Chandlers and Dobsons, pioneer families for whom the name had its roots in family traditions. They claimed the name had “distinction”. The motion was lost by a narrow margin.

In the 1920s and 1930s, the area around

Pre-emptive Right

In 1847, an act was passed that gave settlers who held a licence for a Pastoral Run an exclusive right to purchase part of the land and later on, all of it. This was known as giving the settler a "Pre-emptive Right" to the land.

To qualify for a Pre-emptive grant, the applicant must be living in a homestead on the land and it must be inside a run licenced to the applicant. Granted land was almost always in increments of 80 acres, rectangular and with one side pointing North-South.

Mountain Highway/Claremont Avenue/Toorak Avenue was known as "Switzerland" and later "Somerville" after the estate names.

Two "The Basins" have been heard of in Victoria — one in the Bacchus Marsh area and another near Lakes Entrance.

Associated with the name is the emblem of The Basin (see picture on page 5). The Football Club, The Primary School and the Scout Troop all originally chose the Rosella as their emblem because of the numerous Eastern Rosellas in The Basin. The Basin Football Club won their first premiership as the "Rosella's" and later changed to be known as "The Bears".

The First Residents

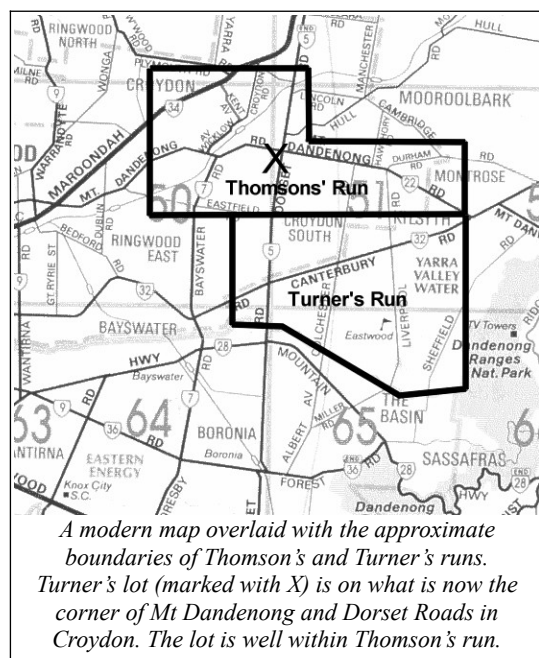

William Turner (see photo on page 37), his wife Margaret and their children were the first known long term white residents of The Basin. However, the only written evidence to support the Turners living in The Basin in the 1850s is in a letter written by Turner (see Letter 5 on page 11) and claims from descendants of the Turners. Thomas Turner, the Turners second son who died in 1932 at the age of 88, was well known for making this claim. He passed on to his descendants that it was well remembered in his family that he was only 2 weeks old when they moved to the area now known as The Basin. He also claimed that their house was located on what is now The Basin-Olinda Road. Tom was a long term and prominent resident of Croydon. The Croydon Historical Society has many photos of Tom and his family.

Other publications also make the claim that the Turners were the first white residents of The Basin.

Turner's descendants claim the Turners first lived in The Basin and then moved to Croydon. However, as will be shown later, the available evidence shows the Turners first lived in Croydon, then moved to The Basin and then moved back to Croydon.

William Turner was born in Yorkshire in 1813 of a Quaker family and died in Ringwood in 1893. Turner was a Captain in the English army and his commission took him first to Sydney in 1837 and then to Melbourne where he arrived in 1840 (according to his death certificate). Turner gave up his commission soon after his arrival because the public flogging of convicted persons for petty offences conflicted with his Quaker upbringing. After arriving in Melbourne, Turner opened the first Tailors shop in Elizabeth Street, and conducted brick making works in partnership with Goliath Chatterton. On his death certificate, Turner's profession is listed as a Tailor.

Turner married Margaret Jane Killan in 1847 at St James Cathedral, Melbourne. She was born in Ireland in 1825 and died in Mooroolbark in 1882. The death certificates of both parents list that they had 10 children, but some children’s Date of Birth (DOB) computed from the two death certificates do not correlate. The children

Tragically, Louisa died at the age of 17 and Joshua died at the age of 20.

Turner claimed in a letter dated 1855 (see Letter 2 on page 8) that he had a family of 9 children. However, the Turner’s only had 7 children in 1855. Either the Turner’s had other children that died young or Turner was exaggerating his situation to support his claims. From Government and Church records, sketchy

To the Honorable
The Colonial Secretary
Sir

The humble Petition of William Turner humbly sheweth that your petitioner did on the 16 th June 1854 pay into office of the Colonial Treasurer £160 for One Hundred and Sixty Acres Land (granted under Pre-emptive right) at Cohanwarranbull Dandenong Creek (known by the name of the White Flat) & which your petitioner resided on when he made application for same land and your petitioner has not been able to obtain the Grant in consequence of the land applied for being decided to be on Thompson’s Run and as there is no land on your petitioners land fit for Agricultural purposes (and your petitioner being in a very humble position) having borrowed the said sum of £160 to pay for the said land, and in consequence of not being able to obtain same, has not been able to pay the party from whom the money was borrowed and an executor is now pending on your petitioner for recovery of said £160.

Your petitioner therefore humbly beg that you will direct the return of the said sum of £160 otherwise it will result in the ruin of your petitioner and family consisting of nine children, and who are entirely dependant on your petitioner And your petitioner in duty bound will ever pray accounts indicate a possible 4 other births to the Turner name in the 1840s, but these cannot be confirmed.

In the 1840s, Turner held a Depasturing Licence for a run known as “Western Port”. This run encompassed the areas of Lilydale and Croydon. In June 1849, he took up the Depasturing Licence for a pastoral run known as “Stringy Bark Forest Run” or “Mooroolbark” which he held until 1869. This run was first leased in 1840 by Rob Bennet who held it until 1842. William Cole held it from 1842 to 1843 and Rogerson and Dick held it from 1846 to 1847.

Turner also held a Depasturing Licence for an unnamed run which was located North of the Dandenong Creek extending from The Basin to the West (see map on page 7). It is recorded that he held this licence in 1852 (from the description of the run) but no other records can be found to establish the full period he held the run.

In 1844, Turner erected a house near the area now known as Croydon South and moved there with his wife and children. The land he erected his house on was part of his Western Port run. William and his family were known to have lived in harmony with the local Aborigines.

In 1851, Turner applied to purchase, under Pre-emptive right (see inset on page 7), 160 acres of land surrounding his house. Assistant Surveyor H. B. Foot was instructed to:

“...mark lots for Turner and Thompson etc on the White Flats of Dandenong near the northern bend of Dandenong Creek connecting the survey with the southern boundary of the Parish of Warrandyte”.

In the 1850s, the plains North and South of the Dandenong Creek where it flows West from the Dandenongs were known as the “White Flats”.

Turner’s lot was marked by Surveyor Clement Hodgkinson, but the lot was found to be part of John Thomson’s run (see map on page 7). On 15th March 1851 Turner was ordered off the land (see letter 4 on page 10).

Letters from Turner on pages 8 and 8 confirm that he was ordered off the land and that his Pre-emptive right was annulled. He also states that he resided on the land when he was ordered off. He claims to have paid 160 pounds for his Pre-emptive right and requested several times that the money be repaid after the right was annulled. Eventually, he was granted return of the money (see letter 4 on page 10).

*Name of Run: Head of Dandenong Ck
Area applied: 160 acres
Application Date: 20 Feb 1851
Area granted: 160 acres
Approval Date: 30 Apr. 1852
Amount: 160 Pounds
Payment Date: 16th June 1854*

The name of the run is “Head of Dandenong Ck” but this is a position description and not the name of the run, as Turners was an “unnamed run” (according to Government records). It is unclear if this is the same land that Turner was ordered off on 15th March 1851, but the Payment Date correlates with the date quoted by Turner (see letter 2 on page 8). However, the Approval Date is 30th April 1852; after Turner was ordered off the land deemed to be on Thomson’s run

Interestingly, in 1855, Turner requested that the land he was ordered off be put up for sale by auction, and he purchased it (see Letter 5 on page 11) The map on page 36 shows the land he purchased.

Turner used the term “Corrwarrabul Dandenong Creek” at least twice in his letters implying that the two names were used synonymously in those days for the Dandenong Creek.

A detailed 1855 map of a part of the County of Evelyn (see page 36) shows 160 acres of land marked “Wm Turner” on what is now the South-Western corner of the junction of Dorset Road and Mount Dandenong Road in Croydon. The land is marked with an “A” indicating that this land may have been part of a pre-emptive rights application. A track is marked running from his land to a sawmill. It is well known Turner ran a sawmill and supplied wooden casks for a boiling down works in Mooroolbark. Also marked on Turners land is the geographical feature “The Wide Flat”.

This land is almost certainly the land originally part of John Thomson’s run that Turner applied to have surveyed for his Pre-emptive right in 1851. Turner was ordered off this land but later purchased it at auction.

Turners Pre-emptive application is also entered in the “Applications Register for the purchase of Land under Pre-Emptive Right” held by the Public Records Office. In the remark's column it states:

The entry is dated 1852.

When Turner was ordered off Thomson’s run in 1851, it is thought that this is when he moved to, and established a residence, in the area now known as The Basin.

In 1856, Victoria had its first election for Upper and Lower houses. Victoria was divided into Divisions and The Basin was in Evelyn Division with Mornington Division further South. The boundary between Evelyn and Mornington was a line running approximately east of Oakleigh. Persons eligible to vote in the Lower house were:

- Owners of freehold land to a value of £50.
- Owners of leasehold land to value of £10 annually.
- Crown tenants of waste lands or miners’ rights.

Potential voters sent an appointed Collector their names, surnames, places of abode and qualifications to the Collectors office or the Collector would call.

The Collector for Evelyn was Andrew Ross and for Mornington was J. R. Hudson.

Collectors made an alphabetical list of all the qualified persons within their area of collection and published the lists. Other potential voters could dispute any name on the list and there was a mechanism for resolving these disputes. After resolving any disputes, a final electoral roll was created.

Collectors verified if a person was “qualified” by a dispute mechanism, but it is not known how the validity of a potential voter submitted information was checked.

Three listings referring to Turner are in the records of the 1856 election. The information in these listings is reproduced on the inset on page 13.

Extracts for Turner from the final electoral roll are as follows:

- Mornington Div.
769 Turner, William Cohanwarranbul, Farmer The White Flats, Dandenong. Freehold
- Evelyn Div.
403 Turner, William Warrantdyte, grazier, depasture license. Warrantdyte

It is difficult to correlate any of the election records with what is known of Turner’s holdings. Although Turner is listed as holding freehold land in the Mornington Division this seems unlikely as this Division is well south of his known holdings. Turner may have been confused about the Division boundary and as the extent of checking the validity of voter’s details is unknown, the information in the electoral records cannot be

Letter 4

I have reason to suppose that at the time Turner paid the purchase money, he was fully aware that he could not obtain a grant of the portion of land at the locality called the White Flat as I find that on the 15th of March 1851 he was ordered by the Commissioner of Crown Lands for the County of Bourke to remove from the locality, which formed part of the run leased to Mr Thomson. That being the case there appears to be no reasonable ground for complying with the Petitioners request, except under his plea of poverty, and therefore His Excellency is pleased to sanction the refund of the money as an act of grace taken as correct.

In 1858, Turner applied to purchase, under Pre-emptive right, 160 acres of land (see Letter 5 on page 11). To purchase land under Pre-emptive right, the land must be on a licenced run. Turner held the licence to an unnamed run North of the Dandenong Creek.

Turner states in his letter that he is residing on the land and that it is situated "about 2 Miles East of H. Rourke's purchased Land". Hugh and Henry Rourke held the Dandenong Creek Run from 1843 to 1853 and in 1854 Henry Rourke took over the run in his name only.

Rourke applied for, and in 1854 was granted, 160 acres of land within his run under Pre-emptive right. Rourke's Pre-emptive land was located on what is now the South-East corner of the junction of Mountain Highway and Scoresby Road. On later maps, Rourke's land is marked with an "A" indicating the land was originally part of a Pre-emptive right application.

The statement in Turner's letter "about 2 Miles East of H. Rourke's purchased Land" would place Turner's land near the current The Basin township. This means that in 1858 the Turners were living in The Basin and it is most likely they arrived in 1851.

Crown allotment maps of The Basin in the area pointed to by Turner show an allotment marked with an "A" which may indicate the Pre-emptive right application made by Turner. This allotment is on the South-West corner of the junction of Pavitt Lane and Sheffield Road. William Peverill Watson is recorded as gaining freehold title to this land in 1867 (see map on page 6). The land is not of 160 acres as claimed by Turner, but the land boundaries may have been adjusted between Turner's application and Watson's purchase. Allotment A extends North of the Dandenong Creek into land which was part of Turner's run.

William Watson and David Dobson were the first freehold owners of Allotment A and Allotment 72A respectively, but no official records can be located to indicate Turner had an interest in allotment A or any other allotment in The Basin.

The allotment to the South of allotment A (marked as 72A) is recorded as having been leased in 1867 to Wm. Turner Jn., of Lilydale

Ferntree Gully Coat of Arms

John James Miller was a well known early settler, but how many knew he chose the Ferntree Gully Shire's coat of arms. In his capacity as the first Shire President, he said he believed the design of a "lyrebird and bower, surrounded with fern trees and the motto 'Prolific in God's Gifts' would be very appropriate".

who was most likely the Turners first son. He lost the licence for encouraging "illicit distillation". Also, it is on this land that Turner's descendants claim the Turner house was located. The name "Turner" appears on an 1867 map prepared by John Hardy (see maps on pages 12 and 34).

Turners statement in his letter where he is residing, and that allotment A was a Pre-emptive right application gives credence to the claim by Turner's descendants that the Turners once lived in The Basin. However, the Turners did not live in The Basin until at least 1851.

In 1867, the Government instructed John Hardy to survey the Dandenong Ranges to preserve sections of it as a forest. Hardy created a detailed map of The Dandenong State Forest which included details of tracks and huts around The Basin (see map on page 12 and a more detailed section of the map on page 34). Turner's descendants claim that Turner's son, Tom, guided John Hardy in his survey.

On Hardy's map, a dray track starts near land marked "Turner" in The Basin and then heads East splitting into two tracks, each following a ridge to the top of the mountain. These tracks are most likely the first tracks in the area and would have been created by William Turner. The Northern track became known as the "Bullock Track" or "Holden's Track" (after George Holden) and follows the route of what later became Range Road (now closed) to Olinda. The Southern track follows the route of what later became Cobblestone Road (now closed) to Ferny Creek. Both tracks would have been initially constructed to cart timber from the forest to Melbourne.

Other dray tracks start above land marked "Watson" and head North and East. One dray track lead to a leasehold of 320 acres held by William Turner in the forest just below Sassafras. This leasehold would have been used with his wood cutting operations. The detailed map shows the name "W. Turner" on the map near what is now Dobson's Creek.

In the 1850s, William Turner (senior) is recorded as being sought after by an inspector from the Board of Land and Works for cutting timber on the upper regions of the southern branches of the Dandenong Creek without a licence. George Holden and his two sons were well known for cutting timber at Olinda during the 1850s and later. Both Turner and Holden would have had a hand in creating the tracks shown on Hardy's map.

The tracks around the land marked Turner and Watson were the main routes to the top of The Dandenongs then. They would have been well-used by timber cutters, settlers and visitors as early as the 1850s.

Evidence that all tracks start near the land marked "Turner" together with Turners 320 acre land lease just below Sassafras and being sought after for cutting timber without a licence all indicate that William Turner resided on the land marked "Turner" on Hardy's map.

In 1860, the Turners moved back to Croydon to the land they first settled on in 1844, were removed from in 1851 but later purchased in 1855.

After Turners wife Margaret died on 4th December 1882, he married Harlettie Louisa Groombridge on June 30th 1883, and they had three children, Sydney Groombridge Turner, born 12th July 1883, Claribell Victoria Turner, born 1886, and Myrtle Elsie Adelaide Turner, born 1889. When he remarried, his occupation was stated as a Tailor and was living at 41 Elizabeth Street, Melbourne. This was his occupation given when he resigned from the Army.

William Turner died on July 1st 1893 and was apparently well known for his humanitarianism.

See the "Research Notes" chapter for information gathered by other authors about William Turner and other relevant information.

Founder

A founder is defined as "one who set up, established and originated a permanent home or edifice at a place".

William Watson was the first person to hold title to land in The Basin but did not reside there long.

The Dobsons and Chandlers came later and had a large influence in establishing The Basin with their involvement in local affairs.

The Turners were the first white residents of The Basin and indeed the Dandenongs, but the significance of this fact is passed over or given little status. As Murial McGivern relates in her publication "Founder of the Dandenongs", William Turner is the founder of The Dandenongs and The Basin.

The First Official Landholder

William Peverill Watson is recorded as being the first official occupier of land in the area now known as The Basin. On the 5th February 1867, Watson was granted title to Crown Allotment A (see map on page 6). Watson paid cash for the 102 acres at £1 per acre. Improvements were already valued at £345, and they included a homestead, outbuildings, some fencing and cultivation. The map is dated 1866 and has Watson's name marked on Allotment A. Presumably he held the land in a leasehold capacity before he purchased it, and it is therefore likely he occupied the land from at least 1864.

Watson sold Allotment A to his daughter, Emma Rachel Dorrington, on 2nd August 1867 and on the 9th December 1872, David Dobson purchased the land to add to his existing holdings.

To the South of Allotment A is Allotment 72A. William Turner Junior had a licence on this Allotment in 1867, but had his licence cancelled for being involved in "illicit distillation". William Hall Watson held the lease in 1870 and David Dobson was granted title in 1872.

Prominent Early Settlers

Many early settlers were attracted by the fertile creek flats at The Basin. The most productive land being Allotment A, 72A, 72B and 75 (see maps on pages 6 and 20) with the Dandenong Creek, Dobson Creek and their tributaries running through them. The astuteness of the early settlers confirmed by Robert Thompson, Government inspector, who wrote in 1870:

"The command of water here for irrigation over an extent of 65 acres might turn out six loads of vegetables every day round the year".

Other early settlers were attracted by the Forest and easy access to large tracts of timber or the scenic beauty of the streams and fern gullies on the foothills of the mountains.

David Dobson

David Dobson was born in 1838 in Newcastle on Tone, England, and arrived in Melbourne on the "Persia" on 20th March 1854. The ship's register described him as a 16-year-old agricultural labourer from Cumberland. It also stated that he was travelling to Melbourne with his "uncle". Later official records show him as the son of Thomas and Susan, and the brother of Thomas 13, Charlotte 11 and Jane 9 who had boarded the ship in Liverpool, having come from "Gifford, East Lothia" in Scotland. An older brother, John Thomson, also emigrated to Melbourne. At that time the Victorian government was advertising for people with farming experience, and the Dobsons were exactly the family they were looking for.

The Dobsons began by felling timber, including ships' masts (thus the naming of "Mast Gully Road" at Upwey), and lived in the Ferntree Gully National Park area. David's mother Susan died in 1858 aged 45. His father Thomas later married Susan's younger sister Christina Cree.

Members of the Dobson family settled in Scoresby and carried out farming and grazing. Apparently, David had his first introduction to the locality which became The Basin when working with stock from their farm “Rushdale”. At that time what is now The Basin was part of the area known as North Scoresby.

In 1867, David married Mary Ann Lum, who was born in Lambeth, Surrey, England. They had 9 children: Robert Lum (1868-1902), Mary (Polly) (1869-1925), James Henry (1871-1891), Jayne (1873-1945), Flora (1875-1951), Charlotte (1878-1965), Alice Maude (1880-1959), Agnes Susan (1882-1889) and Elsie Grace (1885-1957).

David was granted title to Crown Allotment 72A, consisting of 81 acres, on the corner of the present Basin-Olinda and Sheffield Roads on 16th December 1872 for which he paid £81. The Public Records Office were unable to locate any licence or lease records relating to Allotment 72A. However, maps show W. Turner (Jnr) as an earlier occupant of the land. Turner may have originally licenced or leased the land and David Dobson took it over.

On 4th December 1872, David Dobson purchased Allotment A from Emma Rachel Dorrington for £350. This land comprised 102 acres adjoining the northern boundary of 72A and stretching across what is now Dobson’s Creek from today’s Sheffield Road to Liverpool Road and north to the present Pavitt Lane. See map on page 23. It can be seen from the map that Liverpool Road (then Fern Glen Road) had a kink in it at the western end of Allotment A. Later subdivisions and realignments straightened Liverpool Road and created Dobsons Lane.

William Peverill Watson was granted title to Allotment A on 9th February 1867, the first official occupier of land in what is now The Basin. Watson had selected the land in 1866, well before implementation of “The Land Act 1869”, which governed most settlement in this locality. Records show that in 1866 there was already a “homestead” towards the north-eastern corner, and a small area of “cultivation” on the creek flat (see map on page 6). Presumably Watson had been in possession unofficially before that date, probably from at least 1864.

On 2nd August 1867, William Watson transferred Allotment A to his daughter, Emma Rachel Dorrington, who is referred to on documents as “Emma Rachel Dorrington wife of John Dorrington of Brunswick Street Fitzroy near the city of Melbourne County of Bourke grocer”.

Allotments 72A and A brought David Dobson’s total holding in The Basin to about 180 acres.

David also had an interest in Allotment 45 in what is now Knoxfield. He leased the land, commencing on 7th June 1866. After satisfying the lease conditions, he applied for, and was granted title on 25th November 1872 for which he paid £87.

David did not bring his young family to The Basin immediately. For a time, members of the Dobson family came over from Scoresby to work there. The family home was built close to what is now Sheffield Road; and was used as the manager’s residence after the property was purchased by the Salvation Army in 1897.

In February 1879, a petition prepared by David Dobson for 17 families was presented to the education authorities requesting that a school be provided in the area. The Dobson family was shown as having 5 potential students’ resident then, the Chandlers 6 and the Wicks 4. As the birth certificate of Charlotte Dobson, who was born on 30th April 1878, records the local Mrs. Wade as midwife and Mrs. Chandler as a witness, it seems certain the Dobson family was living at The Basin some time before that date.

David Dobson and his family carried on dairy farming and market gardening on the property at The Basin, although apparently the running of stock on the land was later regarded by David as his main business, as he described himself as a “grazier” on his younger daughters’ birth certificates.

David’s sixth daughter, 7-year-old Agnes Susan died in 1889, and his second son James Henry died in 1891 at the age of 20.

In 1895, his elder son, Robert Lum Dobson, married Janet Wicks. As was common in those days, and instead wages for his many years’ hard work on the family property, his father built the couple a home on Allotment A. It was situated near the western boundary of the property on Fern Glen Road (later Liverpool Road).

In 1897, David subdivided Allotment A into 2 parcels. The first parcel was 20 acres bounded by Fern Glen Road and the creek centreline (later named Dobsons Creek) running through the property. The house he built for his son Robert Lum was situated in this parcel. The second parcel was the remaining land in Allotment A. He then sold the first parcel to his son for £150 in the same year. To verify the Dobsons Creek land boundary, a survey in 2018 determined the creek course had not been altered.

On the 3rd March 1897, David Dobson sold his portion of Allotment A and Allotment 72A to Herbert Henry Booth and William Peart for £6,580 and 5 shillings. Booth and Peart were referred to in documents as “both of Bourke Street Melbourne Salvation Army officers”.

David semi-retired in Bayswater, and died in 1906. David’s wife, Mary Ann Dobson (née Lum), died in 1907, 5 months after her husband. David’s will was simple:

... I devise and bequeath unto “my dear wife Mary Ann Dobson the whole of my real and personal estate for her sole and separate use and benefit without any reservation whatever”.

Robert Lum Dobson purchased a further area of some 40 acres, part of Crown Allotment 72, from his southern neighbour, John Yeardon; bringing the total area of his property to about 60 acres. Crown Allotment 72 had changed hands several times since the Crown Grant to Woodhouse in 1878 and was apparently purchased on terms by John Yeardon from Melbourne businessman Bruce in 1898. Transfers, all signed by the Bruce family, were registered to Dobson on 30th April 1901, the Minister of Education in 1902, and (of the section to the west of Liverpool Road) to the Salvation Army in 1903. The balance was transferred to Yeardon in 1904, and eventually also sold to the Salvation Army.

Robert Lum Dobson and his wife Janet carried on vegetable growing and dairy farming, and planted fruit trees for a future orchard; but Robert died suddenly in 1902 at the age of 33. We are told his death followed a bout of rheumatic fever which he contracted after going out to plough a paddock, despite being ill. He found he could not continue and went to lie down under a tree on the damp ground. His subsequent death was a shock not only to his family but to the community. Robert had set off with a load for the market, but when fellow growers who had arrived earlier noticed his wagon approaching, and went to greet him, they found he had died during the trip, his horse having finished the journey unaided. Good neighbour Harry Chandler arranged the sale of the wagon load of produce.

Robert's wife Janet was left with three little children, Janet Mary (Jean) aged 5, James David (Jim) 3, and Robert John (Bob), less than 2 months old. Janet, a determined and independent lady, set about ensuring that her family kept the property her husband had worked so hard for. She employed a "hired man", in the face of disapproval from some residents who believed it was improper for a widow to have a male person resident on her property; and ran the farm with his help and that of her children. Joe, the farmhand, was a hard worker and reliable not only with the everyday farm work, but in the continuing clearing and draining of the property. His only recorded failing was of a tendency to stay overly long at Dodds' wine saloon at the corner of Mountain Highway and Bayswater Road on his way home from market, or after carrying out farm business in Bayswater.

For about 4 years following Robert Lum Dobson's death, one of Janet's unmarried sisters, Emily Wicks, spent most of her time at the Liverpool Road property. The two families had a reciprocal arrangement which included Janet's farmhand spending time working on the Wicks property, and Janet's brother Jack helping on the Liverpool Road farm, including pruning fruit trees (which he subsequently taught Joe to do), and killing animals for meat. Both properties grew large quantities of potatoes, and two men were required to dig and bag them. Also, from time to time Janet helped her sisters pick berries and other fruit on the Wicks farm.

Janet wrote a diary for several years after her husband's death; commenced, we are told, trying to alleviate the loneliness of her evenings. Although it was a "farm diary", recording times of plantings and market prices, it included personal entries. Entries about children's illnesses illustrate one of the many disadvantages of the pioneering life — the distance from medical help. Janet tells of one occasion when "little Bobby" was seriously ill, and of having to be driven in the wagon to Ringwood before travelling by train to the doctor (probably either at Box Hill or Hawthorn), while the baby had convulsions. Her diary outlines not just Janet's eventually successful struggle to keep the family farm; but the neighbourhood's co-operative attitude, where members took each other's produce to market, lent horses and farm supplies, and supported each other in times of illness and bereavement.

Janet's children helped with the farm work from an early age, Jim and Bob milking the dairy cows by hand before school. The main farm income at first was from vegetables and dairy farming. Janet also sold meat, poultry, butter and honey. As the orchard trees matured, the main emphasis of the farm's production moved from dairy (for which the land on the flat was unsuitably wet in winter) and vegetables to the fruit growing. Janet recorded in 1903 that apples, cherries and plums were marketed. Jim and Bob worked together on the farm until Jim's sudden death in 1939 at the age of 41. Although Bob then ran the farm, Janet continued to be involved with day to day work almost until the time of her death in 1946.

A second home was built on the Liverpool Road property in 1944. This was occupied by Janet and her sister Emily Wicks. Bob, who had married Kathleen (Kit) Burden in 1932, moved with his family from the Wicks House on what is now the Basin-Olinda Road, to occupy Janet's former home. In 1972, this house, then used as a store shed, was burnt down by an arsonist.

Bob Dobson died in 1959, having been in ill-health for some time. His son James David (Jim), then aged 16, took over full-time management of the farm with the support of his mother Kit.

John James Miller

John James Miller, originator of "Miller's Racing Guide" and founder of a well-known printing business, had an interest in land at The Basin as early as 1872. His two main holdings were Allotments 71 (205 acres) and 74 (114 acres) which he secured title to in 1877 and 1879 respectively. Both properties were mortgaged to The London Chartered Bank of Australia. New Forest Road was blazed through Allotment 74, and The Basin shopping centre is situated on part of it.

Miller was born at Bayswater, London, England, on 13th May 1831. He arrived in Victoria around 1850, and moved to the goldfields near Castlemaine. He struck gold, moved to Melbourne in the mid 1850s, and purchased a hotel.

His hotel became a gathering place of Melbourne's sporting fraternity in the early days, and Miller became a popular bookmaker. About 1875, he took over a printing firm from a relative, and under his direction the business flourished. His imprint was on nearly all the theatrical printing done in Melbourne for many years.

Miller's first home "Bayswater House" was built close to the present Batterham Reserve. This house, which gave Bayswater township its name, had a garden of walnut, chestnut, cherry, peach, fig, plum, filbert, apple and pear trees.

In 1888 a second house was built, a typical gentleman's residence known as "Melrose House".

Miller, bred horses and trained them on two specially built trotting tracks, the remains of which have been wiped out by residential development in the Batterham Reserve area. He produced various sporting publications which were popular. The Millers Racing Guide and Millers Sporting Annual were printed for many years.

Miller liberally supplied fireworks at Christmas times and the young children appreciated the tremendous show. The display was held on his trotting track (where he trained horses) to publicising The Basin.

In 1888, he was one of many well-known promoters of a proposed tramway to run from Bayswater to Olinda past The Basin. The scheme was to take advantage of the recent extension of the rail link to Ferntree Gully.

A progressive and active man, Miller, despite blindness, became first President of the Shire of Fern Tree Gully from 1889 to 1891. The Shire Council honoured his services by naming a Riding he represented after his "Bayswater" birthplace. He was driven about by his son Fred in a horse-drawn buggy.

He once submitted a resolution to the Fern Tree Gully Shire to purchase stocks for the punishment of persons who desecrated the Sabbath by working in gardens etc. His object was to bring the matter prominently to the public attention so that this absurd and obnoxious law, which was a disgrace, might be eliminated from the statute book.

Miller operated a sweepstake in which tickets cost £1 and the prize was £5,000. This was one of his main sources of income. In the early 1890s, the Victorian Government made it illegal to operate sweepstakes as a private business. He was raided many times by police, and in 1893 charged with being the keeper of a common gaming house. Magistrates initially dismissed the charges but in a higher court in 1894, he pleaded guilty and was fined £10.

He continued operating the sweepstakes in NSW where it was permitted. In order to restrict his operations, the Government forced the Post Office to restrict letter deliveries addressed to Miller in Sydney. He sued the Post Office for detaining his letters. In 1896, a court determined his letters could not be detained because sweepstakes were permitted in NSW.

The law eventually caught up with him and in 1899 The London Chartered Bank of Australia foreclosed on allotments 71 and 74 taking possession of them. Titles were transferred to the bank on 8th November 1899. The bank subdivided and the properties in 1907.

John James Miller died in 30th November 1922 at the age of 91 and is buried at Melbourne General Cemetery.

Edmund had children from a former marriage to Esther Bishop who he married in 1855. These were Mary Eliza (1857-?), Louisa Ellen Bishop (1859-?), Edmund (1861-1947), William Henry (1863-?) and Esther (1865-1943)

Edmund was born in England in 1830 and emigrated to Australia in 1854.

On the 1st May 1877 Edmund, described as a “gardener,” living in Moonie Ponds, was licenced to occupy a selection of approximately 259 acres in “North Scoresby via Ringwood.” The licence was unusual in that the area covered was in two separate parcels — about 210 acres in what is now Ferntree Gully, and about 50 acres in present-day The Basin.

The 210 acres in Ferntree Gully was first selected by William Edwards who was granted a licence in 1872. He stated his profession as a gold and silversmith and his address as 85 Collins Street, East Melbourne. In 1874, Edwards forfeited his licence because of non-payment of rent.

A Peter Miller, who gave his address as c/o Mr R. Bain, Berwick, applied for:

His application was rejected.

The 210 acres was initially offered for sale by public auction but passed in. In 1875, Edward Perry Amesbury negotiated with the authorities and applied for a licence to occupy the 210 acres forfeited by Edwards and also the 50 acres mentioned earlier in The Basin. A business card indicated that Amesbury was a Surgeon Major in H. M. Indian Army but on his licence application he stated his occupation as a farmer. He stated his address as “Fernlight” in St Kilda. His application was granted. A section of the Western end of the 50 acre property in The Basin was exercised in 1875 for a road, marginally reducing the size of the property.

In 1876, Amesbury alerted the authorities that, due to his wife’s ill health, he is compelled to be absent from his selections and that they be offered for sale by public auction. He valued his improvements at £150 which included a residence.

Edmund Wicks expressed interest in the 2 allotments and after considerable negotiations with the government departments concerned and the departing licensee, he applied for, and was granted a licence for the 2 allotments in 1877. He paid £150 to Amesbury for his improvements.

The Wicks family went to live on The Basin land and their four children were recorded as existing residents in a petition to the “Minister of Public Instruction” prepared by David Dobson and dated 28th February 1879.

On 29th April 1880 Edmund, in his application for a lease, reported that the value of “improvements” on the combined acreage then totalled 635 pounds. It consisted of a five-roomed 25 foot square slab and weatherboard home with galvanised iron roof and two brick chimneys, a stable, cow house and piggery. He also reported having sunk 2 dams, put 11 acres under cultivation, planted 339 fruit trees, rung 30 acres of timber, cleared a further 20 acres of scrub, and erected many chains of fencing of various kinds.

On 18th May 1880 Edmund was granted a lease to the total acreage; but on 29th November 1880, at the age of 50, he died of a stroke. After Edmund’s death, Janet sought to rationalise the estate by applying to the authorities for permission to sell the leasehold interest and improvements on the Ferntree Gully property, and to allow her to purchase a freehold title to the property at The Basin. The reason she gave on her submission was:

“...to close the administration in the most advantageous way.”

Griffiths Falls

About 500 Metres upstream from where the eastern most creek runs through “The Ravine” is a small waterfall. These falls are known as “Griffiths Falls” and the creek is known as “Griffiths Creek” (see photo on page 19).

This area was part of the original Ferndale Property owned by James Griffiths. He made many walking tracks through the property that included the falls in the route. He constructed a bridge across the creek and some seating down beside the falls. At one time there was a large kettle there enabling walkers to make a fire and boil water for tea (even though Griffiths was of “Griffiths Tea” fame, he apparently did not supply the tea).

The falls were also accessible from the 1 in 20 road (Mountain Highway). In later years, they were a regular haunt for young lovers. Most tracks have now disappeared except for the one which follows the creek from The Ravine up to the Falls and beyond although in 2021 this track is overgrown.

In the late 1960’s, The Basin Progress Association approached the local Council with a plan to improve access to the waterfall, but this was never implemented. The falls have also been known as “Ferndale Falls” and “The Basin Falls”.

Janet, described as “administrator” of Edmund’s estate, was granted title to allotment 75 in The Basin on 3rd June 1881 at the going rate of one pound per acre.

The lease on the Ferntree Gully land was taken over by Ephraim Hansen, who received title to it on 10th March 1887. “Ambleside Park”, in 2021, the home of the Knox Historical Society, is situated on a remnant of this land.

Janet Wicks worked the property herself, with the help of her children, by that time aged about 10, 9, 7 and 5 years. The farm, watered by two creeks crossing the property, produced flowers, vegetables, berries and other fruit. Aided by the natural fall of the land, irrigation was possible to the lower sections without pumping or digging dams. The fruit orchard was established on what is now the eastern section of Wicks Reserve; and in later documentation Jack is described as a “fruit grower”.

When reminiscing during the 1940s, Janet Wicks’ eldest daughter Janet Dobson told her grandchildren how from the time she was about ten years old she stayed at home looking after her two little sisters while her mother and brother drove to the market in Melbourne. She prepared their meals, including boiling the big kettle to make oatmeal porridge for breakfast. The girls were not nervous of being alone, except during thunderstorms. On hearing of this, Mrs. Chandler, their neighbour on the opposite hill, would send one of her big boys to stay on market nights if thunderstorms threatened.

The preparedness of Janet Wicks to run the farm herself, to the extent of doing her own marketing, illustrates the character of this woman. However, the family suffered a severe financial setback when banks “crashed” in the 1890s. An emergency dash to Melbourne was not in time to withdraw their money before the bank closed its doors.

The first home occupied by the Wicks family was towards the front of the property not far from the (now Basin-Olinda) road. In October 1905, as recorded in Janet Dobson’s diary, work commenced on a large attractive weatherboard home further up the hill away from the road, and the building work was sufficiently advanced for Annie’s wedding to be held there on January 1906. This became known as “the Wicks House” (see photo on page 35).

In 1895 Janet Wicks’ eldest daughter Janet married Robert Lum Dobson, the handsome elder brother of her friend Polly (see photo on page 27). They took up residence in a new home on Fern Glen (later Liverpool) Road which had been built for them by Robert’s father David on the south-western boundary of his property. The couple had three young children, Janet Mary (Jean) who was 5 years old, James David 3 years old, and Robert John (Robbie and later Bob) less than two months old, when Robert died at the tragically young age of 33. However, Janet refused to give up the farm, which by the time of her husband’s death had been increased to about 60 acres.

Annie later married Arthur Harris, the caretaker of Ferndale; and they had three children, Janet Emily (Millie), Arthur and Edgar. In 1925, Millie was killed in a tragic railway crossing accident at Bayswater. A wagon driven by Ferndale’s owner, Mr. Griffiths, also claimed his life, that of his wife and of another passenger. It is said that Arthur senior, whom they were travelling to meet on a train, found his daughter’s body in the wreckage.

From the time of Janet Dobson’s widowhood in 1902 until Annie’s marriage in 1906, Emily Wicks, who did not marry, spent most of her time at Janet’s Liverpool Road home. She then returned to the Wicks House, to help her mother and brother Jack, who also remained single.

Janet Wicks died in 1917 at the age of 78; and the farm became the property of Jack, who lived only another four years, before he died in 1921 at the age of 51 years. Jack served as a Shire of Ferntree Gully councillor for several years up until his death. Probate of his will was granted to his sisters Annie and Emily. By this time the Wicks holding included a triangular section of land to the west of the original selection along what is now Wicks Road.

After Jack Wicks' death some farming occurred on the property by Janet Dobson's sons; although they were mainly occupied in the running of their mother's farm in Liverpool Road. From the time of his marriage in 1932, and up until 1944, Robert John (Bob) Dobson, Janet's second son, and his family occupied the Wicks House, Emily having moved in with her sister Janet. At that time the site of the first Wicks house, in the front paddock, was marked by a lovely red and white camellia and flowering bulbs. Foxgloves and heather, naturalised from the earlier days, flowered on the property each year. In fact, remnants of the heather and an occasional foxglove may still be seen in the area to-day.

In 1944, the developed 30 acres of the Wicks farm was sold to nurseryman John William Robinson, members of whose family took up residence there. Annie Harris, the surviving daughter, sold the eastern bush section of the property to Frank William Parr in 1948. In 1950, the remainder of the western section was subdivided and sold. It was situated between Mountain Highway and the Basin-Olinda Road, including today's Walker Street and two large blocks on the top side of Mountain Highway.

The Wicks House was destroyed by fire in 1962.

William and Kate Chandler

When William Chandler was 25 years of age he married Kate Timewell, a tailoress of Hotham, Melbourne, at the Gardiner Congregational Church on 15th December 1869. His occupation on the marriage certificate is a gardener. He had established a nursery where the Malvern station now.

His bride, Kate Timewell, was born in Kingsbridge, Devonshire, on 15th November 1848, and came out with her family to Australia at the age of four years. Her mother, Louisa Kate Timewell, wrote a fascinating and historically valuable account of the journey out from England in the sailing ship “Birmingham” in September 1852. She was preoccupied with the difficulty of preparing food, which each family had to provide for itself, and cook throughout the journey. They arrived during the gold rush period when there were 100 ships in “Melbourne Bay”; and she gave a detailed account of prices and housing conditions in a village called Collingwood, where the family managed to get three rooms for 35/- a week on their arrival.

William and Kate Chandler had eight sons and three daughters, the three eldest children being born at Malvern, and the remainder at The Basin. They were William Thomas, born 8th October 1870; Henry Rupert, born 17th November 1871; Alfred Elliott, born 1st June 1873; Archibald Charles, born 27th January 1875; Percival Bertram, born 15th July 1876; Lawrence Wreford, born 20th February 1878; Herbert Theodore Septimus, born 26th February 1880; Louisa Kate Elizabeth, born 15th October 1881; Gilbert Edwin, born 7th March 1884; Esther Marion, born 22nd October 1885; and Kitty, born 12th July 1887.

In the early 1870s, William felt the need to look for a property of his own, and he discovered land suitable for horticulture below Mt. Corhanwarrabul in the Dandenong Ranges, in the area known as The Basin. He may have been influenced in his selection of the district by Baron Ferdinand Von Mueller, probably well known to his father because of their common horticultural interests. Von Mueller had visited the locality as early as 1853 and during the next 20 years found many plants growing in the hills and on the fertile creek flats of “the basin” formed by the hills. William may have even visited the miner Billy Young, who raised seed for his father on the Olinda edge of the forest just above The Basin.

Whatever the reason, William’s choice was good, and on 12th February 1872 he applied for a licence for 40 acres, as yet unsurveyed, “east of Turner’s 42nd Section known as The Basin”. He signed himself “William Chandler Jnr., Nurseryman, Main Dandenong Road, Gardiner”. On 21st May, he received licence No.11630 for the

He first occupied the land in November 1872. This is evident from a declaration under oath, dated 16th June 1875, made in support of his application for a lease, which was the second stage in the procedure to be adopted before a title for Crown land was granted. In this, Chandler stated that within six months of gaining the licence to occupy the land (as we have seen, 21st May 1872) he resided on the allotment “in his own proper person” for of two and a half years. He also stated that he had fulfilled other conditions regarding fencing, cultivation and improvements to the property. On the strength of this declaration he was granted a seven-year lease at a rental of 2/- per annum. See a description of his land holdings and a plan on pages 20 and 22.

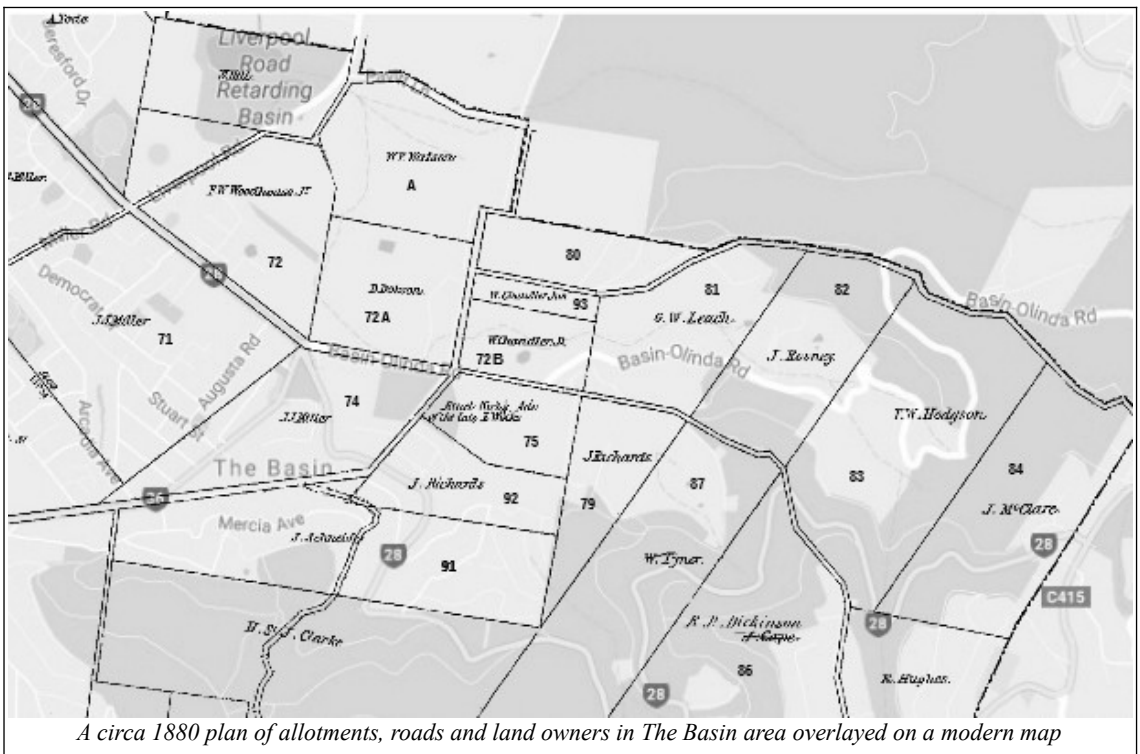

Chandler's "substantial improvements" consisted of three buildings "attached to the soil", total value £210. His first house, built down on the creek flats close to water, was a four-roomed hut measuring 24 feet square. It was made of weatherboard and galvanised iron and valued at £80. The other two buildings, stable and cowshed, were greater, if not in width, than Chandler's house. The four-stall stable and cowshed, each measuring 27 feet by 10 feet, were made of wood and bark-total, value £8.

Other improvements for which William gained credit were 95 chains of post and rail fence at 9/6d per chain. Chock and log fencing at 3/- per chain, drainage works (slabs laid four feet deep at a cost of 6/- per chain). Clearing and sowing of 6 acres with rye grass and clover.

"I was unable to get the land surveyed until July 25th, 1872. It was then too late in the season to fence, clear, dig and drain the ground I wanted for my stock, which consisted of flowers and a general collection of nursery stock so that I had to cultivate on the ground I then occupied. In the meantime, I kept men at work on this allotment. I resided on the land with my family the following season and have since resided there continuously".

William Chandler prospered at The Basin.

Prominent Early Settlers

Probably his greatest difficulty was getting produce out to market along the rough bush tracks which were often water-logged because they traversed the fertile land chosen close to creeks. In the early days, goods were carried in and out by pack horses, but later spring carts were generally used. Then, the nearest railway station was Hawthorn but the line was extended to Lilydale in 1882 and Belgrave in 1889.

Despite the difficulties, carts loaded with produce travelled between The Basin and Victoria Market two or three days a week during the season. The trip was usually made during the night, but sometimes William started in the afternoon and arrived in Melbourne about 8 pm. He would then back into the kerb in Bourke Street in front of the well-known Cole's Book Arcade, and sell part of his load before going onto the market. Dating from early days, the Chandler family had a stall in "C" shed at the Victoria Market and when in later years they were asked to transfer to "E" shed they declined ostensibly for sentimental reasons, but because it was a good position.

Around 1900, the nursery system of selling plants did not exist. For some 35 years, from about 1900 onwards, the family took a load of plants to the city to be put up for auction at Beauchamp's or at Geelong (in William's day) and later at Bailey & Company's, until the time of the First World War. About 1914, a wagon load of flowers was delivered to Ronald's, Melbourne florists, every week during the season.

William Chandler was one of the first people to grow Boronia megastigma commercially. In the early days everything grew well, as there were no diseases or insects to destroy the plants. One exception was a green beetle which infested "Como" every fourth year and stripped the leaves off the fruit trees in spring. Wallabies, possums and parrots were the main problem in the early days, Boronia was grown commercially at "Como" by William and his sons until the time of the First World War, when 100 acres, the entire crop, was lost overnight because of the disease. Shade houses were in use in this period and elk horn ferns from Queensland were grown there.

William was also one of the first to import magnolias, camellias and bulbs from Japan, and he developed this trade over the years. As the family grew up, they helped in the working of the property and when about 1894, William bought his first camellias from Yokohama Nurseries. It was the task of his sons, Bert and Arch, to layer the camellias in beds specially built for the purpose in the rich creek flats. These flats were naturally subject to flooding and hundreds of plants were washed downstream in the big flood of 1891, when a land slip occurred at Montrose. Many of the plants ended up in the "Bayswater flats", and some enterprising residents managed to sell them back to William Chandler.

During the early 1900s, William grew huge peaches, so large they were packed and sold four or five to a tray and carried in this way by spring cart to Melbourne. Keiffer pears, which kept well and were in great demand during the First World War, were also grown in quantity at this period, while the main market garden produce consisted of beans and cucumbers.

In those days, apple trees could grow much bigger than they are today and one year 52 cases of Statesman apples were picked from the same tree.

William brought his family, then consisting of a wife and three children, to live at The Basin in the season of 1873. They first lived in the weatherboard building (mentioned in his application) built on the creek flats, well in from the existing corner of The Basin-Olinda and Doongalla Roads.

The house was built from straight manna gums and messmate timber found on the property. The timber was pit-sawn, even to the weather boards and had another refinement lacking in most other bush dwellings, a galvanised iron roof instead of shingles. Arch Chandler was born in the original house in 1875 and thought to be the first white child born at The Basin. Legend has it that the large oak tree still standing in Doongalla Road was planted to mark the occasion. It was certainly planted when the family occupied the original home.

As William's family increased, he built a more substantial house further up the hillside, constructed from bricks made on the property. Chandler's property was originally known as "Fern Glen", but when George Bruce's house higher up the mountain was named "Ferndale", William renamed his property "Como", after the famous Italian beauty spot, to avoid confusion. The brick house was first occupied in 1878.

William's eight sons and three daughters were brought up at The Basin, then an isolated area. The nearest doctor lived at Hawthorn, 18 miles away, and this was also the site of the nearest railway station.

The Chandler family, being mainly boys, occupied themselves with robust pursuits, including swinging through the hazelwoods, dogwoods and low growing scrub to see how far they could travel without touching the ground, in the manner of possums. Sometimes two boys would wrap themselves around the wheel of a cart (feet braced on the rim at one side, head pressed back against the other, arms claspings the spokes) while two others took the shafts of the cart and ran down to the bottom of the hill.

As already mentioned, cricket was a favourite family sport and on one occasion five of the brothers played for the Bayswater side.

They once challenged the Club to a match and won easily, mainly because the Chandler boys were the Club's best bowlers. On another occasion, William and his brother Tom took a team to Malvern to compete against that side. They travelled in a two horse market wagon and won the match by 25 runs.

As the family grew, William became concerned about their education, which was being rather sketchily undertaken by a busy mother and servant girl. Hoping to encourage the Education Department to send out a teacher, he built a brick school on part of his land. He offered it to the Department, which possibly to protect itself against such pressures in a growing State, rejected the offer, but agreed to pay one pound for a block at the north-eastern corner of William's land, on which a school was built soon afterwards. The original brick building was later used to house the foreman and later again as a storehouse. This school, known as the Dandenong Ranges School No.2329, was opened on 15th December 1880 under the care of James Maddern. About 40 pupils attended then, as it was the first school in the area. In 1883, District Inspector Gamble recommended that the school should be known as "The Basin State School No.2329, North Scoresby", the latter title being generally in use for the present Bayswater district at about this period.

Some interesting school books dating from this time are in possession of the family. One of Alf Chandler's exercise books dated 1886, shows the name of the school as "Scoresby North School 2329" and its contents, particularly geographical notes, make interesting reading. Other books dated 1893 contain copperplate writing and old style dramatic ballads.

In 1895, when nearby localities had become more populous and other schools were built, attendances fell off to such an extent the school was threatened with closure.

It is interesting to speculate whether William's transfer of portion of Crown Allotment 92 to his brother Robert Charles had anything to do with the need to bolster school attendances, as in March 1893, soon after Charles came to live at The Basin, seven children attended the school. Five of these were William's and two belonged to Charles. At the end of the same year, Bert left school and Leslie (Charles' youngest) started, and in this way the number remained steady at seven. At one stage little Kitty Chandler was sent to school at the age of two years and ten months to keep the school open. After roll call she went out and stayed with the teacher's wife.

The position was critical by 1898 when only four Chandlers attended and in June 1899 the school was closed. For a short time, the building was used on Sundays for Methodist services. When it was finally moved to the corner of Mountain Highway and Liverpool Road in July 1900, the building was carted through William's property because the road was impassable. The land which the school was located on reverted to Chandler in 1902.

William Chandler continued to prosper and added to his holdings of land in the district. His original block consisted of 42 acres, part of crown allotment 72B, located on the creek flats. His second purchase was land on the hill above the creek, approximately 15 acres of Crown Allotment 93 for which he was issued a licence on 1st October 1877 and finally secured title in 1886. The brick home erected in 1878 was built on this part of the property, and later again the homes of H.T.S. (Bert) Chandler and his son Fergus. Until 1988, when the business was closed, the packing sheds, glass houses and display area of Como nurseries was located on the hillside portion of William's land.

In 1883, he bought Crown Allotment 92 on the One-in-twenty Road, (now Mountain Highway) and ten years later transferred half this to his brother Robert Charles, who built "Clevedon House" and lived there for some years. In the same year William purchased Crown Allotment 79 further up the hill towards Olinda.

His land transactions included ownership of whole of C.A. 70 known as Head's selection, now Boronia, to which he secured title in 1889 (later given to members of his family). Also, ownership from 1896 for a few years of 47 acres of the old Dandenong Creek Pre-emptive Right at Bayswater. Also, his acquisition in 1904 of 49 acres of Crown Allotment 80, in Doongalla Road, opposite "Como".

In 1884, William bought his first piece of land in the area now known as Liverpool Road, Kilsyth. It was 147 acres (C.A. 48), which had become available due to the death of the original selector Edwin Wade, who had planted a cherry orchard there. Shortly afterwards he bought several more blocks adjoining each other in Liverpool road and used these blocks to set up his sons when it came time to marry.

Although the boys worked on "Como" while they were growing up, they received no wages but had everything found, and after the accepted practice of the time, were thus financially dependent on their father. Three of the Chandler sons were given land in Liverpool Road, and it might be said that this was the "cradle" of many of the fourth generation of the Chandler family. The area was not far from "Como"; and cattle were often driven across the intervening depression from one property to another. Each family killed a sheep in turn and this was shared amongst the various households.

William Chandler and his family were well established at The Basin by late 1880s, at a time when The Basin/Scoresby/Fern Tree Gully area was included in the Scoresby Riding of the Shire of Berwick. Dissatisfaction with the remoteness of the seat of local government led to moves to have Scoresby Riding created a municipality, and the Shire of Fern Tree Gully was created in May 1889.

William Chandler was one of the foundation councillors of the North Riding of the new Shire and entered Council in August of that year. Monthly meetings were held in Dobson's Hall, Fern Tree Gully, on the Saturday after the full moon, since all the councillors either travelled on horseback or in buggies.

William was elected Shire President for two consecutive terms from August 1894 but before the second term had expired took the unusual course of resigning the position "because it interfered with business". Perhaps William's most notable achievement in Council was his advocacy of the introduction of the road machine, forerunner of the grader. In 1892, he moved that the owner of such a machine be hired to operate it "as an experiment". This was too much of an innovation for his fellow councillors, and he was permitted to withdraw the motion, the Engineer being instructed to investigate and report to next meeting instead. William persisted, and the first road machine was bought for £40 later in the year.

William's election as an original councillor of the Shire of Fern Tree Gully started an era of almost unbroken family representation spanning the next 70 years. William sought reelection in 1898 and served another three-year term, and was replaced by his son Alfred in 1901.

Around the turn of the century William's sons, William Thomas, Harry and Arch, were settled on land in the Liverpool Road area. William Thomas received title to his property in 1900, and Harry and Arch in 1902, although all had settled on the land long before this time.

William's third son, Alfred, was given 47 acres at the corner of Boronia Road and Albert Avenue, to which he received title in 1901/2 and here on Head's former selection he founded "Everson Nursery".

His fifth son, Perce, was given part of William's original creek selection (C.A. 72B) abutting on to the Old Coach Road at The Basin.

Two other sons, Bert and Wreford (known in the family as "Wref") remained on at "Como" when the other boys left home and were jointly given nine acres of land in Liverpool Road in 1908. For some years these two sons ran the nursery with their father. Each had a third share, until William Chandler's death in 1911. Wref lived on in the old home when William's wife and daughter Kit decided to move to Point Lonsdale in 1915, and soon after he enlisted for service in the First World War. Wref owned in his own right 20 acres of land immediately adjoining his fathers on the east along the Old Bullock Road towards Olinda, but included this in the partnership and in return received title to the old family home. (He later sold the home out of the family, but Bert bought it back afterwards and gave it to his son John, also selling Wref's former 20 acres to Fergus.

Wref returned from the First World War, and the partnership was dissolved. Bert bought out Wref's share, by raising a mortgage, and Wref bought land in Blackburn South and began growing flowers there. Bert then carried on "Como" alone.

Gilbert, the youngest son of the family, worked at "Como" until 1904, when he went to America and trained to become a Church of Christ minister. This was largely due to the influence of "Old Mr Gilmour" of The Basin, who, although Church of Christ by conviction, conducted the Methodist Bible Class at The Basin. (This was attended by the Chandler family, although their mother was originally Baptist.)

Harry Chandler married a Gilmour in 1902 and went to the Montrose Church of Christ, and such was influence of the Gilmours that all the remainder of the family living at home, Gilbert, Louisa, Esther and Kit, became Church of Christ and were strengthened in this decision by a mission conducted at Bayswater about this period. Gilbert's return to Australia as an ordained minister led to the keen participation in the building of a Church of Christ at Boronia.

The three girls of the family, Esther, Louisa and Kitty, helped with the domestic work involved in feeding and housing such a large family during the season, and helped with the picking of daffodils and boronia.

In 1903, Louisa Kate Elizabeth Chandler married John Maguire.

Daughters were all given land. In 1903, the year she was married, Louisa received 25 acres in existing Mount View Road. In 1913, Esther and Kitty received title to 50 acres in Miller's Road, The Basin. In 1911, William gave Louisa's husband John Maguire, another 24 acres at what is now the corner of Forest and View Roads.

James and Emily Griffiths

James and Emily Griffiths (see photo on page 27) came to Australia after the cold English climate threatened Emily with consumption. Griffiths was associated with the well known brand of Griffiths Tea known as Signal brand. He first settled in Kew and built a prominent building in the area.

In 1888, brothers James and John Griffiths were granted title to allotment 87 on 184 acres of land in The Basin. The land they purchased was first selected, licenced and then leased by William Tyner. See page 41 for details on Tyners land transactions. Tyners leasehold was transferred to James & John Moore Griffiths in 1888, and they were jointly granted title. On this land, a magnificent Swiss style building was erected which was named "Ferndale". See page 87 for information on Ferndale.

James Griffiths was widely known as a benefactor in the local community. He erected the first Sassafras Mechanics Hall at his own expense on condition that any Protestant denomination should be permitted to use the building free of charge for religious services. He provided financial help erected the Sassafras Church of England. James was also instrumental in helping families survive during the Village Settlement era of the 1890s, when poverty stalked the hills. He practically kept several poor families and whenever possible provided work for settlers. Unfortunately, a few opportunists took advantage of the man's generosity. A typical case concerned one settler who saw the local benefactor and pitched a tale about his hungry family. Griffiths left one pound at Dodd's Olinda store with instructions that the family should receive groceries to that value. When eight shillings had been spent (there were 20 shillings in a pound) in provisions, the settler sent his children to collect the balance in cash, but the shopkeeper, knowing the man better than Griffiths, refused the children the money.

He was a religious man who held daily services for his staff and family at Ferndale. He preached at services held in The Basin School, The Basin Methodist Church and at Mernda Methodist Church, then located near Olinda and opened in 1901, one of the first Churches in the hills.

Griffiths held a "Carols by Candlelight" in the gardens at Ferndale for many years which was popular with young children. A band from the Salvation Army used to march across and accompany the singing of the assembled group.

In 1925, James and Emily Griffiths and two others of five people were killed at the Bayswater level crossing after a collision between their wagonette and a steam train. Then, James was 75 and Emily was 83. The accident occurred on April 6th and James and two others were killed instantly.

James had a will leaving all his assets to his wife and Emily had a will leaving all her assets to her husband. However, Emily changed her will on April 9th and died on April 10th.

The Australasian newspaper dated July 4th, 1925 reported:

"The will of Mr. James Griffiths and that of his wife, Mrs. Emily Griffiths, who were killed recently in a railway accident at Bayswater (V), were both lodged at the Melbourne probate office on June 29. Mr. Griffith's will was dated January 23, 1885, and by it he left all his property to his wife. The gross value of the estate is £35,815, consisting of real estate £8,196 and personal property £27,619. Mrs. Griffiths had made a will on June 20, 1895, leaving all her property to her husband. In the hospital, however, the day before she died, she made another will, leaving her property, which consists of real estate of a gross value of £1,300 and personal property of a gross value of £41,987, on trust to her brother in law, Mr. John Moore Griffiths, of Normanby road, Kew, and Dr. Arthur Langley of Warrandyte road, Ringwood, to be distributed by them in their absolute discretion and judgement as follows:—Three-quarters of my real and personal estate among my near relatives, and one-quarter among other persons and/or charitable institutions or organisations.”

Cauliflowers

It is not well known that William Chandler perfected the cauliflower, sending his plants into the wilds of Olinda to Billy Young, who lived in a hut at the edge of the state forest, to produce the seed.

Later he crossed drumhead cabbage and cauliflower to produce larger cauliflowers.

Probate for both wills was granted in June 1925 and administration rights granted to John James Moore.

Relatives contested Emily’s new will around the meaning of “near relatives”. A court case was held on 27th April 1926. After lengthy arguments, Mr Justice Mann reserved his decision.

Justice Mann reported his decision on 6th May 1926 that the will was valid. In summary, he dismissed the word “near” as too vague and declared that the trustees had power to distribute three-quarters of the estate either among all the persons related to Emily by blood, or among such of the persons related as the trustees might select. Also, the trustees had no power to distribute the three-fourths or any portion of it among the persons related to Emily by marriage only, and the will was valid for one-fourth to be distributed to charities.

The Argus newspaper (Melbourne) dated 13th July 1926, listed the charities benefiting from Emily’s will. The list included hospitals, institutes, and homes. The amount of allocation to The Children’s Hospital used to provide and furnish a memorial heliotherapy ward to be named the James and Emily Griffiths ward.

The administration of property in the will of James is detailed on page 59.

Other Early Settlers

The 1869 Land Act

Most of the land in and around The Basin was selected under the 1869 Land Act, Sections 19 and 20.

The Act enabled the selector to mark out no more than 320 acres, then request to have the land surveyed and apply for a licence of occupation for three years. The method of marking in the licence application was as follows:

“I, [applicant] of [place of residence] make oath and declare on [date] and [time], I placed conspicuous posts or cairns of stones with notices thereon at the corners, and dug a trench not less than two feet long, six inches wide, and 4 inches deep in the direction of the containing sides of the allotment hereunder described, and for hereby which I make application.”

After surveying, the land was allocated an allotment number. During the three years of licence occupation, a rental of two shillings per acre per annum was payable. The selector had to cultivate ten per cent of the land, completely fence it, and prove residence for 2¼ years unless the licence was for non residence. In The Basin area and below Mount Dandenong, fencing a selection would have been difficult due to the steep terrain and thick timber.

If the above conditions were met, the selector had two options they could pursue.

1. They could apply for a Crown grant immediately if they paid the outstanding portion of the purchase price.
2. A lease for seven years could be granted during which time the remainder of the purchase price could be paid at the same rental as the licence (two shillings per acre per annum). The lessee could apply for a Crown grant at any time during the term of the lease if the amount owing was paid.

Land Selection Files

Documents about the selection of land up to a grant of title are in Land Selection Files held by the Public Record Office in Victoria.

Other Early Settlers

A common theme in Land Selection Files for most settlers in The Basin was that of road access. Most files contain letters from landholders, the Government, or the Berwick Shire raising the issue of inadequate road access.

Land selection files do not show a selectors house location which would have been of interest.

See page 23 for a map of original allotments, landholders and early roads in The Basin area.

Frederick Woodhouse

On 26th February 1878, Frederick William Woodhouse was granted title to allotment 72 in the area where in 2020 The Basin Primary School, Mountain Gateway Estate and the Liverpool Road Retarding Basin are located. The land was 127 acres for which he paid 127 pounds 5 shillings and 3 pence. He is described on the certificate of title as "Frederick William Woodhouse the younger of Scoresby".

No land selection files could be located for the property, so it is unknown if Woodhouse originally selected the land. The road now known as Liverpool Road ran through the property and Mountain Highway ran along one side.

Woodhouse sold the land to "George Le Fevre of Collins Street Melbourne Doctor of Medicine" in 1881.

Le Fevre sold the land to "Ellen McIntosh of Terengower Park Pavion Yallock Colac Widow" in 1884.

Scoresby Farmer” in 1885.

Collier sold the land to “George Williamson Bruce of Flinders Lane East Melbourne Merchant” in 1889.

Bruce sold the land to his brother “John Munro Bruce of Flinders Lane Melbourne Warehouseman” in 1893. The sale was for both Allotment 63A, (the land abutting Allotment 72 to the North), and Allotment 72 for which John Bruce paid £2,000.

John Bruce subdivided allotment 72 and sold parcels as follows and according to the plan shown on page 32.

- 436977. Sold to Robert Lum Dobson on 26th April 1901 for £297 16 shillings and 6 pence.
- 450258. Sold to the Education Department in 1902 by Mary Ann Bruce (as proprietor of the land after the death of John Bruce). The Basin Primary School building moved to this land from Doongalla Road in 1901. See plan on page 111 for further land transactions related to The Basin Primary School.
- 471760. Sold to The Salvation Army in 1903. The Dandenong Valley Authority purchased about half of this land in 1979 to create the Liverpool Road Retarding Basin.
- 483200. Sold to John Lincoln Yeadon in 1904. In 1906, he sold the bulk of the property to the Salvation Army.

Land was later acquired to move and straighten Liverpool Road, and the bend became Dobson Lane.

Samuel Collier

Samuel Collier was born on the banks of the Merri creek in 1842. He married Emma Britnell on 14th July 1865 in Hawthorn.

Collier purchased considerable land in the Bayswater and Basin districts in the 1870s and 1880s. Samuel and Emma settled on part of Woodhouses’s selection in 1885. They later purchased land East of Colchester Road (which was named after him) from J. Chambers, who selected it in 1882. His family had a significant influence in local affairs, and his descendants lived in the area for a long time.

Samuel Collier served on the Berwick Council from 1877 to 1879, and the Fern Tree Gully Council in 1900, 1901, and 1909 to 1916, the latter period serving as Shire President in 1913 and 1914.

The Colliers had twelve children. Mary Jane (1866-1924), John (1868-1952), William James (1870-1964) Francis (1873-1955), Elizabeth Ann (1875-1939), Alice May (1878-1900), Minnie Isabel (1880-1891), Albert Charles (1882-1963), Samuel Walter (1885-1888), Jessie Lilian (1888-1959), Annie Maud (1890-1990) and Ernest Leslie Norman (1891-1974). Each of the boys were given a farm where they settled when they married.

Emma died on 8th February 1920 and Samuel died on 24th November 1933. Both are buried at Box Hill cemetery.

Albert Collier (son) was a member of The Basin State School Committee in 1927, and his wife Nellie (born Johnstone) was an active member of the ladies’ committee. Albert Avenue, in Boronia, is named after him.

John Yeadon

Although not an early settler, John Lincoln Yeadon purchased land in The Basin in 1904 and was active in local affairs for many years.

Born on 24th May 1861 in Otley, Yorkshire, England He married Elizabeth Smith (b 1861) on 6th February 1882 in Wharfedale, Yorkshire, England. They had five children: Sarah (1882-1883), Henry (1887-1901), Elizabeth Ivy (1890-1970), Charles Frederick (1889-1916) and Lottie (1897-1971).

They came to Victoria from New South Wales settling in The Basin.

His first purchase in The Basin was part of allotment 72 from John Bruce in 1904, most of which he later sold to the Salvation Army in 1906. He established a small quarry on the land.

He was elected to the North Riding of the Ferntree Gully Shire Council in 1901 and was Shire President in 1904. John was also appointed a Justice of the Peace.

Collier was a member of The Board of Advice for The Basin Primary School for several years. He lived at “Fern Glen Farm” as reported in a clearing sale he conducted in 1906 before he left for a 6-month holiday in England.

He is mentioned several times in the Janet Dobson diaries “going to market”, “cutting the oats”, etc. Miss Simson, who owned Doongalla, contracted Yeadon to construct a new road into her property after she purchased a right of carriageway through allotment 80.

Their son Charles Frederick served in World War I and was awarded the Military Cross.

John Yeardon died on 20th October 1923 in Brunswick, aged 62. Elizabeth died on 28th September 1947, aged 86. Both are buried in Box Hill Cemetery.

John & Mary Barns

John Barns was born in England in 1829. On 16th October 1853, he married Mary King Tozer who was born in 1828. The couple had seven children. Mary (1853-1947), John Samuel (1857-1858), Edith Elizabeth (1859-1931), Anne Thompson (1861-1935), Alice Emily (1863-1944), Eliza Amy (1867-1962) and Lucy Minnie (1870-1965).

The family migrated to Melbourne in 1857 from Torquay, Devonshire. They initially lived in a tent at St Kilda. John worked as a carpenter/joiner building the Alfred hospital. He was occupied as such until the projects' completion. His final task before his departure from the Alfred Hospital, was to check all the windows, doors and cupboards, etc. for smooth functioning.

Later, the family lived at The Three Fronted Shop owned and operated by them situated at numbers 56, 58 & 60 Swan Street Richmond. Two sections of the complex formed a successful drapery business. There was also a department that stocked millinery and mantels, mens mercery, hats, underclothing, etc.

The eldest daughter, Mary, was a dressmaker at Swan Street. Mary married John Carr who dealt with drapery. Travelling with horse and wagon on the road between Whittlesea and Ferntree Gully, selling along the way.

In 1878, John Barns applied for a licence to occupy 230 acres on a steep allotment running up the side of Mount Dandenong, which included the area later known as Barns Lookout. Although the land was not in the area now known as The Basin, he had a large influence on local affairs.

The area he applied for had originally been reserved for State Forest. On 25th March 1878 a licence was granted for allotment 60 for which he paid £1. He stated on his application he was a carpenter and resided at 48 Swan Street Richmond.

In 1879, he was a signatory to the petition for a school in The Basin and promised two children would attend if the school opened. The children were Eliza (11) and Minnie (9).

In 1881, he applied for, and was granted, a lease. His application stated that he had partly fenced the property, built a house 14 feet by 24 feet with paling sides and shingle roof, a mens hut and had 45 acres under cultivation.

In 1888, he applied for, and was granted, freehold title to allotment 60.

Barns also selected allotment 52A and was granted a licence on 31st July 1880 for which he paid £1. Freehold title was granted in 1887, on which a house named Torwood was erected on what is now near the high Southern corner of Sheffield and Glasgow Roads in Kilsyth. John used hand made bricks made from clay on the site to build the house. Torwood was finished in 1894 and the family retired there to live.

In 1892, Minnie Barns married David Dobson, son of Thomas Dobson Junior of Ferntree Gully.

The Dobson diaries mention John Barns many times.

John Barns' death is registered at Hawthorn, registration number 02030/1916. He was aged 87. He is buried at the St Kilda Cemetery, Church of England section C, grave 0119. His wife Mary, who died in 1905, is buried with him.

George Williamson Bruce

George Williamson Bruce was born in Ireland in 1809. In 1838, he married Mary Munro who was born in Ireland in 1815. They had 3 children. William Duff (1839-1900), John Munro (1840-1901) and George Williamson (1842-1908).

On 22nd of March 1878, Bruce applied for a non-resident licence to occupy 237 acres of land on a steep allotment below Mount Dandenong. His application stated he was a draper residing at 22 Dundas Place, Emerald Hill (South Melbourne). On 26th March 1878, he was granted a licence for land described "in the Parish of Dandenong State Forest". After surveying, the land was allocated allotment 55 in the Parish of Mooroolbark, County of Mornington.

He was a prominent businessman and often travelled to England. As early as 1883, he was in danger of forfeiting his licence because of noncompliance. However, his son John alerted the authorities that George would attend to the matter when he returned from England.

In 1884, he applied to surrender his licence under Section 19 and reapply under Section 20. This was approved.

On 8th January 1885, his son John, was granted a lease on the adjacent property, allotment 56, and they helped each other with their land dealings.

On 1st January 1885, George was granted a lease, stating improvements of a 10 room 35 feet by 35 feet wood and brick house, a 4 room 20 feet by 15 feet house, and a 1-room house 10 feet by 12 feet, stables, and a shed. He had 20 acres of grass, 25 acres under cultivation and an orchard of 5 acres. He also wrote in his lease application:

"Clearing and burning off dead timber and undergrowth and cutting road from boundary to residence and several other improvements such as fowl house piggery stockyard etc and orchard kitchen garden etc".

In 1886, The Shire of Berwick prepared a plan for a road running through the middle of allotments 55 (George Bruce), 56 (John Bruce) and 59 (George Dodd), then through allotment 57 (Michael Geraghty) to allotment 58 (A Noble). The proposed road most likely followed the track first created by Daniel Bunce and later enhanced by George Dodd. Bruce's neighbours, and the Shire of Berwick, had all written to him requesting his approval for the road. Bruce objected to the road, but was willing to make arrangements for a private road. The road never eventuated.

On 6th July 1888, George Bruce was granted freehold title to allotment 55.

George Bruce and his son John were involved in a scheme to help those unemployed in the depression period in the late 1880s. They employed city workers on their properties to clear land and cut firewood. Paying them 15 shillings per week and providing rough but modest accommodation, the scheme was a success with the timber cut and sold for fuel covering the expenses. John Bruce even worked with the unemployed to set an example.

George Wilkinson Bruce died on the 20th September 1908.

John Bruce

John Munro Bruce was born in Ireland in 1840. In 1872, he married Mary Ann Henderson who was born in Ireland in 1842. They had the 6 children. William (1873-1899), John Ernest Webster (1874-1919), William Crawford (1876-1899), Robert Laing (1878-1956), Stanley Melbourne (1883-1963) and Mary (1885-1908). Stanley Melbourne was prime minister of Australia from 1923 to 1929.

Bruce arrived in Australia in 1858 and within two decades had established himself as a resident partner in the soft goods firm Paterson, Laing & Bruce based in Victoria. By 1885, the firm was prospering and his father, George Wilkinson Bruce became a partner.

Bruce was active in business, political and international affairs often travelling between Australia and Britain.

Other Early Settlers

John Munro Bruce was granted title to allotment 56 in 1888, an area of 131 acres. However, he was not the original selector of this allotment.

In 1878, Henry Lum applied for a licence to occupy the land on a steep allotment on the South Western slopes of Mount Dandenong. Bounded on the South by a road and on the North near the summit of Mount Dandenong with the Dandenong Creek running through the middle of the property. The area had originally been reserved for State Forest. His application was granted, and he paid £1 for a Certificate of Registration dated 25th March 1878 for a land area of 160 acres. He stated his occupation as a farmer residing in Mulgrave. The official survey reduced the area to 131 acres.

Henry Lum was born in London in 1837. He married Ellen Leach (1859-1952) on 21st August 1882. They had 1 son Henry Ashley (1883-1965).

In 1882, Lum applied for a lease on the property. He stated improvements as fencing, a 4 roomed 23 feet by 30 feet weatherboard dwelling consisting of 2 bedrooms, dining room and kitchen. A 10 feet by 10 feet hut, 30 acres of grass, fruit trees and 4 acres of potatoes. He stated he was unable to fully follow the licence requirements because the land was too hilly, and the adjoining selectors had not carried out their share of fencing. Nevertheless, he was granted a lease.

Henry Lum died on 31st March 1884 at the age of 47 and is buried in Oakleigh cemetery. His wife, Emma, died in June 1952, and is buried in Box Hill cemetery.

His executors, David Dobson and John McLean Anderson, arranged transfer of his lease to John Munro Bruce on 8th January 1885, with the starting date backdated to 1st November 1881. This earlier date being the original lease start date for Henry Lum. At the time of his death Henry had 1½ acres of fruit trees 3 years old, including a nursery of young fruit trees. He had cleared 60 acres of land and sown it with English grass.

In later years John Munro Bruce was diagnosed with diabetes and committed suicide in Paris in 1901.

James Richards

James Richards was the first selector of two parcels of land in The Basin.

In 1877, he applied for a licence to occupy 61 acres of land later marked as allotment 92. What is now Old Forest Road bounded one side of the land. His application was successful.

He is shown on the petition requesting provision of a State School for The Basin district in 1879 as having three school age children residing on the land.

In 1880, he applied for a lease on the land. His application stated he had fenced most of the property, built a 2 roomed 25 feet by 11 feet "Skillian" house with shingle roof and paling sides. He had cultivated barley, potatoes, peas, and oats. Other improvements included outhouse and 30 acres of trees ring-barked. He stated his occupation as a farm labourer.

In 1882, he applied for freehold title and this was granted.

He was also the first selector of allotment 79 next to the above mentioned allotment, but no land file could be located. He was granted title to this allotment in 1882.

Richards sold allotments 79 and 92 to William Chandler on 3rd February 1883 for £390. The allotments were approximately 58 and 61 acres respectively.

In 1913, the executors of William Chandler sold half of allotment 92 (approx 32 acres) to James Flynn and Jacob Schneider as tenants in common for £240 and 8 shillings.

Jacob Schneider

Jacob Friedrich Schneider was born in Switzerland in 1820. Jacob married Magdalena Madelene (born 1834) in Wurenlingen Switzerland on 3rd October 1853, and they emigrated to Australia that year. They had the 13 children. Julia Juliana (1854-1883), George Jacob (1856-1856), Magdalena (1858-1927), Leoncius (1860-?), Jacob (1861-1935), Mary Madeline (1863-1868), Mary Gertrude (1864-1941), Matilda Mary (1866-1938), Madeline (1969-?), Roselia Helena (1871-1941), Paul Victor (1873-1953), Christina Dorothy (1875-1951) and Theodora (1878-?). Leoncius is not mentioned on either of the parents' death certificates but is recorded as a birth in Victoria. His birth certificate records his parents have “3 children living 1 dead”.

On 1st June 1878, Schneider applied for, and was granted, a licence to occupy 176 acres on what was later surveyed as allotment 91.

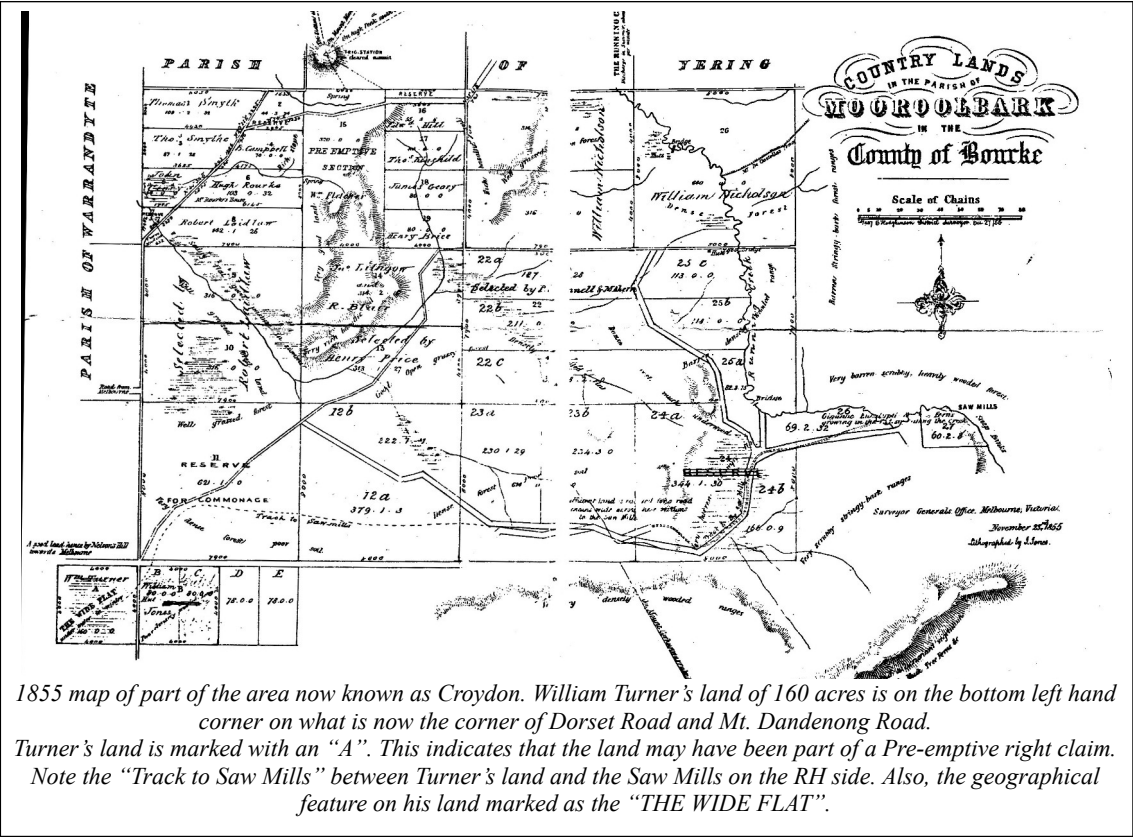

He is shown on the petition requesting provision of a State School for The Basin district in 1879 as having five school age children that would be residing on the land shortly.

By 1881, he had some area under cultivation, built fences and some buildings and applied for a lease, which was granted. It was not until 1888 that he was granted title.

Schneiders wife, Magdalena, died on 9th March 1882 from cancer of the uterus.

Their daughter Julia, married Anders Fredrick Wilhelm Hansen on 21st August 1882. Julia died on 23rd September 1883 of puerperal peritonitis. She was pregnant at the time. A boy, Andrew, was born, but he died 4 days later.

Schneider’s land selection file contains letters from Schneider and his neighbour, H. S. J.

Clarke, who selected land uphill from Schneider towards One Tree Hill. The surveyor who marked Clarke's original selection had not made provision for a navigable road up to One Tree Hill through either property. Both Schneider and Clarke agreed that a navigable road was desirable and both selections were resurveyed with a road annexed through the properties up to One Tree Hill. That road is now Government Road and Outlook Drive. The road annexure reduced Schneider's selection to 170 acres.

Jacob Friedrich Schneider died on 9th September 1889 of complications arising from bronchitis and asthma. Probate was granted to Lena Hansen (wife of Ephraim Hansen) and Jacob Schneider (his son).

In 1912, the title to allotment 91 was transferred to Jacob Schneider and James Flynn as tenants in common for which they paid £683, 5 shillings and six pence.

In 1913, the executors of William Chandler sold half of allotment 92 (approx 31 acres) to James Flynn and Jacob Schneider for £240 and 8 shillings. They are described on title documents as "James Flynn of 464 Toorak Road Toorak Butcher and Jacob Schneider formerly of Canterbury Road Surrey Hills Storekeeper but now of corner Colchester and Canterbury Roads Croydon Farmer".

Allotment 91 and the half of allotment 92 were later consolidated by James Flynn and Jacob Schneider as tenants in common.

The above 200 acres of land later became one of the first and largest land subdivisions in The Basin. It was first known as "Schneiders Estate" encompassing the areas of Mercia Avenue, Bayview Crescent and "The Ravine".

See page 54 for information on Schneiders Estate.

Thomas Hodgson

In 1878, Thomas Walsh Hodgson applied for, and was granted, a licence to occupy 194 acres of land later surveyed as allotment 83. The land bounded on the North by Range Road (in 2021 closed) and on the South by Hilton Road (in 2021 closed) to Ferny Creek. His title also shows a road through his land running between allotments 82 and 84 on either side.

He is shown on the petition requesting provision of a State School for The Basin district in 1879 as having one school age child residing on the land.

By 1881, he had built a fence around the property, was growing crops, raising animals and had built a six-room house for his family. His land selection file lists other improvement.

Having met the required land improvements he applied for, and was granted, title in 1881.

Hodgson was in dispute with one of his neighbours, John Rosney, who objected to a road through his property that serviced Hodgson's land. Hodgson attempted to negotiate, and both wrote letters to the Secretary of Lands. Eventually, the dispute resolved in Hodgson's favour.

On 17th December 1886, Harold Pocock Hayward J.P. held a Magisterial Inquiry to investigate the death of Ann Hodgson, the second wife of Thomas Hodgson. The circumstances of her death were suspicious involving possible depression, a sword, a cut-throat, physical problems and poison.

Hayward determined “the deceased Ann Hodgson came by her death on 15th December 1886 by reason of poison to wit arsenic, self administered while in a state of unsound mind. Also, that her condition of mind was brought about by the severe pain she was suffering from”. He could not explain how the poison got inside the house.

Hodgson sold allotment 83 to “Salisbury Anne Rocke of Rockbeare Ivanhoe Widow” on 13th January 1890. The transfer of land document records that John James Miller paid Hodgson £3,595 and 5 shillings. Salisbury Anne Rocke paid John James Miller £2,000 and John James Miller agreed to these transactions.

Strangely, allotment 83 was offered for auction on 10th April 1890 “as instructed by J. J. Miller”.

The house Hodgson built on allotment 83 became known as Hazel Dell and later used for accommodation. It was situated along one of the main pack horse routes from The Basin to Olinda. In the 1890s, settlers on their journey between the plains and the hill top used Hazel Dell as halfway accommodation.

Rocke died in 1894 with probate granted to her executors George William Rocke and William Purcell Buchanan. Interestingly, her probate applications lists J. J. Miller as a Bad Debt as described:

“This person is indebted to the estate of the deceased in a sum of £1300. Deficiency on a mortgage debt which was taken over by the deceased. We have been trying to obtain a sum of £100 for this debt but have failed as the Debtor declares that he is in insolvent circumstances and that the costs of any legal proceedings for recovery therefore would have to be born by the estate.”

The first subdivision of allotment 83 was in 1897 when the Shire of Fern Tree Gully paid £30 for a portion of allotment 83 to construct a new road through the property named Old Coach Road. The property allocated for the old road through the property mentioned earlier was transferred back to become part of allotment 83.

John McClare

In 1878, the borders of the Dandenong State Forest on the Northern and Western facing slopes moved up the hill and land on the slopes below the Ferny Creek-Sassafras ridge opened up to selectors.

John McClare settled on this newly opened land just below Sassafras taking out a licence in March 1878 to occupy 137 acres on allotment 84 bounded on the North by Range Road (in 2021 closed) and on the South past Mountain Highway (which was surveyed later). He stated in his application that he already owned 50 acres in Nunawading.

John McClare was born in Galway Ireland in 1832. In 1854, he married Mary Madden (b 1835), and they emigrated to Australia arriving in 1859. They had 8 children. Agnes (1860-1922), James (1862-1952), William (1863-1927), Mary (1867-1953), Catherine (1867-1954), John Thomas (1870-1956), Rose (1871-1871) and Elizabeth (1874-?).

He is shown on the petition requesting provision of a State School for The Basin district in 1879 as having four school age children residing on the land shortly.

An inspection of his selection in 1879 showed some improvements including a 12 feet by 8 feet slab and paling hut. A bush fire destroyed his first residence around 1882, and for a while his family lived in a lean too. By 1884, he had built a shack with 4 rooms, cultivated 6 acres, cleared some bush, built some fencing and was granted a lease.

Selectors on the newly opened land in Sassafras above McClares land soon realised that they had no practical road to and from their selections. Forty-five selectors signed a letter to the Minister of Lands requesting an extension of the Bayswater road through McClares land. The request was granted, and in 1897 a road annexed and cut through McClares land. The road became known as Old Coach Road (in 2021 closed).

In 1900, he had trouble meeting his rent payments due to “severe losses by bushfires” but was granted title later in that year.

The thick bushland provided excellent cover for illicit stills, one of which was situated near McClare’s property. So potent was the whisky that one settler apparently carried a coffin to a funeral on his wagon and brought it back again!

The section of Old Coach road passing through his land became known as “McClare’s Hill” and is shown on early maps. The hill was so steep some lower class coach passengers had to help push the coach up this hill.

In 1902, McClare leased an unknown portion of his land to Philip Henry Cadby for an unknown reason. The lease expired on January 1919.

The Old Coach Road through his property split the land and in 1913 he subdivided the Southern section creating the Front Door Estate. See page 57 for more information on the estate.

After the earlier mentioned lease expired, McClare subdivided the Northern section of his land in February 1919 into 5 parcels. He sold 4 parcels to his children Agnes Bowen, Catherine, James, and Mary Clare and kept one parcel for himself.

All the land was later acquired by the Government and incorporated into the National Park.

John McClare died at Mitcham on June 18th 1926, aged 94. His death certificate reported he died from Senility.

George Leach

George William Leach was born in 1831 in Surrey England. He married Selina Lewis in 1852. They had 9 children. George Charles (1856-1947), Selina Mary Ann (1858-1931), Ellen (1859-1952), Thomas William (1861-1940), Charlotte Eliza (1863-1864), Frederick Henry (1865-1939), Clarissa Catherine (1870-1952), Florence Charlotte (1872-1963) and Percy Arthur (1878-1950). It is not known when they emigrated to Australia.

Leach established the first store and post office in Bayswater in 1869 with his wife Selina as the postmistress. Both were active in local affairs.

In 1878, Leach applied for a licence to occupy 142 acres in The Basin, which was later split into 2 allotments 80 and 81. His application was granted. In his licence application, he stated he had a farm in Scoresby and already owned 74 acres there, which he obtained in 1865 and subsequently purchased.

Lot 80 was bounded on the West by what is now Sheffield Road and bounded on the South by what is now Doongalla Road. Lot 81 was bounded on the North by Doongalla Road and on the South by what is now the Basin-Olinda Road. Doongalla Road ran between the 2 allotments.

In 1881, he agreed to exercise a small section of his land to his neighbour, John Rosney, to enable him better access to his land.

His land selection file has many letters from Government officials and his neighbour, John Rosney (who wrote many letters), indicating that he had trouble meeting the conditions of his lease. Nevertheless, he eventually built a small slab house on the corner of Sheffield and Doongalla Roads, completely fenced lot 81, partly fenced lot 80 and was granted title to both allotments on 21st February 1887.

Leach sold allotment 81 to John Rosney in 1889 for £2,000. The sale was subject to caveats, and a Supreme Court order. Rosney initially purchased allotment 81 with Thomas Samuel Grimwood, who did not pay any of the purchase money. The court order forced Grimwood to forego any claim to ownership of the property.

Grimwood was best known as the licensee of the Fern Tree Gully Hotel, which he occupied as early as 1875. He was an active member of the “Scoresby Riding Severance League” and was well known in the field of catering.

George Leach died on 19th October 1902. Probate was granted to his son, George Charles Leach. He sold allotment 80 to William Chandler on 20th May 1904 for £150, 18 shillings and 5 pence.

John Rosney

John Joseph Rosney occupied allotment 82 in The Basin, an area of 101 acres. His land selection file has no details about his licence or lease. However, he was granted title in 1881 and was therefore one of the earliest settlers in that area.

Rosney was born in Ireland in 1838. He married Alice Brougham who died in 1887. He then married Annie Hoare (née Fogarty) in 1888. Annie had 3 children from her previous marriage.

His neighbours land selection files refer to him in many letters, primarily regarding road access through their properties. The Berwick Shire Council even became involved. A letter from the Berwick Shire Secretary (Mr Robinson) to the Secretary of Lands dated 17th June 1881 stated:

"I have the honour by direction of the Council to request that the issue of the leases under the 19th Section of Land Act to G W Leach, J Rosney, T W Hodgson and J McClare be withheld until the Council complete the opening of the new road through these blocks".

It is unknown if the issue of leases was withheld, but a map in Rosney's land selection file shows the location of the new road through the blocks. This road later became known as The Old Coach Road (in 2021 closed).

Rosney complained in many letters about his neighbour, George Leach, and how he was not complying with his lease conditions. In 1882, he proposed to the Minister of Lands that Leach's lease on allotment 81 be forfeited, and he take over the lease. In one letter he stated:

"Referring to Mr G. W. Leach's selection at Scoresby I have again the honour to make application for it he has not cultivated One Acre on the whole selection and why he should be allowed 4 years and 8 months to comply whilst other selectors are compelled to within the conditions of the act".

He also complained in another letter that:

"... and has not complied with the act with regard to improvements in its present state it is most injurious to me it is a cause for vermin to come and destroy my crops".

In 1889, Rosney purchased from Leach the aforementioned allotment 81 that he complained about for £2,000.

Rosney sold his originally selected allotment 82 to "Joseph William Dixon of 115 Collins Street West Melbourne Barrister at Law" on 18th May 1888 for £5,557, seven shillings and 10 pence.

He then purchased the "Riverside Hotel" in Auburn, which he ran with his wife and her son. According to Rate notices, he was in residence at the hotel as early as 1881.

Dixon sold allotment 82 (and allotment 90) to "William Buist Fyfe of Anderson Street Albert Park. Gentlemen, James Lambie of Collins Street Melbourne. Journalist, James Grigg of Collins Street Melbourne. Estate Agent and Harold Sparks of Collins Street Melbourne. Accountant" on 12th June 1889 for £8,230, nine shillings and 3 pence.

In the 1880s, the Victorian land boom was in full swing, and many people lost money through dodgy speculators. Many caveats appeared on land titles to protect purchasers.

On 26th July 1889, the Supreme Court issued Harold Sparks with a "Fieri Facias" (a court document instructing a sheriff to seize and sell a defendant's property to satisfy a monetary judgement against the defendant).

On 16th September 1889, Harold Sparks sold his interest in allotment 82 to William Buist Fyfe, James Lambie and James Grigg for 1 shilling.

John Joseph Rosney died on 9th October 1897 age 59.

Probate was granted to his executors, and they subdivided allotment 81 into 3 parcels as shown on the map on page 40. Rosney purchased allotment 81 from George Leach in 1889. The lots were auctioned in December 1899 and publicised as being near Hazel Dell. No record could be found of purchases resulting from the auction. The lots were later purchased as follows:

- No 447460. Purchased in 1901 by William

First subdivision of Allotment 81 in 1899.

William Tyner

William Tyner was born in 1840. He married Letitia Anderson in 1871. She was born in 1843 in Lellerbrett, County Tyrone, Ireland. They had 5 children. William (1872-1954), James (1874-1970), Letitia (1875-1972), George (1878-1968) and Ralph (1883-1962).

Their son William was a Ferntree Gully Shire Councillor from 1900 to 1903. He was elected to the Victorian Legislative Council from 1922 to 1940.

In March 1878, William Tyner applied for a licence to occupy 320 acres of land within the Dandenong State Forest. The land extended from what later became the Old Coach Road to near One Tree Hill. He stated his occupation as a “proprietor” residing at 11 Essex St Prahran. He was given a “Certificate of Registration” for which he paid £1. The area he applied for was roughly shown on the Dandenong State Forest map drawn by John Hardy.

That same month, the District Surveyors report for the land revised the area to 194 acres, and it became allotment 87. Later maps show his land reduced to 184 acres because a small section near a road was removed from Tyner’s land and added to Reverend Rivers Beachcroft Dickinson land for reasons unknown.

Tyner is shown on the 1879 Petition requesting a school in The Basin as having 3 potential children attending.

In 1881, Tyner requested that an outlet (road) be made available through Murphy’s land near One Tree Hill. However, Tyner and Murphy could not agree on the matter, and the request was refused.

In 1881, Tyner applied for a lease on the land. He had fenced the allotment, built a three-room 14 foot by 14 foot house in which his family resided, a stockyard and grew various vegetables. The lease was granted on 1st October 1881.

In 1884, an outlet onto One Tree Hill was excised and Tyner requested permission to use it but a response was not forthcoming.

In 1888, Tyner’s lease was transferred to James and John Moore Griffiths. See page 59 for more information.

Letitia died on 27th July 1920, and William died on 8th May 1923. They are both buried in Burwood cemetery.

George Dodd

George Dodd was born in England in 1829. He married Margaret Strachan in 1857, and they had eight children. George Strachan (1859-1911), Henry Edward (1861-1921), James (1864-1911), Thomas Alexander (1867-1940), Jessie Mary (1868-1948), John William (1870-1953), Allan Percy (1874-1950) and Frederick Charles (1876-1958).

In 1878, George Dodd selected and applied for a licence to occupy land near the head of the Dandenong creek just below Sassafras. Although the land was not in The Basin area, Dodd and his sons were involved in the affairs of The Basin and surrounding districts for many years. He is shown on the 1879 Petition requesting a school in The Basin as having 4 potential children attending.

In his licence application, he stated he had 59 acres of land in Mulgrave used for farming.

His application was granted, and a certificate of registration for 240 acres of land issued on 26th March 1878 for which he paid £1. Later documentation shows that the land was reduced to approximately 111 acres and became allotment 59.

Located between what are now The Basin-Olinda and Ridge roads, the land was about 1 km below the Olinda township. The Dandenong Creek ran through the centre of the land, which became known as “Dodd’s Gully” and later “Rainbow Gully”. The extensive fern gullies are features of the property, along with its unique setting within the mountain ash forest and the views to Melbourne. The land has not been subjected to bushfire in modern times.

To gain access to his land, Dodd created a track from Pigs Lane (in 2021, Pavitt Lane) to the main road in front of the Mt Dandenong Hotel near the end of The Basin-Olinda Road. The track followed close to the Dandenong Creek and ran through properties later owned by the Bruce Brothers. He may have enhanced and extended an earlier track created by Daniel Bunce in 1840. It was never gazetted as a road because the Bruce Brothers objected to it (it passed through their later purchased land) and landslides in 1891 closed it temporarily and other later landslides closed it permanently. Remnants of the track still exist as walking tracks including Golf Course and Dodds Track.

In February 1885, Dodd applied for a lease on the land. He stated his improvements included fencing, 20 acres cleared & grassed, a 5 roomed dwelling 30 feet by 15 feet (2 rooms slab with shingle roof & 3 rooms weatherboard with shingle roof), 6 acres of fruit trees, sheds, fowl-house, and a pig sty. A lease for 14 years was recommended.

Dodd had problems meeting his lease payments throughout his tenure. A report for the crown lands bailiff in 1881 showed he was short of money because 2 horses had died. In early 1892, The Secretary for Lands wrote to Dodd stating unless he paid the outstanding lease rent payments his holding may be forfeited.

Dodd died on 19th October 1892. He left a will leaving his estate to his wife Margaret and if his wife “passed” to leave the estate to his 8 children.

On the 22nd April 1893, Dodd’s leasehold was transferred to his executor, Frederick Weber and a crown grant was issued to Frederick Weber on 12th April 1893 “as executor under the will of George Dodd.”

After Dodd’s death, and from a request by his widow, the Australian Widows Fund wrote to the Secretary of Lands asking for details of the amounts owing in licence arrears, which they paid.

Frederick Weber died on 17th September 1911 and probate was recorded by the Titles Office as being granted to his executors on 26th May 1923. A “Red Ink” was recorded on the Title, but the Titles Office were unable to provide details of its contents.

Margaret Dodd died in 1923, at the age of 91.

On the 11th January 1924, Fredrick Weber’s executors transferred the land (at no cost) to Thomas Alexander Dodd, John William Dodd, Allan Percy Dodd, Jessie Mary Ebbels and Frederick Charles Dodd as tenants in common in equal shares of the land. The Certificate of Title was updated on the 17th January 1924.

On 22nd February 1924, a front section of the property was transferred to the Shire of Lillydale to enable the construction of The Basin-Olinda road to Olinda. Previously, the route passing the property to Olinda was via Range Road (in 2021, closed).

In the late 1920s, John Dodd constructed a unique log cabin, which survived into the 2010s.

On 11th September 1930, approximately half of the land was sold to Allan Percy Dodd and Harry Dodd for £1,350. They are referred to on the title as “both of ‘Coonara Springs’ Olinda Florists”. This portion of land had a frontage to The Basin-Olinda road, and the Dandenong Creek ran through the land. The remaining portion of the land with a frontage to Ridge Road was sold on the 2nd March 1931 to Joseph Edwin Chater for £2,150. Chater was the land developer associated with the “Doongalla Estate Mount Dandenong” and at about the same time had purchased a portion of the Doongalla property from T. M. Burke. The two parcels of land abutted each other and became part of this estate.

On the 23rd July 1932, Allan Percy Dodd and Harry Dodd sold and transferred their joint interest in the land to Allan Percy Dodd for £705. Allan Percy Dodd commenced a flower farm known as “Rainbow Gully Farm”.

Allan Percy Dodd and his wife Vera commenced construction of another dwelling in the 1930s, but it was decades before it was finished.

In 1943, Allan Percy Dodd and his wife Vera became joint proprietors of the land.

In the 1950s, a portion of the land fronting The Basin-Olinda road was subdivided into three small parcels of land. Two of the land parcels were gifted to the Dodd’s daughters, and the other sold.

Allan Percy Dodd passed away on 13th July 1983.

The remaining 20 hectares of land stayed in the Dodd name until 1991 when Vera Stewart Dodd passed away on 13th July. It was then transferred to Lawrence Swanson, the Dodd’s daughter’s husband, as Vera’s legal representative.

In 2014, it was purchased by the government, transferred to the crown, and formally named the “Rainbow Gully Reserve”. Extensive ecological surveys of the area were undertaken, and it was described as “Preservation of an area of ecological significance.”

In 2014, a crown lease on the property was taken out by Santa Nominees Pty Ltd for 21 years for: “Operation of a plant nursery and flower and foliage farm and related operations, and use as a residence”. Lawrence Swanson was the Director of Santa Nominees Pty Ltd. The company was deregistered in 2019.

After 120 years ownership by the Dodd family, this unique property reverted to the crown.

Access to the reserve is via the original track into the property and walking tracks.

In 2021, the original sign for “Allan P Dodd & Co” was still visible at the entrance to the property, and the house built by Allan Percy and his wife in the 1930s was unused, dilapidated, and the garden was overgrown.

The Murphy Brothers

Two brothers named William and Richard Murphy arrived in Australia in the 1850s. They selected adjacent allotments in the One Tree Hill area. Both were granted land in 1888 of 150 acres and 138 acres respectively on the steep, heavily timbered Northern slopes of One Tree Hill.

William Murphy

William was born in Tipperary, Ireland in 1829. He left for Australia in 1856, and spent some time in New Zealand.

On 17th November 1873, William Murphy married Jane McCaughan (born 1857 in Ireland) at St Kilda. The couple had 11 children. Mary Catherine (1874-1953), Winifred Amelda (1876-1937), Richard Michel (1878-1881), John Laurence (1880-1942), William Robert (1883-1951), Edward Joseph (1884-1923), Theresa Jane (1887-1963), Josephine Anastasia (1888-1973), Evelyn Anne (1890-1953), Aileen Margaret (1892-1941) and Francis Cornelius (1895-1941).

William was employed as a Crown Lands Bailiff and received the sum of £1 for patrolling an area as far as Kalorama and Wandin. His main task was to protect the Forest reserve from illegal use including cutting timber without a licence.

Jane was a strong woman. It is claimed she roped a 200 pound sack of flour to two sticks and with the aid of another person carried it up the hill from Fern Tree Gully. She was influential in local affairs and is credited with the establishment of the Ferny Creek Primary School.

William paid £151 for his land, and the date of his crown grant for allotment 88 was 6th April 1888. On 20th July 1888, he sold 75 acres of his land to John Martin.

The South Bourke and Mornington Journal reported on the 23rd May 1888:

“The new road which has been cut by the Council to One Tree Hill is now completed, and will prove not only a convenience to the district but as an ornament to the place. The road is entered upon from the Gully by crossing a very substantial wooden bridge over the creek, and from thence there is a gentle gradient all the way to Mr Murphy’s homestead is reached on the summit of the hill”.

This road became known as “Murphy’s Road”. For many years, it was the only means of reaching that spot for visitors.

In October 1908, William and Jane had an accident driving home on the Ferny Creek road from Fern Tree Gully in the locality known as the horseshoe bend. They met a horse and cart and for some unaccountable reason, their horse and buggy fell down the embankment. Both were badly bruised and shaken, but fortunately, no bones were broken.

William and Jane built the “Mt Erin Tea gardens”, and a Refreshment Chalet near the summit of One Tree Hill. The Tea-Gardens and the Refreshment Chalet were close together, with the Chalet on the corner of Hill St and One Tree Hill Rd.

He also constructed a house located on the corner of One Tree Hill Road and Mt Erin Rd, later known as “Mt Erin”. It was destroyed by fire in the late 1970s caused by an electrical fault. The house was used as a guest house.

William and Jane were active in local matters lobbying for road and school improvements.

William died on 15th September 1917, aged 88 and is buried at St Kilda cemetery.

In 1920, a section of Murphy’s land was subdivided, and touted as “Murphy’s Look Out Estate” with 73 mountain home sites on offer. The sale was conducted at Mt Erin Tearooms, One Tree Hill.

Jane McCaughan Murphy died in May 1938,

aged 81.

In 1941, the estate of the late Wm Murphy was offered for sale. It was promoted as:

“One Tree Hill.

Ferntree Gully’s Mountain Landmark

MURPHY’S MTERIN

Estate of the late Wm Murphy

Guest House, Tearoom, Cottage

At head of National Park Fern Gully”

Richard Murphy

Richard Murphy was born in Tipperary, Ireland in 1835 and moved to Australia, arriving in 1854.

He married Bridget Ellen McNamara (born 1846 in Ireland) in Sydney in 1865, and the couple had 12 children. John Richard (1866-1868), William (1867-?), Richard Henry (1869-1909), Anastasia (1870-1946), Francis Michael Patrick (1872-1888), Edward (1874-1876), James Patrick (1876-1877), Catherine Ellen (1877-1907), Daniel Joseph (1878-1889), Thomas Charles (1880-1933), Mary (1882-?) and Bridget Eileen (1885-1938).

He was granted a licence to occupy his selection on 1st October 1878. In his application, he stated his occupation as a “Cabman” and his address as 4 Vine Street, Windsor.

He had trouble meeting the conditions to convert the licence to a lease. Numerous correspondence between Murphy and the Lands Department show he was forced to seek employment as a cab driver in Melbourne to meet his lease payments and school his children. Therefore, he was not a full time resident on the land, which was one of the requirements of his licence. This letter to the Land Department from Murphy explains his situation.

“I have the honor to lay before you a statement of my grievances in consequence of a report having been sent to the Lands Office by the local Constable who acted on that occassion as Crown Lands Bailiff, to the effect that I was not residing on my selection at the time he made his report, which resulted in my lease being withheld.

I selected in Scoresby in the year 1878 (under the land act of 1869). I then got a transfer (under the land act of 1878) in 1879 under a six year lease and continued to reside personally with my wife and eight children for the term of four years up to the 1st of October last.

My wife and family have resided continually on the land for the past 6 years and are residing on it at the present time.

I was forced to come to Melbourne to earn a living to help to support my family and to enable me to hold on to my selection as all my means were spent through losses sustained in horses and cattle, and having no return from the land, no road but a bridle track, and having a large family to keep. I lost 7 horses and 8 cows, the former through bad and sour grass and falling into creeks. The latter I lost through having strayed and were sold in the Healesville pound, and by trees falling on them.

I can make affidavit that I have spent over £500 on the selection, one acre alone cost me £42 to clear and cultivate.

I had also to bring two of my children in turn to Melbourne, to send them to school, the nearest school in Scoresby being 4 miles distant over hilly country.

I have been very unfortunate though, through no fault of mine and I consider it a hardship to meet with this opposition after toiling for 33 years in the colony to make a home for my self and my family.

I am living in Melbourne in lodgings at the corner of Rae and York streets North Fitzroy renting two rooms, but have no home of my own, but my holding in Scoresby, the result of the labor of my life time ...”

A report by a mounted constable in 1884 stated his improvements consisted of 57 chains of fencing, a 3 roomed dressed slab shingle roof cottage with verandah and chimney lined, a small well near a spring, fowl house, shed, stables, cleared land and a fruit orchard. Fencing not completed, 5 acres ploughed, 5 acres cleared, and 40 acres ring-barked.

He was eventually granted a lease.

On 28th February 1888, Richard was granted title to allotment 89 for which he paid £139. Four months later, on 5th June, he sold the land to John Martin.

Richard died at Prahran on 1st February 1889 aged 54, and is buried in St Kilda Cemetery. Bridget died at South Melbourne on 18th June 1929 at the age of 83 and is also buried in St Kilda Cemetery.

Mr A. Collier, The Basin, dies at 80

The son of an early settler at The Basin, Mr Albert Charles Collier (after whom Albert Ave. was named) died last Sunday aged 80.

He was the son of Samuel Collier, who bought land in Colchester road (which was named after him) in the 1880's and represented ratepayers on the Ferntree Gully council until 1916. Albert worked that same property all his working life.

He is survived by four married daughters — Mesdames Ireland, Jones, Taylor and Wiggins — and a son, Horace, also 11 grand-children and 11 great-grandchildren

A New Sign for The Basin

I imagine that Steve Smith had probably given up on seeing a new location sign for The Basin since he first raised it with me some years ago. Now, after a long and arduous slog through policy and budgets, we are about to get the sign.
At right is an artist's sketch of the new sign, expected to be in place in late September.
While the raucous, ubiquitous, house-munching cockatoo is not everyone's favourite bird, it is certainly the dominant local — and no one will doubt where they are in our lovely village. J.M.

BITUARY

H.T.S.(Bert) Chandler

A link with the very beginnings of The Basin was broken with the death of Mr. H.T.S. (Bert) Chandler of Como Nurseries. He died on February 17th, leaving three sons, Fergus, Geoff and John.

Mr. Chandler was one of the eight sons of William and Kate Chandler who settled at The Basin on 54 acres beside the Dandenong Creek in 1873. He followed in his father's footsteps as a nurseryman and his chief triumph was the receipt of one of the two gold medals ever awarded by the Nursery and Seedsmen's Association of Victoria for his Andromeda or to be botanically correct Pieris Japonica which is known as the Bert Chandler.

Mr. Chandler had a rewarding and very full and happy life. He was within 10 days of his 90th birthday. He is survived by his second wife, Helen.

Tea can be grown and cured in Victoria quite as good as tea grown in Ceylon, India, China or elsewhere. This has been demonstrated by Mr James Griffiths: of Griffiths Brothers who for years has been cultivating the tea plant (thea sinensis) on his property at Bayswater. The prepared leaf has a fine flavour and good aroma.

Summary

Summary

The first user of land in The Basin for agricultural purposes was by Rev. James Clow. He held a Depasturing licence for a run known as Corhanwarrabul that included the area now known as The Basin. He pastured stock there as early as 1838.

The first known white occupier of land in The Basin was William Turner, his wife Margaret and their children. They settled in The Basin in 1851. Their story is detailed in Chapter 1 — Foundation.

William Peverill Watson is recorded as being the first official occupier of land in the area now known as The Basin. On the 5th February 1867, Watson was granted title to Crown Allotment A.

From the 10 original parcels of land in The Basin, subdivisions have created thousands of residential allotments. One of the first and largest estates opened in The Basin was “Schneider’s Estate”.

The first track to the top of the Dandenongs used by white men was known as the “Bullock Track”. It passed through The Basin and was created in the late 1840s. It was used by early botanists, settlers and timber workers and roughly followed the route of the road now known as Range Road.

Distinguished Resident

Allan Small

Allan Small has saved countless lives and homes from bushfires during his involvement in the CFA when he joined in 1967.

Allan became Lieutenant of The Basin in 1971 and in December 1972 he became Deputy Group Officer of the Knox Fire Brigades Group and became Group Officer in 2000. He was The Basin Fire Brigade Captain from 1977 to 1999 and became president in 1999. In 2004, Allan was a recipient of the Australian Fire Service Medal, awarded by the Governor General. In 2007, he was honoured by the CFA for 40 years service. In 2008, he was named the Knox citizen of the year. In 2020, he was awarded a Westfield local Heroes Award receiving a $10,000 grant for his affiliated organisation (The Basin Fire Brigade).

Allan commenced community volunteering in the Scouting movement when his sons joined 15th Boronia Scouts. He became president and was responsible for organising fundraising, and other administration tasks associated with the position.

Allan’s enthusiasm for helping others also extends to a unique project whereby titanium ring pulls are collected from cans and sent overseas to be used to make limb joints for disabled people. Allan’s passion for this project has inspired many of his friends to join him in his efforts.

Introduction

Development of land and roads in and around The Basin has influenced the foundation of The Basin. Therefore, this chapter should be read in conjunction with Chapter 1 — Foundation.

The development of land and roads is intertwined. To develop land, there must access to the land via a track or road. In the 1800s, when The Basin was being developed, the only access to land was via dray tracks.

Land

After white settlement, all land in Australia that had not yet been settled or developed was known as “Crown Wastelands”.

The early explorers and settlers created tracks through these “Wastelands” to find suitable land to settle. Initially, there was no mechanism for settlers to hold any claim over the land and many “squatted” on the land, thus becoming known as “squatters”. In 1838, squatters were given the right to apply for a “Depasturing licence” (see page 3) to lease land and later to purchase the land.

The first known white occupiers of land in The Basin were William Turner and his family. Their story is detailed in Chapter 1 — Foundation. Turner had several Depasturing licences East of Melbourne, one which was North of the Dandenong Creek.

William Peverill Watson is recorded as being the first official occupier of land in the area now known as The Basin. On the 5th February 1867, Watson was granted title to Crown Allotment A.

Watson paid cash for his 102 acres at approximately one pound per acre. Improvements were already then valued at 345 pounds, and they included a homestead, outbuildings, some fencing and cultivation. Undoubtedly this land was inhabited well before the sale.

Watson was the first person officially recorded as owning freehold land in The Basin. However, William Turner and his family were the first residents of The Basin. Information from his descendants and in other publications indicates he may have had freehold land and/or applied to purchase land in The Basin, but confirmation of either cannot be found.

An allotment marked as 72A is recorded as having been leased in 1867 to Wm. Turner Jnr., of Lilydale who was most likely the Turners first son. He lost the licence for encouraging “illicit distillation”.

It was in the mid 1860s that land in The Basin area was first selected by settlers via licences and leases. If the occupiers met the licence and lease requirements, they could apply for a freehold title. The first freehold owners (with land size and date of possession) were:

W. P. Watson (102 acres on 11/2/1867); E. Wicks (49 acres on 3/6/1881); J. Richards (61 acres & 58 acres on 14/11/1882), J. Schneider

Land

(170 acres on 20/1/1888); D. Dobson (80 acres on 10/12/1872); F. W. Woodhouse (127 acres on 26/2/1878); W. Chandler (41 acres on 15/2/1882); W. Chandler Jnr (13 acres on 2/3/1886); J. and M. Griffiths (184 acres 23/8/1888); J. J. Miller (205 acres & 114 acres in 1877 & 1879). See page 23 for a map of allotments.

The astuteness of the early selectors was confirmed by Robert Thompson, Government inspector, who wrote in 1870:

“The command of water here for irrigation over an extent of 65 acres might turn out six loads of vegetables every day round the year”.

William Chandler, David Dobson, John James Miller, James Griffiths and Edmund Wicks had the most influence in The Basin, and their stories are detailed in Chapter 1 — Foundation.

Depasturing Licences

In 1838, squatters were given the right to apply for a “Depasturing licence” (see page 3) to lease land and later to purchase the land. Then, in the areas outside of Melbourne, there was no other mechanism available that allowed a person to officially have a claim on land.

In 1947, Victoria was classified into three districts for the purposes of administering Depasturing licences. These were the Settled District, Intermediate District and Unsettled District. The Settled district applied to all land within 25 miles of Melbourne. The licence conditions were slightly different in each district.

Rev. James Clow held a Depasturing licence for a run known as Corhanwarrabul that included the area now known as The Basin. He pastured stock there as early as 1838. By 1860, this run had been broken up into several smaller runs that did not include The Basin.

Between the 1840s and 1860s, William Turner held several Depasturing licences in the Settled District, one which extended into the area now known as The Basin.

By the 1860s, in the Settled District, most settlers with depasturing licences had either purchased their land or had not renewed their leases. For the latter, this opened the land for other settlers. The passing of various land acts in the 1850s and 1860s enabled people to purchase freehold land. This land was either surveyed by the Government and offered for sale or settlers pegged out the land applied for a licence to occupy it.

Counties and Parishes

Those who have freehold land in Australia will have seen the terms “County” and “Parish” on their land titles describing the location of their land. These terms are taken from the English equivalents but have a different use in Australia.

In England, a County is an administrative division like our Local Council, and a Parish is an ecclesiastical district having its own church and clergyman.

In Australia, a County is a large division of land bounded by natural features. Several Parishes are within a County, each approximately thirty square miles.

When Victoria was first settled, there was no division of land. Division of land into Counties and Parishes occurred in stages as settlement progressed further from Melbourne. Initially, the area now known as The Basin was in the “Port Phillip District” before any Counties or Parishes were created.

As early as 1838, the term “County Bourke” was used officially, roughly describing the area East of Melbourne. It was not until 1843 that the County of Bourke was officially proclaimed with its Eastern boundary alongside the Dandenong Creek to its “Northern Bend” and then continuing North. This placed The Basin outside the County boundaries and in an unproclaimed area.

In 1849, the Counties of Evelyn and Mornington were proclaimed, with The Basin in the County of Mornington.

The early division of Parishes in the Counties of Bourke, Evelyn and Mornington is not known.

In 1857, the Parish of Scoresby was proclaimed in the County of Mornington. This Parish included The Basin.

In, 2021 The Basin is in the County of Mornington, Parish of Scoresby.

Government

Federal

The Basin has been in three Federal House of Representative electorates as follows:

| Years | Electorate |
|-------------|------------|
| 1901 – 1912 | Mernda |
| 1913 – 1948 | Flinders |
| 1948 – 2020 | LaTrobe |

Local

The first local government body to preside over The Basin area was the Berwick Road District Board, which was proclaimed on 24th October 1862, and enlarged in 11th March 1864 to include the Parish of Scoresby and other nearby Parishes. The enlargement became the Scoresby riding which included The Basin area.

The Berwick Road District Board became the Shire of Berwick on 12th May 1868.

In the 1880s, Melbourne was experiencing a land boom. The area serviced by the Scoresby riding was in the thick of this boom with the recent extension of the railway to Ferntree Gully and the launching of several speculative ventures. One venture was a proposed tramway to run from Bayswater to Olinda past The Basin.

Government policy allowed a riding to become a separate shire if its annual rates exceeded 500 pounds and generous grants were available. These factors combined with a feeling of neglect by the Shire of Berwick encouraged a push towards severance and the formation of a new Shire.

The Scoresby riding severed from the Shire

Sidney Myer

Sidney Myer, best known for founding the Myer department stores, had a property “Hilton Estate”, comprising 20 acres, and house “Vallego” in Ferny Creek off Hilton Road. His property is shown in the Realising Auction brochure for Ferndale dated 1925.

He purchased the property in 1921 from Author George Plowman and was described on the title as “Sidney Myer 314 Bourke Street Merchant”.

On 21st January 1933, his house and land of 20 acres was offered for auction stating:

“THE BEAUTIFUL MOUNTAIN HOME OF SIDNEY MYER ESQ., at SASSAFRAS Known as VALLEGO” ...with details of the house and land.

He sold the property in 1933 to “Archibald McDonald the younger of 43 Barrington Ave Kew Traveller”.

of Berwick on 23rd May 1889 to form the new Shire of Fern Tree Gully (note spelling — Fern Tree not FernTree). Despite blindness, John James Miller, who lived in The Basin, became first President of the Shire of Fern Tree Gully and was driven about by his son Fred in a horse drawn buggy.

On 9th October 1963, the Shire of Knox was formed by severance from the Shire of Fern Tree Gully.

Subdivisions and Estates

Subdivisions are large areas of land divided into smaller allotments. From the 10 original parcels of land in and around The Basin, subdivisions over the years have created thousands of allotments and in 2021 potential areas can still be subdivided.

Some subdivisions, usually the larger ones, were marketed as “Estates”. Some subdivisions were large and others of little consequence. Estates had glamorous names, and their posters contained glowing reports of the magnificent land and the facilities available. In the early days, radio broadcasts were an added attraction at many land sales, and of course each block was at a giveaway price. Subdivisions created most of the private roads in an area and these were usually given names that have some local flavour.

Early land estate brochures rarely mentioned “The Basin”. The land for sale was either at Boronia, Bayswater or Mt. Dandenong.

The 1910s and 1920s were the boom period for estates in The Dandenongs, and in particular, The Basin and Sassafras. The views towards Melbourne from the steep western and northern slopes of The Dandenongs were an attraction for developers. The opening of the 1 in 20 road (Mountain Highway) from The Basin to Sassafras in 1924 helped to promote some of these estates that were located near Sassafras. The Mystic Lake Estate (1926) had a frontage on the newly created 1 in 20 and also the Moulton Estate (1924). An earlier estate called the Front Door Estate (1913) had a frontage on the Coach Road (from The Basin) near Sassafras.

Some early estates were located on the steep and heavily treed western and northern slopes of The Dandenongs. Unfortunately, the planning of some estates was performed in a draughtsman’s office and when the block and road positions were marked out it was found they took little account of the terrain. Surveying these blocks was a momentous task. It was later deemed that most of this land was unsuitable for residential development and some land on these estates has been progressively purchased by the Government and amalgamated with the adjacent National Park.

Schneider’s Estate

One of the first and largest estates opened in The Basin was “Schneider’s Estate” on Boxing Day 1913. The estate was named after the selector J. Schneider who first selected allotment 91, being 170 acres of land that part of the estate was carved from. Half of allotment 92 was also used for the estate. See page 36 for information on Jacob Schneider and associated land transactions.

This estate took in part of the district known as “Chandler’s Hill”, “Schneider’s Hill” and extended across Mountain Highway, taking in the Clevedon area and into the area now known as “The Ravine”.

This was the largest subdivision ever in The Basin with 640 blocks offered for sale. Many blocks were narrow, on steep terrain and some had creeks running through them. Claremont Avenue and Golden Grove had creeks running down one side of them.

The original poster promoting the land had a small inset map showing a “proposed station” where Boronia station was built in 1920.

Little thought was given to fire safety, as in the original subdivision, Claremont Avenue was the only access to The Ravine, and Bayview Crescent and Mercia Avenue were not linked. This was partly remedied in the 1950s, when Council purchased block 581 to connect the top end of Inverness Avenue with Mountain Highway, and block 135 was purchased to provide access between Mercia Avenue and Bayview Crescent. The planners had some foresight though, as they allowed for several “Right-Of-Ways” intended for use as shortcuts for walkers. One of these Right-Of-Ways between Claremont Avenue and Mountain Highway was concreted in 1994. Other Right-Of-Ways are between Toorak Avenue and the top of Mercia Avenue, and between Inverness Avenue and Bowen Street.

Sales of land in Schneider's Estate were poor. Close to the First World War and a German sounding name did not help.

A few years later, the Schneider estate was renamed the "Switzerland (Heights) Estate" and promoted for sale on Boxing Day 1917. It is thought that the more neutral sounding "Switzerland" had better sales prospects. Also, the area was known by the name "Switzerland" as early as 1905 when it is mentioned in one of Janet Dobson's diary entries.

Some street names were changed in the Switzerland Estate plan from the original Schneider's Estate plan. Toorak Avenue was originally named Flynn Avenue, Claremont Avenue was originally named Schneider Avenue, Inverness Avenue was originally named Hansen Avenue, and Fern Street was originally named Short Street.

Switzerland Estate was renamed again and reopened in 1930 as the "Somerville Park Estate", with 113 allotments on offer. The promoter of the estate, E. V. Jones, built about 10 cottages on selected blocks around the estate offering some allotments as "Land with Dwelling".

Grandview Grove was later renamed Golden Grove.

Corsair Road was not part of the three estates mentioned earlier, but created in a later subdivision.

In the early 1960s, the blocks around the top end of Bayview Crescent, Short Crescent and Hilltop Crescent were reclaimed by the Government and amalgamated with the then Ferntree Gully National Park. The top end of Bayview Crescent, which in the original subdivision ran into Government Road, was terminated near where Hilltop Crescent commenced and Hilltop Crescent no longer exists.

When this area was first subdivided as the Schneider Estate, and the land pegged out, the roads were not even formed. Even after being renamed the Switzerland Estate and later renamed again as the Somerville Park Estate and land sales heavily promoted, not all roads were formed. Prospective land buyers had to push their way through thick bush to locate a pegged block. As land was sold, owners cut tracks to gain access to their land. These tracks sometimes followed the road line, but usually took the shortest path to the land.

In the Claremont Avenue area, landowners were for a while able to use the "Mill track" for vehicle access into the Claremont Avenue area of The Ravine. The Mill track ran between The Basin-Olinda Road and near the intersection of Claremont Avenue and Inverness Avenue. The track was originally constructed across private land for use by the sawmill that operated in The Ravine in the early 1920s. When the sawmill closed, the Mill Track was no longer required. Although used for some years by Ravine residents, the track closed in 1930.

Subdivisions and Estates

The closing of the Mill Track prompted a few landowners to pool some money, and a contractor by the name of Cunningham residents hired him to form Claremont Avenue from Mountain Highway to Corsair Road with fords across the two creek crossings.

Around 1936, a footbridge was constructed across the second Claremont Avenue creek crossing and in the late 1940s wooden bridges were constructed across both creek crossings. Frank Parr was instrumental in arranging construction of these bridges.

Nevertheless, the roads were in a terrible state. Residents took their chances driving up to Mountain Highway and some sounded their horn when they successfully reached Mountain Highway.

In 1927 as a young child, Frank Parr moved with his parents to a house at the top end of Claremont Avenue. Frank grew up in The Basin and worked at Dobson's orchard for many years. Frank donated the logs used to build the bridges. The logs were sawn at Mansell Brothers sawmill which was on the corner of Mount View Road and Albert Avenue. Frank and other residents held working bees to build the bridges mentioned above.

Frank's family had such an influence in this area in the early days that the area was once called "Parr's Gully". Later, the area became known as "The Ravine".

In the early 1950s, concrete pipes replaced the first bridge along Claremont Avenue. Len Herbert was a resident and a member of the Road Committee then. Len lobbied the local council to supply the concrete pipes and residents provided the labour to lay the pipes and prepare the road surface over the pipes.

The original subdivision had Inverness Avenue coming off Claremont Avenue, running across a creek and winding around alongside Mountain Highway, but there was not a bridge across the creek. Tracks formed over time, but they stopped on either side of the creek crossing in Inverness Avenue. This meant that Inverness Avenue was not formed over the creek and residents at the top end of Inverness Avenue had no vehicle access for many years. The first access to the top end was when a track was cut in from Mountain Highway about half-way between Alamein and Tobruk Avenues (this track was still visible in 2021). In the 1950s, Council purchased block 581 and this is now a road connecting Inverness Avenue with Mountain Highway.

The condition of the roads in The Ravine was always poor. Self-help schemes where residents contributed funds and held working bees to improve roads existed as far back as the early 1950s.

In 1977, the "Claremont/Inverness Roads Construction Association" was formed. By this time the roads were in a terrible state. To raise finance to improve the roads, a voluntary contribution of $100 per block was set. Unfortunately, not all residents contributed.

After several meetings and much planning, the first temporary repairs to roads were carried out in June 1978.

In the summer of 1978, stage one of works commenced with high quality gravel construction of Claremont Avenue from Mountain Highway to Inverness Avenue. Drainage, which had been the major problem, was upgraded with property crossings correctly laid and pipes under the road to direct water into The Ravine. Other works included high quality gravel construction of Inverness Avenue from Mountain Highway to Claremont Avenue with minor works to the top end of Inverness Avenue.

In 1979, pipes were laid, and a crossing constructed to bridge the creek and join the two sections of Inverness Avenue. The crossing was of major importance as previously both sections

Jock Manson

Jock Manson was an interesting character who lived alone in a pair of makeshift one room "sheds" in Inverness Ave directly opposite where Alamein Ave meets Mountain Highway. His house had no floors and was strewn with papers.

Jock suffered a major tragedy experiencing the death of all his brothers and sisters (in the order of 6 or more) who were shot to death whilst he sheltered under a bed during the War.

He lived by himself and had a number of goats on his property. He was always approachable and was a stonemason who built many a chimney for the local residents and a church in Olinda. He was often seen walking to Boronia with his Gladstone bag.

Before he died in 1987, he was supported to stay in his own home by friends, neighbours and the City of Knox Community Services.

of The Ravine had only one entry/exit point in event of bushfire or other problems.

Construction and maintenance continued over the next few years until once again, declining contributions forced the scheme to lapse.

In 1984, the Association asked the Council to convene public meetings to consider full construction of roads in The Ravine. Following planning and time allowed for objections, construction was carried out in 1985/86. The construction included moving the entrance to Claremont Avenue to its correct position directly opposite Toorak Avenue. Previously, the entrance was what in 2020 is the driveway into the property on the North corner of Claremont Avenue and Mountain Highway. The eastern end of Golden Grove was constructed with a concrete surface for extra stability where the road follows the creek.

The eastern ends of Inverness Avenue, Bowen Street and Golden Grove have always been considered fire traps as they are dead ends. In 1996, an access track was constructed from the eastern ends of these roads up to Mountain Highway. The track is called Inverness Track. Locked gates bar general access to this track, but in an emergency the track can be used by emergency vehicles.

In the Mercia Avenue and Bayview Crescent area, early purchasers of land on these unformed roads had to construct the roads themselves if they required vehicle access. In the 1940s, the top end of Bayview Crescent up to Short Crescent was formed in this manner. Even then, the roads were in poor condition and locals performed most of the road maintenance.

The first Council forming of gravel roads in the area commenced in the late 1950s. Mercia Avenue was formed except for a section midway along its length. The midsection was formed in the late 1960s. Bayview Crescent was formed up to Short Crescent (becomes Crete Road/Track) in the late 1950s. The extension of the section of Bayview Crescent past Short Crescent was financed by residents in the early 1980s but did not extend to the top of Schneider's Hill as the original subdivision planned. The blocks in that section were reclaimed by the Government.

Increased residential development occurred in these areas in the 1970s, with a consequent deterioration in road quality. Knox Council occasionally graded the roads, but in the late 1970s to early 1980s when grading was needed more frequently, council argued that these roads were private streets and consequently reduced the service.

Residents formed working bees to improve roads, but they could not keep up with the deterioration in road condition. This speed up the push for full construction and in 1984 Knox Council issued property owners with road construction notices. After hearing of all objections, construction commenced in 1985. The scheme was not without its problems though — after two contractors started and went bankrupt, the Council stepped in and took over completion of the scheme.

Nyora Avenue, Bayview Crescent, Mercia Avenue, Government Road between Toorak Avenue and Mercia Avenue and Wright Street was constructed 1987. Not all areas had reticulated water and the road construction included extensions of reticulated water supply in all these streets.

Toorak Avenue was constructed in 1992 and was the first street in The Basin to incorporate speed restricting devices. Under pressure from residents, the devices were incorporated to deter motorists from using Toorak Avenue as a shortcut between Forest Road and Mountain Highway.

Front Door Estate

All the land and roads were later acquired by the Government and amalgamated into the National Park. McClares Terrace no longer exists.

WEE LITTLE HOME IN THE HILLS,

Away from Trouble and care,

Dr. Yoffa

Dr. Annie Yoffa lived as a hermit in a tent on a bush block on the lower side of Mountain Highway in The New Mystic Lake Estate near where Tobruk Ave meets Mountain Highway.

She was part of the Yoffa hosiery family whose knitting mills were ravaged by fire in 1963.

She lived in St. Kilda before deciding to become a hermit, then moved to Mt Martha and then to The Basin. By then she was in her 80s.

A well educated and highly intelligent woman, she claimed to be making a scientific study of the effect of discomfort on the mentally strong, and the possibility of survival among the natural elements. It is said she lived in almost impossible conditions and kept her fingers supple (she was an accomplished surgeon) by tearing quantities of paper into small squares. She made little effort to clear the property and the Council had numerous complaints about the masses of strewn newspapers.

She was not destined to complete her study as she was battered to death by a psychiatric case who had sought her assistance. She was strangled by Maxwell Victor Jones, who was convicted and ended up in an Ararat institution for the criminally insane. A violent end to a brilliant but pathetically lonely woman.

At the time of Dr. Yoffa's death, Mrs Stella Patrone was walking her dog Monty along the roadway adjacent to Dr. Yoffa's camp. Mrs Patrone noticed Monty's apparent intuition that something was wrong as his hair stood on end and his walk was stilted as they passed by the camp.

Dr. Yoffa's body was discovered a few days later.

Sales were good, with many blocks sold in the 1920s. The original subdivision showed Nyora Road continuing straight up the mountain to the end of Philippa Road but it would never have been more than a track. Lachlan Road was originally called Lewis Road and another road called Clerke Road came off near the end of Philippa Road and connected with Nyora Road.

About ¼ of the blocks on the high side were acquired by the Government and amalgamated into the National Park. Clerke Road disappeared and Hansen Track and Chandlers Track were created. Council later blocked the connection between Burston and Hansen Roads and created a footpath between them. The Melbourne and Metropolitan Board of Works purchased Lot 71 in 1959 to erect the Basin No. 1 Tank.

See map on page 63.

Nareen Park Estate

Land in this estate was offered for sale in the early 1920s just before the electrification of the railway line from Ringwood to Fern Tree Gully in 1925. The brochure was full of phrases such as:

“WHEN you build your week-end home on the Nareen Park Estate you will be able to take cheap short motor trips from your door to places such as Sassafras, Olinda and all the other favoured pleasure resorts. Boronia is in the centre of them all.

The Electrification of the Railway to Ringwood, and the extension to Fern Tree Gully (the work will be carried out Immediately — the money having been voted by Parliament) is of vital importance to intending purchasers, and with a quick and frequent service BORONIA becomes a most popular Outer Suburb and Week-end Resort. Just think what an influence ELECTRIFICATION will have on land values at BORONIA.

You will benefit by the enhanced values which are sure to follow, as they have done at Ringwood and other places on this favoured line”.

One hundred and eighteen lots in Arcadia, Waratah, Carnarvon, Verbena Avenues and Forest Road, were offered for sale from £35 to £65.

Frances Street was not included in this subdivision but was added when the Eden Park Estate was created a few years later.

The roads in this estate were constructed in the late 1970s.

Chandler's Hill Estate

This estate was offered for sale in the early 1920s and included The Triangle, the area where the main shops are now, Church Street and around and behind View Road. Forty-three "Weekend Blocks" were offered at £25 each, with terms of £2 deposit and 10 shillings per month.

View Road was constructed in the mid 1980s.

The Basin Progress Association first suggested closing Church Street at Mountain Highway in 1974 and Council agreed, but it took at least another 10 years before it occurred.

Ferndale Estate

Until 1925, the land and buildings known as Ferndale were owned by James Griffiths spread over 4 titles. James's brother, John Moore Griffiths, had part ownership of one property up to 1897.

In March 1889, caveats were issued on 4 titles, but the Titles Office could not provide any details.

In 1925, James and Emily Griffiths and two others were killed at the Bayswater level crossing after a collision between their wagonette and a steam train. One person survived.

Princes Alexandrina Estate roads shown in Melways c1964.

There were complications arising from the wills of James and Emily and these are detailed on page 28.

This section follows the land transactions around Ferndale up to 2020. For information about the Ferndale building and other land transactions, see page 87.

Executors for James applied for Probate with the following properties in The Basin area listed as his assets:

1. Allotment 87, consisting of 184 acres, a three-story house known as Ferndale (20 years old), containing 19 rooms and usual outbuildings, a managers' weatherboard cottage (40 years old), mens quarters and outbuildings.
2. Part of allotment 86, consisting of 142 acres being vacant fenced land (known as "Hylton").
3. Part of allotment 79, consisting of 21 acres and a gardeners' cottage (very old) (known as "Chandlers").
4. Part of allotment 88, being lot 73 consisting of vacant land.

Probate was granted, and John Moore Griffiths was appointed as administrator of the estate. He arranged for a "Realising Auction" on the 22nd December 1925 of the house and a combination of the first 3 parcels of the above mentioned land (320 acres). A detailed 7-page brochure, including a map, was prepared for the auction. No major subdivision was undertaken, but a map divided the land into 11 parcels and had existing, surveyed and projected roads indicated.

The brochure supplied a detailed inventory and promoted a new road through the property:

"The Great New '1 in 20' Mountain Road TRANSVERSES THE ESTATE FROM SIDE TO SIDE. THIS GREAT HIGHWAY, which has been formed by the Ferntree Gully Shire Council, will, when metalled, probably become the Principal Key Road connecting Melbourne with The Dandenong Ranges..."

This road appeared in a later 1927 subdivision named "Robin Road" and purchased by The Shire of Ferntree Gully in 1929 (see later). It is unclear why the Realising Auction brochure called it the 1 in 20 before the purchase.

Newspapers reported the property purchased by Daniel John Gans, his wife Edith Lillian Gans, and a Mr Stuart. The official owner being “Daniel. J. Gans”.

Subdivisions and Estates

On 23rd February 1926, shortly after the above reported sale, a caveat was issued on the first 3 parcels of land. Caveat details could not be found, but it may be related to the issues associated with the will of Emily. See page 28 for details. The caveat lapsed on 9th April 1929.

After the reported sale, the certificate of title for the first 3 properties remained in the name of the administrator, John Moore Griffiths, so it can be assumed that the sale to Daniel John Gans fell through or was restricted by the caveat.

In 1927, the first 3 probate listed properties were subdivided into over 300 residential allotments, and a large area of land around the homestead. Ferndale, Stewart, Helen, Danieda, Edith and Robin Roads were created, and land reserved along the creeks that flowed through the properties.

On 19th November 1927, around 100 of the subdivided properties were offered for sale by auction as “Ferndale Estate”. The brochure stated: “By Order of Ferndale Pty. Ltd.”

Ferndale Proprietary Limited was registered on 15th April 1926 and deregistered on 29th June 1940.

A 12-page brochure was produced for the auction, with a detailed map and colour pictures. Most of the subdivided land around Stewart, Helen, Danieda and Edith roads was not offered for sale. Robin Road is shown in the brochure as the “One in Twenty Road” (In 2021, Mountain Highway).

On a page of the brochure was this colourful wording:

“The Call of the Mountains

Away from the noise and rattle of the incessant city, above its dust and depressing grime; up in the pure health giving mountain air, surrounded by natural loveliness, unmolested and unharmed. High breeze fanned spurs, commanding wide spread panoramas over hill and dale, right to the ocean. Peaceful grassy slopes with luxurious blackwoods, eucalypts wattles and evergreens, harbouring thousands of birds that fill the air with their sweet toned melodies. Deep cool gullies with their murmuring crystal streams trickling over mossy pebbled beds, twist venture laden banks, with sunny patches percolating through giant treefern fronds above. A perfect harmony of luxury, grandeur, simplicity, loveliness. A haven of rest to crowded minds. A health giving tonic to weary bodies inspiring the best within us crowding out our baser selves”.

Free railway passes from Melbourne to Bayswater, and free cars from Bayswater to the estate were offered. Bert Piergrosse, the Hire Car Proprietor engaged for the auction, received instructions not to take anyone back until 5 pm., even though some may have arrived early.

The auction was held on a large levelled area off Mountain Highway. All trees on the lower side of the area cleared to provide a magnificent panoramic view towards Melbourne. A large marquee was carefully situated on the levelled area so that the bidders would get a resplendent view around them.

The rugged nature and steepness of the terrain were a deterrent for most people and no record of any land being purchased at the auction could be found.

On 1st February 1929, John Moore Griffiths sold the first 3 parcels of land listed in the probate application to Ferndale Proprietary Limited for £11,300. These 3 parcels of land had been subdivided in 1927 as described earlier.

The 4th parcel of land listed in the probate application was sold to Ferndale Proprietary Limited on 18th May 1926. The land was resold a few times later and transferred to the crown on 22nd August 1984.

The first blocks of land (lots 42 to 44) from the 1927 subdivision were sold by Ferndale Proprietary Limited to William Parker for £85 on 25th August 1929. The lots were sold numerous times and consolidated in 1974. In 2021, the same property is the only private one remaining at the Southern end of Ferndale Road (near Mountain Highway).

On 20th December 1929, Ferndale Proprietary Limited sold the land shown as “Robin Road” on the 1927 subdivision, to The Shire of Ferntree Gully for £5 for use as a public highway (the 1 in 20 and later Mountain Highway).

On 10th February 1938, Ferndale and the untransferred land of around 320 acres (which appears to be the original “Ferndale Estate” land) was auctioned. It was promoted as a “mortgagees realising sale”. The first 3 parcels of land listed in the probate application were mortgaged to The Union Bank of Australia Limited.

Two weeks later, on February 22nd, the Ferndale and Hilton Estates were offered for sale. Hilton Estate was the land once owned by S. B. Myer accessible by what is now The Mount Dandenong Tourist Road and Hilton Road.

The properties were passed in. The highest bid for the all the property was £5,750, and for the house with 32 acres was £3,750. The Hilton Estate of 22 acres was also passed in at £550.

On December 9th 1939, the Ferndale and Hilton Estates were again offered for sale as a “mortgagees realising sale” but were not sold.

On 25th August 1949, all the untransferred land in the 1927 subdivision and the Ferndale building was sold by Ferndale Proprietary Limited to the Building Guarantee and Discount Company for £3,603 and 10 shillings. Building Guarantee and Discount Company became Columbia Carpet Industries Ltd in 1974.

In 1949 and 1950, around 14 residential blocks from the 1927 subdivision were sold by Building Guarantee and Discount Company for around £25 each.

On 31st October 1949, Musia Rubinstein purchased the Ferndale building and surrounding land of around 30 acres from the Building Guarantee and Discount Company for £4,082 and nineteen shillings. From 1955 to 1971 several caveats were issued on the property. The title's office were unable to supply details on the caveats,

On 16th September 1974, Wellington Knitwear Pty Ltd purchased the building and 30 acres from Musia Rubinstein for $40,000. The 30 acres was subdivided into 2 equal parcels in 2003. In 2021, the land is owned by W.K.P. Pty Ltd (formerly Wellington Knitwear Pty Ltd).

Commencing in the 1950s, the Government began acquiring land next to the National Park. In 2021, apart from the original Ferndale site and some odd blocks of land along Ferndale Road, most of the land associated with Ferndale has been acquired and amalgamated into the Dandenong Ranges National Park.

Eden Park Estate

This estate of 75 allotments included Stuart Street, Norman Street, Augusta Road and Frances Street area was auctioned by A. M. Welch & Co., in 1926. The terms being £5 deposit and £1 a week for ½ acre blocks ranging from £45 to £75 each.

The brochure touted:

“Local Post Office and home on the Estate. The Estate is only 20 minutes walk from Boronia Railway Station, and immediately appeals to the purchaser of a week-end home site, being right among the Gums with charming views, and the mountains extending along the Southern side of the Estate.”

The name didn't entice Adam and Eve but attracted Mr. Edward (Ted) George Mortiboy, later the proprietor of the Wine Saloon in Mountain Highway, Bayswater. Ted, a keen scouter, bought 4 blocks in Stuart Street and often brought his troop, the 6th Malvern Scouts, there for weekend camps. A bunkhouse was built and many a pleasant weekend enjoyed. Camp fire “Singsongs”, and the appearance of “The Ghost of Sassafras” on initiation nights were features of these outings.

Ted and his scouts rushed to the scene of the first Boronia level crossing accident on 27 April 1926, there to render help to the injured survivors of that gory affair.

Edward George Mortiboy was born in England on 26th June 1902. He was married to Gwen Roberts.

Ted was The Basin Progress Association President from 1945 to 1949, and one of original trustees. He stood for Ferntree Gully Council against Brigadier Inglis of the Salvation Army, but as Ted explained the “Devil drink” (he was then the Bayswater wine saloon proprietor) had little chance against the Salvation Army.

In the original subdivision plan of Eden Park Estate, Stuart Street did not connect with Forest Road. Lot 38 of the Forest Heights Estate blocked the end of the road. Residents who lived in the Western end of the estate had to traverse in and out via Augusta Road. For walkers, a track through the land was often used as a shortcut. The landowner subsequently erected a weekend house on Lot 38 called “Trails End” and placed a barbed wire fence on the Stuart Street boundary effectively blocking the shortcut. For a time, tracks on other blocks were used for shortcuts, but as houses were built these tracks disappeared.

After complaints, the Council negotiated with the owners of Trails End, and after help from a Doctor Lawrence from Boronia (who attended someone in Norman Street and had problems getting there), the Council purchased the land in the early 1950s. The weekender was demolished, and the land converted into a road to connect Stuart Street with Forest Road.

Roads in this estate were constructed in the late 1970s.

Forest Heights Estate

This estate in the area where the first Basin Fire Station was erected (later rebuilt on the opposite side of Forest Road) and the Infant Welfare Centre and The Basin Kindergarten now stand, was offered for sale in 1925. The estate included land along Forest Road (then New Forest Road), Conyers Street and Harrison Street. The brochure touted:

“BEAUTIFUL BORONIA — Ideal for Health and Wealth — A Home in the Hills — A Holiday in the Bush — Happiness and Contentment”.

“The Electrification of the Railway to Boronia brings this district within 35 minutes travelling from Melbourne, with a minimum of 9 trains daily, and an increased schedule for Sundays. Electrification means rapid development, and in a very short time land values will rise much higher. Consider how much Boronia has progressed during the past three years. With the electrification of Railways values must greatly increase. Boronia is designed to be the most important mountain suburb near Melbourne. Now is your opportunity to obtain a lovely shop site or mountain home block at a price which must give you a handsome profit on your deal. Purchase your block now in a rapidly developing district, and share in immediate rise in values, consequent on the facilities offered by the electrification of the Railways with the attendant improved service and quick settlement, and thus reap the benefits which must occur to the early buyer. Delay spells disappointment. No suburb has the remarkable advantages of Boronia”.

Prices were from £45 to £100 on £3 deposit. Among the early buyers was a Mr. W. J. Wallis of “Glen Elbourne”, The Basin, who later generously handed over two blocks to the Ferntree Gully Shire in the hope they would be put to good use. His hopes were not in vain as in 1953 the Infant Welfare Centre was built on one and in 1958 the Kindergarten on the other. There was a proposal in 1973 to close off the North end of Conyers Street and use that end as a car park for the Kindergarten and Health Centre. However, this never eventuated.

Conyers Street was constructed in the late 1970s and Harrison Street was constructed in the mid 1980s. Harrison Street originally ran between Forest Road (then New Forest Road) and Old Forest Road (then Government Road) but was blocked at Old Forest Road when it was constructed.

Forest Road Estate

Offered for sale in 1953 and promoted by Spencer Jackson as:

“A group of 7 handpicked sites In a popular and rapidly developing area. Prices £120 to £140.”

Milleara Estate

The Milleara and Simpsons Road area was subdivided in the late 1920s by Bert Chandler to raise funds during the depression.

Reserve Estate

This estate at the lower end of Arcadia Avenue was offered for sale in 1951. Thirty lots were offered priced between £50 and £150.

Reserve Estate Extension

The Reserve Estate Extension up Arcadia Avenue including Camellia Crescent and Rowan Avenue was offered for sale in 1955. Forty-nine lots were offered at £100 each with £10 deposit and £4 per month.

The roads in this estate were constructed in the late 1970s.

Mountain Highway Estate

This estate was offered for auction in 1950 and included the area around Wicks Road and Walker Street. Twenty-eight lots were offered with terms of £20 deposit and £1 per month. Road names have changed with Wicks Road formerly being Old Forest Road and Walker Street formerly New Street.

Wicks Road was first sealed in the 1960s, and the link into Mountain Highway blocked. It was later upgraded and Walker Street constructed in 1981.

The block on the corner of Mountain Highway and Wicks Road was the original site of the Church of England and was donated by Miss Wicks for that purpose.

Clevedon Estate

This estate was created in 1951 when about 3 acres of the western part of the Clevedon property was subdivided into 17 lots. Streets included Ross Street, and Clevedon Road.

In 1953, another 3 acre section of the Clevedon property was subdivided into 17 building allotments with Cleve Street running down the middle.

Cleve Avenue, Ross Street and Clevedon Road were constructed in 1990. Clevedon Road originally ran into Mountain Highway but was blocked by a gate only accessible by emergency vehicles. Clevedon Road was also blocked between Cleve Avenue and Ross Street.

Mystic Lake Estate

Created between Mountain Highway and One Tree Hill, two hundred and twenty-two allotments were auctioned on A.N.A. day 1st February 1926. Roads created included Alpine Ave, Janesdell Ave, Highview Road and Seaview Avenue.

Bushfires had ravaged the Dandenongs at the time of the auction, which did not deter the estate agents. They organised transport from Upper Ferntree Gully railway station to a marquee on the auction site. A lorry with no seats carrying 25 people returning from the auction crashed at "Devils Elbow" killing 3 people.

The "Mystic Lake" part of the name was chosen because of the "Lake" that appeared on some foggy winter mornings in the lower reaches of The Basin and surrounding districts. From the elevated view provided from the estate, the fog appeared like a mystical lake. This lake can still be seen on occasions by those with an elevated northern view across The Basin.

A few houses were built at the lower end of Alpine Road, but these properties and others were reclaimed by the Government and amalgamated in the National Park. In 2021, Gates block access to parts of the land in this area.

New Mystic Lake Estate

This estate, promoted by Spencer Jackson, opened in 1953 and was located on the lower northern slopes of One Tree Hill. The roads included Tobruk Avenue, Alamein Avenue, Crete Road, Mystic Road and Government Road. Some street names were chosen because of their association with the Second World War.

The roads were well-formed gravel roads but were never sealed. A section of the estate extended to the lower side of Mountain Highway.

Jackson purchased the land from Dr. Georgina who had wanted the Lands Department to make a public reserve of it. After being informed by the Lands Department that they were not interested in creating a public reserve, he decided to subdivide.

The New Mystic Lake Estate was heavily promoted in the newspapers and on radio. Mrs Helen Walkers' Real Estate Agency in Mountain Highway sold some properties.

The brochure touted:

"The New Mystic Estate commands magnificent views across the Dandenong Ranges. It is a select exclusive area with formed, graded and metalled all-weather roads. Over £11,000 has been spent on roads alone. Owing to the cost of road making there is little likelihood of any more subdivisions in the Dandenong Ranges. Even now demand exceeds supply. This therefore will probably double or treble in value..."

The natural bush setting of this land attracted much interest — even from people in other countries who had not even seen the land! Many lots were purchased sight unseen. Some lots were totally unsuitable for building being steep, rocky and with creeks running through them.

Mrs Thorton, proprietor of Clevedon guest house around the time the land was selling, recalled many a time owners of lots in the New Mystic Lake Estate would call into the guest house for a cup of tea in a distressed state after viewing their property for the first time.

Despite all this, a total of eight holiday shacks and permanent residences were erected. A few houses were erected without permits, and some people even lived in tents on their block.

The map on page 57 shows positions of the well-developed houses that were once on the estate.

The house at position 1 in Tobruk Ave was the Tozers's home where they lived from the late 1950s. It was next to a creek with a beautiful waterfall and rock ledges. The Tozer family owned the Lower Ferntree Gully Grocery Store for many years. There was a set of pipes, and a pump that drew plentiful water from the creek into tanks for their personal use. The rock falls were a magnificent sight in wintertime. A track once followed the creek up the hill to Tyson Track. A dam accessible from Tyson Track was constructed after the 1968 bushfires on the same creek. In 2021, the levelled house area, driveway and non-native vegetation were still visible.

At position 2 in Tobruk Ave was the partially finished weekender of Mr Tullock. Whilst a large framed construction and fully roofed, the house only ever had one room finished. This was enjoyed on weekends by the owners, who like others visiting the area, were probably content with the ability to leave the hustle bustle for working life behind for 48 hours of solitude in the Hills. In 2021, the levelled house area (with chimney ruins) and driveway were still visible.

The house at position 3 in Alamein Avenue was built by Mr. Lou Walker. He was a retired hatmaker and avid motorcycle enthusiast (many trophies for racing) from Melbourne. His daughter Shirley worked with the Post Office. She succumbed to a fatal accident on her motorcycle whilst delivering the mail in the local area. She was always fond of motorbikes, and incredibly rode her own Vespa motor scooter down Alamein Ave every day on the way to work. Shirley was also fond of horses, and Mr Walker bought the adjacent block of land, turning it into a horse paddock for Shirley. When married, Shirley, her husband and two children lived in the house for several years.

Mr Walker's house was demolished around 1990, and he spent his remaining days living near the middle of The Basin Township with his Son-In-Law. In 2002, a driveway and non-native vegetation were still visible.

The house at position 4 in Alamein Avenue (lot 61) was built around 1957 by William Pope for his mother Stella Patrone. She lived there alone, on tank water and kerosene lighting/refrigeration up until around 1968 when she fell into poor health. No telephone or electricity was available for many years in that street. She was a keen walker and knew every inch of the One Tree Hill foothills. The only company being her dog (Whiskey, then Monty). She would walk to Travis's store or The Basin store or catch the bus to Boronia for supplies. Life was spent cutting wood for heating and cooking over the open fire, walking for supplies, and lots of reading. She enjoyed listening to the radio (battery powered transistor). Despite one of the best views of the Dandenongs, and the viewing of the building of the TV channels, no television ever existed for her in that house. Fire watching, and protection of the local area was her mainstay activity in the area, and she was well known and respected for her help with the local fire brigade members — particularly during the 1962 and 1968 fires. The house came close to damage during 1962, but due to the efforts of local brigade members, fires were fought off from attacking the Eastern end of the house. The house and property were eventually purchased by the Government and the house demolished.

Opposite the house at position 3 in Alamein Avenue (lot 159), was a block originally purchased by Jim and Beth Tobin. They sold the block to an English couple who, with their young baby, erected a tent as a dwelling. They also erected a tank for collection of water from their tent. Soon after, they abandoned the site and disappeared. For many years the tank could still be seen where it lay half-way down the creek bed adjacent the tent site.

The two-story house at position 5 on Mountain Highway was owned by a Mr. Meisel from a family of rag trade retailers who operated a business in the top end of Bourke St (Melbourne); a men's clothing store called "The American Tailor". The house had a table tennis in the cellar, a huge lounge on the patio overlooking the highway, and a magnificent in ground pool in the yard. The house had the luxury of an inside toilet, and a second water tank for making hot running water.

The house at position 6 on Mountain Highway was first owned by the Robinson family. The house was later sold to the Yardley's who moved to Boronia.

The house at position 7 was built by Mr Hook. It still exists and in 2021 is the only house left on the New Mystic Lake Estate.

The house at position 8 was a weekender built by Bob and Dot Farish of Footscray.

In the 1960s, the Government, under pressure from groups promoting the "Save The Dandenongs" theme, restricted any further development in the estate and began progressively buying back properties, demolishing any buildings, and incorporating the land into the Ferntree Gully National Park.

The house at position 2 was partially damaged in the 1962 bushfires and gutted in the 1968 bushfires. No other house was damaged by the many bushfires over the years.

Apart from the house at position 7, all other properties have been reclaimed by the Government.

Gates were erected in 1994 to bar private vehicle access into the area that was once the New Mystic Lake Estate. For walkers, many visible signs of past development such as levelled cuttings, rock walls, tracks into blocks and some exotic trees still exist.

Spencer Jackson created other estates including Sherbrooke Forest Estate, Forest Road Estate (The Basin), and Warrawing Extension Estate (South Belgrave).

Look Out Estate

Promoted as "Murphy's Look Out Estate" it was offered for sale in 1920. Soon after his death, part of William Murphy's land at One Tree Hill was subdivided into 73 mountain home sites. It included the roads Mount Erin Road, Janesdell Avenue, Mount View Road and Seabreeze Avenue.

The advertisements touted:

"Almost on the summit of One Tree Hill.

Adjoining Mrs Murphy's Mount Erin Tea Gardens, and close to the Government Lookout Tower. One of the best known and most desirable positions in the mountains".

Subdivisions and Estates

Princes Alexandrina Estate

Promoted by Spencer Jackson using the company name “Mount Dandenong Estates Proprietary Limited”, land in this estate was offered for sale in 1953.

The estate extended from One Tree Hill along Outlook Track, to the top of The New Mystic Lake Estate, meeting Tobruk Avenue. Other roads in the estate were Macedon Road (in 2021 track) and View Road (in 2021 track).

The brochure touted headings such as:

“Big Land Sale at FERNY CREEK”

“SPENCER JACKSON THROWS OPEN THE MOST MAGNIFICENT SCENIC VISTAS IN VICTORIA ON THE

PRINCESS ALEXANDRINA ESTATE”

“162 Hilltop, Sea-View Home Sites”

““All Weather” Metalled Roads”

““Green Belt” Protects your Privacy”

“It's the Last Big Investment Estate in the Dandenongs”

Around 40 blocks were purchased, and a few houses erected, but by 1970 all the blocks in the estate had been acquired by the Government and incorporated into the National Park.

On the corner of Outlook and View tracks was once a house owned by John Button, a senior minister in the Hawke and Keating Labor governments.

See map on page 59.

Goodwin Estate

The land around Democrat Drive and Goodwin Street was subdivided starting in 1976 (as the Goodwin Estate) in a few stages, the Eastern end of Democrat added in 1980 and 1981, with the area behind St. Bernadettes Primary School in 1985.

This land and residence originally belonged to John James Miller. In 1906 William Chandler bought the home and 50 acres. When his daughter Esther Marion married Frank Goodwin in 1910, the couple were given half of the property, the other half being given to William's other daughter Louisa. Frank Goodwin later purchased the other half. Frank and Esther had eight children of whom Wally Goodwin was one. Wally and his brother started an orchard which later was run by Wally alone. When Wally sold the land and it was carved up, the resulting subdivision was called the Goodwin Estate.

When the Goodwin Estate was subdivided, Knox Council intended to extend Stuart Street to join Rome Beauty Avenue, making a through road. Local residents lobbied Knox Council to not join the road. This was successful, and the road was left blocked, making space for Kindergarten car parking.

Mountain Gateway Estate

Released in 1997, the Mountain Gateway Estate was the first major housing subdivision of land owned by the Salvation Army.

Situated between The Basin Primary School and the Water Tank in Mountain Highway, 63 home sites were offered at an average price of $66,500.

Mount View Estate

Offered for sale in 2017, this estate is on land that was formerly the site of Locksley Textiles and later Lowline Industries on Mountain Highway. Twenty-two lots were offered for sale at prices around $400,000. All lots were fully underground serviced with made roads.

Roads

Early Roads in The Basin

The Basin was a natural route for early settlers, timber workers and explorers to pass through on their way to the top of The Dandenongs. Consequently, many early tracks passed through The Basin.

The first track to the top of the Dandenongs used by white men was known as the “Bullock Track”. It passed through The Basin and was created in the late 1840s. It was used by early botanists, settlers and timber workers and followed the route of the road now known as Range Road.

In 1867, the Government instructed John Hardy to survey the Dandenong Ranges to preserve sections of it as a forest. Hardy created a detailed map of The Dandenong State Forest which included details of tracks and huts around The Basin (see map on page 60).

The tracks marked on Hardy's map had been in existence for some time before Hardy created the map, and the location of the tracks correlates with what is known of early tracks through The Basin.

On Hardy's map, a dray track starts below land marked "Turner" and then heads East splitting into two tracks, each following a ridge to the top of the mountain. The Northern track was first known as the "Bullock Track" and follows the route of what later became Range Road.

Range Road is the easterly extension of Doongalla Road and originally ran through to Olinda. It was open until about 1990, when the section through the National Park was closed. The Olinda end of Range Road is still accessible up to the National Park.

The name "Range Road" is contracted from "Holden's Range", the name of a forest area in Olinda first worked by George Holden and his two sons, Mark and Luke, in the 1850s and continuing for over fifty years. They worked under licence felling giant mountain ash and splitting them into palings. In the 1880s, their base was on the site of Olinda township which was originally known as "Holden's Hut". The forest area they worked was known as "Holden's Range". They carted the timber down through The Basin along the Bullock track which was also known as "Holden's Track" and later became known as Range Road.

William Turner, who was resident in The Basin in the 1850s, was also involved in timber cutting, would have known George Holden because they were the only timber cutters in the area then.

The Southern track on Hardy's map follows the route of what later became Cobblestone Road (now closed) and Hilton Road to Ferny Creek. Not shown on this map, as it came later, was the Old Coach Road which branched off Cobblestone Road and headed up to Sassafras.

Other dray tracks start above Watson's land and head North and East.

In the early days, The Basin served as the source for the major tracks servicing Olinda, Sassafras (Old Coach Road) and Ferny Creek (Cobblestone Road).

Along the Old Coach Road is a section of track once known as "McClare's Hill" from the property it used to pass through by owned by John McClare. This section of road was annexed from McClares property after a submission to the Minister of Lands by 45 landholders whose properties were above McClares property in and around Sassafras. They were concerned that they had limited access to their properties and that the road from Bayswater should be extended up to Sassafras.

The thick bushland provided excellent cover for illicit stills, one of which was situated near McClare's property. It was a popular stopping point for those on route to the hill tops, as the slope up the hill to McClare's property was steep and some passengers would have to walk the section.

The route of Cobblestone Road crosses Mountain Highway about halfway between The Basin and Sassafras on a sharp bend and continues on to Ferny Creek as Hilton Road. It was used as a coach and mail route until Mountain Highway was finished in the mid 1920s. In 2020, both Cobblestone and Hilton Roads are closed through the National Park.

The name "Cobblestone" was given because some steeper sections had a unique construction. Cobblestones between 6 and 11 inches in diameter hand laid in uniform lines as the base foundation, dressed with smaller metals and screenings; a unique construction. A case was put to a meeting between The Basin Progress Association and Shire Councillors for the roads' preservation, but it was not pursued. When the road was closed, the cobblestones were recovered.

The Old Bayswater-Sassafras Road was shown in the first maps of The Basin area in the 1860s. It was most likely originally formed as dray tracks used by the first settlers gaining access to their land. It was used for a time as a coach route to Sassafras. A 1919 map shows this road as one of the major routes from The Basin to the top of the Dandenongs. In 2021, the road is blocked by gates where it passes through the National Park.

The Basin-Olinda Road is shown on old maps as taking a relatively direct route to Olinda and terminating near the Olinda township. However, it was never more than a pack horse track past Hazel Dell. Around 1921, the section past Hazel

Roads

Dell was rerouted and constructed as a gravel track to Olinda, crossing and following Range Road for a few hundred metres and terminating opposite the Mt Dandenong Hotel. It was originally known as “Old Shanks Road” but when first constructed it was never finished. In a 1947 newspaper article, The Bayswater Progress Association was seeking cooperation of The Basin Progress Association in the completion of Old Shanks Road to Olinda.

Planning and land purchase for Mountain Highway (first called the 1 in 20 because that was the gradient engineers made the road between The Basin and Sassafras) may have commenced as early as the 1880s. Although the Highway was officially gazetted in 1899, the map of land that J. J. Griffiths took over from William Tyner in 1888 shows a dotted path of the Highway through the land although this may have been added later. It was A. E. Chandler MLA who originally conceived the idea of a road from The Basin to Sassafras with a low gradient.

The primary survey for Mountain Highway was made in 1914. Construction commenced in 1920 and was finished in 1925 as a gravel road. The Chandlers Hill Estate land brochure of 27th July 1920 shows the new Mountain road bisecting the estate and states: “...£3,000 is now to be spent on deviating...” It was sealed in late 1936. Since then, various sections have been upgraded. When first constructing The Basin end of Mountain Highway, screenings were transported up the Cobblestone Road in drays with steel wheels. The metal was rolled in using horse drawn rollers pulled by three horses. At the end of road, the horses were hooked at the other end of the roller for the return journey.

Government Roads

Government Roads are those roads created when land was first surveyed and broken up into large allotments.

Forest Road was first sealed in the 1930s and upgraded between Boronia Road and Mountain Highway in 1971. The section between Church Street and Mountain Highway was upgraded in 1983.

Road Name Changes

Many roads have had their names changed over the years — some have even been renamed twice!

Mountain Highway was known as Bayswater Road until 1933 when it was Gazetted as a Country Roads Board (CRB) road and past The Basin towards Sassafras was also known as the “1 in 20 Road” because of the road gradient. The Basin-Olinda Road was also part of Bayswater Road.

Boronia Road was known until 1939 as “L. L. Vale Road” after Dr. L. L. Smith, a Collins Street doctor who lived in Vermont. Before that it was known as Rourke’s Road after Hugh and Henry Rourke who ran the “Dandenong Creek Run” from 1843 to 1853. Then, the approximate route of Boronia Road passed through the Dandenong Creek Run.

The section of Forest Road between Wright Street and Mountain Highway was created in the Forest Heights Estate in the 1920s and was originally called New Forest Road but was later change to Forest Road.

Old Forest Road was originally marked as a Government Road, which ran up the hill then part way along what is now Toorak Avenue and then down across Mountain Highway (which did not exist then) ending at the Basin-Olinda Road. At the instigation of The Basin Progress Association in 1969, the section of road between Basin-Olinda Road and Mountain Highway was renamed Wicks Road and where Wicks Road connects to Mountain Highway was blocked to vehicle traffic. The section of road between Mountain Highway and Toorak Avenue was also blocked to vehicle traffic.

Old Forest Road and Nyora Avenue were marked on survey maps as Government Roads.

Pavitt Lane was previously known as Pig Lane and was so called from the Salvation Army pig farm alongside the road. Before that it was known as Fern Glen Road as the road led to the Doongalla property which was first known as Fern Glen.

HEIFERS SHOT DEAD

OLINDA.—Two heifers belonging to Mr. F. W. Stewart, dairymen, were found dead in an enclosed paddock on Shank's road. They had been shot in the head. The police are making inquiries.

AUCTION SALES

Estates Passed In

Ferndale, in the Dandenong Ranges, at Bayswater, for many years the home of the late Mr. and Mrs. James Griffiths, was offered at auction yesterday. The property included 320 acres, a large portion of which had been laid out in gardens. More than £40,000 is said to have been spent on improvements. The house contains more than 17 main rooms, and has its own water, sewerage, and electric supply services.

The highest bid for the property as a whole was £5,750, and for the house with 32 acres was £3,750. The bids were below the reserve, and the property was passed in. The Hilton estate of 22 acres adjoining was also passed in at £550.

The auctioneer was George M. Hume Pty. Ltd., of Manchester Unity Buildings.

Action Wanted on Shank's Road

At the Bayswater Progress Association's last meeting it was decided to seek the co-operation of The Basin Progress Association for the purpose of combined action in seeking completion of the old Shanks Road.

Started 26 years ago, it is felt that some effort should be made to complete the road. That portion which is in the Ferntree Gully Shire is metalled and now requires re-metalling and sealing.

From the point near which it becomes part of the Lilydale Shire it is still a bush road, formerly known as the old Bullock Road, which leads to Olinda, terminating somewhere near what is known as the Mt. Dandenong Hotel.

Application by both associations is anticipated, and an early move is to be made to approach the councils concerned.

At the Farmtree Gully council meeting on Saturday it was decided to impose the dog tax throughout the shire, and Mr. G. A. Lovell was appointed inspector. A new main road is to be made to Olinda from the Baywater road through what is known as the old bullock track. The Government has allotted £200 for the work, which is to be subsidised by local land-interested owners and the council.

SHIRE OF FERN TREE

Unsafe Bridges — Attention is drawn to the reduced load bearing capacity of timber bridges as follows—Bridge over Dandenong Creek near Mr Bert Chandler's. The Basin: culvert over drain. Wellington rd, Rowville. west of Stud road. It is recommended that load limits be imposed as follows—over Dandenong Ck 15 cwt per wheel. over culvert 10 cwt per wheel. The replacement of the latter will become urgent if the metal traffic from quarries at Lysterfield continue, and as 48-in reinforced concrete pipes should be used, the work should be done during the summer: estimated cost £80.

The weight limits were approved; bridge at culvert to be constructed; and report to be submitted for reconstruction of bridge at The Basin.

Augusta road Extension, The Basin—This extension, by way of Stuart street to the Forest road appears to be desirable, and should be effected before the required land is built on. It is recommended that lot 38 of lodged plan 11055 be acquired from the owners (Conyers & Harrison).

Summary

Summary

Fern Glen or “The Basin Bower” was a Swiss style chalet built by John M. Bruce in the 1880s. It was damaged by rain in 1891.

Doongalla, built by Sir Matthew Davies in 1892, was the most lavish house ever built in The Basin and would have cost millions of dollars at today’s prices. It was destroyed by bushfire in 1932.

Ferndale, built by James and Emily Griffiths in 1888, was a large Swiss style house with extensive gardens and farm areas. The property supported a large work force for many years. The house was destroyed by bushfire in 1962.

Millers Homestead, built by John James Miller in 1888, is a good example of the Victorian style houses built in the boom era of the 1880s. Millers Homestead was purchased by the City of Knox in the 1970s and has been partially restored.

Como was William and Kate Chandlers second home constructed in 1878. It was demolished in the 1960s to make way for another house.

Glen Elbourne, situated on the Basin-Olinda Road near Hazel Dell, was well known for its three hectares of botanic gardens. In the 1930s, the property won the “best garden in the mountain district” for three years in succession.

Cleve House, later known as “Clevedon”, was built in 1893 by Percivil Chandler for his uncle Robert Charles Chandler on 35 acres of land bordering Mountain Highway. It later became a guest house and then a camp. The main house was destroyed by fire in 1972.

Hazel Dell, on The Basin-Olinda Road, was built in the 1880s by T. W. Hodgson and Sutherland for use as a homestead. It later became a guest house and then a camp. The camp stopped running in 1998.

Located in Mountain Highway on land above the stone wall (before the last bus stop), Boyup was a popular guest house in the 1920s.

The building used by the Seventh Day Adventist Youth Club, on The Basin-Olinda road, was conceived by H. J. Meyers and built in 1937. It closed in 1999 and was purchased by the Romanian Seventh Day Adventist Church.

Ferndale Camp, situated midway along Ferndale Road, operated for about 30 years before closing in 1992. The buildings were removed, and the land returned to the National Park.

Beauty of The Basin

When The Basin celebrated its Centenary in 1967, the town came alive with amazing exhibitions of a remarkable variety of skills and interests – a close knit community with an extraordinary village quality where everyone knew one another. The Basin Progress Hall was the hub, with the Post Office and shops gathered around it. It remains so today. The same roadside oak trees shelter a delightful park.

The beautiful view across the Salvation Army’s farm flats remains unspoilt. The deep hollow which gave The Basin its name sweeps uphill to the Mt. Dandenong TV towers, silhouetted against the sky. At all times of the day the changing angle of the sun beautifies this tranquil scene. The ancient oak on the creek side grows serenely on, sheltering the occasional luncheon or a painter with his easel.

Perhaps it is the roundabout, in bringing greater safety to the junction of the three roads, that makes the greatest visual change from the old times, introducing a feature of orderly supervision.

Even the waters of the Hughes Creek which meanders through the Army flats have been gently curbed to be most beautifully restrained at the retarding basin in Liverpool Road. The delightful park like surrounds to this water bird haven are a pride and inspiration to all residents and visitors, providing vistas of water, treed meadows, and the Dandenong Ranges, clothed in their natural unbroken forest overlooking this wonderful foothills haven.

The population has grown considerably over the last quarter of a century, but the new homes have been absorbed into the leafy roads with little devastation of the foothills aspect.

May The Basin always retain this peacefulness, and resist the urban sprawl upon its doorstep

Edna Chandler.

Introduction

The unique location of The Basin inspired the building of many luxurious homes and bush based camps. Most of the homes have been destroyed by fire and all the camps have closed.

Millers Homestead

Millers Homestead is located on the corner of Melrose Court and Dorriggo Drive, Boronia.

Millers Homestead was built in 1888 as the second residence of Mr. John James Miller and his family. The stuccoed dwelling, which replaced an 1870s house, is believed to have been designed by English architect Thomas Hunter. Miller lived there until about 1893.

Miller's first home "Bayswater" was built close to the present Batterham Reserve. This house, which gave Bayswater township its name, had a garden of walnut, chestnut, cherry, peach, fig, plum, filbert, apple and pear trees.

Around 1900, it was known as "Fern Glen Farm". Liverpool Road was previously known as Fern Glen Road and Millers property fronted this road.

The homestead was also known as "Melrose House" by H. Yeardon. He used this name when he lived there in 1908. He used it in a letter to the Board of Education regarding a new fence at The Basin Primary School. Miller was a member of the school Board of Advice for many years.

Around 1918, John and Serena Henderson purchased the property. They planted an apple and pear orchard. The Henderson's are mentioned often in the Dobson diaries. Their children were Gertrude who married Albert Kleinert, Ronald, Basil, Merryl and Aura who married K Finger. All children were adopted. The last three are recorded as attending The Basin Primary School.

A tourist guide described Miller's Homestead thus:

"Of the house itself it may be truly said to be quite up to the requirements of anyone possessing a cultivated taste for beauty, convenience, snugness and true sanitary conditions. It is of brick, of chaste design, and replete with every appliance which in these times is deemed essential to health, and that ample means can supply. The house, situated on rising land, commands a magnificent view of surrounding lands and hills".

The homestead is a good example of the Victorian style houses built in the boom era of the 1880s. The house has high ceilings and simple lines with a stately elegance about it. A central passageway runs the length of the house from front to back, with all rooms feeding off the passageway. The front rooms are symmetrical about the passageway and have doors opening outside onto a verandah that wraps around the front half of the building. An underground wine cellar is located at the rear of the house. Some windows have original stained-glass, thought to have been brought out from England. Original period chandeliers are in some rooms. The original windmill and well stands on the front lawn but the well has been covered for safety reasons with a pond constructed over the top of the well.

The original Homestead garden was supposedly inspired by Baron Von Mueller, a botanical researcher and visitor to The Basin in the 1850s.

Racehorse owner, horse breeder and author of "Miller's Racing Guide", Miller migrated to Australia in the late 1840s. He first purchased land in The Basin in 1872 and progressively purchased about 1000 acres of land around The Basin.

Together with his homestead, Miller established a stud farm with full size training and trotting tracks; the latter referred to in later years as "The Trotto", the remains of which have been wiped out by residential development in the Batterham Reserve area. The Millers Racing Guide says:

"There are two training areas, one a cleared space about eleven acres laid with English grass. The track is 40 feet wide, being of sandy loam without a pebble or least unevenness. The second track is for galloping, one and a half chains wide, well ploughed, sown and drained. The fame of Mr. Miller's Stable and the facilities he has for the exhibition of the qualities of his animals, will attract many hundreds daily to the training grounds".

The farm land was also reputed to be of the most modern standards with extensive underground drainage, complete fencing and annual fertilisation of land to produce high quality yields.

Miller operated sweepstakes which was one of his main sources of income. In the 1890s the Government made it illegal to operate sweepstakes as a private business. He continued to operate the sweepstakes, was raided many times by police, but was rarely caught. Eventually, he was caught, lost his business and was forced to sell his property in 1897 due to financial losses.

The Salvation Army leased the house and property from 1898 to 1906 calling it "Millers Estate". It was used as a boy's home.

Miller was involved in several grandiose schemes including a proposed tramway from Bayswater station past The Basin and terminating in the forest below Sassafras. He was also involved in the "Bayswater Hills Estate Company" that offered large plots of land near Bayswater including a proposal to extend the train line to the land. None of these schemes eventuated and land associated with the "Bayswater Hills Estate" sold poorly and was auctioned several times. At one stage Miller owned Hazel Dell, and he tried to sell this in 1890.

Since then Millers Homestead has been occupied by a series of owners and the land gradually reduced in size. Previous owners have included Mr. Yeardon, a local Councillor who took up residence in the early years of this century, Mr. Henderson, John Lyons and Mr. Finger.

John James Miller died in December 1922 at the age of 91.

The property was classified by the National Trust in 1968.

In the late 1970s Millers Homestead was purchased by the City of Knox as part of the "open space" contribution when the Miller property was subdivided for residential use.

The house was in a state of disrepair and in need of restoration. The Government of the day was investing money into several training schemes to teach people some lost skills. It was the money from two of these schemes which enabled Miller's to be restored to its former glory. The only cost to council for these extensive restorations was a supervisory role to ensure the historical aspects of Miller's Homestead were maintained. The gardens were carefully restored with a camellia walk as an integral part.

When completely restored, Millers, was to be rented to the people of Knox for functions e.g., corporate seminars, wedding photographs, 2nd weddings, 50 plus birthdays, etc. Miller's Homestead was never intended to be let for 21st birthdays. However, on a couple of occasions a 21st birthday slipped through the net and the neighbours were inconvenienced with loud noise, resulting in a complaint. Sometime between 1994 and 1999 it became difficult to hire Miller's for any function despite as shown on the internet that it was available for hire. The result is this historical homestead fell into disrepair purely because of the lack of use and the failure of Council to maintain this community gem.

In 2018, the City of Knox declared the site surplus after weighing up the events held there against the cost of keeping it open. Maintenance costs were expected to reach $30,000 a year for the next 5 years. Any sale of the property would include provisions preventing subdivision, ensure the site is only used for residential purposes and heritage values were maintained.

After a public backlash, the City of Knox formally revised its decision and opened up consultation seeking community uses.

Fern Glen

On the 22nd of March 1878, George Wilkinson Bruce applied for a nonresident licence to occupy 237 acres of steep land below Mount Dandenong. He was granted a licence for the land later surveyed as allotment 55 in the Parish of Mooroolbark, County of Mornington.

See page 33 for more information about George Wilkinson Bruce.

On 1st January 1885, he was granted a lease, stating improvements of a 10 room 35 feet by 35 feet wood and brick house, a 4 room 20 feet by 15 feet house, a 1-room house 10 feet by 12 feet, stables and a shed. He had 20 acres of grass, 25 acres under cultivation and an orchard of 5 acres.

Newspaper reports of the day indicate that John and George Bruce entertained guests at a "Fern Glen" residence as early 1883 and as late as 1889. The reports also variously cite John or George as the owner of Fern Glen. However, given that George had developed his housing earlier than John, and it was larger, it is presumed that the 10 room 35 feet by 35 feet wood and brick house mentioned in his lease application became known as Fern Glen or “The Basin Bower”.

The “Visitor’s Guide to Ringwood and Upper Yarra District” in 1889 had a long, detailed, elaborate and enthusiastic description of the “Mountain Home of Messrs J Bruce” with statements such as:

“The pretty Swiss like chalet stands well above the mountain runnel which sparkles and leaps over the stones and logs that form its bed.”

“The house combines all the requirements of a pleasant and even luxurious home. It is roomy and airy for summer temperatures, yet snug and comfortable for chilly winter, and has a verandah which at any time can be converted into a ballroom or a dining or smoking hall for a hundred guests”.

Given that the house could deal with a hundred guests, Bruce may have extended the building at some stage.

The garden apparently matched the house having trees, shrubs and flowers of many and exotic kinds. There was an orchard embracing apples, pears, plums, peaches, walnuts and chestnuts. A pathway led to Mt. Dandenong with occasional rustic seats, steps cut in logs and small bridges.

In late 1889 or early 1890, the Member of Parliament and land boomer, Sir Matthew Davies purchased allotment 55 from George Bruce along with other properties. See the “Doongalla” section on page 79 for more details.

He renamed Fern Glen to “Invermay” and used it as his country residence. As reported in part in the Age (Melbourne) 10th February 1890:

“The delegates to the Federation Conference were on Saturday entertained by the Speaker of the Legislative Assembly at his country residence,

*Fern Glen or The Basin Bower Circa 1890. This photo shows only part of the house because tourist guides of the time described a much larger building.

Fern Glen

Invermay, in the Dandenong Ranges... The spot chosen has somewhat of an intercolonial fame, seeing that its former owner, Mr George Bruce...

It had been reported from various sources that Invermay (Fern Glen) was destroyed by a bushfire in 1891 but no record can be found of this. However, records of rain causing some "land slips" in the Dandenongs. A significant land slip occurred in the area that is now known as Kalorama. Numerous newspaper reports state that on the 12th July 1891:

"...a huge mass of earth and trees slipped from the face of the mountain and dropped several hundreds of yards down the slope".

This land slip occurred in the area now know as Kalorama Park. The rain also affected Melbourne and surrounding districts.

On Sat, 18th July 1891, the Oakleigh & Ferntree Gully Times newspaper reported:

"The Flood"

"At Ferntree Gully a land slip occurred at the country seat of Sir Matthew Davies bringing down rocks, large trees, bathroom & outhouses, damages about 600 pounds. Cr. Chandler of Little The Basin, lost 3000 Camellia trees, 60 varieties of hyacinths, and other valuable plants, the nursery being completely ruined, estimated loss 200 pounds. Cr. J. T. Dobson's nursery sustained a very heavy loss of peach and other fruit trees, damage 200 pounds."

One of the "outhouses" mentioned above was an outdoor laundry.

The Boundary on the RH side would have roughly followed the line of Ridge Road. Doongalla building would have been located near the George Bruce "e" beside the creek.

newspaper reported:

"Fernree Gully Tuesday"

"A land slip at Sir M. H. Davies country residence, Bayswater, about 6 acres in extent, carried away 2 rooms, out houses and trees, doing about £600 worth of damage."

Sir Matthew Davies had taken ownership of both the Bruce brothers' properties sometime before the flood and it is presumed that it was Fern Glen (or Invermay as renamed by Davis) that was damaged. However, Davis had owned the properties at least one and a half years before the flood and had called for tenders to build a new house one year before the flood so it may have been part of his new house that was affected by the flood.

Doongalla

The western face of Mt. Dandenong, in 2021 known as the Doongalla Forest Reserve, was once the site of a magnificent mansion called Doongalla. The Forest Reserve originally consisted of crown allotments first selected in the 1870s and 1880s by T Miller (allotment 52), Samuel Collier (allotment 54), George Wilkinson Bruce (allotment 55), Henry Lum (allotment 56), and John Barnes (allotment 60). Starting in the 1950s, the properties were reclaimed by the Government and the Doongalla Forest Reserve was created. The Reserve extends from an elevation of 152 m to the top of the second highest peak, Mt Corhanwarrabul, also known as Burke's Lookout (previously Barnes Lookout), elevation 628 m.

On the 21st January 1891, the prominent lawyer, investor, Member of Parliament and land boomer, Sir Matthew Davies, purchased the following properties:

- Allotment 52. First selected and licenced to T. Miller and then taken over by J. Topping and then by George Williamson Bruce. Freehold title granted to George Williamson Bruce on 17th December 1889.
- Allotment 54. First selected by Samuel Collier and freehold title granted on 27th January 1885. Michael Geraghty purchased it from Samuel Collier with the Certificate of Title updated on 1st March 1888. George Williamson Bruce purchased it from Michael Geraghty with the Certificate of Title updated on 5th July 1889.

- Allotment 55. First selected by George Wilkinson Bruce and freehold title granted on 6th July 1888.
- Allotment 56. First selected and licenced to Henry Lum but taken over by John Munro Bruce who was granted freehold title on 28th May 1889.

For Allotments 52, 54 and 55, which were all owned by George Wilkinson Bruce, Davies paid £14,418. For allotment 56, owned by John Munro Bruce, Davies paid £4,332.

The Certificate of Title for the properties were updated to reflect Davies as the new owner on the 23rd January 1891. All properties were mortgaged to The Bank of New South Wales. The titles refer to the proprietor as:

"Sir Matthew Henry Davies of "Bracknell" Toorak Speaker of The Legislative Assembly of the Colony of Victoria"

On May 2, 1890, an advertisement appeared in the Argus (Melbourne) newspaper stating:

"Tenders are invited for the ERECTION of large country residence at Bayswater for Sir M. H. Davies".

The architects were William Edward Robertson and George Charles Inskip who were prominent architects then.

Davies must have agreed to purchase the properties well before he officially paid, or he may have placed a deposit on them.

Purchasing the properties, and building a "large country residence", was an idea to eventually sell it to the Government as a country residence for the English Governor. However, his plans went astray as the Governors country residence was chosen to be at Macedon.

It is unknown who won the tender, but over the next year or two, the residence was erected and reputed to have cost £35,000 (equivalent to about $6 million in 2020). Davies had already renamed the “Fern Glen” residence he purchased from George Bruce to “Invermay”. He named the new residence “Invermay” presumably because the older residence was partly destroyed by rain as explained in the “Fern Glen” section.

Materials were carted by a tramway constructed to the site along what was known then as Kerrs Lane which later became Pig Lane and then Pavitt Lane. The main motive power being horses and bullocks.

The rooms of the house were organised around a central courtyard with the main rooms at the front, bedrooms on the wings, and kitchen, storeroom, servant’s quarters and stables at the rear. Its 32 rooms (including cellars, servants’ quarters and stables) were magnificent in every way. Exposed 355 mm x 153 mm Oregon beams protruded beneath the ceilings and rooms were panelled with polished Kauri, silky oak and Blackwood, or in one room, imported French tiles screwed onto Oregon boards. The main building was clad in some of the finest made machine made bricks from Croydon. The roof of the main building was in slate and the more lowly quarters in galvanised iron. This fabulous house had enormous cellars, including underground butcher’s facilities and a large bell to summon workers. The kitchen and servants’ quarters at the rear were made from concrete poured into formwork. A swimming pool was constructed and fed from the creek that passed near the house.

It was during this era that the wealthy sometimes gathered at Doongalla for a weekend — food was in plenty and wine flowed. The parties sometimes become so merry, that the participants occasionally went for a moonlight swim in the swimming pool. Generally, it was the house parties people enjoyed. A highlight of many of these parties was the recitations by Harry Chandler, whose services were called for at many functions throughout the hills.

Matthew Davies was a land developer and financier. He built a network of over 30 companies involved in borrowing money from the public to finance land deals. Some of these companies would buy and sell land several times between each other, vastly inflating the price and making large profits on paper without any money being paid out. They could declare large dividends and pay large directors' salaries and yet have no tangible assets.

He was knighted for a donation of £10,000 to a notable charity, but whose money he donated is not known. He was also involved in many projects to change the face of Melbourne such as the now dismantled Outer Circle Railway line.

After the collapse of the land boom in 1892, Sir Matthew Davies was declared bankrupt and the Bank of New South Wales foreclosed his properties in June 1892 as recorded on the Certificates of title. His debts totalled £250,000 as well as many secondary debts. The bank installed a caretaker to tend the property.

Matthew Henry Davies died on 26th November 1912.

The property remained idle but was still subjected to threats from bushfires as detailed in these extracts from the Janet Dobson Diary.

"Joe went up to Dodds after dinner. The bush fire was all around their house. Joe stopped to help them, it was nearly five when he got home. The fire travelled down to Sir Matthews in the evening. There was about twenty men up there keeping the fire from the house. Some stayed all night, some of the sheds were burnt down. It is dreadful fire, it is coming down towards Jackson now".

(13th January 1905)

"Joe went up to Sir Matthews this afternoon. The Managers of the bank are going to pay all those who helped to keep back the bushfire and save the house. They got 30/- each. The weather changed on Saturday and it rained nearly all day Sunday"

(30th January 1905)

The property was purchased on 2nd June 1908

for £6,000 (equivalent to about $800,000 in 2020) by Miss Helen Archbald Luke Simson of "Trawalla, Toorak Road, Toorak" to be used as her country residence. The Certificate of Title dated the transfer on 9th June 1908. She renamed her "country mansion" as "Doongalla" and hired the Box family as caretakers for the property.

In 1908, she added to her land acquisitions by purchasing allotment 60 from John Barnes for £2,305. The Certificate of Title was updated on the 16th November 1908.

From 1909 onwards, she made substantial improvements to the property including fencing the house and grounds (mentioned in the "Legg" diaries — Harry Legg was contracted to do the fencing and mentions the "old place" and "the mansion"), building new servants' quarters, coachmen quarters, laundry and even a butcher's shop. She arranged extensive planting of rhododendrons, camellias and a magnificent lily garden near the house. Alterations were made to the upstairs section of the house and an electric light plant was installed. She had tracks constructed through the property to drive around with her mother in a pony cart. Terraces were built in the front of the house so that guests could be entertained outdoors on a sunny day. A new water scheme, higher up the creek, served the house and grounds.

In 1909, she purchased a "right of carriageway" through allotment 80 which became the existing road into the property. The Certificate of Title was updated on 12th March 1910 to reflect the property transfer. Tenders were invited to build the road via an advertisement in the Reporter (Box Hill) dated 22nd October 1909. She contracted Mr. Yeardon to construct the road.

To tend and upgrade her property and house, she employed a large staff of men at 8 shillings per day when 5 shillings a day was the going rate.

Wally Goodwin and Doongalla Burning

I interviewed Wally Goodwin in 1992 and he related to me that he was only ten years old when he watched Doongalla burn from near his parent's property near the corner of Millers Road and Mountain Highway. In those days, the mansion could be clearly seen nestling on the hillside. Wally recalled that although the bushfire that swept in from the North West had not yet reached the house, the house ignited, presumably from a cinder blown from the fire.

This attracted men from as far away as Monbulk, many walking to and from work each day. Others camping and returning home at weekends. Invermay Road, in Monbulk, was the track of many Monbulk workers to and from the Doongalla (formally Invermay) and was so named.

Miss Simson was generous and community minded. As reported in The Reporter (Box Hill) newspaper at various times she:

- Made an offer to the local Shire to pay part of the cost of metallising a government road near her property.
- Published a letter of thanks and offered payment to those people who helped protect her property from a bushfire in 1912.
- Made various donations to community projects. For example, she donated £1 towards the cost of tree planting at Bayswater Park.

Miss Simson died from complications of cancer on 23rd June 1912 at the age of 55 and was buried in the Melbourne cemetery with her parents John and Margaret Simson. She had a will dated 16th May 1912 and had appointed her brother Robert James Phillip Simson and Lauchlan Kenneth Scobie MacKinnon (her sisters' husband), a solicitor, as trustees.

Miss Simson signed her will with an X. Her will was attested by her physician, Dr R H Morrison, and her nurse, Eileen King. In the grant of probate application, Dr Morrison explained why Miss Simson signed in this way.

"...at the time of the execution of the said will was in full possession of her mental faculties but was suffering from cancer for which she had some time before been operated upon, and, as the result of such operation she was unable to use her right hand with which I believe she always wrote, and therefore signed the said will with her mark with her left hand..."

In summary, her will had the following provisions:

- Bequeathed all her jewellery and other articles of personal ornament use or enjoyment to divide between her sisters (Mrs MacKinnon, Mrs Reynolds and Mrs Hake).
- Pecuniary legacies to the 4 members of the Box family who were the caretakers, to her chauffeur Richard Fortune who drove her 6 cylinder 20 HP Talbot motor vehicle (which Miss Simson bequeathed to her mother), her maid Annie Toohey and others.
- For her mother to use and occupy the property during her life or other such period.
- After her mothers' death, the residue of property, investments and income be held in trust for her nieces and nephews.
- After her mothers death, that her sister, Margaret Jessie MacKinnon, be given the option of purchasing "Doongalla" at the probate valuation.

It had been reported in other publications that the property was passed to her fifteen-year-old niece Margaret Flora MacKinnon, whose father was the prominent racing man, L. K. S. MacKinnon (and one of the trustees) and daughter of her sister. However, the Certificates of Title for the properties do not show Miss MacKinnon as ever becoming the Proprietor. Miss MacKinnon died on the 20th August 1919 from a pulmonary embolism after appendectomy. She was 22 years old.

Probate was recorded on the Certificates of Title on 9th August 1922, 10 years after probate was granted in the Supreme Court. The Title is marked with a "Red Ink" alert, indicating that there was something unusual about the transaction. The Titles Office were unable to

Fergus Chandler and Doongalla Burning

I interviewed Fergus in 1992. He was at Doongalla waiting with others and making preparations to protect the house from the bushfire. The information below was related to me by Fergus.

Doongalla had a reticulated water supply and was well cleared. Fergus recalled commenting to another that "the house would be safe".

Fergus recalled that the bushfire was still some distance away when the top of the house suddenly erupted into flames, assumed to be from a cinder blown from the fire into a birds nest in a vent. Those in attendance fed hoses up the stairs but the hoses were not long enough to reach the source of the flames. It was quickly realised that the house could not be saved, so some furniture and carpets were quickly removed from the house and placed on the large grass area in front of the house. The fire quickly took hold. Everyone was forced to flee the house and watch as it burnt to the ground. All that remained were the servant's quarters, and 13 chimneys.

Fergus encountered a gathering of newspaper reporters at the Doongalla main gate as he was leaving. He recalled reciting his version of the burning of Doongalla, but this was never reported in the press.

provide information about the Red Ink alert.

In The Reporter (Box Hill) newspaper dated 28th June 1912, an advertisement for the sale of the “Bonnie Doon” property below Doongalla referred to Miss Simson’s country mansion as “Doutta Galla” (see newspaper reference on page 97). The same advertisement also appeared in The Age on 4th July 1912. An earlier advertisement for a clearing sale at Bonnie Doon referred to “Miss Simson’s Mansion”

These references to “Doutta Galla” were 4 years after Miss Simson purchased the property and soon after her death. Later references to the property used the name “Doongalla” including in the will of Miss Simson.

The above information, combined with the environmentally related improvements made to the property in the 4 years Miss Simson was there, indicate that she may have used the name Doutta Galla at some stage. Doutta Galla means “Place of Peace” to the aborigines and Doongalla is a contraction of this term. The location of Doongalla was undoubtedly in a place of peace. Doutta Galla can also be seen as a contraction of “Dutigalla” which was the name of the tribe of aborigines on the original Batman treaty deed.

Social notes in various newspapers of the day show Doongalla being used for gatherings of prominent people. For example, a report in the Australasian, dated 17th May 1919, stated:

“The Governor-General and Lady Helen Munro Ferguson, with Captain Duncan in attendance, paid a visit to Mrs John Simson, at Doongalla, her beautiful home in the Dandenong Ranges...”

On August 12th, 1922 it was reported that Doongalla had been sold to T. M. Burke, a member of the well known firm of Real Estate Agents, but it was not until a notice appeared in the Melbourne Argus on 2nd December 1922, reporting Doongalla had been sold.

The Titles Office records that on 26th May 1924, parts of crown allotments 55 and 56 (part of Doongalla) were transferred to the Shire of Lillydale for a public road. It also states that Burke had purchased the Doongalla land but there was money still owing.

The Melbourne publication Table Talk, dated 5th October 1922, had an article detailing a function held at Doongalla for Burke’s clerical staff. The house was described:

“...as one of the most interesting and beautiful in the state”

In The Melbourne Argus newspaper, dated 3rd November 1922, a tender was called for stating:

“Grubbing and Clearing. Golf course at “Doongalla”, 5 miles from Bayswater. Plans and specifications at T. M. Burke’s Office, 340 Collins Street and at Falconer’s store Bayswater”.

One of the tracks on the property was named “Golf Course Track” in preparation for the planned golf course but it never eventuated.

On 25th January 1924, a notice appeared in the Melbourne Herald newspaper stating:

“Doongalla Estate Proprietary Ltd. has been formed to acquire the property known as “Doongalla” situated on Mount Dandenong,

Memories of Ferndale

Born in 1916, Frank Grumont was brought up in a little cottage on the Ferndale estate. His father Frank was one of the gardeners at Ferndale who had romantically eloped with Annie Jennings who was then “in service” at a farm in Werribee.

In the early 1920s, Frank and his siblings (Frances, Eunice and George) walked along muddy roads to The Basin Primary School. They stood and honoured the flag.

The days were hard and long at Ferndale. Horses were used for ploughing and transport including mail delivery until 1926 when cars delivered the mail.

Ferndale was self sufficient except for bread and sugar. The milk churn was hand turned to make butter and laundry was done in the wash house, where a little wood stove heated the irons to press the linen. The brothers sometimes watched as the carcasses of pigs were scalded, and the meat cured by smoking it. Men used scythes to cut the hay and a diesel generator kept down the temperature of the huge cool room where fruit, butter and milk were stored.

“We cycled to Ringwood for a haircut.” Frank recalls. “And the nearest dentist was in Melbourne.”

“Nights were very quiet. We had a crystal radio and the adults listened at times. We played” tip cat”, marbles or played outside.”

Tragedy befell the Grumont family in 1925 when Frank’s father died in hospital. Mr Stephens of the Salvation Army broke the news to Annie in the middle of the night. There were only about five telephones in The Basin at the time, but Ferndale did not have one.

In 1925, when James and Emily Griffiths were killed in a level crossing accident in Bayswater, the Ferndale Estate was auctioned and purchased by a Mr Gans. He employed Frank’s mother as cook and housekeeper for several years. Frank’s sisters, Frances and Eunice, cooked and looked after Frank and his brother.

about 22 miles from Melbourne.

The capital is £35,000 in 35 shares of £1,000 each, to be allocated as follows: Five fully paid shares to Mr E. V. Jones for the purchase of his option on the estate and in consideration of his services to the company; two fully paid shares to Mr J. R. Drake for his services in organising and promoting the company; twenty-three shares to be issued for cash, and five held in reserve.

The property to be purchased comprises 810 acres of freehold land and a residence of the mansion type surrounded by attractive grounds. The company's prospectus states that the original cost of the buildings and improvements alone was fully £25,000. The option which it is proposed to take over provides for sale at £23,000 on a walk-in walk-out basis. A cash deposit of £5,000 is required, and the balance in twelve months. Earlier payments can be made on giving three months notice."

It is unknown how or why the Doongalla Estate Proprietary was formed and what, if any, progress was made.

During Burke's ownership, a caretaker was installed, and the property was used for both family visits and as a rest home for Catholic Priests. However, the property was not properly maintained.

The Titles Office records that on the 15th October 1928, the executors of Doongalla sold the property to Thomas Michael Burke for £14,750.

The Certificate of Title for the property was updated on 11th June 1929 to reflect Burke's ownership and on the same date was recorded Burke's donation of the lookout area (previously known as Barnes lookout) to the Crown (on the Title transferred to "His Majesty George V"). The area was to be used as public park, and he asked that the name be changed to Burke's Lookout. The area donated totalled 7 acres, 3 roods and 18.3 perches (3.18 Hectares). By Order-in-Council, dated 16th September 1929, the site was permanently reserved as a public park and was gazetted as such on 18th September 1929. In later years, members of the Barnes' family attempted to have the name changed back to Barnes lookout but were unsuccessful.

In 1931, a land area of 24 acres, 2 roods and 15 perches (9.95 Hectares) fronting Ridge Road

Forgotten Roast

When Doongalla was burnt to the ground in 1932, it seemed that little of any value would be left, but a patrolling fireman found looters at work very early the next morning. Just the same they didn't find the leg of lamb which had been put in the big wood fire stove but forgotten in the heat of the moment. Next day the ash covered doors were opened to reveal a nicely done roast.

and around Burke's Lookout was transferred to Joseph Edwin Chater, subdivided and later sold as the "Doongalla Estate Mount Dandenong" with about 50 properties for sale. T. M. Burke was the Agent for the sale. The Certificate of Title recorded the transfer on 28th May 1931.

In January 1932, a bushfire swept towards the house from the North-West. Burke's daughter, Mrs J. Byrne, was staying at Doongalla with her children, relatives and a friend.

Nearby residents, including Fergus Chandler and the members of the Dobson family, were waiting at Doongalla anticipating the coming bushfire and making preparations to protect the house.

Shortly after, the bushfire passed through and Mrs Byrne, her children and the visitors were protected by sheltering under a bridge in a nearby creek as reported in the newspapers.

While the property remained in Mr. Burke's name, the house was never rebuilt, and the property remained idle. The buildings and furniture were insured for a total value of £9,750 and the amount of the loss claimed was £8,825.

In appreciation of the efforts of The Basin Fire Brigade in attempting to save Doongalla, Burke donated a bell to The Brigade which was the first formal alarm that the Brigade utilised. In April 1932, a concert organised by the residents was held in The Basin Progress Hall and the bell was formally presented.

Soon after Doongalla was destroyed the estate was listed for auction. A brochure was produced with pictures showing the burnt remains of the house, the "New House" (the old servants' quarters) and the gardens. The brochure touted the possibility of subdividing the property into at least 339 good home sites.

In 1935, the property was sold to Smith Brothers proprietary limited (John Robert Rollo, George Henry, Roy Dudley and Robert Ashman) for £2,000. The Certificate of Title recorded the transfer on the 6th March 1935. The brothers built a saw mill, initially sited behind the ruined house, and over the years logged much of the unburnt mountain ash and messmate which remained on the upper sections of the property. Frank Grumont's brother-in-law, Ernie Westwood, was employed cutting gum trees and messmates. He also worked the bullock and horse teams. Once the best timber on the upper ground had been cut, the mill was moved to the north side of the Dandenong Creek. The timber was logged under strict supervision of the Forest Commission.

In 1937, the property was purchased by Mabel Annie Elijah. The Certificate of Title recording the transfer on 1st August 1940. Mr Elijah was an inspector of schools for the Education Department. The Elijah's kept the area closed, made the servants quarters habitable and let the property to a man named Clay. They had the property declared a sanctuary for the protection of flora and fauna.

On 13th October 1937, a notice appeared in The Argus (Melbourne) declaring:

"... Doongalla, near The Basin, Bayswater have been declared sanctuaries for native game"

The declaration may have been the provisions of a caveat lodged on the Certificate of Title on 30th August 1937 affecting part of the property. The Titles Office was unable to locate the caveat, presumed lost or destroyed, so it is unknown what was in the caveat. However, the caveat lapsed after 3 years. The official proclamation was issued in the Victorian Government Gazette on October 13th 1937 with a detailed description of the land boundaries.

In 1939, a bushfire threatened the remaining buildings, but they were saved primarily by members of The Basin Fire Brigade. A notice in The Argus (Melbourne), dated 18th January 1939, stated:

"MRS ELIJAH, Doongalla, The Basin, wishes to tender grateful THANKS to all those firefighters and especially Mr B Chandler and members of the Basin Fire Brigade whose valiant efforts resulted in saving the Doongalla buildings and gardens in last week's disastrous fire".

In the 1940s, a 2 acre section of the Doongalla area was purchased by the four previously mentioned Smith Brothers. The Certificate of Title recording the transfer on 5th September 1947.

In the late 1940s, there was an extensive campaign for the preservation of the Dandenong Ranges. Lobbying of local politicians, and in particular Sir Gilbert Chandler, led to the State Government purchasing the property owned by Mabel Annie Elijah for £8,000. It was officially transferred to the Crown on 12th July 1950 and has since been administered as a Forest Park reserve. Before the Crown transfer, the property was to be auctioned, but a notice in the Melbourne Argus newspaper on 16th June 1950 advised that the auction had been cancelled.

In 1951, the body campaigning to save the Dandenongs officially formed "The Save the Dandenongs League" and continued lobbying.

The final 2 acres owned by the Smith brothers was transferred to the Crown on 17th March 1966.

The stables were demolished in the late 1950s as they had become unsafe. The floor of the stables was lined with bluestone pitchers. These were removed and used to build fire places/BBQ at the Olinda golf course. The only other building remaining was the servants' quarters and in 2021 these serve as a residence for the park warden.

In 2020, the site on which the main building stood is lawn area, equipped with picnic facilities. There was a huge wine cellar underneath the house and this was filled in to create the lawn

The Apology

In 1935, a section of Doongalla was sold to the Smith Brothers and they installed a mill and logged the area. The logging was done under strict supervision of the Forest Commission.

Long after the Smith Brothers had left and Doongalla was under control of the Forest Commission, a pamphlet was produced about Doongalla Reserve. It stated that "During their period of ownership the Smith Brothers destroyed much of the natural beauty by putting in timber tracks, breaking fences and snigging with bullock teams down the graded tracks. Vandalism was also rife during this period and many of the garden shrubs and household effects disappeared". Much of this was untrue and when Roy Smith discovered what had been written he approached the Forest Commission demanding an apology and withdrawal of the incorrect information. The Forest Commission agreed that certain phrases in the pamphlet did convey the wrong impression and the pamphlet was withdrawn and all copies destroyed.

area. The lawn area has been used for all types of functions, including weddings (my daughter had her wedding reception there in 2001). The bases of the old chimneys act as enlarged flower boxes. The steps leading down from this area give access to the several large terraces which Miss Simson had constructed. The old stable site forms a second picnic area.

Many attractive walks lead from the two picnic areas via the tracks constructed by Miss Simson. Each track bears a name which has an historical association. "Collier Walk" commemorates one of the earliest settlers. "Chandler Walk" commemorates Sir Gilbert Chandler who led the campaign to buy back the land. "Lawrence Walk" commemorates a Chairman of the Forest Commission.

The Doongalla reserve is distinct from most other reserves in that admission of groups is restricted by appointment to prevent overcrowding.

Ferndale

Ferndale was built by James Griffiths of Griffiths Tea fame. The tea in those days was known as Signal Brand.

In 1888, brothers James and John Griffiths were granted title to allotment 87 consisting of 184 acres of land near what is now Ferndale Road. The land was first selected, licenced, and leased by William Tyner. See page 41 for details on Tyners land transactions. In July 1888, the brothers took over the lease from Tyner, and in August were granted title.

Tyner may have called the simple timber cottage that he built on the property "Ferndale" and Griffiths kept the name. When the brothers took over the property, they moved the cottage to a new site near the creek and for many years it served as the manager's residence.

It has been reported that in 1889, a magnificent three-storey Swiss style home was constructed which had 17 main rooms including 11 bedrooms. These were complemented by three bathrooms, three studies, numerous laundries, workrooms and maid's quarters. However, a Probate application in 1925 listed the house as only 20 years old.

Lighting for the house was initially kerosene lamps. Larger rooms had fixed lighting and other rooms portable lights. Not long before his death, James Griffiths had a generator installed with batteries in preparation for electric lighting.

The house was situated on the western face of the Dandenongs with the mountain as a background and commanded an excellent view overlooking the Dandenong valley and the eastern suburbs of Melbourne. Downhill from the main house were cottages for the labourers and farmhands who tended the animals, orchards and gardens.

The extensive gardens around the house included chrysanthemums, lawns and immaculate flower beds. The heavily ornamented entrance gates opened into a bluestone courtyard with fishpond and fountain.

One of the many special garden features were the chrysanthemums grown in a special area with a pipe framework to support a canvas cover which sheltered the blooms from adverse weather conditions. These blooms had been disbudded and tied to thin wire lines. These large round, almost perfect, flowers were the incurred varieties. When blooming, on fine sunny days, the canvas cover would be drawn back to expose these magnificent blooms for all to see. Guests were amazed at the spectacle.

The property had varied agricultural interests. There were vegetable patches, 2 acres of orchards with various fruits and berries (currants, raspberries, gooseberries and strawberries). There were 5 to 6 acres of cropping paddocks for the growing of horse feed and fodder for cows. Harvesting of fodder crops was by horse drawn reaper and binder. Tea was grown in the lower part of the main gardens for experimental purposes, but not on a large scale.

Stock on the property consisted of poultry, turkeys, cows, pigs, sheep, ponies for wagonettes

Frank Grumont and Doongalla Burning

Frank Grumont was only sixteen when the bushfire threatened Doongalla. Bert Chandler drove Frank, his brother George, and others in his Morris Commercial truck to help fight the fire using knapsacks with water containers and hand pumps attached to them. Frank related to me by letter that the fire was caused by a bird's nest in a vent and a spark set the house alight. It was well over 100°F (38° C) that day and the owner brought them beer that had been chilled in a creek nearby.

and working horses for the farm. All confined stock was beautifully housed bedded and well-fed. The stables had a drinking trough outside the door and a manger to every stall. Drinking troughs were supplied to every paddock and operated by ball stopcock. Feed and harness rooms were next door to the stables. Wagonettes and buggies were housed off the bluestone courtyard. Milking cow stalls were off the courtyard and a small dairy was situated beside the creek. Bacon was smoked and cured in a caged room beneath the dairy.

Ferndale had a unique water reticulation system. On the high side of Ferndale Road, near a sharp bend, the creek had been dammed with a stone and concrete retaining wall. In the “Ferndale Estate” brochure dated 1927, a picture of the dam is shown. The water was taken from low in the dam’s wall and fed through a six-inch steel pipe to just above the house where it was broken into smaller piping and used throughout the property. It is unknown how long the dam was used for, but in later years, a system was installed to pump water up from the creek.

In 2021, the dam wall was intact, except for sections of the top which have collapsed. An overgrown track leads up to the dam on the RH side.

In 1897, by agreement and at no cost, allotment 87 title was transferred from James and John Griffiths to James Griffiths.

In 1904, James Griffiths increased his holdings when he purchased adjacent allotment 86 consisting of 169 acres for which he paid £1,000. This allotment was first selected by J Cape and taken over by Reverend Rivers Beachcroft Dickinson, and title granted in 1881.

In 1913, James Griffiths purchased land of 23 acres being part of allotment 79, title to which was originally granted to James Richards in 1882.

During the time past World War I, the Salvation Army had a fine brass band. On Christmas eve, they would march up the Old Coach Road from the Army Home to Ferndale and assemble at the front entrance and play band music and sing carols. All local residents were invited, and this was a highlight of Christmas eve.

In 1925, James and Emily Griffiths were killed at the Bayswater level crossing after a collision between their carriage and a steam train.

Then, James was 75 and Emily was 83.

James and Emily had wills but complications caused Emily’s will to be contested. See page 28 for more details.

The executors of the wills organised for the property owned by James to be sold. For details on the subsequent transactions see page 59.

The house was used in the late 1930s and 1940s as a guest house and was a favourite place for honeymooners.

In 1949, Musia Rubinstein purchased Ferndale.

A Victorian Tourist Brochure of 1947 described the guest house thus:

“Take your holidays at the prettiest place in the hills — all modern conveniences. Excellent accommodation and cooking. Wonderful garden. Delightful walks”.

After the Second World War, Ferndale was used for a time as a migrant hostel for Dutch immigrants. Don Maguire, a Basin resident, recalled carting tons of potatoes up to Ferndale at that time. They seemed to be the resident’s staple diet. Don encouraged them to take on pumpkin, but apparently that was not a vegetable Dutch people ever used and all efforts failed miserably.

As reported in The Mountain District Free Press dated Oct 1951:

“HEALTH INSPECTOR’S REPORT “FERNDALE,”. THE BASIN Advice has been received from the Health Department that this property must be considered as being subject to the Boarding House Regulations. In the circumstances it is recommended that the owner be asked to show cause why action should not be taken.”

The early 1950s saw an effort to improve the property but insufficient funds hampered any progress. Souvenir bricks from the 1956 Melbourne Olympic Games have been found on the property which may have been used to rejuvenate some landscaping.

During the late 1950s the mansion slipped into disrepair. About 1960, Don Maguire recalled Jack Masters, who managed a small nursery on the property, calling him in to look at the interior. Vandals had broken in and completely smashed the interior including the beautiful chandeliers.

The 1962 bushfires destroyed another of The Basin’s historical buildings. Many older Basin residents interviewed in gathering information for this book recalled visiting the ruins of Ferndale after the fire and how they looked upon the ruins with sadness at the loss of this magnificent building.

After Ferndale was destroyed, Don Maguire, a former captain of The Basin Fire Brigade, asked the local Council to repair the dam and clear the track, so the dam could be used as a water storage for firefighting purposes, but it never eventuated.

In the 1960s the property was used as a goat farm. It was not until 2005 when a new owner recaptured the spectacular views to the CBD by erecting a new building with its view aligned to the tallest building in the CBD. Major landscaping finished the restoration of this magnificent property. In 2021, two full time employees maintain the property.

There was another house called Ferndale in Silvan. The house was originally part of a property called "Fernydale Farm". It was established in 1886 by Albert Wiseman and operated as a boys reformatory home. It was sold in 1907 to Rear Admiral Sir William Creswell who renamed it Ferndale.

Como

Como was William and Kate Chandlers second home, constructed from bricks made on the property. Their property was first known as "Fern Glen", but when George Bruce's house higher up the mountain was named "Fern Glen", William renamed his property "Como", after the famous Italian beauty spot, to avoid confusion. The brick house was first occupied in 1878.

Como was advertised for sale on 22nd December 1925.

Como was demolished in the 1960s and replaced with another. Then it was in poor condition.

William brought his family, then consisting of a wife and three children, to live at The Basin in the season of 1873. They first lived in a weatherboard building (mentioned in his application) built on the creek flats, well in from the existing corner of The Basin-Olinda and Doongalla Roads.

The house was built from straight manna gums and messmate timber found on the property. The timber was pitsawn, even to the weather boards, and had another refinement lacking in most other bush dwellings — galvanised iron roof instead of shingles. Arch Chandler was born in the original house in 1875 and thought to be the first white child born at The Basin. Legend has it that the large oak tree in Doongalla Road was planted to mark the occasion. It was certainly planted when the family occupied the original home.

Glen Elbourne

Situated on the Basin-Olinda Road near Hazel Dell, Glen Elbourne (also known as Glen Elborn) was once known as "The Bungalow". A 1924 map shows a track leading to a property marked "The Bungalow". On The Basin Primary School roll dated February 1921, a pupil is listed as Thomas Simpson (No 159), whose address was "The Bungalow" and whose father was listed as a "Merchant".

When electricity came to The Basin in 1939, one of the first to be connected was the Simpson's of "Glen Elbourne".

Built in the early 1900s, it was well known for its three hectares of botanic gardens and two kilometres of pathways. Before the Second World War, there existed a Mountain District Garden Competition and the property won the "best garden in the mountain district" for three years in 1936, 1937 and 1938.

Over the years, various owners added to and improved the property. The main house was 32 squares with views of the city skyline and there was a second house of 12 squares. The gardens included a bewildering variety of trees, two waterfalls, a gazebo, a trout pond and a bowling green.

An extensive cross-section of trees and scrubs have been planted over the years, including collections of Rhododendrons and Azaleas, Maples, Camellias, Ash and Conifers. Being long-established and growing in favourable conditions, some specimens were by Australian standards, relatively large, for example: a Tulip Tree, Copper Beech, Ginkgo and Liquidambers.

The gardens were often made open to the public as reported The Mountain District Free Press dated Oct 1952.

Owners over the years have included Simpson, Wallis, W. J and the Perry family. The latter who held the property for 33 years when they sold it in 1983.

Clevedon

"Cleve House" later known as "Clevedon", was built in 1893 by Percivil Chandler for his uncle Robert Charles Chandler on 35 acres of land bordering Mountain Highway. Robert Charles purchased the property from his brother William.

Percivil Chandler was well known as a builder and is also credited with building "Sherbrooke Lodge" near Kallista.

Robert Charles Chandler was a naturalist and devoted much of his time prospecting for gold.

He is credited with discovering a gold reef at Reef ton, near Warburton. His two children attended the "first" The Basin Primary School in Doongalla Road. Robert Charles sold Cleve House sometime in the 1910s.

Cleve House was said to have been occupied by a German family during the First World War who were discovered sending messages to someone in the Croydon area. The Defence Department were contacted, and the messages stopped.

In the late 1910s Cleve House became a guest house with Frank Agar and his wife as the managers.

Electricity for the guest house was supplied by a generator driven by a water wheel in the creek at the rear of the property.

The first advertisement for accommodation appeared in The Argus in 1918 (see a copy of the advertisement on page 97):

In 1926, the property was taken over by W, D. McCallum. The first advertisement with the new owners appeared in The Argus in 1927 (see a copy of the advertisement on page 97):

Around 1929, the name of the property was changed to Clevedon and a Mrs Hartley took over (see a copy of the advertisement with the new name on page 97).

In 1930, a newspaper item offered a reward for a stolen or lost cow (see a copy of the item on page 97):

In 1936, A G Martin was managing the property.

In October 1938, the guest house was auctioned. The auction brochure described it thus:

"The Main Building contains 8 Rooms, Large Verandah's, Detached Ladies' and Gent's Bathrooms, 8 sleepouts and 3 bungalows."

From 1939 to 1944 a Mr and Mrs Donnelly took over the lease of the guest house. Mr Donnelly enlisted into service shortly after they took over the property and Mrs Donnelly managed the guest house by herself. Many residents were employed at the house by Mrs

Donnelly to help in its running.

During this period the guest house became successful with bookings arranged through the Victorian Government Tourist Bureau. At weekends, the house offered Devonshire Teas for passing tourists.

Soon after reticulated electricity arrived in The Basin, Mrs Donnelly paid for and arranged for it to be extended and connected to Clevedon.

Sid and May Thornton took over the lease of Clevedon in 1944 and continued to operate the guest house until 1953. During these years Clevedon's facilities were improved and its popularity dramatically increased. At one stage the property had 10 acres of orchard, a large vegetable garden, a piggery and 9 nine cows.

In 1947 the Thorntons purchased the property which at that stage was about 35 acres. The Thorntons continued to improve the property and a notable addition was the purchase of several old green miners' cabins that were placed along the Mountain Highway boundary.

In 1951, they subdivided about 3 acres of the western part of the property and created the "Clevedon Estate". Seventeen lots were created with the streets Ross Street, and Clevedon Road. The Thorntons purchased lots one and two which were on the highest part of the estate and had a display house erected there.

A dark moment in Clevedon's history occurred on June 1, 1952. A group of mainly teenagers left Clevedon that Sunday evening on a bus heading home. They had been attending a religious weekend at Clevedon. After a stop at the Boronia Church of Christ in Boronia Road where they attended a service and sang hymns with local parishioners, the bus headed down Boronia Road towards the Boronia railway crossing. It was reported that the bus driver slowed down to check for approaching trains, but not seeing any, continued. A Melbourne bound train slammed into the bus, slicing it in half. Initial reports had 13 dead and 16 injured, but the death toll was later amended to 9 (see insert "Fatal Crash Memories" on page 91). Between 1926 and 1998, 28 people have been killed and 54 injured at the Boronia crossing which has earned it the title of "the death crossing". The public outcry after the 1952 accident saw flashing lights installed in October 1952, but it was not until 1972 that boom

Fatal Crash Memories

June 1 1952, is a date etched in the memory of Bayswater resident Dr Ian Falconer.

On that night a bus carrying teenagers returning from a youth camp at Clevedon was cut in half by a train at the Boronia railway crossing.

Nine people died, with many suffering serious injuries.

Dr Falconer, one of the local doctors called to the scene to help, recalled the incident last week.

Dr Falconer had only graduated two years before, spending some time in Queensland before opening his practice in the January of that year.

"I was at my parents' house in Bayswater when I got a call from the exchange saying that a train had hit a bus," he said.

After a quick call to the taxi service and a trip to his surgery for supplies, he arrived at the accident scene.

His first impressions of the night 49 years ago have now become a blur, merging to creating the one image that he carries with him forever.

"I have an overall picture of the scene. There wasn't much in the way of street lighting. The train was stationary, and the bus was pretty much in two halves," Dr Falconer said.

"It was dark. Cars had their headlights turned onto the area, so we could see."

"I got straight to work. Somebody took me around to where there were injured people. Some people were dead. They had blankets over the top of them, and I pulled it up over their eyes."

Dr Falconer said time went by quickly as he tried to help as many of the injured as he could.

"It was one of those situations where you just acted. You did what you had to do," he said.

Clevedon

gates were installed. In 1998, the rail line was placed underground ending delays and accidents at one of Melbourne’s worst intersections.

Clevedon was becoming increasingly popular with groups from the Methodist Church. One of the Church leaders realised the potential for Clevedon as a camp and approached the Thornton’s asking if they ever considered selling Clevedon would they give the Church first option to buy.

In 1953, 4 acres including the guest house and outbuildings, was sold to the Methodist Church Young People’s department to be used a camp and conference house. The buildings then consisted of the Guest House, Promenade and Green Cabins. The Church relocated several buildings, including a house and hall onto the property. The remaining area was sold to Peter Hill who later subdivided an area of about 3 acres into 17 building allotments with Cleve Avenue running down the middle.

In the late 1950s, a building known as “Valley View” was relocated to Clevedon. It was thought to have been transported from the Eildon Dam site.

In 1960, the Methodist Church purchased the remaining land of about 16 acres from Peter Hill at a cost of £5,400.

The Thornton’s purchased a display house on the new Clevedon Estate and lived there until about 1960 when they moved out of the area.

In 1961, a dining hall and recreation room were relocated to Clevedon. These were also transported from the Eildon Dam site. The recreation room was officially opened by the President of the Methodist Conference Centre, Reverent G. D. Brinacombe.

In 1961, on the nature strip of Mountain Highway, outside what was then Clevedon, a concrete cross was erected by friends of a Miss Girlie Lee as an expression of thanksgiving for her life and constant witness to her faith. Girlie Lee was killed in the tragic level crossing accident at Boronia in 1952.

Around 2014, after noticing that the cross was in poor condition, a group of locals arranged for it to be repainted.

The original house built for Robert Charles Chandler was destroyed by fire in the early hours of March 22nd, 1972. Only the original homestead garden and steps remained.

Green cabins once lined the driveway from Mountain Highway into Clevedon. These were old miners' huts and used for accommodation until about 1973.

In 1975, a new conference centre building was erected on the site and this was opened by the then Minister for Sport and Recreation, Mr Brian Dixon.

In 1977 the Methodist Church amalgamated with others to become the Uniting Church of Australia.

Clevedon held an open day in 1993 to celebrate 100 years since the original building was erected. Previous owners and dignitaries were invited to a day of celebrations.

In the early 2000s the site was purchased by a company and in 2009 leased to the Christadelphian Society. With the help of church members, the site was transformed into a school called the Christadelphian School Heritage College which opened in 2010.

Hazel Dell

"Hazel Dell", or "Hazel Glen", on The Basin-Olinda Road, was built in the 1880s by Thomas Walsh Hodgson for use by his family as a homestead and later for accommodation. Hodgson was one of the original landholders in The Basin. He was granted 194 acres for allotment 83 in 1881. Jack Hodgson (son) attended the "first" The Basin Primary School in Doongalla Road.

An early reference to "Hazel Dell", was in 1891 when accommodation was being offered according to advertisements that appeared in The Argus newspaper. Mr and Mrs Sutherland were quoted as tenants and proprietors of the house. It was used by settlers as a halfway house between the plains and the hilltop. At that time, tracks past Hazel Dell were only suitable for pack horses.

In 1890 and 1893, John James Miller is reported in newspaper articles as having owned Hazel Dell but according to title documents he never owned allotment 83 on which Hazel Dell was situated. However, the title documents and a probate application show that he invested money in the property. It is possible his investment was only with house. See page 38 for more information.

From about 1900 to 1906, Hazel Dell was run by Mr. and Mrs. Hayes and the Gilmour Family. Ada Gilmour (later Mrs. Harry Chandler), Lizzie Gilmour and Mrs. Hayes had the largest input in running the guest house during this period.

Hazel Dell was described in a railway guide of 1905 as:

"...providing an excellent standard of accommodation ... and was very popular."

From about 1906 to 1909, a Mrs Nelson ran Hazel dell.

From 1910 to 1916, a Mrs Briginshaw ran Hazel Dell.

In 1917, W. T. Newton was managing Hazel Dell.

In the late 1910s and early 1920s, Mr & Mrs A. H. Bickerton were managing Hazel Dell.

Around the middle 1920s, the guest house was purchased by Mrs. Rowe who operated it for about 10 years.

Around 1946, Mesdames O'Beirne & Stevens were managing Hazel dell.

In later years, the building was used as a Presbyterian Church Camp and was eventually purchased by the church in 1950. In 1977, the Presbyterian Church amalgamated with others to become the Uniting Church of Australia and took over running of the property.

As well as managing Clevedon, Alan and Linda Dixon managed the camp for 3 years from 1990.

In 1993, Hazel Dell was sold by the church to be used as a residential property.

Boyup

Boyup

Located in Mountain Highway on land above the stone wall, Boyup was a popular guest house in the 1920s. Many of The Basin early residents had their first visit to The Basin staying in one of the many guest houses.

Charles and Mary Ann Gretton, who took over the lease of Cain's store in 1930, had their first view of The Basin in 1923 when they stayed at Boyup with their children.

Little is known about Boyup, but it must have been built in the late 1910s because it was on land that was part of Schneider's Estate which opened in 1913.

Seventh Day Adventist Youth Camp

In the early 1930s the Seventh Day Adventist Youth Club had a dynamic leader by the name of H. J. Meyers. He had a vision — to build a Youth Camp that could be used by the youth of Victoria to enhance their educational, spiritual, moral and social welfare.

Meyers investigated many potential sites for the camp. One significant criterion Meyers required was that the selected site must have a perennial water supply. It is said that before finally choosing the site on The Basin-Olinda Road, he traced Dobsons creek (then known as Blind Creek) at the rear of the property back to its source to satisfy himself of its perennial supply.

Land of some 15 acres was purchased in January 1937, plans drawn up by architect Mr. E. F. Billson, and timber buildings were constructed using voluntary labour under the supervision of Tom Harrington. The initial buildings comprised a Dining room, Vestibule, Kitchen, Supt. Quarters and Office, caretakers lodge and four shacks each with 32 bunks.

A water permit was obtained in 1938 to pump water from the creek to supply a pool constructed that year. The ethics of the day dictated that boys and girls were not allowed to swim in the pool together, but this was relaxed in later years. Local children were permitted to use the pool at convenient times.

In the early days the camp was so popular sometimes far more attended than could be accommodated. On these occasions the overflow stayed at Hazel Dell.

Baxter-Cox, a nearby landowner, gave permission in January 1948 for the camp to run poles across his land to enable the connection of electricity. Electricity was eventually directly connected in 1952 enabling modern conveniences at the camp.

In 1963, 4 acres of the original 15 acres purchased by the camp was sold to Michael and Ann Spry.

A fire in late 1972 destroyed the main building. In 1973, a larger steel and concrete building incorporating a badminton hall was erected at a cost of $50,000 and was fully funded by the Church.

From 1994 to 1999, Alan and Linda Dixon used the camp to handle the overflow from Clevedon.

In 1999, the camp ceased operation and was idle for some years.

For the many youths of Victoria who have passed through the camp since it commenced operation, the vision of H. J. Meyers has certainly been fulfilled.

In 2001, the land and buildings was purchased by the Romanian Seventh Day Adventist Church. The main hall was renovated to be utilised as a church and Community Hall.

Ferndale Camp

Little information is available about this camp which was situated midway along Ferndale Road. Apparently, it originally was the site of an early settler who built a house there. The site was most part of the Ferndale Estate which was subdivided in the 1920s. This house was destroyed by fire around the 1950s. The property was subsequently purchased by the Congregational Church to be used as a Youth camp and many buildings erected. For over 30 years it operated successfully as a Youth camp.

Towards the mid 1980s it's use diminished and it fell into disrepair. In the late 1980s it was used for homeless youths for a while when taken over by Harrison House.

In 1992, the property was acquired by the Department of Conservation and Environment to be amalgamated into the surrounding forest park. The buildings were demolished in 1993.

Other Prominent Residences

Bonnie Doon/Brockbury

The land that in 2021 hosted the Lilydale Bowmans Club was originally a farm called Bonnie Doon and is shown on early maps. The property was auctioned on the 28th June 1912 as reported in the Reporter (Box Hill) newspaper.

About 1917, Thomas Burden and his family came to live on the land and called the farm Brockbury. They had 10 children — Walter Thomas married Janet Mary Dobson, Francis married Winifred Goodwin, Francis married Winifred Goodwin, Harold married Grace Maclean, Kathleen (Kit) married Robert (Bob) John Dobson, the grandson of David Dobson, one of the original settlers in The Basin, Ernest married Grace Saltwed, Victor married Ivy Goodwin, Marjory married Alan Campbell and Joan married Shearer.

Five of the children attended The Basin Primary School.

Torwood

In 1878, John Barns applied for a licence to occupy 230 acres on a steep allotment running up the side of Mount Dandenong which included the area later known as Barns Lookout. The licence was granted for allotment 60. Although his land was not in The Basin, he had a large influence on local affairs.

He was in residence there at least by 1879 as he was a signatory to the petition for a school in The Basin and promised two children would attend if a school was opened. The children were Amy (11) and Minnie (9).

Freehold title to a second allotment, 52A, adjacent to the allotment 60, was granted in 1887, on which the house named Torwood was erected on what is now near the corner of Sheffield and Glasgow Roads in Kilsyth. One of the attributes of the property was a stream that rippled through the property. The house was built mostly by John using handmade bricks made from clay on the site. Torwood was finished Christmas 1894 and the family retired there to live. Fruit trees and raspberry canes were planted, and grazing afforded dairy products.

Minnie Barnes later married David Dobson, son of Thomas Dobson Junior of Ferntree Gully.

Hillside

Known for its extensive gardens in the 1960s, Hillside on Old Coach Road, was built around the turn of the century by Percy Chandler. The garden was carefully laid out to give protection from north winds while still providing plenty of sun.

The house and the garden were added to over the years by successive owners, but most of the mature trees reflect many years of growth. One outstanding tree was a large wattle (believed to be a type of New Zealand wattle) which flowers during February. As well as old type rhododendrons, azaleas and camellias, the garden contained nearly every kind of deciduous tree listed as being noncombustible after the 1962 bushfires.

Calanthe

Built by Gordon Chandler in the 1930s, the gardens in Calanthe on Liverpool Road were known in the 1960s as a unique environment.

Reclaimed from the bush, the garden was first populated with trees and shrubs that would grow without watering as no water was available then. Around 1960, the layout was reorganised when water became available.

The entrance was through an avenue of trees. The north side had 14 different varieties of Crataegus (Hawthorn) and the south various flowering Crab apples and Cherries. The garden had numerous Rhododendrons and Azaleas, as well as winter and spring flowering plants and trees. Notable plants in the 1960s were 2 weeping maples over 40 years old, one of the oldest Crazy Filbert in Australia (about 30 years old) a large tree of Magnolia Veitchii and an unusual Crab apple (Craig Hall) with large fruit like large plums. Calanthe was known for many ears for its Liliums.

Summary

Summary

The Basin Primary School was first occupied in December 1880 with the title “Dandenong Range School No. 2329” on property purchased from William Chandler in Doongalla Road.

In 1899, the school was closed but in 1900 the existing building was moved to a new site on the corner of Mountain Highway and Liverpool Road and reopened in 1901.

In 1925, a new school building was opened set further back from the road. Over the years, substantial improvements have been made including a new art room (mid 1970s), addition of The Basin Boys Home Special School buildings (1980), extra land (1980) and a major upgrade of the Administrative section (1989).

Boronia Heights Secondary College began in 1973 as Boronia Technical School and was located in Mount View Road, Boronia. Initial buildings and grounds were basic.

Buildings were added in 1974/75 (Home Economics, Science and Trades/Math), and 1987 (Gym/Music/Drama, Library and Auto).

The School closed in 2014 and the buildings demolished in 2017.

St. Bernadette’s Primary School commenced operation in 1983 with 117 children.

Over the years a gymnasium, computerised library and playground equipment have been added. In 1997, a major new addition to the School buildings was finished in the form of St. Bernadette’s Community Hall.

The Basin Pre-School Kindergarten commenced operation in 1956 in The Basin

Progress Hall, but it was not until 1958 that the current special purpose building was opened in Forest Road.

In 1994/95, major upgrades to the building occurred following a turbulent period when the kindergarten nearly closed.

The Goodwin Estate Kindergarten commenced operation in 1980 in a new building in Rome Beauty Avenue.

The Basin Infant Welfare Centre commenced operation in 1944 in a room at The Basin Progress Hall. It was not until 1956 that a special purpose building was erected on donated land in Forest Road. The Centre later closed, and the building used for playgroup activities.

Distinguished Resident

Arthur Cooper

Member of The Basin Fire Brigade and Batterham Reserve committee for 43 years, President of the Fire Brigade for 14 years, Football President and then Treasurer for 8 and 9 years respectively, Progress Association Treasurer 10 years and Progress Association Life Member. These and many other posts surely qualify Arthur Cooper for a place in The Basin Hall of Fame.

After moving here in 1946, Arthur undoubtedly compiled the best record of meeting attendances among his contemporaries. Always a direct but fair man, he made his opinion well known on many local matters. To quote his own words I always call a spade a shovel. It was this forthrightness that stood him in good stead in the community.

Coop as he was known, was the guardian of The Basin Football Club’s interests for many years, as delegate to the Eastern Suburban League around the time when the Right Honourable Gib Chandler was its president. In 1990, as a tribute to Arthur’s unselfish contribution to the club, The Arthur Cooper Scoreboard was erected by the Batterham Park Committee, the Football Club with assistance by Knox Council. Arthur was present when the board was unveiled, as were many older residents from local, country and interstate.

After a long illness, Arthur passed away on 11th November 1990. He will be sadly missed.

Schools

The Basin Primary School

1879 Establishment and Opening

In March 1879, David Dobson, supported by residents, petitioned the Board of Education for a School. The petition, reproduced on pages 104 and 104, represented parents of 45 School age children unable to avail themselves of the surrounding schools, the closest being 4 to 5 miles distant.

Inspector John Dennant's report of April 1879 confirmed the need for a School in the area. However, no action followed and on August 30th, Mr Dobson again wrote to the Minister of Public Instruction as follows:

"Permit me (on behalf of the residents of the north east portion of Scoresby and part of Mooroolbark) to respectfully call your attention to the urgency of a School in our District. It is now about 5 months since the Inspector visited the District to report upon it and from the number of children he saw without education, he led us to believe you would cause the School to be erected without delay. I trust the urgency of our case will be a sufficient excuse for troubling you."

"With regard to myself, I have six children; my oldest I send to School on horse back, but the others are quite neglected. It is a dreadful thing to see children running about almost wild."

William Chandler Junior offered 1 acre of land for the School situated on the North-East corner of allotment 72B, Parish of Scoresby (in 2021, this would be near the corner of Simpson Road and Doongalla Road). This land was in the then centre of The Basin and the attending children lived in homesteads nearby. This offer was accepted, and Mr Chandler was paid £1 as compensation.

Tenders for the erection of a wooden School, 24 by 16 feet, to accommodate 40 children, and a three roomed attached teachers' residence were called for. In May 1880, William Swanson was awarded the contract at a cost of 437 pounds and ten shillings.

Building operations were finished in November 1880. The School was opened on 10 December 1880 with the title "Dandenong Range School No. 2329" (see photo on page 103).

The first Head Teacher was James Maddern who stayed until February 1881. His 48 pupils (enrolment in 1881) included A. E. Chandler and William Tyner both of whom became M.L.A.'s. Other families represented were the Dobsons, Kerrs, Kleinerts, and Wicks. The average attendance in 1881 was 27.

School for The Basin district – 28th February, 1879.

1883 School Name Changed

During 1883, under Head Teacher Alice Hammond, the School was renamed "The Basin" as the previous name was too indefinite. This arose after a visit by Inspector Walter Gamble in November 1883 (when the average attendance was 20). He recommended that:

"...the School be known as "The Basin"
State School No. 2329, North Scoresby.
Dandenong Range is too indefinite and is not recognised in the district. The Basin is the local name and is likely to be permanent."

The name was officially adopted by the

1893 Falling Attendances

By the 1890s, the School attendance had declined with only 18 children attending as at 8th March 1893. These children are listed below. Ages in years/months in parentheses as at 1st January 1893. Home location distance from the School in brackets.

Herbert (12/10), Louisa (11/2), Gilbert (8/9), Ettie (7/2), and Kitty (5/9) CHANDLER [200 yards West]. Maud (12/8) and Elsie (7/2) DOBSON [1/4 mile West]. Florence (10/1) and Ethel (8/2) CHANDLER [1 mile West]. Lily (11/1), Charlotte (9/0) and Henry (5/0) KEMP [1 1/4 miles West]. John (10/7), and Isobel (12/1) GERAGHTY [2 1/2 miles North]. Frederick (8/0) GADEL [2 miles West]. Mary (7/0) KING [2 3/4 miles West. Henry (9/6) LUM [400 yards West]. Ellen (11/6) TRUSWELL [3 miles West].

In early 1893, several parents submitted a petition to the Minister for Education as follows:

"As it is probable the School numbered 2329 and known as The Basin School at Bayswater in Fern Tree Gully Shire will become unclassified through want of the statutory number of scholars — the cause being that the Schoolhouse is placed in a remote and inaccessible position in the mountain and the approaches thereto are only through private and very low lying lands which are completely inundated with water in the winter months and therefore the children have to sit in wet boots and clothes the whole of the time. In fact, the School is in a most inconvenient spot and really serves two families (Dobsons and Chandlers)".

"It is now respectfully requested that the Schoolhouse be removed about 3/4 mile to the west on a site on the properties of Messrs J. Bruce or J. J. Miller on the Bayswater Road, The approaches to which would be on made public roads, would avoid parties having to go over the lowlying lands and save the majority of the residents who live to the west of the present site and the children of the two families before mentioned would only have to come about 1/4 mile".

"If this alteration is made the School would at once become reestablished and a great convenience to the district and would be gratefully acknowledged by the undersigned parents".

"Susan. Kemp, C. H. Maher; James Kerr; James Jackson, Henry Baldwin, C. H. Intermann, J. Gadd, Moses Truswell, James Jennings, Sarah Joyner; Fred Silk, Robert C. Chandler; Charles King, G. W. Bruce, James J. Miller".

James J. Miller personally gathered information and compiled a list of available scholars at The Basin School, if removed to a more suitable site.

In May 1893, a meeting was held to consider the proposal to move The Basin School to a site on the main road — reported on by District Inspector Dennett, as follows:

"Present: Messrs Miller; Baldwin, W. Chandler; C. Chandler; Leach (grandfather of the boy Lum) and Dr Simpson and Mr J. Dobson, members of the Board of Advice".

"A spot to which it is proposed to remove the School is on allotment 74, Parish of Scoresby, commencing about 2 chains from the western boundary. It is suitable ground. Mr J. J. Miller, the owner, offers a block of 2 acres for 25 pounds. The ground to abut the Main Road".

"The only objector is Mr Leach. Mr Baldwin is indifferent; in reality he thinks that to remove it such a short distance would be useless. It will be observed from the plan that it is only proposed to remove the School from 48 to 50 chains".

"The members of the Board of Advice present mentioned that settlement was taking place now in the Dandenong State Forest and that this School in its present position might suit the selectors."

The Inspector considered that was not worthwhile incurring the expense of removing the School as it was convenient to all.

In August 1894, the Inspector recommended that the School be made unclassified, since there was little prospect of the average attendance reaching 20. This meant that a less qualified teacher would act as Head Teacher.

Minor repairs and the erection of a new fence to replace one previously destroyed by fire were finished in January 1897 at a cost of 6 pounds 15 shillings.

In April 1897, David Dobson reported in a letter that:

"My son took the tree down that was leaning over The Basin State School but unfortunately it fell onto one of the closets and smashed it to pieces. He had the Forest devil on it, but it was so much burnt away at the root of the tree and the lean was so great towards the School that he had the greatest difficulty to prevent it from smashing the School. It is the girl's closet and I suppose there will have to be another put up. Will you kindly see and oblige?"

Schools

1899 School Closed

A recommendation to close the School in January 1899 was made by the Correspondent, R. Minns, since there were only 13 pupils on the roll. Closure followed on 9 June 1899. The surnames of the 13 children left were Lum (1), McKay (4), Chandler (4), Pope (1), Gadd (2) and Hayes (1).

An inventory of items when the School closed was as follows:

4 desks, 4 forms, 1 teachers desk, 1 stool, 1 easel, 2 blackboards, 1 table, 1 chair (damaged), 4 spring blinds, 10 framed 2 unframed slates, 5 safety inkwells, 16 porcelain inkwells, 13 good 3 damaged. The School building had been used on Sundays for Methodist Church services and this continued until 1901.

During the time the School was closed, the attached teachers' residence was rented for 5 months to Mr W. K. Scott of Ferndale.

1900 Parents Request School Move

On 20th June 1900, a deputation consisting of several members of the Ferntree Gully Board of Advice met with the Minister of Education. The Chairman of the Ferntree Gully Board of Advice said that the residents of the district had waited on the Board and asked for their cooperation and sympathy. They asked that the building be removed about 1½ miles nearer to Melbourne. Some children had to travel 4 or 5 miles to School.

Mr Collier said that if the School was shifted and reopened it would not interfere with any other School. The Bayswater, Mooroolbark and Ferntree Gully Schools were overcrowded.

Mr Chandler said that if the School was not moved the chances were that it would be burnt down in the summer as it was surrounded by scrub.

The Minister said that he would send an officer of the Department who would tell them of the day and time he would be there. If the report of that officer showed that the facts were as stated by the deputation, he (Dr. Salmon) would make provision for the education of the children.

Inspector Alfred Curlewis visited the area to investigate the feasibility of the School's removal in July 1900. On his recommendation, the School (with attached teachers' residence) was moved to a 1 acre site on the corner of Mountain Highway and Liverpool Road purchased from John L. Yeardon for 25 pounds.

The Inspector's reasons for the choice of this site were as follows:

"The owner, John L. Yeardon, agrees to sell one acre, triangular in shape, with a frontage of 4 chains to Bayswater Road, at 25 pounds per acre. The land is good and under crop, the terms are not very extravagant. This site is much superior to land on the other side of the road."

In June 1901, William Chandler wrote:

"I wish to purchase the land from which the Basin School No 2329 was removed. It was formerly part of my block. I gave it to the Education Department and would like to buy it back."

In December, permission was granted for him to purchase the land (cost unknown).

1901 School Opened on Current Site

Head Teacher Paul Shugg took over the School in July 1901.

In January 1902, Shugg asked that additions be made to the attached teachers' residence which then comprised three small rooms. Margaret Shugg also made a plea by letter for additional accommodation. Plans of a proposed addition of 2 rooms were drawn up by District Architect J. B. Cohen. The estimated cost of the project was 220 pounds, but as no further applications were made by the Head Teacher, the building did not eventuate.

In 1905, Mr John L. Yeardon made application to have the fences along the road frontages renewed, as:

"...stray cattle get in and destroy the young trees and flowers, which I think is a great pity as the teachers and scholars have done good work and have got a beautiful garden, a good class of flowers and shrubs and it is well kept. Mr Gamble, the Inspector will bear me out when I say it is a credit to them."

Inspector Walter Gamble stated that a cyclone fence was urgently needed to protect the School and well-kept garden, and the application was approved.

The School was awarded a certificate for its gardens in 1909.

Early in 1910, Head Teacher William Thomas reported that a steady increase in attendance had led to overcrowding at the School. By March that year, there were 48 children on the roll, and an average attendance of 42 had been reached, so Thomas suggested that temporarily, the problem could be resolved by removing the partition between the schoolroom and the quarters, thus using the small residence. Mr Thomas did not occupy the three small rooms of the residence as he had a family of seven children.

On June 20, Building Inspector Neville reported that it would be altogether impractical to remove the wall and chimney dividing the School and quarters, as suggested by the Head Teacher, to provide additional space for classrooms. He pointed out that the buildings were in a bad state of repair and it was estimated it would cost 29 pounds 2 shillings and 6 pence for repairs which were:

"...really necessary."

Previously Boards of Advice were responsible for several schools, but in 1911 School Committees were elected for each School, with members having a more personal interest in the School.

1911 Salvation Army Proposal

In April 1911, Head Teacher William Thomas reported that a meeting of parents had been held to form a parents Committee related to The Basin State School and there was one matter of urgency which the meeting asked him to bring under the notice of the Department. Viz.

"The Salvation Army has a boy's Industrial Home and Farm in this neighbourhood in connection with which they have two schools, one about a quarter of a mile and the other about 1 mile from the above state School. The boys sent there are often badly disposed and have many bad habits and a source of anxiety to the parents whose children attend the State School."

"The Army authorities have now decided to move their School for the bigger boys to a site close to the State School. The two buildings will be about 100 yards apart and the grounds will approach too within one chain of each other. The parents regard this as being exceedingly objectionable and have asked me to bring the matter under your notice with a request that everything possible be done to prevent the erection of the Army School in such proximity to ours. A deputation of parents will probably wait on the Director or Minister of Education as soon as the Parents Committee get going, but as the Army Authorities intend beginning the erection of their School during the present (Easter) holidays I have been asked to write to you as a matter of urgency and ask that if possible, some steps may be taken to induce the Army Authorities to at least hold their proposal in abeyance until the matter can be more thoroughly gone in to."

The site of the proposed new School was north of the present State School with a frontage onto Liverpool Road.

Mr A. E. Chandler of Bayswater wrote to Mr Keast, M.L.A., and asked him to oppose the school being placed so close to the State School and stated it was the intention of several of the parents to send their children to other schools should the Salvation Army scheme be carried out.

Mr Archibald C. Chandler of Kilsyth wrote to the Hon. E. H. Cameron, M.L.A., and asked him if he would try to prevent such a shameful affair. He stated that:

"...if such a thing is allowed it will cause intense bitterness between the residents and the Salvation Army as parents are determined that their children shall not mix with such as are placed under the care of that Institution."

He described where the school was situated, then added:

"Our children from this side attend same!"

Mr S. Collier, Chairman of School Committee, called at the Department on 3.5.11, and asked that something be undertaken to induce the "Army" to build on some other portion of its land not so close to 2329. Mr H. R. Chandler, Secretary of the School Committee, also wrote to the Director of Education.

Mr Keast and Mr Cameron, in making their representations to the Minister of Education, enclosed the letters from Mr A. E. Chandler and Mr A. C. Chandler. The Department replied that:

"...it does not appear a matter in which the Department can interfere."

But they will ascertain from the Salvation Army Authorities what they propose to carry out.

On 23rd May, the Salvation Army from National Headquarters for Australia, 69 Bourke Street, Melbourne, informed the Director of Education that:

"...the proposal we have in hand merely deals with the school which has always been connected with our Bayswater Institution and of course is in no sense a Public School".

"Judging by the action of Mr Thomas, the Headmaster of The Basin School, he considers the site we had proposed as undesirable and we have endeavoured to meet his difficulties. As a matter of fact, the whole question is in abeyance as far as we are concerned, and we cannot at the moment say what will finally be done."

"The delay, however, has nothing to do with Mr Thomas' contentions, but only arose through circumstances affecting our work at Bayswater. We would like it to be quite clear that this is not the establishment of a school, but simply a change of site and of course we are most anxious that nothing should be done to cause conflict."

On 8th June, William Thomas, Head Teacher, wrote to Hon. E. H. Cameron, M.L.A., re the proposal by the Salvation Army. He stated:

"I believe the Government contributes towards the cost of the boys. If so, they have some hold over them."

On 29th August, H. R. Chandler, Secretary, School Committee, in again bringing the matter before the Director of Education stated:

"You will understand our anxiety in this matter when I tell you that already cases have occurred where these boys have molested little girls on their way home from school."

The School Committee objected to the Army's proposal and suggested that a site about a quarter of a mile away, near No.3, would not be detrimental in any way to the interests of the State School. The signatories were:

Samuel Collier, Chairman; Janet Dobson, Committee; John Collier; Ada J. Chandler; H. R. Chandler, Elizabeth Collier.

On 11th October, District Inspector W. A.

Cavanagh reported on a meeting held at The Basin to consider the question of the erection of a school for the boys attending the Reformatories established by the Salvation Army near Bayswater. He had been informed that:

"...the school is to be carried on at the No.3 Home, the place mentioned by parents as being acceptable to them. It is quarter of a mile from the State School. Happily the question has thus been amicably solved, as the Department could hardly raise any legal objections to the erection of a school anywhere on their own ground by the Army Authorities."

In 1912, a shelter shed was erected by a working bee. From a Newspaper report, June 7:

"On Saturday a working bee was held at The Basin State School, the object being to erect a shelter shed. The arrangements were in the hands of the School Committee and all the details had been so carefully thought out and provided for that, although the work began early in the afternoon yet by 5 o'clock in the evening the building was finished. Mr P. B. Chandler, an expert builder, was made working manager, and he was ably assisted by the Chairman of the Committee, Cr. S. Collier, and the correspondent, Mr H. R. Chandler. The whole affair was an object lesson in what may be done by a number of willing workers when properly organised and wisely directed. During a break in the work, refreshments were provided by the ladies of the district, the tables being presided over by Mesdames Collier, senior and junior. The thoughtfulness of the ladies was much appreciated by the workers and they were tendered hearty thanks. The building is a strong and suitable one, and will no doubt be a very useful adjunct to the school."

"Note: 5 pounds towards the cost had been promised by the Department; E. Kleinert supplied the material at cost of 5 pounds 13 Shillings and 1 pence."

1915 Additional Land

In 1913, Mr H. R. Chandler, correspondent of the School Committee, drew attention to the smallness of the school for some children in attendance. As the residence adjoining had not been used by the teacher for several years, suggested that a door be made into one of the adjoining rooms.

Schools

He also stated that the playground was too small, that it had a bad slope as a playground for children and there was no available land for an agricultural plot. He suggested that 1 acre adjoining be purchased from the Salvation Army.

Inspector J. H. Betheras reported that the matter was not urgent but needed relief could be given by allowing one of the residence rooms to be used for school purposes. The extra land should be purchased if the price is reasonable.

The earliest existing register of The Basin State School was commenced in 1913. Student No. 1 was Robert John Dobson.

In 1914, Mr H. R. Chandler, Correspondent of the School Committee, wrote to The Hon. W. S. Keast, Parliament House, Melbourne, asking him to urge upon the Minister of Education the necessity of providing extra accommodation. Mr Keast forwarded letter of 19.2.14 to the Minister of Education. The Department replied that:

"...in view of the large number of urgent works already authorised that there must be some delay in having the works carried out."

Herbert Godden, Head Teacher, advised the Department that:

"...the quarters are now vacant and are being used for cloak room, infant room and library, museum, etc."

The average attendance having reached 40, expenditure of 90 pounds was authorised towards improving lighting, ventilation, general repairs and renovating the school, following intervention in the matter by the Hon. W. S. Keast, M.L.A. All the work was finished by November 1914.

The first Inspector's report still held at the school was written by Mr I. H. Betheras in 1914:

"The grounds have been much improved since my visit last year...the School Committee is taking a lively interest..."

He reported a:

"...good supply of school requisites."

...and:

"...was pleased to see that word building is used in the teaching of spelling — the learning of disconnected words is out of date."

The School Committee's pleas for additional land as an extra play area for the children resulted in the purchase of additional land costing 50 pounds, when the adjacent block, owned by the Salvation Army was purchased in March 1915. After the purchase, an exchange of areas between the Department and the Methodist Church took place.

Mr Betheras repeated his appreciation of the improved appearance of the grounds as he:

"...used to be ashamed to pass by this school and grounds" and noted that the boys had "sold the produce of their agricultural plots for the benefit of the patriotic fund."

The present football field was added in 1915.

To raise money for the comforts of the soldiers in the first world war, the headmaster organised a concert. At the concert, the girls sang a song that began:

*"I'm a busy little cook,
With cap and apron white,
If at my work you look,
You'll find I do it right."*

Of interest from 1925, and still displayed at the school, are an Honour Roll of the 1914 – 1918 War, a clock, the registers, and a photograph of the school committee.

In 1918, Inspector J. McOwan reported:

"In Tables and Spelling more smart drill work is needed as well as constant recapitulation."

Herbert F. Godden was Head Teacher at the school from 1913 to 1918. In 1919, he moved to Talbot State School. Before coming to The Basin, he was Head Teacher at Montrose and previously at Montrose. He was presented with an engraved silver tea pot on his departure from The Basin.

Head Teacher Elisha Robertson complained of cramped conditions at the school in March 1919 stating that:

"... 40 in the one room is not fair to the children or teachers."

However, Inspector J. McOwan found that accommodation was adequate. Average attendance for March 1919 was 56; April 54; May 50; whilst there was provision for 70 children on a 12 square foot basis.

Concerning teaching, he noted that:

"...instruction was carried on actively in accordance with sound methods of teaching."

However, in 1920, District Inspector Burgess noted:

"...the teacher now in charge ... found the school in a backward state."

...and advised him to:

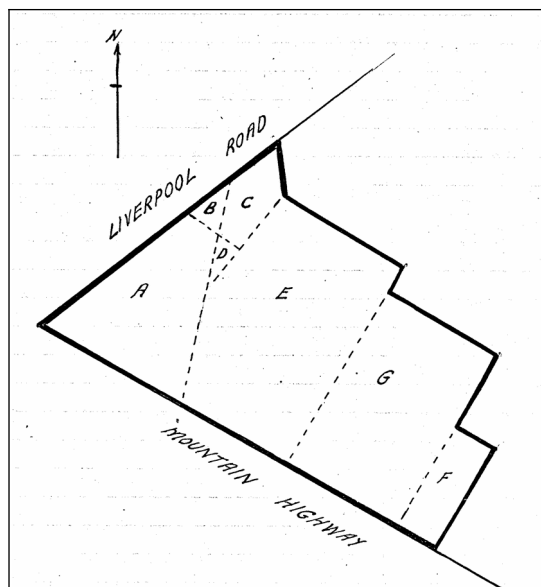

"...concentrate on English and Arithmetic mostly for the rest of the year."

A considerable increase in attendance in February 1921 necessitated the supply of 20 additional desks. Head Teacher H. Henry. Berry wrote:

"... Since Christmas, I have had many new pupils and none have left. There are now 70 pupils who attend regularly and it's likely that there will soon be more..."

Inspector Burgess reported that:

"...the Head Teacher has an easy, friendly manner. He has the children here well before Transport was still a problem. Children, often barefooted, walked, cycled or rode. Winter conditions were so bad some tots were carried to school by their mothers for distances up to three miles. Special events enjoyed then were Arbor Days with Maypole Dances, Concerts, happily arranged by Mr. Berry, “Bird Days”, and a picnic to Mordialloc by special steam train.

In 1922, District Inspector Burgess reported that:

“...attendance has been interfered with by the ravages of scarlet fever, mumps and chicken pox.”

...and directed the Head Teacher to:

“...train the children to put their dinner papers and litter into some receptacle”. He also noted that some “interesting occupation work is being done with stringy bark fibre.”

In 1923, District Inspector Henderson noted that:

“...a girl pupil has a sweet and sympathetic voice.”

...and was impressed by the Honour Roll of the 1914 – 1918 War as he mentioned it in several reports. Apparently, the Honour Roll was erected before the end of the Great War as the date for the end of war has never been added. He also reported that the pupils:

“...have a good grasp of the influence exerted by the British during the Napoleonic Wars.”

75 pounds 15 shillings and 6 pence.

In 1924, Inspector Henderson reported that:

"...boys keep the grounds free from lunch papers."

1925 New Building

Following Inspector William Henderson's second recommendation, and intervention into the matter of accommodation by the Hon. F. Groves, M.L.A. and W. Tyner, M.L.C., the erection of a new school was finally approved in September 1924. The new wooden building 43 feet x 24 feet (partitioned to form 2/21 feet 6 inches x 24 feet plus storeroom) and costing 934 pounds 11 shillings and 6 pence, was officially opened on 22nd May 1925. Mr Henderson reported that:

"...the school is beautifully situated. It would be difficult to secure a better position for a school building". However, he also noted that "the school library has become almost obsolete."

In 1927, the Committee asked for a subsidy to erect a shelter shed which was finished in June. Inspector Henderson noted that:

"...the school library contains some suitable books. To encourage the reading habit is one of the most important functions of an elementary school."

In 1929, a tennis court was constructed at the school, apparently without Departmental authority, but the Minister (Hon. H. I. Cohen, K.C., M.L.C.) officially opened it on 15th November 1929. The first tennis tournament on the new court was organised by the Mothers Club in May 1930 and was a huge success.

In 1936, eleven years after the construction of the new school, 68 pounds was spent on painting and general repairs, and the old tanks were replaced.

Average attendance at the school for June 1939, on Inspector E. A. O'Brien's visit, was 41; net enrolment 72. The Inspector noted the need for internal renovation, and repairs to the out offices. The latter, a more urgent task, was immediately attended to. Repairs to fences and painting were left until the following year, when the average attendance for October was 56, (net enrolment 79).

For years, the District Inspectors, Head Teachers and the Committee had advocated the provision at the school of a second exit to facilitate ingress and egress, particularly if a fire, but their appeals were repeatedly ignored. Finally, in April 1941, the new doorway was installed.

During the renovations carried out in August 1941, children were housed in a room at the adjacent Salvation Army Home for four days.

In applying for a new tank in May 1942, Head Teacher Thomas Reardon stressed the need for a large (800 gallons) one as:

"... About 80 children have their lunches at this school and a plentiful supply of water is necessary."

By 1943, the net enrolment having reached 94, provision of increased accommodation became a matter of urgency. H. Reardon's application for an additional room was inquired into by Inspector J.O. Archer who stated in June that:

"In 1938 there were 72 pupils. In the district there are about 20 children aged between 3 1/2 and 5 1/2 years and probably 14 will be enrolled by the beginning of next year. Five young children have been refused admission during the present term. In all likelihood, six of the present pupils will be transferred to secondary school next year. The settlement is of a permanent nature and an enrolment of between 90 and 100 will probably be maintained for some time."

In his opinion, additional accommodation of a pavilion classroom for 35 pupils was necessary.

The Minister promptly approved the provision of a standard classroom measuring 24 feet x 22 feet 6 inches, costing 699 pounds to erect, with an additional 21 pounds allowed for painting the existing building, but apart from the approval, little progress was made.

Only after several representations to the Hon. G. L. Chandler, M.L.C., and the Hon. G. H. Knox, M.L.A., by the School Committee, was any action taken. In 1946, The Basin Methodist Church was rented, pending the erection of the additional room. The leased premises were vacated on 19th July 1946, and the new premises occupied on July 22.

During his inspection, District Inspector J. O. Archer noted:

"...there is excellent activity in securing equipment: a new sewing machine, 20 kindergarten chairs, a chain measure and sporting materials... The Social Service League sent 4 pounds 10 shillings and 3 dozen eggs to the Children's Hospital and 65 packages to the Food for Britain Appeal."

Schools

In 1947, Inspector Archer commended the planting of shrubs and noted that the school had been awarded the A.N.A. Prize for the most improved grounds in the district. He also commended the provision of equipment:

"...a fine five valve wireless, electric gramophone and a dozen records, a projector and 60 films...have been obtained."

Of the pupils he wrote:

"...they express themselves very well in writing...especially in graphic vigorous style. They do not express themselves so well orally."

In 1948, District Inspector J.W. Elijah noted that:

"...new entrance gates with pergola attachments have been erected...a basketball court has been constructed."

He also stated:

"It should be placed on record how satisfactorily cooperatives the School Committee and Mothers' Club have been with the Head Teacher in building up such an excellent store of equipment for their school."

1949 Additional Land

In July 1949, the School Committee inquired into the possibility of purchasing a block of land for a teacher's residence. An offer by the Salvation Army of a ¼ acre block adjoining the grounds was considered, but the Department preferred a larger site. Hence, a one acre block, valued at £450 was purchased from the Salvation Army in June 1952.

In March 1950, The Basin community arranged a formal farewell in The Basin Progress Hall to Jack Smith, headmaster for the past 5 and a half years. He had recently been promoted to Mt Evelyn State School. His dedicated work for the school was much appreciated by the community.

In his report in 1950, Inspector J.W. Elijah noted that:

"...accommodation needs will become pressing ... a special report will be submitted". Regarding pupils' work he noted "a commendable feature of recorded work in both history and geography is the use of well executed diagrammatic sketches."

In 1951, Inspector H. A. Flinger noted that:

"...the recently constructed tennis court will be a definite asset. All in all the school is a very happy place with children and teachers striving zealously."

1953 New Classroom

While waiting for the erection of an extra classroom recommended by Inspector J. Elijah in December 1950, the Department leased the premises of The Basin Methodist Church until December 1952. A prefabricated timber classroom to house 50 infants, was occupied on 3rd February 1953.

Provision of a sick bay and storeroom requested by the Committee in February 1953 was refused, for as J. Webster, Inspector of Works stated:

"The incidence of sickness during school hours doesn't appear to be greater than in other schools of similar size and type...the existing store room is 6 feet x 4 feet ... considered ... adequate for storage of stationery..."

By June 1954, two additional tanks, drinking taps, (and a flagpole) were installed on the south-west side of the building.

In July 1954, the Public Works Department (P.W.D.) was advised by the School Committee, that electric light and power had been extended to the newly erected prefabricated classroom.

An application from the School Committee in December 1954 to build a bicycle shelter was acknowledged thus:

"If you submit to this office for prior approval, full details, plans and specifications, and quotations, consideration will be given to a subsidy of 2 pounds for 1 pound basis, maximum Departmental share — 150 pounds, towards a bicycle shelter provided that funds are available when you make application."

The application made in August 1955, was approved, but requests for the provision of a library and projection room, and an additional shelter shed were rejected claiming:

"... existing commitments will not permit (the Department) undertaking the erection at present of rooms other than class rooms."

As recommended by the Inspector of Works in 1951, painting and external renovations costing £482 and 10 shillings were finished in March

To relieve the problem of limited accommodation it became necessary once again to lease the Methodist Church premises. Inspector R. P. McLellan urged in February 1957, immediate occupation of the leased premises, for he noted:

"The present net attendance has risen sharply to 187. Accommodation at 12 sq. ft. per pupil is available for 177 pupils. Immediate steps are being taken to recommend the building of an additional classroom. Plans for the additions were finalised on October when the School Committee was informed that...a cloakroom at present being used as a staff room is to be vacated as soon as a new additional classroom has been erected. A permanent staff room will be located in the new classroom. Approval has been granted for the provision of additional hat and coat racks and these will be installed in the cloakroom as soon as it is vacated."

1958 New Buildings

The new buildings erected at a cost of 4,770 pounds were occupied on 17 February 1958. They included a 24 feet x 24 feet classroom, a 16 feet x 12 feet staff room and a 16 feet x 12 feet office. A further 65 pounds was spent on painting the structure. Committee Secretary R. Dobson drew the attention of the Department, in June 1958, to the urgent need for improved sanitary facilities at the school. Adverse reports on several schools including The Basin, appeared in the local paper in February and April 1958. Then, in May 1959, Dobson listed the following works deemed necessary:

"1. About five years ago we understood a new boundary fence along the Mountain Highway and Liverpool Road had been approved, but as yet, nothing has been done. The existing fence is a disgrace to the school and is falling down.

2. The Committee would like to draw your attention to the lack of shelter shed accommodation. There is space for only about 50 children and there are 200 pupils at the school. The shelter sheds have not been extended for over 20 years.

3. The promised extension to the existing area of asphalt has not been made with the continual increase in the number of pupils attending the school. These extensions are badly needed.

4. The drainage needs attention. The water from the new buildings constructed last year runs anywhere...

We would like to point out the urgent need to provide a new toilet block at the school, especially now that water is available. The present facilities are totally inadequate for the number of children present..."

Having received no reply to the above letter for some time, Dobson appealed to the Hon. Sir George Knox, M.L.A., in June, to intervene and expedite proceedings. In reply to his letter, the Minister explained to Sir George (in October) that he could not follow the Committee's requests, as the Government's policy was to use available funds to supply urgently needed classrooms. Septic sewerage could only be provided if a new toilet block was being built, or if no municipal sanitary service was available.

Net enrolment at the school for July 1959 was 245. Additions including a classroom and staff room were finished in November. Approval was given in November 1960 for 223 pounds to be spent on re-blocking the floor of Room 2 and external painting.

Under Head Teacher Mr. Koetsveld, sport flourished with The Basin children playing a prominent part in local meetings and creating new records. Children travelled by bus and grounds were enlarged by the removal of the church. The school by this time had eight classrooms, graded and sealed areas, and population of about 340 children.

1962 New Buildings

After years of pressure exerted by the Committee, Mothers' Club, Shire of Fern Tree Gully, the Minister of Agriculture (G. L. Chandler) and others, regarding the sanitary facilities, the Minister issued the following statement:

"...in accordance with the recent announcement by the Hon. the Premier, the P.W.D. Is being asked to submit a scheme for septic sewerage at The Basin school. The matter will be given further consideration when the scheme is to hand from that Department..."

The letter was dated 5th May 1961.

Schools

Installation of a new out office block, fire service, and septic tank was carried out in July 1962 at a cost of 4,838 pounds.

Two new light timber classrooms, each 24 feet x 24 feet and a 24 feet x 8 feet storeroom, were added to the school in October 1962.

In 1963, District Inspector R. H. Brown reported that:

"...an area has been established for items of permanent play apparatus. This section has been boxed and filled with sand to provide very good facilities for younger pupils."

With an enrolment of 315, District Inspector L. H. Blake reported in 1964 that:

"...present accommodation — 8 classrooms — is sufficient."

He found the Grade 5 pupils:

"...obviously entranced with their dramatic work" and that "many children — especially in Grades 1 and 2 have made exceptionally good progress in reading."

Reticulated water supply was connected during 1964, and a special committee devised an overall plan for grounds improvements.

A television set and a typewriter were purchased during 1965.

With an enrolment of 346 in 1966, accommodation was insufficient, and a small group of Grade 4 children was taught in the staff room. Inspector Blake reported the tone and discipline of the school as:

"excellent."

...and commended the:

"delightful and educationally valuable activities period for beginners."

By 1967, an additional room had been added and a basketball court had been constructed to the stage of levelling. The garden area near the present canteen was planted with camellias and rhododendrons donated by Mr J. Chandler of Como Nurseries, and gas heating was installed throughout the school.

1968 First Principal

In 1968, the school had its first Principal appointed, Mr. Roy White, due to a reclassification of the school. The opening of Boronia Heights Primary School that year meant that although the school population declined in numbers, with enrolment dropping to 267, an improved staffing provision meant that smaller class sizes could be established. The Mothers' Club began operating a daily canteen.

In 1971, District Inspector H. Hobbs:

"...found this to be a most interesting school."

He was particularly impressed with:

"...the sincere regard for all round personality development of the pupils."

...and the conscious effort of staff to preserve:

"...a close personal attachment towards the children."

He also noted that several parents had contacted him:

"...to express their pride in the school and their appreciation of the work of the principal and staff."

Under the next Principal, Mr. John Kett, affectionately known as "Jack", the school was praised for its:

"...sincere regard for all round personality development of the Pupils."

1972 Library Built

Evidence of community support was shown in 1972, when the library was built with an Education Department grant of $7000, and a local contribution of $4000. During the year two additional classrooms were built, and a staff room modified at a total cost of $17,000.

1972 Yumbunga Camp Established

In November 1972, children and teachers from The Basin were the first group to use the newly established Ferntree Gully District Camp at Yumbunga. Lake Eppalock. Principal Jack Kett and Committee members Kevin Gale and Max White represented the school on the Management Committee which brought the camp into existence and many staff members and parents have been involved in the management and improvement of the camp since then. Twenty-seven schools in the Fern Tree Gully Electorate financed the building of the camp and these schools used the camp throughout the year.

Mrs Edna Thoren of The Basin Primary School canteen and her husband Frank became the camp's first manageress and caretaker. Mrs Thoren ran the school tuck shop for 25 years up until 1972 when they left to manage the camp. After the Thoren's left Eppalock, two other couples from The Basin have been managers.

By 1975, there were 460 children attending the school and 13 classrooms were in use.

1976 Art Craft Room

The art craft room, built at a cost of $29,000, was brought into use in 1976.

In this year School Committees were replaced by School Councils whose duties include tendering advice to the Principal and Staff regarding the general educational policy of the school and ensuring that all money received by the Council is spent for proper purposes. Councils are required to ensure that buildings and grounds are kept in good condition and may make recommendations regarding improvements and alterations. The Council at The Basin Primary School consisted of 8 members elected by parents and 4 teachers elected by teachers, all of whom held office for two years; the Principal and 2 members nominated annually by the Mothers' Club. Two other members may be appointed by Council for a term of up to two years.

1977 Enrolment Peaks

In 1977, the school enrolment was 497 and five portable classrooms were on site to accommodate the students and classes. Mr. Neville Heffernan was Principal and will be remembered for the work he undertook to clean up The Basin school by arranging to replace the inadequate toilet facilities with modern covered ones. He dealt diplomatically with the Salvation Army and the Education Department to achieve a deal over disputed land between The Salvation Army Special school and The Basin school.

Schools

The school was given permission to use the gym in the Salvation Army Special School and barbed wire fences and dairy cows made a trip over to use the gym a most interesting one.

In 1978, after the new toilet block was finished, District Inspector L. McMahon noted little evidence of progress in grounds improvements. During his review he met with members of the school community and discussed procedures which assisted in this regard.

In 1979, the school began a focus on its environment. The oval was replanted and sown, an adventure playground was constructed, the car park was graded and gravelled, a barbecue area was planted and paved, much planting and site works were undertaken enabling the school to win environmental awards from the Australian Natives Association.

Four well known district names were chosen for house teams at the school. These were “Miller”, “Doongalla”, “Ferndale” and “Chandler”. The Eastern Rosella was also chosen for the school emblem.

Painting and renovations were finished early in 1980, and further adventure playground equipment was erected. The unused Salvation Army Special School buildings were added to The Basin Primary school and portable classrooms were removed from the main site. Negotiations were under way to purchase the land between the two sets of buildings and a netball court was constructed.

1979 House Teams Chosen

In 1974, four well known district names were chosen for House Teams. These were Miller, Doongalla, Ferndale and Chandler.

1980 Centenary

1980 was a “BIG” year for the school, celebrating its Centenary in fine fashion, with many events that involved all segments of the school community. Painting and renovations were finished, further adventure playground equipment was installed, the now unused Basin Boys Home Special School buildings were added to the school buildings and portable classrooms were removed from the main site. Negotiations were well under way to purchase the land between the two sets of buildings and a netball court was constructed. Further information on the Centenary celebrations are detailed in the Events chapter.

The then Principal, Ron Fry lead a team of parents, teachers and students who believed strongly in the identity of their school, its environment and special nature. During his period at the school his services were required often by the Regional Office of the Ministry of Education and the school was run in his absence by Don Brown, the Vice-Principal, a local identity.

In 1984, Ian Green became principal and brought energy and character to the school. He was instrumental in bringing together all the strengths within the school community to ensure that the school maintained a modern yet strong learning environment for its students. He reorganised working bees to cope with the enormous task of maintaining the largest primary school grounds in Melbourne. Ian restructured the internal and external car park and pick up areas to ensure safe delivery and pick up of students by a highly mobile school community. He negotiated for the school to gain ownership of an adjacent department building (previously used as a Teachers Residence), and negotiated to transfer the property to Knox Council to enable the establishment of The Basin Community House.

1985 Victoria's 150th Year Celebrations

In 1985, the school was involved in Victoria's 150th year celebrations. A weather station was constructed and near the station a time capsule was embedded in concrete and buried. It contains a piece of work from every child at the school, video and audio tapes, school council minutes of the period, photographs and school paraphernalia.

The capsule was due to be recovered and opened in 2035. However, in 2018, a gymnasium with a full size basketball court was erected where the time capsule was located. It was recovered and in 2021 the capsule is stored in the school office and is due to be opened in 2035.

1985 Recycle Shop

The school opened a “Recycle Shop” in 1985 in a small shop beside The Basin post office. Garments were received by the shop and sold at a price set by the owner. The school received a proportion of the selling price. It operated as a fundraising effort for the school and to help the local community. The shop was manned by volunteers from the local community and parents from the school.

After 4 successful years of operation, the shop closed in 1989 due to difficulties in manning it.

The school continued to develop and grow. With the emphasis on local development of school policies and programmes, the school had to identify the significant qualities that make The Basin individual in its nature and cater for these special qualities.

1989 Major Building Upgrade

Ian Green was instrumental in the design of a Master Plan that would enable the school to grow in an organised way, rather than the improvised compromises that so often affect the development of schools. This led on to a major upgrade of the administrative section of the School in 1989. Anne Tierney took over from Ian Green in 1993.

1995 New Classrooms

In 1995, four classrooms were placed on the land between the existing “Junior” and “Senior” buildings. The classrooms were from a school which had closed down. The Department relocated the classrooms and refurbished them to “connect” the two school buildings. The school now had 5 permanent buildings, unlike many schools which have only one permanent and several portables.

In the late 1990s, the school adopted a policy of compulsory uniforms, but the older children were reluctant to adopt the uniform. In 2000, Linda Cooney took over from Anne Tierney, and she led a push to enforce the compulsory uniform. With the provision of up to date uniform options including bomber jackets, divided skirts and gym skirts, all children were happy to wear it with pride. In summer terms, school hats also became compulsory outside. Passers-by now see neat and trendy children playing in the extensive school grounds.

The school had full time Physical Education programs for many years and excelled in sporting events, regularly beating much bigger schools at District and State level, in Netball, Football, Athletics and Bat Tennis.

In 2001, the school became part of a State research project, called Science in Schools, involving students academically in several Science studies. The project was a Global Classroom project using the Internet, researching and comparing environmental issues with a school in New Zealand. The students used computers daily, having “epals” across the world and were involved in teleconferencing.

2002 Queens Golden Jubilee

In 2002, the school was selected to be Australia’s only contributor to the Queen’s Golden Jubilee celebrations, through a commissioned Art Project, the Rainbow of Wishes sculpture. This sculpture has the wishes of children from one school from every Commonwealth country incorporated into the sculpture. So now the children from The Basin Primary School are an integral part of Commonwealth history!

One of the school’s greatest strengths has always been community involvement — and the school continued to promote this by encouraging local organisations to make full use of grounds. In 2002, the school was home to The Basin Brownies, The Basin Wildcats Basketball Club, as well as a martial arts club, callisthenics groups and a Dog Training school.

The school is fortunate to have one of the largest playgrounds in the State with large ancient oak trees shading many of the school buildings. Unfortunately, in 2002, an arborist’s report found some of these trees diseased, and they were removed.

In 2005, the school was the first Knox School to be accredited with the Performance and Development Culture award.

2007 General Improvements

In 2007, the school was fortunate to have many building and grounds work improvements. Retaining walls, extensive planting along the fence lines, installation of bollards, removal of dangerous trees, refurbishment of the Prep toilets, new courtyard and a fantastic new mural in the courtyard. Many grant applications were successful: $535,000 for classrooms, $50,000 water grant, a chaplaincy grant for 2008, $70,000 grant for asphaltting and further toilet works, Fruit for Friday $1,600 each semester until 2011.

2009 Major Building Upgrades

In 2009, the school built a new multipurpose room using a Federal grant of $150,000 from the investing in schools grant. In that year, the school also received $400,000 as part of the State Governments Better Schools grant which allowed the school to increase the size of 10 classrooms and completely refurbish them all.

In 2010, the school produced its first Christmas Carol CD. Each grade professionally recorded one song with bonus tracks performed by the school choir.

In 2011, a new modern classroom building was constructed on site as part of the Building the Educational Revolution (BER) program.

The enrolment continued to increase with 300 students in 2011 — up 50 from two years ago. The school also introduced Music/Performing Arts as a specialist teaching area with whole school concerts being held biannually. In the last 2 years the dance teams made the state finals in the prestigious Wakakirri Arts competitions with the students being awarded the “Best School in Public” award.

The rich sporting history continued with success at a District level. As of 2011 the school was District Champions in Athletics and Cross Country coming first in 8 consecutive years. Also, 6 of 8 district champions in Swimming and second twice. This success commenced in 2005. The students were also successful in many team events winning at district, regional and state levels.

2018 Major Building Upgrades

In 2017, a $7.8 million upgrade was announced. It included a new gymnasium with full-size basketball court, a refurbishment of ageing classroom buildings, a rebuild of the administration building, carpark asphaltting, oval works and new lighting.

Works were finished in mid 2018 and catered for a projected enrolment of 570 students in 2018.

Boronia Heights College

The Need for a New School

The late 1960s and early 1970s was a time of great change in the newly proclaimed City of Knox. Large tracts of land, formerly predominantly orchards and market gardens, were subdivided and transformed into housing estates, eagerly snapped up by baby boomers with young families looking to attain the “Australian Dream” of home-ownership.

Knox was growing rapidly; the average annual rate of population growth in Knox between the 1966 and 1971 censuses was 9.3%. House and land packages were relatively cheap in the fledgling outer Eastern suburbs, however, the comprehensive infrastructure of services associated with the older inner suburbs had not yet been established.

The large and rapid population rise led to an increased need for schools in the area. Several primary schools and a new technical and high school were built in the mid to late 1960s to accommodate the burgeoning student population. Demand continued to outstrip supply, however, and local schools were soon lobbying for more services.

In 1970, FA Mitchell, Principal of Knox Technical School, for the Knox Technical School

The Hanging Shoe Mystery

Since 1983, one or more pairs of shoes have been hanging from power lines in Mountain Highway outside The Basin Primary School.

Legend has it that the shoes first appeared in 1983 when “Justin” (aged 10) was attacked by bullies who stole his sneakers and threw them over the power lines.

Whenever the shoes fall off, or the power company removes them, another pair quickly reappears. It seems that there will always be a pair of shoes hanging from these power lines.

Schools

Advisory Council, wrote to the then member for Scoresby, Geoff Hayes, regarding the “phenomenal” expected enrolment increases. Mitchell enclosed with this letter a case proposing that a new technical school be opened in 1971 in Boronia. The case contained statistics which showed an increase in projected enrolments over all the next seven years except one and pointed out that places at existing high and technical schools fell short of the amount students who required placement. The case also contained a breakdown of projected enrolments based on proportional estimates for each post primary school; the only one expected to exceed capacity for the next three years was Knox Technical School. Knox was already using the sick bay, a staff room and the model office as classrooms. The Principal was concerned that use of practical classrooms would be prohibitive with larger numbers of students. This concern would have been because technical school classrooms, and therefore class sizes, were smaller than high school classrooms.

The Advisory Council thus saw the provision of another technical school as “priority one”.

The rationale for establishing a technical school rather than a high school in Boronia was simply that there was already a high school in Boronia and it was then common practice to establish technical schools where there were none in the area. Geoff Hayes duly made representation to the then Minister of Education, L H S Thompson, who acknowledged student pressure facing Knox Technical School and advised that, while he was aware:

“...that additional facilities appear to warrant consideration in the near future...”

The Basin Primary School Mower Saga

A rideon mower purchased by the school in 1990 to enable the school community to cut the grass of the large school grounds was much sought after by thieves.

Over several years, the mower was stolen four times but was recovered each time. One time the mower was recovered from Baimsdale after the Police traced the serial number on the motor.

Twice thieves were caught redhanded by a Police helicopter and Police vehicles whilst removing the mower from the school grounds. Another time thieves had removed the mower from its storage area but were disturbed and fled the scene.

He could not advise when an additional school would be provided.

The District Inspector of Schools then, MA Buchanan, also asked for the provision of a coeducational technical school at Boronia for the start of the 1971 school year. A. L. Harris, Acting Staff Inspector for the Eastern Division Placement Committee also made the request. It was, however, to be over two years before this school was established.

Establishment

In 1972, the Victorian Education Department purchased just over 10 acres of land, bordered by Forest, Mount View and Harcourt Roads and Paisley Avenue, from Donald and Laurence Maguire, both of Boronia, who were settling their father's (John Maguire) estate. An additional 5 acres adjoining this land was purchased in 1973 from J P Vincent Pty. Ltd and T C Porter Pty. Ltd. A further 4 acres was purchased in 1975 from J O G and A E Johnson, bringing the total area of the site to over 19 acres, or over 8 hectares. The Education Department paid a total of $129,500 to secure land for the Boronia Technical School site.

Boronia Technical School opened its doors in February 1973, with a student body of 163 students, 13 teaching and 4 non teaching staff. Ken Baldwin was the founding Principal. From the outset, the school was set apart from its contemporaries, both physically and in its philosophy that:

“...education should concern itself with areas outside of traditional schooling...”

The general classrooms were based on the “open classroom” design model. There were no walls between classrooms; rooms were sectioned using fabric or removable cardboard concertina partitions. This particular “experiment” was not successful, mainly due to the noise levels associated with running several classes in such an open space, and partition walls were erected by the mid 1980s.

In its first year of operation, the school offered a core curriculum to students where everyone took the same subjects.

Late in 1973, the school introduced a core and elective system, where students followed a common year level core but chose their own electives. At that time, electives were an unusual offering and students took time to adapt to the new system. It was only the second school in Victoria to offer such choice. Even as late as 2003, the core and elective system still operated progressively from year 8 and underpinned the school's early philosophy of catering to individual student needs by offering a range of subjects in which students are interested.

Early Conditions

The early days of the school saw a sea of mud and dust. Early photographs show the state of the grounds with its oval as a rutted expanse of mud plain, and truck tracks creating massive welts through the slush of the play area. In an article published in the Free Press of 2nd July 1974, the headline reads:

"School in a Frenzy: Portables on Barren Land."

...and continues...

"It was as if the department was playing a dirty joke on them... [by placing them on]... a site that was either a dust bowl or mudpie, depending on the weather."

In State Parliament the question was asked:

"Is it true that a bulldozer is submerged in the pool of mud that is Boronia Technical School's oval?"

The original buildings consisted of amenities building (incomplete) and four portables – in halves. The amenities building contained the boiler room, toilets, canteen, music room (used for PE) and a sick room (used as an Office). The Library was in the canteen delivery area. Early classes were rostered with girls and boys attending on alternate days until the amenities building was finished.

James Griffiths' School Promise

In 1924, when the erection of the "second" Primary School was approved, James Griffith promised that at the opening of the new school he would present all children enrolled at the school with a mint condition one shilling coin.

Unfortunately, James Griffith was killed at a tragic accident at the Bayswater railway crossing shortly before the opening of the new school in May 1925.

James' brother John undertook to make the presentation on his behalf. However, the children did not receive a mint condition coin, much to their disappointment. Instead they each received a used one shilling coin.

In 1974, six more portable classrooms arrived but had no drainage, water, heat or other facilities. The Humanities Building was finished, but students had to place their shoes in cabinets outside the building to keep the mud outside. The Home Economics and Science block was finished in 1975 and construction started on the Trades/Maths blocks. Home Economics was slow to take off as most of the ovens were gas — which hadn't been connected to school yet!

No additional construction occurred after 1975 for 10 years and the school stood half built, surrounded by portable classrooms until 1985 when building of the final stage commenced.

Mini Schools

The establishment of a mini school structure at Boronia Technical School was a staff led innovation. It was introduced in mid 1974 and was designed to preserve some unique benefits of working in a small group.

The mini schools were originally named A, B and C. In 1975, a fourth mini school, D, was formed, through a division of A school, and in 1977 all staff were divided equally into the four mini schools. A fifth mini school, E, operated in the early 1980s in portables near the driveway entrance. Mini school coordinators were elected by members of the mini school: they were to be "representative of, and responsible to, their particular mini school". Each mini school was vertically structured to year 11 (technical schools only went to year 11) and operated in a specific wing and form home rooms were located within that wing. Also, each mini school adopted its own philosophy of teaching, where subject areas and curriculum were developed within mini schools operating separate timetables, and its own behavioural approach under the umbrella of school wide expectations. Decisions were reached cooperatively at weekly meetings and mini schools were encouraged to develop individually and therefore create alternatives for students, staff and parents to experience different educational approaches. Each mini school used its own philosophy (below) to emphasise the relationships sought, to draw attention to the focus of its courses and thereby distinguish one mini school from the other. Mini schools openly competed for enrolments and students chose which mini school they wished to participate in based on this information.

Mini School Philosophies

Establishment and consolidation of the mini school structure can be seen to be a product of the significant social and political changes which occurred in the 1960s and 1970s. Baby boomers grew up and began to challenge existing institutions, including the way children were being educated. This period was a time of societal reconstruction, particularly regarding the beginning of the renegotiation of the traditional division of labour and the way this impacted on other community expectations such as work and leisure. The “grassroots” concept of education, the belief that local schools were best placed to develop their own curricula according to the needs of their specific communities, and thereby ensure that education was more meaningful and relevant to its students, gained support.

Curriculum restraints externally imposed by the Education Department were relaxed in the 1970s, enabling teachers to develop their own courses of study. The only constraints were imposed by the community and the prescribed knowledge required to pass external examinations at senior secondary school. New ways of teaching, particularly in sciences and new technologies, emerged. Also, many young teachers of this era were influenced by the radical thought and experimentation in education such as that expounded in books by Ivan Illich and Postman and Weingartner. For many, teaching was a political activity and the mini school system was an effective way of offering a combination of traditional and more radical ideas in education. A major reason why this system flourished is because, as a technical school its educational focus was on technology. For many students, external exams were irrelevant, and staff and students were not confined to teach and learn merely to pass exams.

Mini school A, in 2003 East saw itself as the more traditional school. As opposed to the other mini schools, it had a more structured timetable, and more “formal” classes. However, informal and friendly staff relationships were encouraged.

Mini school B, in 2003 North was concerned with the individual development of students and provided greater opportunity for choice within the timetable, which encouraged self directed education. It offered a wide variety of social learning experiences and encouraged development of responsible social relationships.

Mini school C, in 2003 West from the basis of very close well-developed homegroup structures, where teachers progressed with their group, mini school C aimed to provide a secure, friendly, working environment in which each person was encouraged to reach their potential. Great emphasis was placed on the development of respect and critical awareness.

Mini school D, formerly South, in 2003 Senior was a heterogeneous group of teachers who worked for friendly and happy relationships with students using many teaching styles. Teachers aimed to develop basic skills and provided a wide range of intellectual and manual pursuits. Every effort was made to foster enjoyment and interest in students’ work.

Changes to Mini School Structure

The mini school system changed in the early to mid 1980s to that of a predominantly pastoral care role concentrating on student welfare, discipline and learning, as changes to teachers’ career structures occurred. This meant that mini school leaders could no longer be elected; teachers who held responsibility positions gained by merit filled these roles. Also, the reintroduction of centrally mandated core curriculum frameworks, a forerunner to the Victorian Certificate of Education (VCE), facilitated the merging of mini school philosophies to a single, whole school approach. The introduction of year 12 at the school in the mid 1980s led to the creation of years 11 and 12 senior mini school, known first as South and from 1993 as Senior. The aim was to foster an “adult” learning environment by giving students greater responsibility and by being more flexible towards welfare and discipline issues. South became an additional year 7 to 10 mini school.

The School Matures

Night classes were introduced to the public in 1976. In that year, students took part in a community programme where they built a chair and playground equipment for disabled children.

There were also units on Social Work Investigations and other community projects. A scale model of a fully furnished house was built for Fire Prevention week demonstrating various faults that cause houses to burn.

The beginning of multi marathons was seen in 1977 with the first Cook-a-thon / Dance-a-thon / Sit-a-thon over a twenty-four-hour period. Students also took part in a sixteen-kilometre walk through the Dandenong Ranges in 1979 to raise money for charity and the school. Committees of students were formed to decide where the funds were to be placed.

In 1983, Mrs. Prue Hewett, who was Senior Mistress, took over as Principal from Mr Ken Baldwin, who retired.

Slowly the school grew to fruition, with the construction of the Gym/Music/Drama complex, finished in 1987, plus a new Library and Auto area. All of this was a long, long way from the beautiful grounds that the school eventually exhibited. The building upgrade allowed the school to restructure its curriculum, which became centralised, and to change its “technical” image to that of a comprehensive secondary school.

The mini school structure was maintained but rearranged into three junior, years 7 – 10 schools and one senior, year 11 and 12 school.

The school changed its name to Boronia Heights Secondary College in 1990 in response to the Education Department’s structural reforms, which amalgamated high and technical schools. The mini school system was adapted to incorporate these structural changes to enable the school to offer a comprehensive curriculum at all year levels. In 2003, the College maintained this system and was one of only a few schools in Victoria operating based on this model of mini schools.

West mini School continued the multi marathon tradition in 1990 with its Dance-a-thon, Games-a-thon, Wake-a-thon, Silence-a-thon to raise money for equipment for the Mini school. Other Mini schools also held various fundraising efforts throughout the year.

Awareness of environmental issues concerned students in 1990 and their thoughts and work were brought to community attention. Various charities received small amounts of money through the efforts of Boronia Heights students.

In 1991, the school increased its offering of electives, still attempting to meet the individual needs and requirements of students. Society is in the technological age and many of the electives were designed with this in mind.

In 1993, Arthur Nilsson, took over as Principal from Mrs Prue Hewitt.

A major refurbishment in 1996 saw the building of a new science complex and 3 new multipurpose tennis/netball courts next to the gymnasium. Also, the library was extended to include a senior study area.

In the latter half of the 1990s, provision of learning technologies was substantially increased. The senior school gained 3 fully networked computer rooms, the library gained a full class set of networked computers and one room in each junior school gained 12 computers.

In 2000, Gray Ryan took over as Principal from Arthur Nilsson.

Boronia Heights Secondary College became Boronia Heights College in January 2002. It was no longer a technical school. Uniforms and surnames for teachers were introduced and more academic curriculum offered.

In 2002, two new general purpose classrooms were created out of an old sheet metal room and adjoining storeroom. A substantial maintenance grant was also provided for painting and flooring of the school.

In September 1976, Anthony Lamb (later to become a State member of Parliament) conducted a survey of the parents and students to find out whether Boronia Technical School served the needs of the community. His findings from the survey included the following:

“The high degree of satisfaction with the school held by parents and particularly by the students indicates that the mini school approach offers a wide range of philosophies which caters for the local population which desires a technical education... Boronia Technical School is making a contribution... by providing a form of comprehensive schooling which... will provide a departure point for further education and employment which is acceptable to the general community it serves”.

Boronia Heights College maintained these attributes to until it was closed. From its muddy, unfinished, yet auspicious beginning, Boronia Heights College grew into a school of which the wider community and its students could be proud.

Schools

Closure

Planning for an amalgamation between Boronia Heights College, Boronia Primary School and the Allandale Kindergarten commenced in 2010 with the view to creating "Boronia K — 12 College" on a new site in Boronia.

Construction of Boronia K — 12 College commenced in 2011 and Boronia Heights College officially closed in 2014. Buildings and some contents were abandoned and became targets for vandalism with many complaints from neighbours.

In 2017, the buildings were demolished. Plans for development of the site included provision for public housing. Locals argued for retention of some bush areas due to its unique flora and fauna.

In 2018, the State Government revealed plans to rezone the 8ha site as neighbourhood residential. The site was sold to a developer at a discounted rate in exchange for including social housing. 2.6ha of the land was protected under planning controls to stop the developer destroying "important habitat zones" and "established trees".

St. Bernadette’s Roman Catholic Primary School

St. Bernadette’s Primary School is in Mountain Highway, The Basin. The School site consists of 6 acres of land purchased from Mr Forecast for $46,000 in 1974. Mr Forecast was well known in the district as a ham radio operator. The land included a residence that was demolished before building the School. The site was chosen because it was the only land available around of a suitable size. The site was intended to be used primarily as a school site, but consideration was also given to building a parish centre.

Planning for the organisation of a primary school commenced in 1982 with the appointment of a Principal and staff and inaugural meetings of staff and parents. In 1983 the school commenced operation, with classes Prep to Grade 6, in the grounds of St. Joseph’s School, Boronia, using portable classrooms and “spare rooms” at the back of St. Joseph’s Church.

the first year under the guidance of Father John Cross, Principal Sr Frances Henderson and staff Felicity Weeks, Maria McIntyre, Gerry Lane, Sandra Dyck, Sue Gearon, Liz Murray, Thelma Dawson, Mary Stapleton and Maria Phieler.

The school buildings at The Basin were finished and opened in September 1983. Enrolment grew to 335 in 1992, and by then the school was well established with a range of up to date facilities including a gymnasium, computerised library, and playground equipment. Also, the school offered music tuition and participated in local basketball competitions several community oriented activities.

In 1997, a major new addition to the school buildings was finished in the form of St. Bernadette's Community Hall. Sunday 6th April 1997 was the official opening with a public open mass at 11.00 followed by an official ribbon cutting ceremony.

The hall is fully carpeted with a seating capacity of about 350, raised presentation platform, foyer, public address system, projector screen, kitchen and offstreet parking. To help in raising money for the purchase of chairs for the hall, an active fundraising committee used the idea of "sponsoring a chair". Donations towards the purchase of a chair were acknowledged on a small plaque on the back of the chair.

The school shared resources and ideas with Boronia Heights College (in 2021 closed), child care centres, and The Basin Community House. The school buildings have been used as a polling centre for several State and Federal elections. Over the years, the school has been involved in fund-raising events for William Angliss Hospital and Legacy and have participated in Anzac Day ceremonies and the Town Crier competition.

The school has become, in a short time, a valuable addition to the older educational and social institutions in The Basin.

Christadelphian Heritage College

The Christadelphian community established this school on the site of Clevedon Conference centre opening in 2010. The school was established to enable children to learn in an environment that supports devotion to God and Biblical wisdom.

In the early 2000s the site was purchased by a company. For a while the site was used for cooking classes. In 2009, the site was leased to the Christadelphian Society. With the help of church members various improvements to the grounds and extensive renovations to existing buildings were made. The grounds were improved by a new playground, gardens, extended lawns, vegetable garden and chicken coop.

Building exteriors and floor plans were professionally redesigned to fit the identity and needs of a new college. Classrooms are modern, well-equipped, filled with natural light and are ideal indoor learning environments. Also, next to the new classrooms, offices, and amenities is a library and large kitchen used for cooking lessons.

Kindergartens

The Basin Pre-School Kindergarten

In April 1956, The Basin Progress Association called a public meeting with the view to the establishment of a kindergarten. A well attended meeting thereupon elected a committee, with Mrs. Fergus Chandler as President, and Mrs. R. Gair as Secretary. Committee members included Mesdames Turner, Petrie, Shanks, and Spry and Messrs. Wallace, Petrie and Chandler.

In October 1956, a play centre was opened in temporary quarters at The Basin Progress Hall, under the leadership of Mrs. Petty. The following year Miss West, a trained play leader, was appointed, and this entitled the committee to a Government subsidy. The committee was enlarged by the inclusion of Mrs. Tweedale, Mrs. Sadler, Mrs. Shirley Brewer, Mrs. Watson, Mrs. Noone, Mrs. Thilby, Miss Marshall, and Mrs. McKinnon.

The need for a permanent building was evident and the appropriate site seemed to be the land next to the Health Centre in Forest Road, which had been donated by Mr. W. J. Wallis to the Council in 1953 for such a purpose. An application to the Council for the concept of a Kindergarten was successful and plans were drawn up by Messrs. Wallace, Chandler, and Petrie. A sustained fundraising effort followed and by October 1957 enough funds were in hand to entitle the committee to a capital grant of 2,275 pounds. Ferntree Gully Council added 100. A tender from Mr. Brian Foster was accepted and the kindergarten was finished in June 1958, for a cost of 3,700 pounds including 500 pounds for equipment.

The charming and modern building was opened by Sir George Knox on the 13 September 1958. Mrs. Chandler and her Committee were congratulated by the director of Maternal & Infant Welfare Dr. Meredith on their achievement of finishing their goal in 2½ years — one of the most rapidly built kindergartens in Victoria.

In the next 3 years, during which Cr. Guy Turner acted as Treasurer, the kindergarten was freed of debt, partly due to an increased subsidy, upon the appointment of a fully qualified kindergarten teacher Mrs. LeRoy.

Since the Kindergarten was finished and operation begun, there have seen some changes in structure. An office has been constructed at the front of the building and a “multipurpose” room was put onto the rear of the building. This room is used with the children, for meetings and parent gettogethers.

In 1967, the Shire of Knox allocated a portion of land at the rear of the Kindergarten to be used as a playground. The land had originally been leased to the Basin Scout Group. Reconstruction of the playground was planned and carried out in 1987, largely through the efforts of Mr. & Mrs. Robert Henry and an enthusiastic band of parents. A storage shed for outdoor equipment, pathways and ramps from the rear of the building were acquired and financed largely through the efforts of the then local Ward Councillor, Mr. Peter Maley, from Knox Council grants.

For many years, the Kindergarten was fortunate in having Mrs. Esther Bird come regularly to play the piano. This has given the children attending a wide range of musical activities to enjoy.

The Office of Pre-School and Child Care and more locally the City of Knox, take responsibility for major maintenance and administration of the Kindergarten. Annually elected Management Committees are given the task of everyday running and upkeep. Largely due to these groups there has been a smooth running of internal matters over the years.

Fundraising Committees have been enthusiastic over the years in their efforts to raise extra funds to purchase new, and update old equipment, for the use and benefit of the children attending. In recent years they have run most successful fairs raising money for this purpose. Some major leaders of these Committees have been Mr. Randall Robinson, Mr. Stan Ellison, Mr. Peter Maley, Mr. Bill McCallum, Mr. Gordon Wright and Mrs. Val Henry.

The Kindergarten does have some financial help in the form of a maintenance grant from State Government funds. This is passed on to the committee through the City of Knox. The major financial burden of running the Pre-School is left up to the Centre. Monies are raised through fees paid by parents and fundraising efforts held throughout the year.

Over the years the population of The Basin grew to a point where the Kinder started a third group of children; these children attended twice a week bringing the full enrolment to 72. Because two new kindergartens were built in the approximate area, these numbers dwindled and in 1990 this third group ceased to operate.

In 1990, Knox Council resolved to rezone land in Church Street on The Triangle as a potential site for a new Pre-School and to sell the site and building in Forest Road. The decision was based on safety issues, design inadequacies and the cost of redeveloping the existing building.

In 1993, a detailed Council assessment of the Pre-School revealed that enrolments had declined since 1990, projected enrolments predicted decline, the building had many design inadequacies and the estimated cost for alterations to meet required standards would be $180,000. Council recommended that the Kindergarten be closed, and the children be relocated to other Kindergartens. Reduced State Government funding for Kindergartens also contributed to the Council rationalising Kindergartens in the City of Knox.

On hearing of this decision, the Pre-School committee began an intensive campaign of lobbying Councillors, consulting with community members, public protests, press lobbying and arranging public meetings. One public meeting was attended by over 150 people. Community response was overwhelming. Two Pre-School committee members were prominent in the fight to keep The Basin Pre-School — Ann Stevens and Elizabeth Clissold.

After extensive negotiations with Council, an agreement was reached whereby the Pre-School could remain open if the required renovations could be arranged with the help of the local community. Council agreed to help by partly funding the renovations.

Over the Christmas period of 1993, a team of volunteers led by local builder Malcolm Stevens, finished the required renovations at a cost of $15,000. Community support was overwhelming with labour, material and monetary donations. Term 1 1994 saw the Pre-School open for one group of 30 children.

During 1994 and 1995, Council further enhanced the building with the addition of a pergola and the removal of a concrete driveway.

The Kinder commenced having groups of three year old children attending the recently formed Basin 3 year old Playgroup. This group was formed as a separate body to the Kindergarten; both groups working closely to provide a valuable facility. It meant that the Centre is used by children to its utmost during the week.

Some longer serving members of staff have been Mrs. Norma Batty and Mrs. Jan Barge (Assistants), Mrs. Judy Ledger (Parttime Teacher).

In 1998, Mrs. Vida Kesting was presented with a gold watch in recognition of her 25 years of service as the Director of The Basin Pre-School. In this role she has played a significant part in the lives of many children living in the area. Vida has had an excellent liaison with parents, and over the years has shown her dedication through attendance at working bees, social and fundraising functions organised by the various Committees. The countless children and parents who regularly returned to the Pre-school to say "hello" is testimony of the deep affection they felt for Vida.

It is felt that the major achievement of the Kindergarten has been the ability to offer to the pre-schoolers of the area a happy place to spend the year before their schooling. It has also given the parents support when needed.

The Basin has a well-equipped Centre due to the efforts of the local community and it is hoped that this will continue well into the future.

The Goodwin Estate Kindergarten

During 1978, parents at St. Mary's Playgroup (The Basin) discovered that several of The Basin children would miss out on a place in Kindergarten due to an insufficient amount places available in nearby Kindergartens.

A public meeting was arranged for 12th December 1978. Forty parents attended the meeting and elected a committee of 13. The Committee was to approach council to try to get a new kindergarten built. The Committee was christened "The Interim Committee for The New Basin Kindergarten." It was decided to set up a 4-Year-Old Playgroup (with teacher) in St. Mary's Hall (located on Mountain Highway next door to the Service Station) for 1979.

The Committee found that many alterations were required to St. Mary's Hall to run a 4-Year-Old Playgroup. Also, of the original 58 Knox children who had missed a kindergarten placing, approximately 35 children found placement in other areas, particularly Heathmont and Croydon. Therefore, whilst there was still a definite need for another kindergarten, the plan for the 4-Year-Old Playgroup was dropped.

Council support for the new kindergarten was given during January 1979. By February, a plan for the new kindergarten was viewed by the committee and the position had been decided as council had purchased the land between Stuart Street and Rome Beauty Avenue during January. The Committee was told they would need to raise $3000.00. They were busy running a wide range of activities including — Cake Stalls, Raffles, Auctions, Lolly drives, restaurant nights and Lamington Drives. The Lamington drives were much work as the committee decided to make these themselves, in two working bees. They took orders for 2298 lamingtons. As midnight neared on the night before delivery day, the workers panicked as they ran out of fresh coconut, until a bright spark came up with the idea to wash, dry and reuse the leftover coconut. The idea worked, and orders were delivered on time!

2,000 leaflets were delivered into letter boxes in the area to inform the public of their fundraising activities to establish a new kindergarten. This generated funds in the form of donations, especially one from The Basin

Kindergarten for $750.00.

Until May 1979, the kindergarten was called “The New Basin Kindergarten”. It was renamed “The Goodwin Estate Kindergarten” in May after the original owner of the land of the nearby housing estate. One hiccup in the building of the kindergarten was a dispute about the roads. Originally the council planned to extend Stuart Street to join Rome Beauty Avenue, making a through road. However, after petitions, and meetings of residents, the situation was resolved. The road was left blocked, making space for car parking, and the building of the kindergarten could commence.

Building was started around July 1979, by construction engineers “Paynter & Dixon”. The kindergarten plan included a playroom, which was one of the first in Knox. The total cost of the Kindergarten, including land, road works, car park etc., came to $143,000, made up from $100,000 council contribution, $30,000 of Government grant and an interest free loan from council for $15,000. The Committee’s fundraising was to equip the new kindergarten.

In November 1979, Alan Angwin was appointed Director and Margaret Sedlins Assistant (Dec/Jan). Forty-eight children began at the Kindergarten in February 1980.

The official opening was on Saturday 29 March 1980. Children participated in the opening ceremony by cutting the ribbon. The Mayor, Hurtle Lupton, unveiled a plaque declaring the Kindergarten open.

The early establishment of the Goodwin Estate Kindergarten demonstrated the community spirit and commitment of The Basin residents (several of the original establishment committee had pre-school age children who were zoned for The Basin and Alchester kindergartens). Their concern for the young children in their community ensured a facility was provided for future children and families.

Up to 2002, over 1500 children have attended the Goodwin Estate Kindergarten. There have been three full time Directors, Alan Angwin who resigned at the end of 1987, Helen Stanley, who resigned in July 2002 and Kerryn Rule who commenced on 15th July 2002.

The Goodwin Estate Kindergarten also ran a part-time group (four year old group) from 1981 to 1988 and a shared group with Colchester Park Kindergarten in 1989 and 1990. The Directors of these groups have been Robyn Jenes (1981, 1982), Geraldine Hill (1983 – 1987), Deborah Moore (1988), Wendy Herbstreit (1989) and Di Todd (1990). There also have been several Assistants namely Margaret Sedlins, Lisa Matthews, Estelle Tudor and Yvonne Pretty.

In 1997, the kinder established a private 3-year old group by forming the Goodwin Estate Pre-kinder. The group commenced with Kerryn Rule as their teacher with eight children. By July, the numbers had increased to allow the employment of an assistant, Denise Kelly, who in 2002 held this post. The group has an independent committee of management responsible for funding staff salaries and operational costs. In July 2002, Jenny de Kretser took up the Pre-kinder teaching post because of Kerryn Rule becoming the full time Pre-school Director.

The Basin community continued to support the kindergarten and local traders have always been generous in donating goods for fundraising.

The Basin Fire Brigade have annually supported the kindergarten by providing a Santa on a Fire Truck to join in Christmas celebrations with the children. The community link between the Fire Brigade and the kindergarten was extended in 1991 with the children performing at The Basin Carols By Candlelight.

In 1990, a local resident Peter McErlain wrote a song for the children to perform at the Carols. The evening was notable because the carols were unable to take place due to a storm. However, in 1991 the children sang “The Basin Bells” and the stage was crowded with a contingent of 1990 and 1991 children. Also, in 1991 the children sang “their” song at the City of Knox Carols at the Arboretum.

Since 1989, the kindergarten has held an annual Dinner Dance. In the early years, its format was in the form of a “Bush Dance” which grew in attendance to over 300 people. As well as a financial success this dinner dance is an event which was looked forward to by the local community.

During 1993, the children of the kinder performed at the Radisson President Hotel with children from the Rowville Kindergarten. They performed a song and movement routine developed by Helen Stanley and supported by the creative talents of her committee. This “production” provided a stirring opening for the annual “KinderEd Conference”, for educators across the state.

The building remained well cared for and since its original construction has seen some improvements with a large pergola added and plans for a verandah and rotunda to enhance space for children’s learning and play in shaded areas.

The kinder is well known for its “inclusive” approach to education and over the years many children with “additional needs” and disabilities have accessed the programme. The centre philosophy strives to support children and families with additional needs by actively funding additional assistants to work with individual children regardless of government funding. Where funding is not provided or is inadequate, the kinder community fund raises to ensure each child is given the same opportunity as his or her peers. The continued strength of the kindergarten lies in the strong community focus existing within The Basin community.

The Basin Infant Welfare Centre

On the 11th June 1944, at a meeting in The Basin Progress Hall, a decision was made to set up a Baby Health Centre in The Basin. Elected President was Mrs. Bert Chandler and Mrs. Hugh Chandler was Hon. Secretary. Committee members included Messrs Earney, Clark, Turner, Harris, Stevens, Puddy, Battersby, Wright and Freeman. In a room at The Basin Progress Hall voluntarily lined by Mr. Freeman, a temporary centre was set up. This was officially opened by

Health Centre

Sister Ann Peters, Sister in Charge of The Basin Infant Welfare Centre for over 15 years, recalls how keen some mothers were in ensuring their children attended the Centre.

Around 1980, a mother who lived in Golden Grove in The Ravine walked to the Centre and back with her young children. Apparently, she was an epileptic and could not drive.

A few years later, another mother who lived in Alpine Road (up Mountain Highway towards Sassafra), walked from there down to Claremont Avenue and caught the bus to the Centre.

Dr. Doris Officer on 14th October 1944. Sister Lipscombe attended the Centre for ½ a day a week.

In 1947, land in Forest Road was generously donated by Mr. W. J. Wallis. The land was previously owned by Frank Gretton who sold it on condition that the land be used for a Baby Health Centre. The price he received was £90 which he used to purchase a Blackwood dining room suite.

The acquisition of land inspired the Committee to raise funds for a permanent building, the plans of which were drawn by Mr. L. R. Henley.

Fund-raising in those days was difficult and it was not until 1952 when the Government granted 1,000 pounds that it was possible to start building. These years had seen Mrs. Earney as President, Mrs. West as Secretary and Mrs. Greenwell as Treasurer. By 1953 it was necessary to revise plans to meet new Health Regulations and Mr. Westly of Ferntree Gully Shire helped greatly in this regard.

The Shire added to the fund and it was then possible to accept a tender, from Cowin Bros. of Boronia, to build a modern brick centre, fully fitted and tastefully furnished. To the Committee’s credit the Centre opened free of debt.

On 11th February 1956, the Centre was officially opened by Dr. Doris Officer; the culmination of twelve years planning and local effort.

Knox Shire Council took over responsibility for the maintenance of the centre and for the attendance of a qualified sister for a full day weekly. This was Sister Shirley Pask who was followed by Sister Margery Eve.

In 1975, it was proposed to introduce Playgroups. Playgroups are run by parents and allow groups of children too young for Pre-School Kindergarten to come together and “play”. Then, one committee was responsible for running both the Infant Welfare Centre and the Pre-School and would not permit Playgroups. The Council allowed the Infant Welfare Centre to form its own committee to oversee the upkeep of the Centre. This committee initiated the commencement of Playgroups.

In 1976, Toddler Groups were introduced in

The Basin Infant Welfare Centre

Knox as a pilot scheme. Toddler Groups are identical in concept to Playgroups but are organised as part of the Centre and teachers are funded by the Council. An extension to accommodate the children and a storeroom for the equipment to be used was constructed. As part of the extension, hot water was reticulated throughout the Centre. Before this, the Centre had no hot water on tap. In July 1976, Toddler Groups commenced. Christine Bowan was the Toddler Group teacher.

In September 1976, Sister Ann Peters took over as Sister in charge from Margery Eve. Ann remained as Sister in charge until June 1992.

Due to lack of a teacher, Toddler Groups ceased in December 1990. This was a great loss to the area. At that time Playgroups organised by the parents were still running. The original Playgroup that commenced at the Centre and later moved to St. Mary's Church (In 2021, the site of a Hindu Temple) disbanded in 1991. Another great loss to The Basin.

The Basin Infant Welfare Centre has had a changing face over the years. From the beginning it has been a meeting place for families, some of which were isolated. The introduction of First Mother Groups around 1975 was the beginning of many friendships. Some of these families are still friends. The Centre now has children attending whose parents attended the Centre as children.

In 1976, many of the streets in The Basin were unmade and many a time whilst doing home visits Sister Peters car became bogged and required towing. With the sealing of most roads home visits became pleasurable.

Over the years, the infant population of The Basin has not been high enough to keep the Centre open for more than four days a week. In 1990, it dropped to three days a week.

Originally the Centre was known as "The Basin Baby Health Centre" and later with the correct title of Infant Welfare Centre. About 1986, it became known as "The Basin Maternal & Child Health Centre".

In 1990, Knox Council announced plans to build a new Centre on The Triangle, off Church Street. The proposed new building would contain both the Pre-School Kindergarten and the Maternal & Child Health Centre, but with separate facilities. However, due to lack of enrolments and funds the plan was never realised.

Special mention must be made of the dedication to the Centre given by Sister Ann Peters over the seventeen years that she was Sister in Charge. She became well known in the local community as a caring person genuinely interested in the task to which she is committed.

THE BASIN STATE SCHOOL

£13/8/ RAISED BY AUSTRALIAN TEA

The State-wide appeal for funds was celebrated by The Basin State school at the local Progress Hall on Saturday, May 16th.

The appeal, organised by the head teacher, Mr H. Reardon, took the form of an Australian Tea.

The chairman of the school committee, Mr H. Turner, presided and introduced Mr G. Chandler, MLC, who gave an interesting address on the Empire and its aims, and formally declared the Fete open.

During the afternoon the children, who had been trained by the assistant teacher, Miss E. Hore, rendered some pleasing items.

A profit of £13/8/ was made.

News from The Basin.

On Saturday a working bee was held at The Basin State school, the object being to erect a shelter shed. The arrangements were in the hands of the school committee, and all the details had been so carefully thought out and provided for that, though the work began only in the afternoon, yet by 5 o'clock in the evening the building was finished. Mr. P. B. Chandler, an expert builder, was made working manager, and he was ably assisted by the chairman of the committee, Mr. S. Collier, and the correspondents, Mr. H. R. Chandler. The whole affair was an object lesson in what may be done by a number of willing workers when properly organised and wisely directed. During a break in the work refreshments were provided by the ladies of the district, the tables being presided over by Mesdames Collier, senior and junior. The thoughtfulness of the ladies was much appreciated by the workers, and they were tendered hearty thanks. The building is a strong and serviceable one, and will no doubt be a very useful adjunct to the school.

THE BASIN

Mothers' Club's Efforts.

Favoured with a fine afternoon, the tennis tournament organised by the Mothers' Club was a pronounced success. The function took place in the newly-laid-out court near the school, and the occasion took the form of the formal opening. Keen interest was taken in the mixed doubles tournament, the contestants being former scholars of the school. The following competed:—Miss M. Stewart, Mr. Fred Kirkman, Miss Myra Collier, Mr. V. Chandler, Miss M. Dickson, Mr. R. Hodson, Mrs. Maguire, Mr. G. Chandler, Mrs. Ritchie, Mr. G. Ritchie, Miss C. Fisher, Mr. F. Chandler, Mr. and Mrs. Chapman, the last named being declared the winners after a spirited contest. Mr. Chapman very generously donated the prize money back to the club. Miss Fitzpatrick and Mr. Bert Chandler acted as umpire and scorer respectively, and gave every satisfaction.

In conjunction with the tournament, a jumble stall was arranged, and met with such liberal patronage that a complete clearance of everything was effected. Mrs. A. Collier and Mrs. G. Bird were in charge. Delicious afternoon tea was served by the committee. A children's tournament held on the preceding days resulted in a win for Joan Bird and Master Fielder. The prizes for the tournament were generously donated by Mrs. Pickett and Mrs. B. Chandler.

Going after 25 years

Leaving a tuck shop for bigger things

It won't be quite the same again at The Basin State School tuck-shop now that Mrs. Edna Thoren won't be behind the counter to serve the students.

Not that there's any doubts that the tuck-shop won't continue to give a good service, but Mrs. Thoren has been there for 25 years and she's become part of the place.

She and her husband, Frank, and their two boys are leaving the area to become the caretakers of the Fern Tree Gully Inspectorate school camp at Eppallock, near Bendigo.

The Thorens have been in the area for 26 years. They moved in after the war when The Basin was bushland and it seems they will again be pioneers.

The Eppallock camp site is on a seven acre bushland plot. It is covered sparsely with trees, and has little undergrowth.

Building works are not yet completed and the accommodation for the caretaker family has yet to be started.

The Thorens will be living in two caravans. They will feel out the food supply situation in the area and will have to overcome the teething problems which every project like this encounters.

Twenty seven schools in the Fern Tree Gully Inspectorate have financed the building of the camp and these schools will have use of it throughout the school year.

The completed structure, according to present plans, allows for two dormitories, a kitchen, washing and toilet facilities and a big recreation hall.

Fifty students can be catered for at the camp, and there is also room for two teachers and two mothers.

MATRONLY TOUCH

Mrs. Thoren says the mothers will be asked along to render that matronly touch needed by some children who develop bouts of homesickness.

The camp will only be used by senior primary students from the 27 schools during a school week.

The students will be encouraged to join in hikes and bushcraft adventures. They will do some nature study and will also go on a one-day tour of the historical areas of Bendigo.

As the camp site runs down into the banks of Lake Eppallock there is also plenty of scope for swimming, fishing and perhaps boating.

Mrs. Thoren says she will miss The Basin.

Although it has become something of a suburbia now, the old friends are still there and it is still its own little town.

"There were no streets when we came to the area just after the war. We had to cut out all the tea-tree and there was an apple orchard near our place in Francis Street", she told me.

"When I started at the tuckshop the school had two rooms.

ON HIS BIKE

"The headmaster of the day used to ride his push-bike to the Progress Hall for the mothers' club meeting.

"This is just one of the many experiences at the school that seems to stick in my mind."

"There is no reason why our venture at the Eppallock camp should not work out."

"Frank is very keen on it. He was a plumber and is a very good handyman. If we can get things running reasonably smoothly before the kids arrive it should work out well."

"There is no place we would prefer to live than The Basin and if we could take it with us everything would be perfect."

The Eppallock Camp is progressing slowly at present due to a lack of funds.

The Inspectorate schools are not getting any financial assistance from the Education Department, and this makes things more difficult.

The students using the camp will have to pay about $15 for a week's accommodation.

The first children to use the school will be from The Basin because they have already been on a camp similar to this concept at Tidal River.

Mrs. Thoren was also "chief cook and bottle-washer" on that trip and she admits to having loved every minute of it.

FLOWER DAY AT THE BASIN SCHOOL.

On November 2 a bazaar was held at the Basin state school, and was opened by Mr. James Griffiths. The proceeds were in aid of the children's flower day repatriation fund. The people of the district, especially the ladies, who were enthusiastic, were working for several weeks beforehand, and their efforts were a grand success, resulting in a net profit of £61/2/3 for the fund. The committee are to be complemented on the result of their effort, of which they are deservedly proud. On the same day, just before the bazaar was opened, the school honor roll, containing 26 names, was unveiled by the state president (Mr. A. E. Chandler, J.P.). The unveiling ceremony included songs by the school children, and a few remarks about "Our splendid men" by Mr. H. R. Chandler. A large gathering attended, and the day was one to be remembered in the years to come by the people of the Basin.

Summary

Summary

The first official mail service commenced in 1900 when Patrick Rafferty was granted a mail contract and dropped “loose bags” at various locations in The Basin. The first Post Office appeared in The Basin in 1916

Reticulated water arrived in The Basin in 1959 but it took many years before most areas were connected.

The first telephone subscriber in The Basin is listed as H. A. L. Simson of “Doongalla” who was connected in 1915.

Reticulated electricity arrived at The Basin in 1939. First to receive supply was Mr. A. Beaumont and Mr. R. Simpson of Glen Elbourne.

The first regular coach trips commenced in 1883 and ran from Ringwood to the State Forest via The Basin.

The first vehicle transport was a hire car service operated by Alf Thompson from Bayswater to The Basin. This commenced in the 1920s.

The first timetabled bus service to The Basin commenced in 1943.

The first widespread circulation of newspapers in The Basin area commenced in the 1880s and included “The Dandenong Advertiser”, “The Oakleigh and Ferntree Gully Times”, “The Box Hill Reporter”, and “The Dandenong Express”.

Distinguished Resident
Guy Turner

When the late Guy Turner cabled from Hong Kong, instructing his wife Betty to place a deposit on a house in “The Ravine”, a remarkable association with The Basin began. Guy, a Major during the war was on a convalescent tour when Betty became charmed by our town.

Soon after the Turner’s arrival here they took over the Post Office. Guy’s real work though, began upon his election to council in 1954 – The Basin’s resident councillor. In this capacity he was a force in the bringing of reticulation to The Basin and the drawing up of estimates for the Severance of the Shire. Guy gave untiring service in almost every community effort.

Betty was ever his able backstop and had active associations with the Kindergarten, Health Centre, and Progress Association. Guy Turner passed away in 1961.

Mail

"Macaulay via Ringwood" was the postal address for the entire The Basin/Bayswater area during the 1880s, Macaulay being the original name for Bayswater. The first direct mail service to The Basin began about 1890 when Archibald Chandler, then 15 years old, carried mail from Bayswater on his pony, "Ginny" to The Basin Primary School where letters were sorted by Mr. Treyvaud, the schoolmaster. Residents collected their mail at the school which served as a mini Post Office. Mrs Janet Dobson wrote in her diary that:

"I will go up to the school for a tax form".
(25th March 1903)

In 1900, when Patrick Rafferty was granted the mail contract between Bayswater and Sassafras via The Basin, a more orthodox service began. Loose bags were hung on mail posts at "Melrose House" (John James Miller), the Salvation Army, Como Nurseries (William Chandler) and Ferndale (James Griffiths). Mail to be sent and received was left in these bags and collected and deposited by Patrick Rafferty.

In the early 1900s a letter could be posted for two pence per ounce, while only a halfpenny per ounce was the charge for newspapers.

The Basin was gazetted as a "Receiving Office" in 1902, but mail was still postmarked at Bayswater. Mail was addressed to The Basin "via Bayswater" as the mail bag for The Basin was made up in Bayswater. It was not until about 1960 that The Basin had a separate bag in the GPO and by then the Postmaster Generals Department (PMG) van delivered the bags to each Post Office.

In July 1916, with help from James Griffiths, a small non-official Post Office was opened by Mrs Ada Dickson in Mountain Highway at approximately 1288 – 1290 Mountain Highway near Augusta Road. The Dickson family owned the property and had a house at the rear. The Post Office was a separate small building in the front yard. The building can be seen in the photograph on the front of the land brochure for Eden Park Estate. Mrs Dickson remained in office until about 1945 — a remarkable length of service.

wagon and horses "Minnie" and "Jimmy". He transported mail from the Post Office to the Salvation Army Home. He also took the milk cans from the Army Home to Bayswater station.

When Smith's Store was built, the mail bag was placed on and off the four horse Coach that ran from Sassafras via the Old Bayswater-Sassafras Road to Bayswater This continued until about 1930 when motor vehicles took over.

For over 30 years a mail and passenger trip was made to Bayswater — first by Alf Thompson's hire cars and later by the bus services. At 7.45 a.m. and 4.45 p.m. the driver would pick up and set down the mail bag and clear the letter boxes at Langdon's store (installed in 1949 next to the public telephone) and outside The Basin Primary School.

For many years the morning run included a stop at Pegler's Store in Bayswater where bread and papers were picked up and delivered with the mail to 6 or 8 houses in Mountain Highway between Dorset Road and Albert Avenue. The PMG began delivery of mail to The Basin Post Office this roadside service ceased.

A small shop was built on the western corner of Mountain Highway and Old Forest Road and a room added on the side for the Post Office. Mrs Dickson moved the Post Office into this room and ran it until 1950. Later proprietors of the Milk Bar/Post Office included Turner, Cook, Lears, Cross and Stevens.

A local delivery service started in 1959. Not all areas had the privilege of home delivery. The steep terrain of The Basin and lack of accessible roads in some areas meant that other means of mail service needed to be provided. "Caller boxes" were used whereby residents could call into the post office during business hours and pick up their mail from their box. Private post boxes accessible by key from outside the post office serviced the needs of some residents. Those residents who lived on inaccessible roads placed

Water Storage

The Basin was once investigated as a possible storage site for water for Melbourne. Apparently, the catchment area was suitable but it was revealed that there was not enough water potential available from streams which could be tapped.

their letter boxes at the start of their street. Clusters of letter boxes near the start of Mercia Avenue and Bayview Crescent can be well remembered.

In 1962, Max Toole took over the post office and in 1964 the Post office was moved to its present modern setting on the other side of the road from the service station. Max Toole left in 1979. Later proprietors were Bart Bortolussi (1979 – 1984) and Neil Whittorn (1984 – 1990). During Neil Whittorn's period mail delivery organisation was moved to Boronia.

Sheila and Ron Phelan took over the Post Office in 1990. They completely rebuilt the shop reflecting a bygone era.

Colin Tan took over running the Post Office in November 2015.

Kevin Chen took over running the Post Office in 2020.

It was in 1965 that postcodes were introduced, and The Basin was allocated the 3154 postcode.

The Basin Post Office has always been a “non-official” post office. The land and building are privately owned, and the postal service pays the owner to run the Post Office business.

Water

The early settlers used the Dandenong Creek and its tributaries for their supply of water. Various attempts were made to dam these streams but, as is described elsewhere, the culprits were smartly dealt with. The Basin's generous rainfall (over 1000 mm per annum) ensured that crops would be well watered, and tanks kept full.

The Salvation Army used water from the streams running through their property to supply water for their crops. Large storage tanks and extensive irrigation channels ensured a continual supply of water. Old maps show Dobsons creek taking a different course to that shown on later maps. Dobsons Creek used to flow into Dandenong Creek downstream from Liverpool Road, passing through the middle of the plant nursery on Liverpool Road. It seems the Salvation Army altered its course, presumably to straighten it.

Nevertheless, reticulation in 1959 was a tremendous boon not only to residents but also to market gardeners, orchardists and nurserymen alike, as regulated watering was then possible. The credit for reticulation seems to belong to Cr. Guy Turner helped by many locals in the Progress Association who had been campaigning since the early 1950s. The steep increase in home building and the consequent rise in land values are direct results of reticulation.

Tanks

Many residents will have noticed that four large water tanks are sited in The Basin.

The most recent tank in 2021 was finished in 1987, but this one may have escaped the attention of most people as it is underground and within the National Park Boundaries.

This tank is known as “The Basin High Level Tank” and was built to improve the water supply to properties in Bayview Crescent, Mercia Avenue, Government Road, Toorak Avenue and Inverness Avenue. Water is also be available from this tank for firefighting purposes. The tank is fed from a pumping station located within the grounds of The Basin No. 2 Reservoir.

The Basin No. 2 Reservoir (off the top end of Bayview Crescent) was finished in 1981 and provides reticulation to an area below that covered by The Basin High Level Tank. The property on which the tank is built was previously the site of a house built by Tom Stephens, the father of local resident Jim Stephens. This house was burnt down in 1972 in suspicious circumstances. In 2020, remnants of the front fence and exotic trees are still visible at the front of the property.

The “Boronia” tank located on Mountain Highway The Basin was finished in 1978 and supplies reticulation to a large area west of the tank. This tank is close to the first site of Salvation Army No. 2 Home.

The Basin No. 1 Tank is near the top of Nyora Avenue and was finished in 1960.

Harry Dinsdale's Coach Fire

A memorable fire in 1914 caught Harry Dinsdale's coach above “Ferndale” and fears held for the driver's safety increased when the coach was found empty. The two fire crazed horses were caught and shot. Dinsdale was later found unhurt, having jumped from the coach when the horses bolted.

Floods

"It rained very heavy all night and all day today. About 6 o'clock the irrigation drain burst away and the water came down over the potatoes, beans and peas. It came all around the house through the pumpkins and over the flower garden. The front path was like a creek. The Army paddocks were all under water. I went home (to Wick's house) to see if it was as bad there. I had to walk through water nearly up to my knees. It is the biggest flood since 1891. Jack came down after he came home from the market, but could do nothing about it."

(Janet Dobson Diary 6th February)

"Continuous rain throughout night. Army Flats covered, a lot of Bert's cuttings washed out. Creeks in garden very high, water touching 2 crossing logs behind shed."

(Janet Dobson Diary 4th September)

Floods have not been nearly as frequent or as damaging as the fires. Just the same the flood of 1891 had a devastating effect for several of The Basin residents as described in the newspaper extract below.

"The Flood"

"At Ferntree Gully a land slip occurred at the country seat of Sir Matthew Davies bringing down rocks, large trees, bathroom & outhouses, damages about 600 pounds. Cr. Chandler of Little The Basin, lost 3000 Camellia trees, 60 varieties of hyacinths, and other valuable plants, the nursery being completely ruined, estimated loss 200 pounds. Cr. J. T. Dobson's nursery sustained a very heavy loss of peach and other fruit trees, damage 200 pounds."

(Oakleigh & Ferntree Gully Times — 18th July 1891)

The same flood caused a landslide at Montrose and smaller slides on The Basin side of the Hill and was also reported in the Lilydale Express of 27th July 1891.

It is thought that the first house called Fernglen (built by Bruce) on the Doongalla property was destroyed by this flood and this what prompted Sir Matthew Davies to build a new residence.

Severe floods also occurred in 1934 and 1970.

"Old Joes Creek" was the main source of water that caused many floods downstream from Bayview Crescent after heavy rain. Wright's Store and many local houses were victims of these floods. In the mid 1970s, the council constructed a storm water drainage scheme for Bayview Crescent and Mercia Avenue incorporating underground pipes for Old Joes' creek from Bayview Crescent to Arcadia Avenue. The scheme did not include making of the roads and consequently after heavy rains the storm water drains filled with gravel from the unmade roads. The roads were constructed in the 1980s.

Around 1900, Joseph Gadd and his family lived in a humpy on Old Joes Creek above where Wrights Store was later built. Mr Gadd undertook drainage work for William Chandler and David Dobson and odd jobs for other residents. One of his children lived with Bert Chandlers family for a while. Mr Gadd was accidentally drowned.

"Gadd came to help Joe with the potatoes they were planting all day"

(Janet Dobson Diary November 1902)

Flood Control

A major development in The Basin has been the construction of the Liverpool Road Retarding Basin, located on the Dandenong Creek on the North West side of Liverpool Road. It controls the runoff from 1450 ha of hilly semi rural catchment and protects extensive residential and industrial development on the downstream flood plain. Longtime residents of Bayswater will remember the floods which made parts of Dorset Road and Canterbury Road impassable in times of heavy rain.

The retarding Basin was constructed in 1969/70 by The Dandenong Valley Authority, an organisation which has since been absorbed by Melbourne Water. The design was prepared by the consulting firm of Camp, Scott and Furphy and consists of an "L" shaped levee bank sitting astride the old course of the Dandenong Creek. A concrete tower and a concrete pressure pipeline under the embankment control the flow of water. A spillway directs water if the storage area fills. The spillway operated for the first time in 1984.

The Basin has a capacity of 450,000 cubic metres and is designed to reduce the flow of a once in a 50-year flood from 30 cubic metres per second to 10 cubic metres per second. This delays the flow by some three hours to allow the lower catchment to drain before large outflows from the storage occur.

Since completion, the storage has been subjected to several flood events, the data from which has been used to calibrate the outlet works of the storage and so evaluate the performance of the Basin under actual and design flood conditions. The calibration technique was developed in response to a need expressed by authorities engaged in flood control. Surveys showed that although many flood detention storage's had been constructed, little success had been achieved in measuring discharges through the storage outlet works during the passage of floods.

Techniques developed at the Liverpool Road Retarding Basin have been satisfactorily applied to another existing storage providing an accurate stage discharge curve over the range calibrated. This is believed to be the first successful effort in this field and paves the way for further progress in the understanding and improvement of the design of outlet works of flood detention storage's.

The Retarding Basin is also an attractive and useful recreation area. The 20 ha site has been developed by The Dandenong Valley Authority/Melbourne Water to provide recreational facilities and also as a conservation area. A shallow lake constructed in the lowest part of the storage is used by many groups including scouts and radio-controlled boat enthusiasts.

A barren paddock was transformed into a landscaped "wetland" complete with lake, and the lake has become home to wildlife including pelicans and swans.

Snow

Snow has been recorded in The Basin in the 1920s, 1951 and 1984.

Telephone

The first mention of telephone communication in The Basin was reported in the South Bourke and Mornington Journal dated 4th April 1900:

"The Salvation Army has decided to make telephone communication between their properties at Bayswater, and posts to carry the wires have been erected".

In 1912, a telephone exchange opened in Bayswater in a small building in Station Street and was first operated by a Miss Baker. Early telephone connections to properties in The Basin would have originated from this exchange.

A 1915 directory listed H. A. L. (Helen Archbald Luke) Simson of "Doongalla" as the first subscriber in The Basin area. The connection request must have been much earlier because Miss Simson died in 1912. H. Dodd and the Chandlers were also early subscribers.

The diary extracts below have been taken from the diary of one of the Chandlers and refer to the connection of a telephone to the "Como" residence starting in late 1918.

"Bert & self drove to Post Office. Bert signed for telephone and paid 2 years rent of 12.00 pounds."

(14th November 1918)

"Got letter re. telephone book names. I drove to P.O. to see Guy Baker re. name and address in telephone book."

(19th November 1918)

"We started to make new track for phone — 38 new poles."

(26th November)

"Man fitted instrument in passage and wire on to front of house."

(17th January 1919)

Until the early 1940s, the only public telephone in The Basin was located at the Post Office. Later installations were at Langdon's store in 1949 and Wright's store. In 2020, The only public telephones are located at Wrights store and near the Post Office.

Power

The old kerosene lamp in its various forms was the chief source of light in the early days.

The Basin Progress Hall first used kerosene lamps and then introduced "Gloria Pressure Lamps" with an air cylinder that was pumped by hand.

Mr. Harry Chandler of "Trenwell" in Liverpool Road, had a water wheel which generated power from the Dandenong Creek. One time, he used the water wheel to charge a battery to power a light used at an early The Basin Progress Association meeting.

Many residents had their own 32 volt power systems driven by diesel or petrol motors. Tom Stephens had one of these supplying his house near the top of Bayview Crescent. In 2021, this is the site of The Basin No. 2 Reservoir. Mr Kable, a resident of the Ravine, also constructed a 32v system in the 1950s.

Reticulated electricity arrived at The Basin in 1939. First to receive supply was Mr. A. Beaumont and Mr. R. Simpson of Glen Elbourne. Gradually the service was extended to many parts of The Basin, but it was left to Cr. Guy Turner, helped by Mr. F. Perry, to finally get power to "The Ravine".

In 1947, the official population of The Basin was 250 but only 62 residences were connected to the reticulated supply.

In areas of The Basin in danger of bushfire, the overhead electricity wires have been upgraded to a special type designed to automatically disconnect should a tree fall on the lines.

Transport

"I selected a few friends, to a number seven, we mustered at the Star Hotel at 3 pm. and we headed off under the pilotage of 'Patsy' the most popular driver on the road. His exhilarating 'Gee up' was heard as we rattled through Kew past Whitehorse to Box Hill, and over the stringy bark ranges of Nunawading. We spun down Box Hill and across Brushy Creek and abandoned ourselves to the influence of the scenery..."

So goes an account from an excursionists guide of 1868.

Early travellers to The Basin had the choice of pack horse, bullock dray or coach but there was no regular form of transport.

In 1883, when the rail service was extended from Hawthorn to Camberwell and later in the year to Lilydale via Ringwood, a coach ran regular trips from Ringwood to the State Forest via The Basin. In 1889, the rail service was extended to Upper Ferntree Gully but there was no station built at Boronia and few people lived in the area. Bayswater was the closest station to The Basin and in 1890 John James Miller ran a private coach to and from Bayswater to encourage summer visitors.

The Basin first had direct transport to Bayswater when Arthur J. Goode established a coach service in 1895 from Bayswater Station (then called Macauley) to Sassafras (then known as Sassafras Gully). He was the proprietor of the "Sassafras Gully Cash Store and Refreshment Rooms" in Sassafras. His route included the Old Coach Road and the Bayswater-Sassafras Road. The latter is closed in 2021 and used as a fire access track. Mr W. E. Clarke of Ferny Creek later bought the business.

John James Miller secured a wine licence at his home "Bayswater House" about 1880 and later, about 1894, transferred the licence to his trainer, Michael Cronin who established a wine hall in the old building on the corner of Mountain Highway and Scoresby Road, Bayswater.

Cronin married Sarah Rafferty (also employed by Miller) and established the first coach service from Bayswater to Olinda. Cronin died shortly afterwards and Mrs Cronin, who later became the proprietor of the Bayswater wine hall, carried on the service with the aid of her two brothers, Peter and Patrick Rafferty, and Henry Dodd of Olinda, whom she later married. The wine hall standing in 2021 was built about 1896 by the previously mentioned Mr and Mrs Dodd.

The coach service ran between Bayswater station and Olinda via the Basin-Olinda road, the Old Coach Road and Sassafras. Passengers stayed overnight at the wine hall. The service was run by Mrs Cronin's brother, Patrick Rafferty.

In 1900, Patrick Rafferty was awarded the mail contract from Bayswater to Sassafras and took passengers at two shillings and six pence for the up trip and two shillings down. Mail was carried thrice weekly to Sassafras at a cost of 8 pounds 10 shillings per year. In January 1900,

Fighting for Water

In days gone by various illegal attempts were made by land holders to block offshoots of the Dandenong Creek. One land holder dropped a large tree straight down the race but Arch Chandler soon fixed that with a stick of gelignite.

Police were called because of the explosion but much to the pleasure of the constabulary, the section of the stream concerned was in Lilydale and hence out of their area.

when Patrick Rafferty was contractor, the mail service was extended to Olinda.

In 1902, Harry Dodd of Olinda took on the service when he married Mrs Cronin. He ran four trips a day to Olinda. The fare to The Basin was one shilling and six pence.

Dodd was an experienced coachman and had 36 horses in the stable in the summer months. It is said he carried three types of passengers, 1st class rode all the way, 2nd class rode as far as McClare's hill and then walked up the steep hill, while 3rd class passengers got out at McClare's hill and pushed the coach.

Dodd, as a lad of 15 years served his apprenticeship driving Wilkinson's coaches between Dandenong and Gippsland and was well qualified to negotiate the hazardous climb up the steep McClare's Hill, near Sassafras, the first formed road giving access to the district.

Dodd sold out to George Albert Piergrosse (Bert) in 1917, and he established the "Bayswater Coach Service" with as many as 26 horses used from the Christmas to Easter period.

George Albert Pierregrosse was born in Avoca, Victoria, on May 5th 1882. He settled in Bayswater in and in 1913 and married Myrtle Laura May Jones (b 1896) at Ferntree Gully on 19th February 1916. The couple had 3 children. He anglicised his surname to Piergrosse from World War I.

This mail, coach, parcel goods, passengers business continued until 1924, when the mail contract to Olinda and Sassafras operated from Ferntree Gully. Mail and passengers continued to be carried to The Basin by coach from Bayswater for several years, but gradually motor vehicles took over.

From 1925 to 1949 Bert drove hire cars and delivered mail to Sassafras and Olinda.

Myrtle died on 11th October 1951 and Bert died on 21st August 1967. Both are buried in Ferntree Gully Cemetery.

Alf Thompson opened his garage in The Basin on Forest Road opposite Church Street in the early 1920s and began a hire car business from Bayswater in opposition to Bert Piergrosse.

Residents of Boronia began agitating for a station in the 1910s, and in 1920 a station was officially opened. The population of Boronia in 1920 was only 50!

The traffic to Bayswater lessened and Alf Thompson transferred the hire car activities to between The Basin and Boronia. At one time the hire car from Boronia Station was almost like a taxi in that it took the route most suited to its passengers.

Alf Thompson also had a hire car business dedicated to the Salvation Army Boys Home. One of his cars had a sign mounted on the roof above the windscreen that read: "Thompsons Motors. Boronia — The Basin Army Home Hire Car".

Vere Page, who operated a garage in Boronia, commenced a hire car business between Boronia and The Basin in the mid 1920s. He competed with Thompson, and many arguments occurred between the two proprietors.

Around 1940, Alf Thompson introduced and drove a small bus which later crashed into a tree near Mount View Road. Alf's children took over driving and Alf (son) drove for a while but later turned to Real Estate. Ernest and Edith Thompson continued to run hire cars as well as a service station located in Forest Road opposite Church Street.

Bus services were introduced in 1943 and operated by subsequent owners Harrington, Campbell and Wilson.

Ivan Wilson extended The Basin bus run to include trips to Croydon Market, along Albert Avenue, to Mountain Gate and to Boronia West. Special buses picked up school children. One bus driver chased and beat a train to Bayswater from Boronia so that "The Basinites" wouldn't be late for work! During this period buses ran to Boronia from The Basin from 6 a.m. to 10.15 p.m. on weekdays including public holidays. On Saturdays, buses met the last train arriving at Boronia at 12.45 a.m. after taking the Boronia

Tramway past The Basin?

John James Miller, an early settler, was a progressive man and was a joint proposer of a tramway from Bayswater to Olinda running North of The Basin.

In 1888, a report read: "At present a survey is being made with a view to the construction of a cable tramway from near Macauley Station (Bayswater) to a point adjacent to the Sassafras and Ferny Creeks and it has already been determined that the gradient will not be a difficult one to deal with. The near future will witness the creation of a thriving township reached by this tramway and the erection of hundreds of villa residences".

picture theatre crowd home. Sundays began with a 7.30 a.m. trip for Mass at the Catholic Chapel in Underwood Road (then called McLean Road), then hourly until 9 p.m.

In the 1950s, Sundays were a particularly busy day transporting people from Boronia station to visit boys at the Salvation Army Home in The Basin.

Bus drivers of the day were well regarded by the community as this letter to the editor in the Mountain District Free press in 1947 shows:

"Sir.—May I through your paper express my thanks to the owner and drivers of the Basin, Boronia. Melbourne bus service. They have carried many hundreds of workers daily, always maintaining a cheerful courteous service, through what must at many times been very trying conditions. It is service such at these men have and are (at the time of writing) maintaining, that make it worthwhile living in this district.—A six o'clock passenger. Lower Fern Tree Gully."

The buses were garaged in a depot in Forest Road opposite Conyers Street Western junction.

In 1962, then owner Don Nugent, extended the bus run to Eastland and moved the bus depot to Bayswater near what was then Dunlops.

In 1970, Ventura Motors took over and integrated The Basin run into the Glen Waverley route which later passed through The Knox City Shopping Centre. The route has been revised in later times.

News

News in the hills has been received in many ways. Possibly the "bush telegraph" being the most used but various newspapers have made their way into The Basin homes.

In the 1880s "The Dandenong Advertiser" was widely circulated and was the official organ of the Council (Berwick). Other papers, including "The Oakleigh and Ferntree Gully Times", "The Box Hill Reporter", and "The Dandenong Express", served the hills for many years.

A local fortnightly paper, "The Tourist" was known until 1920 and then there was "The Mountaineer". "The Pilot" became known in 1923 and also the "Ferntree Gully News" printed in Belgrave. In 1946, John Bennett began publishing the "Free Press" which was later taken over by Leader Newspapers. In the 1930s the "Boronia Gazette" got under way and in 1949 "The Dandenong Ranges News" was launched at Boronia followed by the "Ferntree Gully Times" later known as "The Post".

Mr. Rod Travis from The Basin reported the area's activities to "The Free Press". In 1962, The Basin Progress Association launched a monthly newsletter which circulated around The Basin and reported notes contributed by local organisations. The "Knox Sherbrooke News" began operation in 1967 changing its name in 1988 to "Knox News".

Mr. Ron Ikin from The Basin edited a column for a while called "The Knox Knave" in the Knox Sherbrooke News. From 1969 to 1977 there was a paper known as the "Knox Gazette". A paper called the "Mounteasterly" operated from 1980 to 1982. Another paper was the "Knox-Sherbrooke Post" which commenced operation in March 1989.

In 1992, Beverley Yandell had a vision to produce and distribute a community newsletter to all Boronia and The Basin residents along the same lines as the Bayswater BIO and the Rowville/Lysterfield News. She organised a meeting with councillors from the City of Knox

The Basin Post Office Robberies

Max Toole ran The Basin Post Office the day a couple of would be bandits decided that it would be a "pushover", but it wasn't their day.

First mistake came when the driver of the getaway car parked along the kerb instead of angle parking. One of the local lads took exception to this and parked his car in front of the offending car thus preventing a quick getaway.

Second mistake was made by crook number two when he accepted Max Toole's invitation to look in the safe himself. He was met on the other side of the counter with a few hefty clouts from Max. Jean Toole heard the commotion and rang the police.

Mistake number three was when this member of the gang tried to escape from Max by going under the counter. Unfortunately, he didn't realise that it was a one way door. When he got outside he found the getaway car couldn't be used. One of the offenders took off up Mountain Highway (where he lost a shoe and was soon caught). The other took off down Olinda Road and disappeared for a time.

He didn't count on the curiosity of cows when he decided to hide behind a log in the middle of the Salvation Army farm cow paddock. When one of the locals noticed that the cows were paying more than a passing interest in the log, no doubt someone who knew the ways of cows, the second offender was caught.

In 1992, another robbery occurred with the machete wielding bandit escaping with a large sum of cash.

to form a steering committee. In 1993, the steering committee organised a public meeting to form a committee of management.

In 1994, after seven months of planning, the BBCN was officially registered as an incorporated association and the first paper was produced and titled "The Boronia & The Basin Community News" (BBCN). The first committee of management were President: Ray Wilson, Vice-President: June Harling, Treasurer: Carolyn Oakford, Editor: Rod Chandler, Advertising Manager: Jean Code, Secretary: Andrew Watson, General Committee: Beverley Yandell, Graham Billing, Jan Birkett, Andy Slade, Judith Lesley, Judy Peach, Mandy Cranwell and Pauline Brown.

Jim and Gail Gannan supported planning of the paper and their business, Time and Graphic Communication, did the typesetting.

The BBCN has won two Knox Pride Awards. The Proud Communication Award in 2000 and the Proud Heritage Award in 2002.

The vision of Beverly Yandell has been realised backed by numerous volunteers and advertisers, who in effect pay the publication costs. Over 10,000 copies of the paper are delivered free every month by volunteer walkers.

In May 2012, the BBCN celebrated its 200th issue. Then, there were six people who had been delivering the News since its inception. These were Pauline Brown, Margaret Penford, Judith Lesley, Jenny Moore, Carolyn Harris and Graham Billing.

The early papers cost money to buy. These days, local papers are obtainable locally for free and some are even delivered free to your door!

Hazards

A major landslide occurred in the mid 1970s near the creek at the rear of the Seventh Day Adventist Youth Camp on The Basin-Olinda Road.

A major earthquake occurred in 1929 and one local woman was so alarmed that she ran down the hill to her neighbour exclaiming that a giant kangaroo was coming.

The Basin's brave bandit basher!

The Basin postmaster, Mr Max Toole, pictured, has received an award for bravery following his single-handed battle with a bandit last December.

The bandit entered the small post office about 1pm on Thursday, December 8, carrying a crudely sawn-off shotgun and hoping to take away some cash.

After Max had finished with him, he left penniless and squealing.

All he got for his efforts was a sore head — courtesy of Max.

Max chased and hit the bandit with the same shotgun he had been threatened with.

"He was quite pathetic", Max said after the incident.

"My wife and I were having lunch in the back room when I heard a man enter the post office, so I went out.

"The fellow was wearing a balaclava and pointing the shotgun at me.

"My first thoughts were 'You've got to be joking, mate!' He looked so stupid with this silly balaclava on with his nose poking out, I nearly laughed in his face.

"He demanded money, so I have him was what in the drawer under the counter — about $60.

"He looked bewildered as if to say that was not much, and wanted to know what was in the safe.

"I said there wasn't much in it, only some coins and said he could have a look if he liked".

The bandit crawled over the counter to see for himself.

As he turned to try and get out again, Max grabbed his gun, whacked him over the head, then chased him out of the post office.

But Max got his own back outside.

The bandit had a mate waiting for him in a car nearby.

The mate came rushing to his friend's aid, and Max was kicked in the groin and sent sprawling into telephone boxes nearby.

But Max recovered.

He will be presented with his award by the State Governor, Sir Henry Wincke, later this year.

STOP PRESS

BASIN BUS CHASES THIEVES

WITH passengers clinging grimly on, The Basin bus raced down the Mountain Highway in pursuit of thieves on Tuesday night.

Driver Lloyd Caughey and passenger Wally Lindsay spotted two youths wheeling away a motor bike from outside Travis' Store, The Basin.

They recognised the bike as the property of an assistant at the store, Pat. Usher.

Swinging his bus round the narrow road, Mr. Caughey set off in hot pursuit.

He apprehended the youths in The Basin township. They were wearing stolen overcoats.

The youths were returned to the Salvation Army Home, after they had been interviewed by police and Army officials. They had escaped in the afternoon.

Fernie Gully.

The Salvation Army has decided to make telephone communication between their properties at Bayswater, and posts to carry the wire have been erected.

A case of snakebite occurred here on Friday. One of the workmen employed on the Gembrock and Fernie Gully line was bitten on the arm by a snake, and immediately afterwards serious symptoms set in. He was dosed with brandy, and conveyed to Melbourne as soon as possible for treatment.

Summary

Summary

The Basin Presbyterian Church was founded in 1931. In 1935, a church building was opened on the corner of Church Street and Forest Road. In 1964, the church base was moved to Boronia and the land and building sold to the Scouting Association.

St. Mary’s Church of England in The Basin was founded in 1933 and services initially held in the Glideaway. In 1939, a church building was opened on the corner of Wicks Road and Mountain Highway. In 1948, the building was moved to a new site in Mountain Highway. In the late 1980s the church suffered a decline in numbers and in 1991 the land and building was sold to Melbourne Vinayagar Hindu Sangam.

The Basin Methodist Church was built in 1903 in Liverpool Road on land now part of The Basin Primary School. Before then, services were held for over 15 years in the first The Basin Primary School in Doongalla Road. In 1958, the building was shifted to Boronia Road, Boronia where it became the Sunday School Hall of the Boronia Methodist Church.

Building a Hindu Temple in The Basin was one of the most controversial issues that has confronted the local community. Numerous Council permit applications and reapplications, a petition, Town Planning Appeals, Tribunal Appeals and many long articles in the local press stalled the building until 1994 when the building was finally officially opened on land that once sited the St. Mary’s Church of England building.

The Salvation Army Basin Centre is the longest established institution in The Basin. Established in 1897 and in 2021 it is still in operation. Although the role of the Centre has changed over the years, it has provided support for the implementation of the philosophies of the Salvation Army.

The Basin YWCA Friendly Circle was formed in 1980 and utilised The Basin Progress Hall as its base. Unfortunately, the group closed in 1999.

Distinguished Resident

Roy Ritchie

Roy and his family arrived in The Basin in 1957. He was involved with the Badminton Club, President of The Basin Progress Association for 12 years, served on many Association Committees and was a charter member of the Boronia Rotary Club for 12 years. He was a trustee for the Elderly Citizens Club, Wick Reserve and Batterham Reserve.

Roy operated a milk bar and butcher’s shop roughly opposite the fire station for many years.

Roy’s greatest contribution to The Basin was undoubtedly his involvement with the Fire Brigade for over 30 years, particularly his 19 years as secretary. Whenever the fire siren sounded, Roy would immediately close his shop and be the first at the station. In 1980, he was awarded The Queens Long Service & Good Conduct Medal for service to the Victorian Fire Services.

Roy passed away in 2011 at the age of 90.

The Basin Presbyterian Church

An early resident, Mrs. Pickett, felt the need for some form of divine worship and arranged for services to be held in The Basin Progress Hall in late 1930. On the 7th June 1931 The Basin Presbyterian Church was founded. Among early members were the Gretton family, Mrs. Stephens, Mrs. Henderson, Mrs. Gaunt, Mrs. Caughey and Rev. and Mrs. Roxburgh. Miss Cornwall began the Sunday School. In the early years the church was in the Boronia and Lysterfield charge. For some time services were held in The Basin Progress Hall, the preacher being Mr. McNaughton.

In 1933, a block of land on the corner of Church Street and Forest Road was purchased for 90 pounds and working bees were arranged to clear the land for building. Money was scarce and even floors were scrubbed by Ladies Guild members to swell the funds. In 1934 a loan was granted by the Loan Fund Council and plans were drawn by the son of the interim moderator Rev. J. K. Robertson. Building commenced soon after loan approval. On 9th March 1935, the church was opened with a ceremony conducted by the Rev. R. W. Macaulay. It came as a surprise when the Mission Committee presented the church with an organ. In 1941, the lining and outside oiling was finished under Rev. Archer Harris.

The first missionary in the church was Mr. H. M. Bell who spent several years in the New Hebrides. Other members well remembered from the 1940s were Mr. Heath, Mrs. Newstead, Mr. Houston and Mrs. Walker. In 1947 Mrs. Pickett gave the block next to the church for future use. In 1953, Messrs. E. Hill and D. Allen were appointed as elders and this meant the church was directly represented on the Session.

Over the years, organists included Miss Roxburgh, Miss Gray, Miss McKenzie, Mr. Heath, Mr. Cavill, Mr. Henley and Mrs. Spottiswood. In the 1950s the church was under the Blackburn Session with the Rev. F. P. Strickland as the interim moderator. Activities included a Ladies Guild, a Sunday School, a P.G.A., a girls' choir, prayer meetings and Bible study, and a weekly Social evening.

In 1964, with the Rev. W. Bligh conducting services, it was felt that population trends warranted the moving of the church to St. David's in Boronia. In the same year, the land and building was sold to the Scout Association to be used as the base for the 5th Knox Scout group.

After the church moved, several residents of The Basin began to meet in The Basin Progress Hall as Baptists, forming a Fellowship which means a congregation without a minister. Over a few years, they built a following including a Sunday School and Youth Club with lay teachers coming from other churches. However, the interest declined over the next few years and the Fellowship was closed.

St. Mary's Church of England.

On 6th July 1933 members from St. Paul's Boronia canvassed Basin to ascertain if there were enough Church of England ladies to form a Guild. Consequently, the first meeting of The Basin Guild was held on 18th July 1933. During August of the same year a petition, signed by over thirty people, was submitted to the Diocese of Melbourne requesting Church of England services be conducted in The Basin.

The first service was in Mr. Cain's Hall (The Glideaway), The Basin on 9th November 1933 there being about thirty people present. Services were held fortnightly, on Thursday evenings, as the Vicar was not available on Sundays. He preached at St. Bartholomews, FTG and UFTG, and St. Pauls, Boronia which made up the parish then.

In May 1934, Miss Wicks donated a block of land at the corner of Old Forest Road (now Wicks Road) and Mountain Highway, on which to build a church. After years of work by the Guild, the Church of St. Mary's was built on this site by a builder from Glen Waverley at a cost of 195 pounds. On Sunday 2nd December 1939 the Church was dedicated by Archbishop Head and Rev. C. P. Brown of Ferntree Gully was the first vicar. It is reported that the congregation overflowed the Church on this memorable occasion.

In 1947, land in Mountain Highway was purchased and on 16th February 1948 the building was moved in sections to that site, by a horse and wagon.

In 1955 two blocks of land next to the Church on the west side were purchased to allow space for the erection of a proposed Church Hall.

During 1959, the old site of the Church, at the corner of Wicks Road and Mountain Highway was sold.

On 22nd August 1963, the Vestry approved the erection of a brick veneer hall by the letting of subcontracts. On Sunday, 26th April 1964, the Archdeacon of Kew, The Venerable J. Harvey-Brown, M. A., dedicated the hall which was filled to capacity. A tireless worker for the erection of the new hall was Mr. S. Bedford.

A boost to the Church's finances occurred in 1971 when it received $8,000 from a former parishioner, Mrs Metcalfe. The money, left by Mrs Metcalfe in her will, was to be used solely for improvements at the Church.

During the 1970s the Church experienced a growth in numbers and to accommodate this the Church was extended in October 1975 and included a meeting hall. A loan was taken out to part finance the extension and the loan was paid out in October 1978.

The years between 1970 and the middle 1980s were the "Golden years of St. Mary's". There was a strong community spirit with a caring church family led by Vicar Geoffrey Turner who was with St. Mary's for 12 years. Strong pastoral care was a feature led by vestry and Congregational members. Care groups operated who supported sick church members or members who were disabled in other ways. Social gatherings were a feature of church life including family barbecues, presentation days, picnics and films. The Sunday School and bible classes thrived with numbers reaching 90. At one stage there were seven Sunday School teachers. All maintenance of the church and grounds was carried out by willing church members.

In 1975, the Church was extended and clad with imitation bricks.

During the late 1980s there was a fall in numbers. Because of this, and to rationalise and centralise resources, the Parish decided to close St. Mary's Church in 1989. The Diocese had the property on the market for a couple of years when in 1991 it was sold to Melbourne Vinayagar Hindu Sangam.

The Basin Methodist Church

The first Methodist Church services held in The Basin were in the first building of The Basin Primary School near Doongalla Road. In 1899 and 1900, when the school was temporarily closed due to lack of numbers, the Church used the building. Rev. Harrison conducted these services.

The Basin Methodist Church was built in 1902 in Liverpool Road, The Basin. It was located on land now part of The Basin Primary School near the library.

After the establishment of the Methodist Church and The Salvation Army Homes various church functions were organised. Interchurch dinners were popular and magic lantern slides shown at the dinners.

opened this morning. Mr. Judkins preached both morning and evening. He was good. Every seat in the Church was as full as it would hold, and some stood in the Porch. It was the same in the evening.

Tuesday, October 13th: The tea meeting held at the new Church was a great success, there were about three hundred people there. They made 15 pounds with the tea and collection. The Sunday collections made it up to 20 pounds.

The Church continued in The Basin until 1958 when the building was shifted to Boronia Road, Boronia where it became the Sunday School Hall of the Boronia Methodist Church. The Education Department purchased the land left vacant by the removal of the Church and amalgamated it with the existing school land.

In 1967, the Sunday School Hall was relocated to Pine Crescent Boronia, now owned by the Wesleyan Methodist Church.

Hindu Temple

Building a Hindu Temple in The Basin was one of the most controversial issues that has confronted the local community. The Temple was the subject of numerous Council permit applications and reapplications, a petition, Town Planning Appeals, Tribunal Appeals and many long articles in the local press. The result of all these processes was a Hindu Temple and conditions of use that are considered a reasonable compromise for the Hindu and local communities.

The Melbourne Vinayagar Hindu Sangam was formed in September 1989 by a breakaway group of Tamil Hindus of Vinayagar denomination. They were frustrated at the slow progress in the development of a Ganesha temple by Hindu Society of Victoria. The Melbourne Vinayagar Hindu Sangam was founded, and a pro-tem committee was formed with trustees, members, and volunteers, and with donated funds.

The Sangam's aim was to locate a suitable site in Eastern Melbourne, erect a temple to provide a place of worship and create a centre of attraction for cultural and religious activities. The Temple would be dedicated to Lord Ganesha, also called Vinayagar, the elephant headed god worshipped by all Hindus around the world. Incorporated in the ceiling of the Temple would be a dome (Sikhama/Vimanam) that represents the shape of a mountain. Hindus generally believe that the seat of divinity is in the mountains and thus the Temple structure is likened to a mountain.

When pro-tem committee member Shan Pillai and his wife went to India to source a deity blessed by the Kanchi Shankaracharya Swamigal, they could not find one. They paid a visit to the Shankaracharya Swamigal regardless and were pleasantly surprised when he offered them a deity. It was the first of many miracles they encountered. The deity was named Vakrathunda Vinayagar and brought back to Melbourne, and lived in the home of trustee S. Somasundaram until the temple was built. The deity was taken to a community hall every month for worship.

In on 20th April 1990, the Sangam purchased the land and buildings in Mountain Highway that was the site of St. Mary's Church of England that had closed.

In July 1990, the Sangam applied to Knox Council for development of the site. The development proposal envisaged demolition of the existing buildings (a church and meeting hall), construction of an elaborate and ornate temple, two storey building and outside toilets, and provision of car spaces. It was proposed that the Temple be used for two-hour sessions each morning and evening with at most 15 persons present. On four occasions each year there would be special worship days when up to 120 persons could attend. There would be no funerals, marriages or baptisms at the Temple. Extensive advertising of the proposal attracted 6 objections.

Knox Council officers prepared a report recommending the application be refused on grounds of overdevelopment of the site, detriment to the local environment and adverse effects to the site and surrounding residents. The Sangam became aware their proposal was not favoured by Council and requested deferral of their application to allow a "scaled down" proposal to be drafted. Council deferred consideration of the application at the September meeting to allow the Sangam to discuss the report and objections.

In a revised application, the Sangam envisaged removing the two-storey building and enlarging the temple but reducing its ornateness. Advertising of this revised plan attracted objections from two of the original objectors, 17 new objections and a petition signed by over 500 people. As a result of these latest objections, the Sangam again changed the Temple design to address some objections.

Knox Council officers recommended approval for the latest design, subject to six special conditions.

On 3rd October 1990, Council considered the application. Cr. Dare proposed that the recommendation be adopted. Amendments to the permit conditions were put forward by Cr. Lupton, but these were lost. The recommendation was finally carried 9/1.

Several local residents lodged two appeals with the Town Planning Appeals Tribunal against the decision to grant a permit. The grounds of one appeal were based on overdevelopment of the site, insufficient car parking, proposal is out of character with the area and effect on adjoining residential land. The second appeal grounds were based on hours of use.

Both appeals were held on 27th February 1991. In its lengthy determination issued on 22nd April, the Tribunal did not consider that the proposed development would be an overdevelopment of the site. On the issue of car parking, the Sangam tendered evidence that they had made arrangements with both St. Bernadettes and The Basin Primary Schools for additional car spaces to be made available on four annual days of special religious observance. With this arrangement, the Tribunal considered that there were enough car spaces allowed. The Tribunal did not consider that the proposal was out of character with the area, or that there would be adverse effect on adjoining residences but suggested some changes to the permit conditions to soften the impact of the proposal on these issues. On the hours of use, the Tribunal agreed that the original permit wording be amended. The Tribunal therefore upheld the decision by Council to grant a permit subject to several changes to the permit conditions:

Following the Tribunals decision, Council issued a new planning permit on 30 May 1991 with the relevant conditions listed below. Conditions 17, 18 and 19 were either amended or added from the original Council conditions at the direction of the Town Planning Appeals Tribunal.

14. No external sound amplification equipment used for the purposes of announcements, broadcasts or similar.

16. Parking of church members' cars restricted to the parking areas to be provided and no vehicle under the control of such persons shall park in nearby streets.

17. The building must not be used as a place of worship between 9.00 p.m. and 7.00 a.m. on any day.

18. Except for the four annual days of special religious observance, the daily hours of Congregational services must be between 7.00 a.m. and 9.00 a.m. and 6.00 a.m. and 8.00 p.m. on any day unless with the prior written approval of the Responsible Authority.

19. A 2-metre acoustic fence to the satisfaction of the Responsible Authority be constructed at the applicant's expense along the west boundary of the site.

The Sangam held a special groundbreaking ceremony on 14th September 1991 and construction of the Temple officially began. The foundation stone for the Temple was laid in 1991. The first brick was blessed by Sri Jayendra Saraswathi Swamigal, flown from Kancheepuram to Melbourne, and laid in November 1991. A team of 6 specialists were imported from India on six month visas to build the Temple.

The original church was demolished to clear the land for the building of the Temple, but the meeting hall was not demolished (the original permit conditions were that the meeting hall was to be demolished to allow for the proposed car spaces).

In February 1992, inspections by Council revealed that the meeting hall was being used for residential purposes for the Temple builders, but this ceased in March.

Whilst the Temple was being constructed, the land and residence at 2 Conyers Street at the rear of the Temple site was purchased by members of the Hindu Community. The intention was to use the house at 2 Conyers Street as a residence for the priest in charge of the Temple.

Between the Temple site and No 2 Conyers St., is an unmade right-of-way that runs behind other residential properties and has entrances from Forest Road and Conyers Street. Council resolved in December 1991 to close the right-of-way behind the residential properties and sell the land to adjoining landowners. Thus, the land at 2 Conyers Street and the Temple site would be connected and for all practical purposes under control of the one body.

In September 1992, the Sangam applied to Council with a proposal to keep the meeting hall, relocate the car park and use the residence at 2 Conyers Street for a Manse (residence for a priest). It proposed the meeting hall be used for activities such as committee meetings, small gatherings and religious education. A car park would be provided at the rear of 2 Conyers Street, and ingress/egress to the car park would be on either side of the meeting hall from Mountain Highway. If the right-of-way from the rear of 2 Conyers Street into Forest Road was properly constructed, the Sangam proposed that this be used as the car park egress instead of Mountain Highway.

Whilst Council was considering the Sangams latest proposal, the Temple was finished, the first Traditional Hindu temple in Victoria. On the weekend of 10 & 11 October 1992 a consecration ceremony for the Temple took place attracting large numbers of devotees from Victoria and interstate. Among the dignitaries who attended the opening were Knox Mayor, Cr. Colin Tidball and the Federal Minister for Primary Industries and Energy, Mr. Crean, who represented Prime Minister Keating. Many members of the local community also attended.

Advertising of Sangams latest proposal attracted 8 objections. Knox Council officers prepared a report recommending that the application be approved subject to 26 conditions. In particular, that Forest Road be the egress from the car park.

Six penny Paddock

The Salvation Army once owned some land East of Army Road and allowed local people to take away the firewood, charging them sixpence per dray load. This led to the area being known as the “six penny paddock”.

Council considered this recommendation in December 1992. Cr. Dempster recommended that the application be refused on the following grounds:

1. The proposed uses are not appropriate to the location and incompatible with surrounding development.

2. The proposed uses would result in an undesirable intrusion into an established residential area.

3. The proposed uses are not in keeping with the character of the area and adversely affect the amenity of the area.

Cr. Dempster argued that allowing the old meeting hall to stay would breach the original agreement with the Hindu community for the building to be demolished for onsite car parking. He also took note of numerous residents complaints about car parking since the Temple had opened. The Hindu community had not abided with its agreement to not park on road reserves and nearby streets. Cr. Dempsters recommendation that the application be refused was carried 8/3.

The Sangam lodged an appeal with Town Planning Appeals Tribunal against the Council refusal to grant a permit. This appeal was heard on 16th and 29th March 1993. Several local residents appeared supporting the Councils decision and provided video and written evidence of the Sangams inability to abide by the original Council permit conditions on hours of use and car parking.

The Tribunal handed down its decision on 23rd May 1993 determining that the appeal by the Sangam be disallowed and no permit for its latest proposal be issued. The Tribunal found problems in considering the application when the proposed development was spread over three separately owned parcels of land. Car parking was inadequate and poorly located and the proposed development was an overdevelopment of the site.

By early 1994, the Sangam had adhered to all requirements of the original permit conditions. The old meeting hall had been demolished, car spaces provided, and the site landscaped. In this year the Temple was officially opened.

In March 1999, the temple and an adjoining house was set fire under suspicious circumstances. Nobody was injured, and damage was not extensive.

The second consecration was done on 17th June 2007 when a Raja gopuram was built partly in granite and extensive renovations including shrines for Durga and Murugan were completed.

In 2019 and 2020, extensive renovations and extensions were made to the complex. They were designed by Australian temple architect (Stapathy) Purushothaman Jayaraman (Puru). Puru drew inspiration from the UNESCO-listed Chola temples and sourced the granite from a single quarry in Tamil Nadu, India. South Indian Hindu temples are reconsecrated once every 13 years and this granite transformation has been completed successfully despite the global pandemic.

The main shrine for Lord Ganesha is built from 17 layers of granite, all carved by hand. The roof of the Moolasthanam (the shrine where the main deity resides) is constructed in a conical shape which amplifies the sound of the chanting so that it can be heard around the temple. The roof is capped off by a 6 tonne dome made from a single stone, similar to the UNESCO-listed Brihadeeswarar Temple in Tanjore, Tamil Nadu. Hand carved Ganeshas, elephants, peacocks, lions and lotuses adorn the walls, corners and panels of each shrine.

Granite is a stone that has all the five elements of nature; air, earth, water, fire and space in optimal proportions. Hindus have always constructed temples using granite. This age defying stone, which is strong and scratch proof, is believed to absorb the divine vibrations and the daily chanting in a temple. The temple is designed to precise mathematical calculations on paper to ensure that when each stone is laid, it is done in such a way that the weight transfer takes place to the sides of the structure. The drawings and designs were sent to the Indian Institute of Technology in Chennai and the calculations were verified and validated by UNESCO-approved civil engineers. They were then rechecked by qualified Australian civil engineers and appropriately certified.

Traditional and modern sculpting tools were used to carve every stone. The figurine is initially drawn on paper, then transferred onto the stone by way of markings. The stone is hollowed out using sculpting tools such as a chisel and hammer as well as modern stone cutting and grinding machines. Depending on the sculptors' imagination, intricacy and complexity of each design as well as the desired outcome, this process can take from a few days to months. At the end, exceptionally fine cement and water are used to hold all the pieces together which make the final form look continuous and flawless.

In India, where the carving and sculpting was done, the project spanned three locations and involved more than 1,200 granite stones weighing from 200 kg to 6 tonnes. Close to 100 artisans were involved in the work in India. The carved stones were packed in expensive silver oak wood to avoid pests and shipped to Melbourne. Once in Melbourne, specifically skilled stone masons were brought from India to assemble each stone to produce this magnificent temple.

The project took almost two years, from selecting the temple architect to the final completion. This was done by the 15-member Management Committee of the Melbourne Vinayagar Hindu Sangam (MVHS) which runs the Sri Vagrathunda Vinayagar Temple. Specifically, highly-skilled project consultants, architects and engineers such as Babu Akula (Project Director), Sritharan Sathasivam (Chairman, Building Committee), Markandu Sivakumar (Project Engineer) and Sivagnanam Pillai (Operations Manager) generously volunteered their time to bring this historic project together. Jeeva Balasingam (Site Manager) and Vibhav Nawathe (Project Coordinator) are to be commended for their tireless efforts. The entire project, from fund raising to managing the various aspects of the running of the temple, is done by the Management Committee headed by the executive committee – Balaa Kandiah (President), Shans Pillai

Sri Vakrathunda Vinayagar Temple is the first temple, and continues to be the only temple, that takes the Thaeer (Chariot) out in the streets of Melbourne and they have appeared on the streets of The Basin on numerous occasions. The Temple also participates in community events in the City of Knox such as the Knox Global Cooking Show.

The Basin Salvation Army

The longest established institution in The Basin community is the Salvation Army (SA) who purchased 219 acres of land here in 1897. The land was part purchased from one of the original settlers, David Dobson.

The leader of the SA then, General William Booth, and his wife Catherine, were dedicated to social reform. He had a vision that the therapeutic value of farming could help rehabilitate young offenders and avoid sending them to jail.

After a request by the Government of the day for religious denominations to open homes to replace reformatories, the SA opened institutions in NSW, Heidelberg and Pakenham and later in The Basin. The latter being largest ongoing successful institution in Australia modelled around farming.

The institutions provided help and guidance to many youths who committed offences which brought them into the hands of the police, and for younger boys who, because of neglect, were in danger of falling into criminal tendencies.

Land and Buildings

The SA collectively referred to their establishments in The Basin as “Eden” or “Bayswater the Beautiful”. Over the time they had a presence in The Basin, they purchased, sold and leased up to seven entities that were used as homes or farming. At one stage they had 700 acres on lease. In 2021, only one property remains that is utilised for social reform.

The boys living at Eden were chiefly wards of the State. In the early days, they were classified into one of three categories according to age and past records and then drafted into one of the three homes as described later. In later years, the classification system changed. Although the various homes were on different sites, they were managed centrally.

The Basin Salvation Army

Lt. Col. Jas. Bray

The "Bray Memorial Home for Pensioners" in A'Beckett St central Melbourne., Melbourne is named after the first superintendent of the Salvation Army Boys Home in The Basin, Lt. Col. Jas. Bray. An authority in his time on crime and juvenile delinquency, he served with distinction for seven years at The Basin.

The homes had various names as detailed later, but were best known as the No 1, 2 and 3 homes.

No 1 Home

This home was variously called the "No 1", "Senior", "Big Boys home" and "Farm". It was built on the first land of 160 acres purchased in 1897 from David Dobson at a cost of £6,400. It consisted of homes and a large farm located on what is now The Basin-Olinda Road. On the front gate was the sign "The Garden of Eden".

Teams of SA officers from other parts of Melbourne designed and built the farm. The "War Cry" and "Victory" SA magazines devoted extensive coverage to this massive exercise.

The farm had large water storage's and was extensively irrigated. The perennial creeks passing either side of the property ensured enough water all year round. They grew oats, maize, peas, potatoes, fruits and berries. There were cows, pigs and poultry. A bakery and drapery made the homes nearly selfsufficient. They also supplied milk to The Basin residents. For more than 30 years around the 1920s, the wagon that delivered milk was driven by a man known as "Old Sarge", a familiar sight in The Basin.

The son of William and Catherine Booth, Herbert Henry Howard Booth, was the commander of the Australasian Territories from 1896 to 1901. He oversaw the development of the facilities at Bayswater. In 1898, the "War Cry" reported on a visit by Commandant Booth, his wife and other dignitaries to "Bayswater the beautiful" to tour the facility.

This home was for boys over 14 and those considered the hardest to manage and consequently requiring the greatest amount of supervision. The boys were taught the practical aspects of farming.

The original home was a wooden structure and was rebuilt in brick in 1928 with major extensions finished in 1946.

With the major extension, all other facilities were upgraded, including a modern dairy with milking machines and mechanisation of farm management, but the orchards were phased out. Boys had their own rooms and facilities including recreation and visitors rooms, canteen and later, a TV room.

In 1960, the home was renamed the Youth Training Centre and was accredited by the Social Welfare Department.

A swimming pool opened in 1965. The retaining wall beside the pool was built by trainees at the centre.

In 1969, Government classifications changed, and the home administered by Corrective Services. Soon after this, the Government phased out all children's institutions in favour of foster care and the home became known as a Youth Training Centre.

A new two-story building added in 1975 formed an additional wing to the existing main building.

The farm and associated workshops provided valuable work experiences for thousands of boys who passed through its gates. In earlier times, a large staff of Salvation Army Officers had the invaluable opportunity of working alongside these boys and getting to know them through this close work contact (many retired officers had regular contact with "boys" from their time at "Bayswater"). The demand for "Bayswater Boys" by Victorian farmers after they left the home was high indicating the success of the SA farm program.

On 30 June 1987, the "Bayswater" Youth Training Centre was closed by a shift in Government policies regarding institutional care.

Towards the end of 1988, the idea of utilising the workshops and the farm for further training developed and was encouraged by community minded persons.

By January 1989, "SkillShare" became a reality. Commencing with Computer/Office Skills, Metalwork and Woodwork, participants were given every encouragement to gain entry to the work force including grooming, personal development and job search training.

From February 1989 through to December 1990, the Croydon Baptist Church leased a large room in which to operate an independent Christian School. Approximately 22 students attended daily.

January 1990 brought some changes and the consolidation of the “SkillShare” program when Farm Skills became an approved course and the “office skills” became more intensive. Woodwork was discontinued as it did not suit the local labour market needs of the time.

In February 1990, The Basin Playgroup became part of the “farm” using another large room and playground for their activities.

A further initiative — JOBTRAIN Forklift — brought additional funding enabling training not only in Forklift but Computer/Stores and a Red Cross Certificated First Aid course.

Early 1991 brought some variations on Theme with the addition of a JOBCLUB and further JOBTRAIN courses.

A fire at the Boronia Church of Christ (early 1991) left the church’s Companion Club for primary school girls without a home and the club met for 12 months at the farm.

In 1992, the Centre introduced voluntary programs to physically and spiritually rehabilitate alcohol and drug users. The existing dairy, piggery and stud farms were used in combination with other therapeutic programs. The Holstein Friesian dairy stud developed into a quality program and was called the “New Hope” stud.

The turn of the century brought a new name to the farm “The Basin Rehabilitation Centre” and a change in focus. The alcohol and drug rehabilitation programs still operated but farming and other practical therapies were scaled back. Cattle and horses on the farm were agisted and programs such as woodworking no longer used.

The alcohol and drug rehabilitation program later became known as “The Bridge” program and in 2021 is still operating.

No 2 Home

This home was variously called the “No 2”, “Junior” and “Intermediate” Boys home.

It was built around 1900 on what is now Liverpool Road and included a small farm for basic needs.

This home initially was for boys who had not lapsed so far in crime as those in No 1. The boys were taught the theoretical aspects of farming in preparation for the possible move to the No 1 home.

The new No 2 home was built on Mountain Highway when the SA acquired the new property in 1906. Fire destroyed much of the original wooden building in 1910 and another fire in 1913 destroyed newer buildings that had been rebuilt in brick. A new building was then built on Liverpool Road and the Mountain Highway property only used for farming pursuits.

In 1958, the home on Liverpool Road was rebuilt, the architect being the Baxter Cox of “Wychwood”, The Basin.

Three cottage homes were built to cater for small groups of youths. The last one finished in 1972 was called “Nayla” cottage, meaning “Circle of the Hills”.

In 1969, Government classifications changed, and the home came under Family Welfare.

Soon after this, the Government phased out all children’s institutions in favour of foster care. The home was closed in 1981 and became a Convention Centre, renamed The Salvation Army Mountain Valley Convention Centre. The cottage homes closed in 1983. Ironically, when the last cottage home closed, the remaining child was a small girl, the only girl resident in the entire history of all the homes.

The home closed as a boy’s home but began hosting activities such as music groups, religious assemblies, adventure courses and recreational events. The centre hosted the Police Ropes course, a program to rehabilitate young offenders.

These activities struck a blow when in 1992, the centre closed.

In 2011, a thrift shop opened. In 2021, the shop is still operating and many community support services are offered.

No 3 Home

This home was variously called the “Neglected Boys Home”, “Preventative Home for Boys”, “Little Boys Home”, and “Small Boys Home”.

The home was for boys under 14 years. Half of the boys’ working day was given to normal school education and the remainder to technical pursuits.

The home started in Millers Homestead when the SA leased the homestead and surrounding land from 1899 to 1906. When the lease expired, the boys were transferred to the No 2 home on what is now Liverpool Road site into separate accommodation.

From 1931 to 1946 the boys were accommodated in a home at the base of Sugarloaf Hill (behind the No. 2 home). This home was a Government building transferred from Coode Island. The home can be seen on some early photographs.

Special School

This home was known as The Basin Boys Home Special School and built early to cater for the special needs of boys from the junior Home. The home was located on land beside The Basin Primary School across the road from the No 2 Home.

A fire in early 1972 destroyed almost half of the buildings, and they eventually became vacant. The Basin Primary School started using the buildings and in the early 1980s the buildings and land was amalgamated with The Basin Primary School.

Other Sites Used

In 1901, the SA leased what they called “Colliers’ Estate” which consisted of 100 acres of land and a house near the No 2 home. It was

Community Support

A young Airman and his wife who lived in The Basin had a young baby with a heart defect. The only places that could perform the operation to repair the defect were in England or New Zealand. The community rallied and through the efforts of the local Federal member John Jess, arrangements were made for the RAAF to fly the mother and baby to Sydney. The American Air Force then flew them to New Zealand for the operation. The reverse procedure was used to transport them back to The Basin.

proposed to make this into a No 3 home, but it seems it never eventuated.

In 1906, when the lease for the No 3 home on Millers Homestead expired and all the boys were transferred to the No 2 home, the SA purchased property near what later became the Water Tanks land on Mountain Highway. This land was purchased from John L Yeardon. The “War Cry” reported in 1906 that:

“...the manager now resides on this newly acquired property between the farm [on the Basin-Olinda Road] and the No 2 home [on Liverpool Road]”.

A financial report in 1910 stated that the SA had 213 acres of freehold land, 130 under cultivation, and about 700 acres leased for grazing.

Some early photographs show a large building on this site which may have been used as a No 2 home. It may have been this building destroyed by fire in 1910 and later in 1913.

Bayswater Day

The annual “Bayswater Day” commenced in the 1950s and was an open day when the community could tour the facilities and view the work of the centre.

The SA also exhibited the centres work in various exhibitions. An example was the Australian Industries Fair in 1958 at the Melbourne Exhibition Buildings where the SA exhibited furniture made at the No 1 Home suitable for kindergarten and primary school use.

The Basin YWCA Friendly Circle

The Basin YWCA Friendly Circle was formed on the 11 March 1980 and used The Basin Progress Hall as their meeting place.

The foundation members were Brenda Jackson, Nance Fraser, Lorraine Burrows, Brenda Nudd, Iris Smith, Enid Franks, Ivy Lynch, Val Tokell and Joyce Yeamon. The object of the group as stated by the constitution is “To unite women and girls through faith in Jesus Christ in worldwide fellowship”. It is also to give ladies over 35 years a chance to meet and make new friends and to help the needy in the area.

From a small beginning, meeting twice a month, by 1994 they had over fifty members attending meetings. By the success of the club, friendly circles were formed in Mooroolbark and Wantirna.

Sadly, the group closed in 1999.

Aquarian Spiritual Church

Reverend Mandi Stone opened the Aquarian Spiritual Church on the 2nd November 1986 at The Basin Progress Hall. The church was registered as an incorporated association in 1992.

In 1995, the church moved to Berwick and since then has been renamed and relocated several times. In 2020, the church is known as The One Light Foundation.

The Basin Aquarian Spiritual Church incorporated association deregistered in 2002.

Residents object to plan for Hindu temple

RESIDENTS from The Basin are joining forces to oppose a Hindu temple proposal for Mountain Highway.

One of them, Mr Paul Carroll, said they were strongly opposed to the proposed temple building.

The Hindu Trustees (Melbourne Vinayagar Hindu Sangam) plan to purchase the property at 1292-1294 Mountain Highway to develop it for worship and ancillary purposes.

The main temple building would be single storey of steel and masonry construction (with a floor area of 395 square metres) and include a central shrine room and prayer hall. The second building would be a two-storey brick veneer construction, with the upper storey used as a caretaker's flat for the priest and his family.

Mr Carroll, whose property abuts the proposed temple, said he was not against the applicant's religious beliefs, just the building.

"The nine-metre dome would stick out like a sore thumb, and I'm against this type of thing being established in The Basin," he said.

"The design of this temple is ornate and out of character with the surrounding area."

Mr Carroll said loss of privacy affecting adjacent residential properties and the temple operating on a daily basis were also a concern.

The temple proposal to Knox Council includes it being open for daily worship from 7 am to 9 am, and 5 pm to 7 pm, and the main weekly service on Friday evenings between 6 pm and 8 pm.

There would be special Hindu worship days on four occasions during the year when the temple would be used.

A council report by Knox town planner Adrian Atkins, tabled in September, said most of the trees along the back boundary of the property would have to be removed.

Knox Council will consider the application at its next meeting on Tuesday, October 30.

REFORMATORY BOYS ESCAPE.

BAYSWATER REFORMATORY.

BLOCK OF BUILDINGS BURNT.

FERNTREE GULLY, Wednesday.

Shortly before midnight on Tuesday an alarm of fire was given at the reformatory branch of the Salvation Army's farm establishment at Bayswater, and, as practically no fire-fighting appliances were kept on the premises, nothing could be done to stay the progress of the fire. The result was the complete destruction of the buildings, which were of wood, extending for a length of nearly 200ft.

The No. 2 home was in charge of "Captain" King and six officers, and there were 25 boys in the home at the time of the fire. All fortunately escaped injury, but they had to tramp nearly a mile in their nightclothes to the "Eden." The night was cold, with a heavy mist.

The damage is estimated at £1,000, as not only the dormitory, but the dining-room and playroom adjoining, were demolished. The cause of the fire is unknown.

Though the Salvation Army has the right to take a large volume of water from the Dandenong Creek for irrigation purposes, and there is a heavy and continuous flow of water on the "Eden" property, which could easily be carried to No. 2 home, no provision for water supply to the latter place has been made.

HIS THIRD ESCAPE.

GORDON, Monday.—William Evers, a boy of about 11 years of age, who escaped from the Bayswater Reformatory in February last, was arrested by Mounted-constable Anderson, of Gordon, at Bolwarrah yesterday, and lodged in the local lock-up pending instructions. This is the third time Evers has escaped from a reformatory, always making for home.

NEW CHURCH HALL.

THE BASIN, Sunday.—The new Church of England hall at The Basin was dedicated by Archbishop Head yesterday afternoon.

The petition to dedicate the building was read at the church door by Mr. W. H. Castell, of Boronia. Archbishop Head then entered the building and carried out the dedication service. He was assisted by the vicar of the parish (Rev. C. P. Brown) and the Rev. E. Warner, of Kallista.

Two memorials were also dedicated. Mrs. G. J. Jackson, of Surrey Hills, presented a Communion set in memory of her parents, the late Thomas and Mary Riley. An altar book rest was given by Miss Riley, of Shropshire, England, in memory of her mother.

The church, which has been named St. Mary's, is situated on an excellent site on the Mountain Highway. The land was the gift of Miss O. Wick.

After the service Archbishop Head was entertained at afternoon tea in The Basin Progress Hall. On behalf of district residents he presented a clock to Mr. F. W. Manders, who is leaving The Basin to live in Melbourne.

Summary

Summary

The first store in The Basin was built in 1924 and known as “Smith’s Store”. The owner, R. B. Smith, had a large influence on the early development of The Basin.

Other influential store owners were Bill Wright (Wright’s Store) and Roy Ritchie who owned and operated several stores in The Basin. Apart from running stores, both proprietors helped the community with their involvement in local voluntary organisations.

The Basin has hosted three petrol stations over the years. In 2021, none remain.

Three milk suppliers have operated in The Basin over the years and in 2021, only the Salvation Army remains but it does not supply milk commercially.

The most influential small business in The Basin was undoubtedly Como Nurseries which operated for nearly 80 years when it closed in 1988.

Many small industries have operated in The Basin. The most successful was Lowline Industries which closed in 2014.

Distinguished Resident

Bill Wright

This former proprietor of the general store on Forest Road came here in 1949 and was a driving force behind many community efforts. And drive he could – secretaries and committees alike were amazed and exhausted by Bill’s tremendous enthusiasm and will to work. As The Basin Progress Association President for a total of eight years, he saw the hall almost completely overhauled, mainly due to finance derived from monthly cabarets he arranged.

Bill was 1st Lieutenant of the fire brigade for 11 years, and devoted a great deal of time during bushfires. In V.F.A. football, Bill umpired 108 games including a final series. He recalled that the Grand Final he umpired in 1949 saw the end of the throw pass. Nicknamed “Wrighty”, you could never talk about A.F.L. Football or he would have converted you to the Saints in no time.

He was J.P. for 32 years, a member of the Eastern Districts Football Tribunal, a member of the Wicks Reserve Committee and President of The Basin Centenary Committee. In 1967 he won the “Knox Citizen of The Year Award”

He was – suffice to say, a man who has contributed much more than most to our township. In 1972, Bill sold his store and moved to Boronia. Bill passed away in 2005 at the age of 91.

Shops

Smith's Store

The first shop in The Basin was built in 1924 by Mr. R. B. Smith on the corner of Basin-Olinda Road and Mountain Highway and was known as "Smith's Store". Mr Smith was affectionately known as "Smithy".

Mr Smith started his store from a room off his house which was situated about halfway between The Basin Primary school and the first The Basin Post Office along Mountain Highway. He sold sweets and grocery items from his house.

As a child attending The Basin Primary School, Emily Stephen could recall occasionally spending a halfpenny there on her way home from school. Emily was the daughter of Brigadier J. R. Stephen who was manager of the Salvation Army Home No. 1 from 1914 to 1932. Myra Collier (a descendant of Samuel Collier) served in the shop then. She rode her horse to the shop where it spent the day in a paddock behind the shop that later became tennis courts. She attended The Basin Primary School from 1915 to 1921.

Mr Smith added a barn to the rear of his shop in 1926. He purchased a grain store belonging to Bob & Bert Cox near the corner of Toorak and Warrigal Roads (see photograph on page 176) and had it hauled to The Basin on a large jinker by a team of 9 horses (see photograph on page 173). This became his barn.

Barn dances became a fashion in the 1920s and what better spot could be found than Smith's Barn? Many dances were held here to provide entertainment and raise finances for building The Basin Progress Hall.

Mr. Smith was a leading figure in district activities and was instrumental in the formation of The Basin Tennis Club (see page 237). He built two tennis courts at the rear of his property where competition tennis was played for many years. He was the unofficial Mayor of The Basin. In 1938, Mr Smith sold the store to Harold and Edith Poulter who held it until 1950. Then Horsfield held it until 1955 when Keith and Mary Youl took over the lease. Later owners were Davey and Spong.

The store and barn were demolished when the new shopping centre was built in 1963. The tennis courts were built over in a later property development by Wally and Midge Beesley.

The Basin had a General Store or "Milk Bar" until 2018 when it closed. Around the same time, The Milk Bar in Alcester Village also closed.

Youls' Store

In 1955, Keith and Mary Youl took on a five-year lease on The Basin Store from the owner Mr Horsfield (see "A Glimpse of History at The Basin Store" on page 178). He promised to improve the store which was in a dilapidated state. After the lease ran out and the promised improvements never eventuated, the Youls' purchased land in Forest Road opposite the current Fire Brigade and built a new store there.

They ran the new store for about 7 years but could see the demise of corner stores, so they sold the business to Kevin Hevey. He later applied for a licence to sell alcohol in the store but was refused because of the store's proximity to the Infant Welfare Centre and Kindergarten. Kevin later discovered that if he moved his business to the new shopping centre he could get a licence — which he did. In 2021 the licenced grocer is still there.

Kevin Hevey also moved the newsagency out of his shop and started the newsagency in The Basin in a separate shop. The newsagency closed around 2014.

After Kevin Hevey moved his shop, Youls' Store had various tenants before becoming "The Moonshiners" restaurant in the early 1970s and later the "Calendula" restaurant and later still the "Peacock Den".

Keith and Mary Youl were involved with The Basin Badminton Club for many years.

Lolly Lady

In the 1930s a small shop operated from a house at No.16 The Basin-Olinda Road and was run by Mrs Vic. Webber who was affectionately known as the "Lolly Lady".

She apparently well looked after the interests of visiting scouts and local children. The original house was built on the edge of the land with a serving window.

Midge and Wally Beesley purchased the house in 1954 and discovered that the front room had at one time served as a small store and at an end wall there was a series of cupboards in which were stored the packets of tea, flour, sugar, tinned items and the lollies.

Cain's Store

On The Triangle, on the corner of Mountain Highway and Church Street, a small grocer and lolly shop was built in 1926 by the Allens family. Later taken over by S. Cain. Local boys and girls met there and drank soft drinks.

Attractive signs featuring a Kookaburra, Koala and Lyrebird were on the walls of the shop (see photo on page 170). Written on the wall above the Kookaburra at the front of the shop was the saying:

*"On this wall
The wise I see
This shop right here
At the back of me"*

Around 1929, a verandah of the shop was closed in and the building extended to form a hall beside the shop. The hall was constructed with horizontal timbers and on one side it was open in the way some verandahs were built with rollup canvas blinds. On hot nights, when the blinds were raised to let in any breeze, moths and mosquitoes also appeared. In 1933, the first Church of England service was held there. The hall became known as the "Glideaway Hall".

In 1930, the shop and hall were leased to Mrs Mary Ann Gretton and run by her son Bert.

Charles and Mary Ann Gretton bought a holiday house in The Basin at 32 Conyers Street in 1924. In the late 1920s, they moved to The Basin permanently. In 1930, at the height of the depression, Charles had work but his son Bert did not. Mrs Gretton decided to lease the shop and let her son run it.

When they took over the shop and hall lease, the hall had an inside mini golf course, with hills and bunkers. The Grettons removed the mini golf

The Last Straw

Roy Ritchie, who operated a milk bar and butcher shop on the corner of Conyers Street and Forest Road for many years, was well known to local residents.

Unfortunately, Roy had a run of bad luck in his shop. The residence behind the shop was burgled a number of times, he had a brick thrown through the shop window and a car ran into the shop. The last straw was when he was robbed at knife point and decided to close the store.

course as there were many other potential uses for the hall. Mrs Gretton instigated many activities in the hall to provide entertainment for local people and the unemployed. These included euchre parties, socials, and on special occasions, a “Spider Web Night”, where strings were tied to a central ring from the ceiling, woven in and out of other strings before being attached to the wall with a prize of chocolate awaiting its owner.

Mrs Gretton also introduced regular dances in the hall and it became known as “The Glideaway”. In the days when dancers wore soft leather soled dancing shoes, an impeccably polished floor was essential. The method of polishing the floor was simple but arduous. Candle shavings were spread across the floor and a hessian bag was put under a wooden box weighted with bricks. With a rope around the box, Bert dragged the box over and over the floor until it shone like glass.

From its spot at the corner of Church Street and Mountain Highway the strains of the orchestra could be heard echoing across The Ravine until early hours. Just the same, these dances were much rivalled by those held in the Bayswater Hall. This hall, opened in 1892, has been the scene of many well known functions.

In 1934, Mrs Gretton left the shop and the Bennet family bought it. They ran it for about 5 years but business declined, and they left but retained ownership of the property.

Later, a guitar and mandolin manufacturer operated in the Glideaway Hall, and from 1942 to 1963 the building was a base for the manufacture of clothing and swim suits (see page 188).

Around 1969, for a few years, “Terry Wilde’s Boxing Academy” used the hall.

In the 1970s, Knox Council purchased the land, the remnants of Cain’s store and the Glideaway Hall. All were demolished as part of Council’s plan to turn the Triangle into a passive park.

Gretton’s Shop

A block of land on the corner of Forest Road and Conyers Street was once owned by Mrs Mary Ann Gretton. When her lease on “Cain’s Store” ran out in 1934, her son Bert built a one room shop on the property and operated it for a year or two. The property was then bought by Mrs Gretton’s son Frank. He sold it to Mr. W. J. Wallis (who later donated it and the adjacent block to the Council).

Junction Store

Close to Wrights Store on the corner of Forest Road and Old Forest Road was the “Junction Store” run by the Fielder family and later the McNeilly family (mother and daughter). It operated from the early 1930s to the 1940s.

The term “Junction” was attached to the Junction Store and the Junction Dairy. Then, Forest Road had just been created (in the Forest Heights Estate) from the corner of Old Forest Road to The Basin main centre, so this area became a significant “Junction” of roads.

For a while, the original “Junction Store” sign was still visible at the top of the building even after the store closed, but repainting has since hidden it.

It seems strange the “Junction Store” and “Centre Store” could operate effectively so close but this may be the reason the Junction Store closed.

In 2021, the original Junction Store building was still intact.

Langdon’s Store

Langdon’s Store in Mountain Highway, just up from Clevedon, was built by George Langdon in 1940 (see photo on page 179).

Around 1930, his parents purchased six blocks of land in the Schneider Estate subdivision and built a weekend shack on one block fronting Claremont Ave. They visited for weekends and holidays travelling to Bayswater and then by coach or walking.

In the 1930s, most houses in the area were only holiday homes and “weekender’s” and people would ask his mother for small stores. The requests became so frequent she opened a small store from her verandah. When her son married in 1938, she gave him the land higher up from her house and suggested he build a store there — which he did in 1938. He later added rooms at the rear.

In the 1940s a telephone booth was installed beside the store and in 1949 a postbox was installed.

In 1950 Mr Langdon sold the store and it was taken over Mr. and Mrs. Usher for about one year and then later by Rod Travis and his wife. Rod was a journalist for the Sun and Herald newspapers before moving to The Basin.

The store closed in 1965 when Rod retired.

Williams' School Store

Opposite the Basin Primary School in Mountain Highway, where the original school crossing was, there once was a store operating from 1949 to the late 1960s (see photograph on page 184) called the “School Store”.

Built and first run by Edmund (Eddie) and Alice Williams in 1949, it competed with stores in The Basin supplying lunches for The Basin Primary School and the needs of local residents.

Edmund's father James, owned three grocery stores in Footscray. He bought a block in Augusta Road in the 1920s and over time built a house there. Two of his children, Edmund and Ethelwynne attended The Basin Primary School.

Eddie and Alice sold out to the Davis family in 1952 who operated it for another 10 – 15 years. It later closed and was demolished.

The Phone Box beside the store remained for several years after the store closed but was later removed. The Post Box was moved to near the new school crossing location.

Wright's Store

The original store on the corner of Forest Road and Wright Street was built in the 1930s by Gandinnie and was first known as “The Centre Store”. Later owners included Davey (1933 to 1939), Weidner's (1939 to 1943) and Walker Brothers (1943 to 1950) when it became known as "Walker's Store".

In earlier days, tables and chairs and a miniature golf course (on block of land West of store) were available for use by customers. On Sundays, the store sold pies and drinks to the Sunday motorists. The store was later known as "Wright's Store" when owned by Bill and Blon Wright from 1950 to 1972 (see photo on page 181). Wright street was named after the Wrights.

The store sold a wide range of supplies, including kerosene, briquettes, groceries, stamps, wheat and bran. The public phone box near the store was the only phone in the area.

The Wright's did not just run a shop, the store was the centre of most activities in the area and open seven days a week. On a Saturday, after the football had finished and the pubs had closed, residents often waited at the store for delivery of "The Sporting Globe" (The Sporting Globe was a small newspaper produced late on a Saturday that contained all the sporting results of the day. It was produced quickly on pink paper and rushed to stores. It ceased production in the late 1990s).

Heated discussions between rival footy supporters sometimes occurred and many a time blows were exchanged.

Many people called in for a chat and a gossip. It was a social outing to come to the store. The store had a long verandah with chairs where people would sit and talk.

In the early 1950s, there was no reticulated electricity, but the buses ran seven days a week and late at night. Buses left from the store and people would come down at night with their hurricane lamps to see visitors off on the bus.

The Wright's raised seven children whilst running the store. Bill Wright was also involved in many local activities including the Progress Association, Fire Brigade, Football Club, The Basin Centenary Celebrations (for which he won an award) and he was a Justice of the Peace. Bill's numerous voluntary involvements makes him one of the towns "Distinguished Residents". His profile is detailed on page 168.

In 1970, Bill had plans of upgrading the store. The plan involved leaving the old style front section of the store in its original state and rebuilding the rear to a more modern state. Blon was not keen on the idea as it meant at least another 8 years in the store. Also, preliminary discussions with the local Council on the idea were not fruitful. Bill decided to sell the store in 1972 to Peter Papageorgiou who demolished the old store and built a new store which in 2021 is the current building.

Bill and Blon retired to live in Boronia. Blon passed away in 1991.

In the early 1980s, the area in front of the store was sealed and a parking area and median strip created.

In 2000, the store was internally remodelled creating a takeaway food section. The owners kept the old store name by calling the takeaway section “Wright’s Fish and Chips”. Subsequent owners have kept the name.

Granger’s Butchers

In 1956 a butcher shop and dwelling was built by a Mr. F. Thoren on the corner of Forest Road and Conyers Street. The shop was set up and operated as a butcher by Ron Granger and his father for about one year. Roy Ritchie took over this shop in 1957.

Ritchie’s Shop

Roy Ritchie took over Grangers Butchers when he moved to The Basin with his family in 1957.

In the early 1960s he divided the shop into two shops and continued running the butcher in one. The other shop had various tenants until 1971 when he opened a milk bar in it. With the help of Mrs Radford he operated both shops until 1978 when he decided to close the butcher shop after an operation made it difficult for him to continue.

He continued to operate the milk bar with the help of Mrs Radford until early 1987 when it closed. Various tenants have since occupied each shop.

Over the years, Roy was involved in many voluntary organisations in The Basin making him one of the towns “Distinguished Residents”. His profile is detailed on page 150.

Clarke's Butchers

A butcher shop run by a Mr. Herbert (Bert) Clarke and his daughter operated from about the years 1930 to 1934 on The Triangle a little up from The Basin Progress Hall on Mountain Highway. The shop was in the front of his home. He also home delivered meat and sometimes carved it up on the spot on his chopping block in the back of his vehicle.

Before opening his shop, Mr. Clarke was employed felling trees in Doongalla, digging the "1 in 20" road (Mountain Highway) and at the sawmill in The Ravine.

Bert was active in local affairs including The Fire Brigade, Tennis Club and Progress Association.

Mr. Clarke closed his butcher shop due to ill health. Another butcher opened sometime later across the road and a house was built on and used as a residence. In this house, Bill Borthwick lived for a time. He later became an M.P.

Another resident of this house was a Mrs. Theresa Woodyatt. She was lost in the hills for a couple of days around 1948. Search parties were organised, and she was found in the gully behind where the water tank in Bayview Crescent is now located. She was carried down the hill to Walker's (Wright's) store where she was bathed and fed.

Howe's Greengrocers

In the 1950s a shop was built in Forest Road, roughly opposite where the scout hall is now located. This shop was first operated as "Howe's Greengrocers" by Mr. Howe.

In 1962, the business, which was then a milk bar, was taken over by Mrs Radford. In 1970, it was sold back to Mr Howe who continued to operate it for a year or two before closing. It then became the Forest Lodge Restaurant which closed in 1997.

Shops

Main Shopping Centre

In 1963, The Basin's shopping facilities were greatly increased when a centre of 13 shops was built, organised by Pages Real Estate. The tenants have changed over the years but have included a chemist, butcher, grocer, hardware, fish and chips, draper, bread shop, greengrocer, milk bar, hairdresser, newsagency and doctor's surgery. The first fish and chips shop in The Basin was opened by Albert Foggitt in this centre.

The Basin Central

The Basin Central opened in 1985 in Forest Road opposite Church Street on the site which was once the petrol station operated by Thompson. The complex consists of four shops which have been occupied with various tenants over the years.

Chemist Shop

George Leake has the distinction of being the longest serving shop proprietor in The Basin, having operated the chemist shop from 1963 to 1999, a total of 36 years.

George retired in 1999 and closed the chemist shop. The Basin Progress Association organised a function for George where members of The Basin community paid their respects to George for his service over the years. Over 100 people attended the function where George was presented with awards from The Basin Progress Association and The Basin Rotary.

Petrol Stations

Thompson

The Thompson family ran a horse cab service between Boronia and The Basin in the 1910s. The base for this operation was their property on Mountain Highway near where St. Bernadettes School is now located. This service was mainly operated by Mr Thompson Senior (Alfred). Due to poor returns he changed to Bayswater station but was in competition with Bert Piergrosse and was driven out.

Returning to Boronia, he was in competition with Vere Page who later concentrated on land sales.

In the 1920s he built a small shop on land opposite Church Street on Forest Road. Initially, the shop was a Real Estate Agency and later a shoe repair business ran by Mr Hall.

In the 1930s, he built a garage on the site (see photo on page 185) and called it The Basin garage. The garage had a dirt floor. Later, an extension was built on the RH side with a wooden floor. The garage was also a depot for hire cars. The Thompson family siblings, Alf, Dick, Edith and Ernie, ran various aspects of the business.

In the 1953, the garage was sold to Frank Cook and his son Maurice.

Cook

In 1961 – 62 Frank Cook built a service station on the corner of Miller's Road and Mountain Highway and then closed the one in The Basin that he purchased from the Thompsons. They later sold the business to the Parr family.

In 1997, this station was demolished and a modern new service station erected with car wash.

Benson

Around the early 1950s, in Mountain Highway, next to the "Glideaway" in front of Clarke's (the butcher) home, once stood a Neptune service station owned by Benson. It is thought this station was only open for about five years.

Vanderlee

In 1965, a new service station was built on the corner of Mountain Highway and Old Forest Road where a milk bar once operated. It was rented by the Cook family who had customers at both service stations. The mechanics and the Cooks working wherever needed. Fritz Vanderlee took over the business. Later owners included Hart and Riley.

In 2009, the station stopped selling fuel and concentrated on mechanical repairs and tyres and became known as Hillview Motors run by Ian Hedrich.

In 2016, Ian moved his repair business to another location.

The Basin Store

Early photographs show bowsters outside the shop but it is not known when the store stopped selling fuel.

Dairies

Hornby's Dairy

Hornby's Dairy, run by Victor Hornby, operated between about 1926/27 and 1936/37 at 310 Forest Road almost opposite Carnarvon Avenue.

He was a notable yachtsman before coming to the district. His yacht "Nauroi" won several events around Port Phillip Bay in the 1922 – 1924 period. Victor purchased 2 or 3 blocks of land along Forest Road and built a holiday house there. He saw an opening for a dairy and moved here fulltime.

The Dairy had a garage and a small grazing area. The garage had "Junction Dairy" painted on the doors. At first, he grazed and milked his own 2 cows supplemented with milk from the Salvation Army. He also sourced milk from Colliers in Colchester Road.

The dairy was also known as the "Basin Dairy" (painted on the milk cart). See photo on page 182).

Victor undertook milk rounds on his cart and his son, Russell (born 1928), undertook a milk round with a lidded pail before school.

The dairy ceased operating when local shops began selling milk around 1937.

Day's Dairy

Les Day is one local business man whom few people were up early enough to see. Les was the "milko" in The Basin for about 40 years, from the days when every household had their milk delivered to the front gate.

After his discharge from the Air Force in 1945, he began delivering to The Basin by horsedrawn cart, when Brown's Dairy of Boronia had three delivery men. By 1975, there were 16 carts crisscrossing the foothills. In that year, Brown's sold out to Model Dairies and home deliveries were discontinued. Delivery contractors were hired to deliver to shops, cafés and commercial premises.

For many years after then, Les delivered milk from The Basin to Tremont, Monbulk and Belgrave, with two trucks working from midnight to early morning.

Salvation Army

The Salvation Army home in The Basin is known to have supplied milk at various times to local dairies and possibly local residents. The home had from time to time grazed dairy cows and had their own milking machines.

For more than 30 years around the 1920s, the wagon that delivered milk from the Army was driven by a man known as “Old Sarge”, a familiar sight in The Basin.

Mrs Ada Dickson, who ran the Post Office in The Basin in the 1920s, sold milk from a large can (supplied by Old Sarge) but customers had to bring their own billy.

Restaurants

Moonshiners

The Moonshiners opened in the early 1970s in the shop once known as Youls’ Store on Forest Road opposite the Fire Station. The restaurant provided entertainment and by the mid 1970s was well patronised, particularly on a Wednesday evening when folk singing was introduced. The Basin Fire Brigade meetings on Wednesday nights were privileged to have the background music.

The Moonshiners closed in 1998.

A Glimpse of History at The Basin Store

“We had looked at, at least nine country stores but when we walked into the The Basin Corner Store, we knew immediately it was the one we wanted. There was a wholesome country store aura about the place, from the large blocks of cheese to the barrels of wheat,” said Mary Youl, and her husband Keith agreed.

It was 1955 when they took over the lease from the owner, Mr Horsfield.

“The shop was nearly falling down,” Keith added, “but we could see the potential of the people and the area. We were promised all sorts of improvements and maintenance but they never happened. Our lease was for five years so I suppose the owner thought it was a waste of money. Anyway, with no experience, a large mortgage and three small children, Bruce, seven, Nerida five and Glenda three, we took on the challenge. It was a wonderful experience for us and the children and we never regretted it.”

“The store was a weatherboard building,” Mary explained. “With a verandah around the front with seats and a hitching rail. Attached to the shop at the back were two bedrooms and a living room. We only had one power point in the residence and were always blowing the fuse by overloading, but we were lucky to have power. It only went a short way up the hill. Consequently, we had a marvellous trade in kerosene for the first year or two until the power supply was extended.”

According to Mary, she and Keith endeavoured to supply the local community with all their needs.

“If people wanted it we got it. Keith used to go down every Saturday morning to the baker in Boronia and bring back trays of freshly baked sticky buns. There would be a queue waiting for them.”

They had a newsagency, bank and dry cleaning agencies. They sold stock food, knitting wool, children’s clothing, haberdashery, hardware, a huge range of groceries and delicatessen products, and had a petrol bowser out the front. Gumboots were a great seller and most of the stock for the shop came up by train.

“Keith would pick up things from the station in our bottle green Austin A40, and of course he had to go down to get the papers off the train. There was always a social gathering outside the shop on the verandah waiting for the last edition of the Herald and the Sporting Globe on Saturday nights,” Mary said. “We had a gentleman’s agreement with the people across the road in the milk bar and didn’t stock things that they sold.”

Mary obviously has a kind heart because the store stocked comics that were well read but never sold, and when she ran out of broken biscuits to sell to the children she would break some of the good ones up so as not to disappoint anyone.

On weekdays, the store opened at 6 am and closed at 9 pm, with an hour off for lunch between 12 o’clock and 1 pm. Saturday, they closed at midday but opened in the evening for the papers. Sunday was supposed to be a holiday but urgent requests were seldom refused.

Keith used to do deliveries to Ferndale, Boronia, down the Ravine and up to Doongalla.

Thinking back, Keith said, “Sometimes I thought that little A40 would never get back out of The Ravine. It was a terrible climb. Especially in winter on the unmade muddy roads.”

The Basin in the 1950s and 1960s was the first home for many new arrivals from overseas.

“Wonderful people,” Mary said. “We had our language problems but always seemed to sort out what was wanted. Everyone was so honest to. We had no fences and no security. Our lock for the front door of the store was a chair or a ladder propped against it on the inside. When we left the business in the 60’s we were not owed one penny.”

“When we first took over the business, we realised we were the interlopers and had to be accepted by the locals so we let them show us how things were run. We handled practically no cash and what we did came mainly from passing trade. Every family had a book into which we wrote their purchases, and then on pay day or endowment day, all the accounts were settled. It was a good arrangement that suited everyone.”

Forest Lodge

The Forest Lodge restaurant opened in the shop once known as Howe's greengrocer on Forest Road opposite the Fire Station. It closed in the mid 1990s.

Calendula

Situated in the old Moonshiners building in Forest Road, Calendula opened in 2001 operated by Kate Hall and Jamie Liebe. It closed in the late 2000s.

Oak Tree Tavern

Started in 2000 by Mal Leather in a converted shop in The Basin Central.

In 2005, the business was purchased by Jane Flanigan.

In 2008, the business was purchased by Barry Valentine.

Acorn on Forest

In 2001, Mal and Aileen Leather opened the Acorn on Forest in the building once occupied by Forest Lodge which was originally known as Howe's greengrocer.

Based on a British pub theme, it provided meals and special entertainment events throughout the year.

In 2015, the business was sold to good friends Suzanne and Ross Mackintosh.

In November 2016, the business was sold to Tony Eastward. Tony renovated the bar, upgraded the decking area and introduced themed dinner nights.

Further renovations occurred during the 2020 pandemic and the business reopened in November 2020.

Small Businesses

Walker's Estate Agency

Mrs. Helen Walker operated a Real Estate Agency from around 1950 to 1965 on the high side of Mountain Highway, just up from Wicks Road.

The agency was in a small building at the front of a house.

Les Greenwell

Les and Elsie Greenwell moved to The Basin in 1935 during the depression years with all their possessions in a few suitcases. A hard worker all his life, Les worked at various times as a bricklayer's labourer, road clearing and building. Les and Elsie lived on the corner of Forest Road and Harrison Street and grew sprouts on the property for a few years. From around 1960 to 1973 he specialised in making sprout cases and had a case making factory there. Many of The Basin youngsters earned pocket money working in the case making factory. Les was a familiar figure around The Basin with his faithful old horse, Bob. Later, he pensioned off Bob and purchased a truck for making deliveries.

Les was also the local scrap metal dealer. On the opposite side of Forest Road, on the Stuart Street corner he operated a wood merchant yard from around 1950 to 1960.

Les and Elsie were active in local affairs. Les was president of The Basin Football Club from 1952 to 1954, a member of The Basin Tennis Club and Badminton Club and in the late 1940s he was secretary of the Wicks Reserve Committee.

Industries

For a community to hold its settlers and to gradually grow, a source of employment is necessary. The farms, nurseries and orchards have kept many families together but various other ways of turning a coin have been found.

Flower and Fruit Growers

In the early years, The Basin was a prodigious producer of many flowers and fruits.

Boronia was introduced to the district well before World War One and William Chandler is credited with propagating the first Boronia in The Basin district. Others of the Chandler family including John and Don Maguire, Alfred Chandler and John Chandler grew Boronia. Wally Goodwin grew Boronia on his property on the corner of Millers road and Mountain Highway but later changed to growing apples. Production was at its peak in the district in the 1920s and 30s. There was a setback in 1932 when a rust disease decimated most of the Boronia in the area.

The variety of Boronia that was principally grown was the Boronia Megistigma (sweet smelling brown Boronia). It was not a striking flower, but had a beautiful scent that made it popular. It was marketed as a cut flower and sent state wide and interstate.

Daffodils and Liliums were grown by Michael Spry on his property in The Basin. In 1964' he was awarded the Australian Daffodil Championship and was once president of the Australian Lilium society.

Daffodils were also grown by Don Maguire on a property in Old Coach Road.

Different fruits were grown on the Dobson property in Liverpool Road and apples on the land around Gravenstein Crescent before it was subdivided.

Lemons were grown in the 1930s by the Beaumont's on their property on the slopes below Ferndale. The Crawfords also managed lemon orchards on a property off Old Coach Road from about the 1950s to the 1980s.

In the 1950s there was a small lemon orchard off Augusta Road run by Leslie Dickson who was the son of Ada Dickson. She ran the first post office in The Basin from her house near there. A Mr Garner took over the orchard and lived in a humpy on site. He apparently could not keep up any payments and walked off the property.

Como Nurseries

William Chandler selected property in The Basin in 1873, after consultation with his friend Baron Von Mueller. Previously he worked with his father William in his nursery and market garden in Glenferrie Road, Malvern which was established in the 1850s. William Chandlers selected property was bounded by The Basin-Olinda road, Sheffield road and Doongalla road. William and later generations grew vegetables, fruit and flowers on The Basin property and is credited with propagating the first Boronia in the district.

William and his wife Kate had eleven children, most of whom worked on the property until they married, when they were given land, mostly in The Basin/Kilsyth areas. William died in 1911 and the property was inherited by brothers Wref and Bert who conducted a partnership which became unsatisfactory. Bert purchased Wref's share in 1919. It was around this time the concept of a specialised nursery was conceived and began development. This nursery became known as "Como Nurseries" after the name given to the Chandlers second house, which was built in the 1870s.

Bert and Jessie had three sons, Fergus, Geoff and John. Not long after Jessie's death in 1931, the two elder sons found it necessary to leave Como. John, after finishing school at Burnley Horticultural College, worked continuously at Como, only being away for the three years he spent in the A.I.F. during the Second World War. In 1948, Bert after helping his two older sons in business and to obtain part of the original Como property, formed a partnership with John as Bert Chandler & Son.

The association of Bert and John was always a close one from the mid thirties. They both had a deep love of the property, their vocation and enjoyed working together improving Como Nurseries, collecting new plants and propagating less common trees and shrubs which they shared with friends and sold to the public.

By the time of Bert's death in 1970, Como Nurseries was a well known and respected nursery. John inherited the property from his father's estate and soon after formed a company called "Bert Chandler & Son Pty. Ltd., Como Nurseries" with his wife Margaret and family. The family were all given shares in the new company.

In 1976, a six acre display garden was created at the “Mail Bag Corner” paddock at the corner of Basin-Olinda and Sheffield Roads and named by the family the “Bert Chandler Gardens”. The garden contained a large collection of less common trees and shrubs which were collected over the years. The plants were all named and listed in a plant catalogue printed every two years so the public could find plants in which they were interested. The gardens were open every day except Christmas and Good Friday and knowledgeable staff were always on hand or available as the retail sales were conducted from the garden.

Como Nurseries was requested by the newly formed Ornamental Plant Collections Association. Inc., to have the Prunus Serrulata collection and also applied for the Magnolia collection. The Association also requested that the Bert Chandler Gardens be used as the venue for the official launching of the Ornamental Plant Collections Association. Inc., the headquarters of which are established at the Royal Botanical Gardens, Melbourne.

The gardens were made available to people wanting to have their weddings in the grounds and were becoming popular with plant lovers both local, interstate and overseas. Walking tracks were formed up along the creek with its fern gully and up the hill through natural bush where maidenhair fern has grown for over 100 years.

Several outstanding plants came out of Como Nurseries over the years. Two of note are firstly, Pieris Japonica Bert Chandler. This plant originated in a tray of seedlings grown by Bert, as a tiny thing less than 1 cm tall. It had a pale leaf which went yellow and most people at this stage would pull it out as a freak or sick. Bert saved it. Immediately after the Second World War the first stock was propagated by layering and Bert named it Pieris Japonica Chandleri.

When it was finally produced in quantity, a plant was sent to Hilliers Nurseries, Winchester, England. Mr. Hillier wrote back and asked if the name could be changed to Pieris Japonica Bert Chandler to comply with the new International nomenclature laws that were being formed around the world. Another nurseryman, Mr. Cyril Isaacs requested permission from Bert to nominate it for a Gold Medal from the Federation of Australian Nurseryman. This was awarded in 1964. This plant is now grown and catalogued in many countries around the world.

The second outstanding plant to the history is a Magnolia imported from England in 1956. This plant takes 18 years to flower and was not found true to its name; it was a garden hybrid which was regarded unusual then. The Magnolia grows into a beautiful upright plant with magnificent mauve — pink flowers 25 – 30 cm in diameter. After consultation with an International authority on Magnolias, it was named “Magnolia Como”.

John and Archibald Chandler also developed special Boronia seedling types that were accepted by the Australian Cultivator Registrar. These were the Red Megastigma Boronia.

One of the most pleasing features of the Chandlers over the years was the close association and friendship with their staff.

In 1988, it became apparent that Como Nurseries could not continue with all family members being involved and sadly it was agreed that the only solution was for Como Nurseries to be sold. John made the announcement to the staff on 5 September 1988. A local lad who started with the Chandlers in 1978 directly from school, Mark Hall, was appointed new manager.

After 117 years, Como Nurseries no longer belonged to the Chandler family. John Chandler moved out of the area.

In the early 1990s the remaining Chandler property was subdivided. Two 1 acre allotments were created on the corner of The Basin-Olinda road and Sheffield road. A 15 acre allotment incorporating the Bert Chandler Gardens was sold in 1996 to George and Pat Hetrel. Over the next two years they built a home overlooking a mamade lake. A large shed was built to house a large historical car collection and motor memorabilia.

In consultation with John Chandler, they rejuvenated the Bert Chandler Gardens that were originally created by John in 1976. A miniature train track was constructed that runs through the gardens and over trestle bridges which cross the creeks that pass through the property.

They have opened the gardens to the public on many occasions.

Locksley Textiles

Bob and Jean Harrison bought the 10 acres of land in Mountain Highway, The Basin in about 1937 or 1938. Bob was a sales rep for Noel P Hunt & Co, textile machinery agents. When WWII started he was rejected for military service and put in charge of machinery parts procurement to keep the textile industry going in Australia, South Africa and New Zealand for the war effort. It was impossible to get new parts from Britain as they were likely to end up at the bottom of the ocean thanks to German U boats. Bob had an inventory of all machinery parts, new and secondhand, held by all textile mills in Australia and New Zealand. He could issue orders for their compulsory acquisition for the war effort and have them shipped to where they were required to keep vital machinery running.

In 1947 Bob and Jean decided to start a textile mill at The Basin. As there had been no industry in The Basin or Bayswater this was the first real “industry” in the area. As building materials were still in short supply because of the war, he purchased an old barn at Cranbourne, had it dismantled, transported to The Basin and erected.

As reported in The Mountain District Free Press in September 1950:

“Locksley Textiles submitted plans of a modern factory at Mountain Highway, the Basin. It will be a modern factory and an acquisition to the district. The plans were approved.”

Six Crabtree (basic pick and pick) weaving looms and a warp mill and creel were purchased from a mill in Sale. The first contracts were for the supply of army blankets for the military as they were in short supply. All blankets sent overseas with troops were never brought back. Many thousands were produced. Blankets for the domestic market were also produced for the well known brands “Laconia” and “Invicta”.

The business grew fairly quickly and a new factory was built around the old barn. Modern looms able to creating complex fashion fabrics were purchased. Bobs wife Jean worked in the mill as a weaver. The Eldest son Robert (jnr.) joined the mill when he left school in 1955 aged 15.

As the demand for blankets fell, the old pick and pick looms were used for weaving of cotton cleaning cloths. Two carding machines and a pair of spinning mules were added, allowing for the conversion of raw wool to yarn.

By 1956 Locksley Textiles employed 100 people and worked 24 hours a day and Bob took on a partner to facilitate further expansion. Promised performance from the partner in securing new contracts fell short of expectation. In 1959 Bob sold his remaining share in the business to a colleague of his partner.

Christmas 1960, Bob and Jean decided on a “tree change” to a small farmlet at Glenburn, moving in March 1961. In April 1961 son Robert was killed on Boronia railway level crossing. Ironically, mother Jean had been hit by a train on the same crossing in 1952.

A credit squeeze in 1961 saw Locksley Textiles go to the wall. Bob and Jean were never paid for the final share of the business sold. Expecting this to pay for their little farm and their retirement, they returned to Melbourne and rejoined the workforce once again in the textile industry.

Bob and Jean finally retired in 1979 aged 75 and 61 respectively, moving back to the farm at Glenburn which had become a weekend for many years. Jean passed away in March 1986 aged 69, Bob finally succumbed in October 1995 aged 91.

Lowline Industries

Les Lowe, the founder of Lowline Industries, started his business in 1946 as Lowline Canopies. He first built plywood canopies in his parents backyard in Croydon eventually building a factory on the site. He then manufactured plywood, fibreglass and aluminium canopies, sun visors, tow-bars, bull bars and roof racks.

In the late 1950s he branched out into selling caravans which were becoming popular. In 1962, Les purchased an existing caravan yard in Ringwood and started LowLine Caravans, Sales and Hire. Canvas work was a speciality at this site. Sales did not suit Les, so he concentrated on hiring caravans.

In 1974, he purchased the 10 acre site in The Basin that was once Locksley Textiles. He sold 6 acres, keeping the 4 acres that included the original Locksley Textiles factory, and moved his Lowline Canopies business to this site.

In the 1980s, he moved Lowline Caravans to The Basin site and merged the two businesses to become Lowline Industries.

Les Lowe passed away on the 10th November 1998 at the age of 75. His son Dennis took then over the business and his daughter Jayne worked in the office.

Up to 2014, Lowline Industries produce high quality canopies, roof racks and hire caravans, pop tops and camper trailers. They had the largest hire fleet in the Metropolitan area.

In 2014, the business closed and the land was subdivided for housing.

Dunlops and FibreMakers

In 1952, Dunlop's Aviation Division was opened in Bayswater. British Nylon Spinners (first known as Fibremakers) opened in November 1958, and then employed many people from The Basin.

Logging and Sawmills

Scars are still evident on some properties around The Basin Olinda Road and Old Coach road when logging cleared most of this area in the 1860s.

There was a sawmill in The Ravine that operated between 1919 and 1923. In the 1990s, the property that was the site of the mill still had the scars of the mill visible and traces of sawdust could be found. Nearby, were the original houses of the paymaster and the mill workers. Apparently, the mill was a good source of Blackwood Timber. Timber in and out of the mill was carted along the “Mill Track” which ran from Claremont Avenue around the back of Clevedon onto The Basin-Olinda Road.

In 1992, Doris Langdon (Mrs Fountain) recalled playing in the heaps of sawdust as a child about 1924/1925 but the mill was no longer there. Extracts from the Janet Dobson diary:

“There was quite a big bushfire over in Mackenzies today, it started at the place where they are building the Mill to saw timber, the mill hands were beating it out.” (7/11/1919)

“The big engine went up to the sawmill today, drawn by 6 horses. I am afraid a saw mill will spoil the look of the mountain.” (12/11/1919)

“At dinner time a big bushfire started up in Ferndale and came down towards uncle’s orchard”.

“They went over and all Mr Griffiths men and Uncle Arthur, Mr Agar and several others burnt a break along the Mill track. They carted the mill wood through Jack’s paddock.”

“They had to work hard to keep it from Mr Grumont’s house. It got very close to Meadways house, there were over a dozen men beating it back.”

“It got into Maguire’s cut scrub and it looked something grand at night, we could see our

Jim Stephens – A Worker at Locksley Textiles

In about 1959 – 60 I was employed by Mr Harrison to work as a storeman at his textile factory in Mountain Highway, The Basin. Having recently got a contract with a large woollen mill that would mean handling great quantities of baled wool and tons of spun threads, as well as completed cloth, he needed a new storeman. My wage was £15 a week ($30).

At this time the company took the name of Locksley Textiles where previously it had been known locally only as Harrison’s Mill. The factory building was expanding and although the spinning area was open to the winds it gradually became weatherproof.

The storeroom was my concern and the store keeping duties were varied and interesting, but when things were quiet I often worked on the winders and in other areas.

Wool came in huge bales. It was put through the machines and spun into thread which was sometimes sent away as thread and sometimes woven into fabric.

For some time the Harrison’s did the basic weaving of blanket material which was then sent elsewhere for completion of the blankets. We also produced finer Jersey material made from much thinner thread. Half this thread was spun normally and the other half spun in reverse. In weaving, each second thread was reverse spun.

We used a variety of wool’s, some pure wool, some included reused wool and some had artificial fibres. For along time we also wove and cut into long, two foot wide strips, an absorbent cotton material which, when returned to the Melbourne manufacturing company, was cut and hemmed into dishcloths.

The looms held up to 200 or 300 feet of cloth in a run, with a shipment consisting of up to thirty lengths of cloth.

In my second year of employment at Harrison’s, my wages were increased to £16 a week. There were times when an evening shift was necessary, but not regularly. Much of the spinning was done at night.

During the twenty years of Locksley’s operation, employment must have been provided for a great many local people. There were probably about twenty people employed by Harrison’s in the two years of my employment. Some of whom I recall were Mr and Mrs Harrison in the office, weavers

Alice Galloway, (?) Galloway, Mrs Kable, Mrs Rothwell and Mrs Chick. Winders Mrs Thoren, Mrs Galloway, (?) Beale and spinners Pierre (?), Mr Foggett and his daughter. Loom turner/mechanic Bill Girvan, Warper Robert Harrison (who was later killed on the Boronia railway crossing soon after duplication of the line) and tea lady Mrs Bates (Mrs Harrison’s mother).

Unfortunately, when the 1961 credit squeeze began, things become tough for Locksley and the textile industry in general.

Over several months many thing were trialled to keep the business going. We tried making special wool for carpets but because the carpet company was unable to pay regularly, this project was abandoned. Another trial job was making wool hanks for use in lubricating railway trucks. The hank was designed to have one end in a bath of oil while the other end rested on the axle and thus kept it oiled.

During this time, many members of staff had to be laid off and I was among the last to go when the business was forced to close.

shadows, it was the light from the fire.”
(23/2/1920)

After Doongalla was destroyed by bushfire in 1932, 279 hectares of the property was sold to four Smith brothers in 1935 for 2,000 pounds. They built a saw mill initially sited behind the ruined house and over the years logged much of the unburnt mountain ash and messmate which remained on the property.

About 30 metres up from the last bus terminal in Mountain Highway there was once a log loading bay used when the slopes of One Tree Hill were last logged in the 1930s. Traces of the bullock track that the logs were drawn along could still be found in the 1990s.

The name “One Tree Hill” is shown on the 1868 map of the Dandenongs created by John Hardy. It is also referenced in one of his field books.

Quarries

Mountain Highway

Along Mountain Highway opposite Beresford Road, there was once a quarry on John James Millers land. In the 1930s and 1940s there was a large hole in the roadside bank. When the Melrose Estate was created the quarry was filled in and is invisible except that the roadside fence has a peculiar bend around the site.

Rosney's Land

Rosney's land ran north from the original Cobblestone Road to Sassafra just opposite Griffith's land. The Cobblestone Road would have required maintenance and there was a small quarry on the corner of Ferndale Road and The Basin-Olinda Road because a few dugout sections in the bank are visible.

The Basin Primary School

There was once a small quarry near the edge of The Basin Primary School grounds on Liverpool Road. John Yeardon opened the quarry when he purchased part of allotment 72 from John Bruce in 1904. Remnants of this were once visible between the staff car park and the road. In the 1930s there were holes and loose rocks visible which have since been covered.

“The council is having the road over the old quarry near the school formed and metalled. It has never been done before”.

(Janet Dobson Diary 9th October 1919).

Depression Workers

During the 1930s, depression days work was long and hard. One nursery worker was paid one shilling and three pence for picking 20,000 daffodils.

Some became sustenance workers working for the Government. The stone wall on Mountain Highway was built by these men, as were many local roads including Old Forest Road.

In 1935, The Basin Progress Association, with the Ferntree Gully Council, instigated a scheme to use sustenance workers in an extensive tree planting program. This was reported in The Argus, 22nd June 1935.

The sustenance scheme was established for the relief of individuals able and willing to work but unable to find employment. The scheme was managed by the Employment Council of Victoria (from 1932) and relief committees were created throughout Victoria.

Sustenance payments were eight shillings and six pence (equivalent to about $40 in 2020) per week for man and wife with an additional one shilling and six pence per week for each additional child up to a maximum of 20 shillings 6 pence per week. Also, each approved individual was provided with an identification card which enabled him to gain groceries, meat, bread and milk for a four-week period through nominated shopkeepers selected by the individual. Sustenance also included the provision of babies' food, clothing and footwear for school children, firewood and rental assistance.

Only unemployed applicants who resided in Victoria for three or more months before application, and were not found to have refused any opportunities for employment, were eligible to apply.

To receive sustenance, male applicants were required to perform work for the municipality.

Gold

No official record of large amounts of gold has been discovered in The Basin area. However, there have been traces of gold found in some local streams and shafts have been sunk into some nearby mountains.

A miner named Gaunt sunk some shafts on the northern side of Schneider's Hill but did not locate any gold veins. It is thought that he dug the shafts after some traces of gold were discovered in Old Joes Creek which sources in that area.

A nugget of gold was once discovered by a Miss Hayes between Hazel Dell and Sassafras. Miss Hayes lived at Hazel Dell around 1890 with her parents who ran Hazel Dell as a guest house. It is reported that she was walking up a track after a rain and noticed the nugget on the track. Hazel Dell was located on a well-used pack horse track to the top of the Dandenongs and it is most likely this nugget had fallen from the pack of a miner using the track as no other gold has been found in this area.

Specks of gold have been found in Dobsons Creek which sources behind Hazel Dell and runs alongside the Basin-Olinda road, across the Salvation Army flats and into the Dandenong Creek. The creek was sluiced, but no gold was discovered.

Other Small Industries

Musical Instrument Manufacturer

A guitar and mandolin manufacturer once operated in Church Street in the building known as "The Glideaway" and turned out about 50 – 60 instruments a month.

Fellina Swim Suits and Row Clothing

From around 1942 to 1958, the Fellina Swim Suit Co. and Row clothing factory operated in the Glideaway building and employed up to 10 people making clothing and swimsuits. In 1958, they relocated to the CBD.

Prudence Jane

In 1958, a clothing company called "Prudence Jane" rented the "Glideaway" after the Fellina Swim Suit Co. and Row clothing factory left.

Prudence Jane was owned by Dick and Joan Townley who had been previously operating the business from their home in Montrose. They introduced and popularised the bikini into Australia. Benches, sewing machines and the like, were moved in and more staff sought. This gave employment to several local women and young girls, many of whom went on to become professional designers or dressmakers.

In 1958 the "Glideaway" building was owned by Harold and Ruby Bennett, so it was not surprising their daughters Shirley and Lynette started with 'Prudence Jane'. Shirley cut and stitched glamorous outfits for some TV stars, including Pilita and Helen Reddy. Typically, they were figure hugging designs, often with a frilly fishtail below. At the new, enlarged premises, business continued to flourish and a new range of children's wear was made and marketed through the exclusive "Banbury Cross" shop at 47 Collins Street, Melbourne.

Sabrina, a well known English actress and model in the 1950s, once modelled bikinis in the Glideaway. It was early January 1959, and the Sleepy Hollow of The Basin shimmered in the summer heat, when Ted Harris, aged 13 and on school holidays, glimpsed a vivid pink Vauxhall (with leopard skin patterned upholstery and golden S's on the door) coming along the Mountain Highway. As it drew closer, followed by several other cars, someone shouted, 'Hey, it is Sabrina,' and within a minute or so kids and adults came out to look.

They were right, the big pink Vauxhall, with photographer Laurie Kimber driving, pulled up outside the "Prudence Jane" factory at the old dance hall. Pandemonium erupted in the little village as word spread and reached a young motor engineer, George Russell. He grabbed a couple of his mates, and they set off in a tray truck, others running along and jumping aboard as word spread: "Sabrina's at Prudence Jane!!".

Prudence Jane boomed until 1963 when a credit squeeze forced the business to close.

Farriers

Leslie Dickson, the son of Ada Dickson, who ran the first post office in The Basin, ran a farrier business next to the post office in the 1920s. His clients included the Chandlers and the Falconers who ran a shop in Bayswater.

Summary

Summary

The Basin Bush Fire Brigade was formed in 1927 with Jack Hern Clarke as Captain. The Basin Rural Fire Brigade was constituted in 1949 with John Chandler as Captain. The Basin Urban Fire Brigade was formed in 1984 with Alan Small as captain and is known as The Basin Fire Brigade.

The most serious bushfires in The Basin area occurred in 1939, 1962, 1968, 1980 and 1997.

The 1962 bushfires had the most serious effects in The Basin area. If not for the efforts of Captain Don Maguire, The Basin could have been wiped out. Don Maguire was the most well known Captain of The Basin Fire Brigade, serving for 25 years. He also served on various other related bodies.

The Basin has been the source of many bushfires that have ravaged the Dandenongs. In particular, the 1962, 1968 and 1997 fires all started in The Basin on days of high temperature and strong Northerly winds.

The Brigade has had five “fire stations” up to 2020. The first was a small shed behind The Basin Progress Hall used to store equipment and used for over 30 years. The second was the first “real” station built by voluntary labour and finished in 1953. The third replaced the previous one and was finished in 1967 to coincide with The Basin centenary. The fourth was temporary and used for about a year whilst the fifth one was being built which was finished in 1976.

Over the years, there has been many warning devices used. The first was a bell, donated by T. M. Burke, that hung near the shed behind The Basin Progress Hall. The first siren was installed on a windmill beside the station finished in 1953. The siren is still used on occasions with silent personal devices.

The Brigade has an active Ladies Auxiliary, Junior Fire Brigade and is a member of the Knox Brigades Group.

Regular events are the annual Carols by Candlelight and Christmas eve Santa trips.

Distinguished Resident

Don Maguire

In January 1962 The Basin, and indeed the whole Dandenongs area was threatened by bush fires. During four memorable days, the safety of The Basin was in the hands of The Basin Fire Brigade Captain Don Maguire. To Don’s credit The Basin came through relatively unscathed. But it did not happen by good luck as Don had fire fighting experience dating back to 1935.

In those days he learnt a great deal from the then captain, his uncle Bert Chandler, especially in the practice of “back burning”. Don was captain of The Basin Fire Brigade from 1955 to 1977 and later became President. He was Chairman of the Ferntree Gully National Park Committee from 1965 to 1977 which were torrid times for Don. He acted as Group Officer of the Knox Fire Brigades Group from 1975 to 1987. He is a life member of the CFA His involvement with the CFA spanned a total of 57 years and he experienced the big Dandenongs fires of 1939, 1962, 1968 and 1983.

Even with his involvement in the CFA, Don found time to excel in other fields. He scored 229, once a club and district record, while batting for Church of Christ, and won the district batting averages twice. At football, he represented Boronia and at tennis played country week for AMT. His work at Batterham Reserve is known to most and together with all this he ran a successful nursery, specialising in Boronia and daffodils. He was an active member of Legacy and was on the Board of Glengollan Retirement Village.

Don’s services to the community were recognised in 1974 when he was awarded The Queens Long Service & Good Conduct Medal and in 1977 when he was awarded a British Empire medal (B.E.M.) for services to the Victorian Fire Services.

Don Percival Maguire passed away on 25th August, 1994 at the age of 73.

Before Organised Fire Brigades

Forest, bush and grass fires have been a part of the Australian scene from the beginning of time. Our flora has developed as part of the overall environmental story where indigenous trees and shrubs adapted to regular and irregular burning by both cool and hot fires, and indeed without the heat so created, the seed would not have gained access to the soil to reestablish the forest balance.

It is unnecessary to go far to find confirmation of these facts. Sherbrooke Forest, that magnificent area so close to Melbourne is not the Sherbrooke that early settlers first sighted. The original forest was cut down entirely for use as timber for the growing Melbourne and by the late 1890s the area was almost completely cut out. A similar thing happened on the foothills of The Dandenongs on the western slopes, where the Eucalypts, although not so useful for building timber, were used extensively for firewood, fencing, shedding etc.

Fires which occurred in 1891, 1908, 1914, 1919 and 1926, reestablished Sherbrooke to the marvellous forest that we now see and these fires and others, reestablished the foothill slopes as well.

Aborigines used fire in all parts of Australia and still use controlled burns to clear areas and replenish new growth so that kangaroos, wallabies and other animals which make up their staple diet, would have food and therefore be more accessible.

A priceless piece of early bushfire fire experience in The Basin comes from the pages of Mrs Janet Dobson's diary (summer 1904 – 05 and also 15 years later, in 1920) It also highlights the concern and brave resolution with which our pioneer settlers wives faced this ever present threat.

"Weather very hot. There is a big fire all around J. Maguire's, A. E. Chandlers and E. Hansen's and another up near Mr Farlands."

(10th January 1905)

"The heat almost unbearable. The fires are raging all day. The wind is blowing quite a gale. There is a big fire all around Hazel Dell and right to the top of the mount."

(11th January 1905)

"Joe went up to Dodds after dinner. The bushfire was all around the house. All their hay got burnt. Joe stopped to help them. It was nearly five when he got home. The fire travelled down to S. R. Matthews in the evening. There were about 20 men up there keeping the fire from the house. Some stayed all night, some of the sheds were burnt down. It is a dreadful fire, it is coming down toward Mr Jacksons now. Weather is very hot."

(13th January 1905)

"The bushfire was all around Mr Jacksons today. The Army boys were over helping him keep it back from the house and the barn. The fire was all around the house at Hazel Dell. They were nearly burnt out. All the Chandlers were up helping them. They had two of their bridges burnt and their fern gully was all burnt out. The fire went from there up to Dickensons. The same went over the mountains and burnt down Mrs Leak's

"There was a cool change Saturday night (14th January) and on Sunday morning we had some welcome rain. It rained for two or three hours."

"It has been dreadfully hot all day with a hot north wind blowing very hard and there are some dreadful bushfires about. There was a very big one at Mitcham this afternoon. It burnt down seven houses."

(11th February 1905)

"There is a large bushfire over near Dickson's and right up around "Switzerland" [This was old name for the area of Government Road & Toorak Avenue] Some of the houses have been in danger and the neighbours beat it back. My two boys went over, so did Harry Chandler, Jack Wicks, and Mr Agar, Staff Captain Stevens (Salvation Army), and several others. If it is hot tomorrow it will spread up round the Mill. It looks very red tonight."

(19th February 1920)

"The fire is still spreading up in Mr McKenzie's property. It looks very beautiful this evening, up the side of the mountain."

(20th February 1920)

"Today has been dreadfully hot. At dinner time, a big bushfire started up in Ferndale and came down toward Uncles' (Jack Wicks orchard). They went over and all Mr Griffiths men and Uncle Arthur (Harris) and Mr Agar and several others burnt a break along the Mill track. They carted all the mill wood out through Jack Wicks' paddock. They had to work very hard to keep it from Mr Grumonts house. The boys did not get home until 10.30 pm. There was another big fire over in Goodwins paddock. It started from a burning stump left from last week's fire. It got very close to Mr Medways house. There were more than a dozen men keeping it back. It got into Maguire's cut scrub and it looked something grand at night. We could see our shadows, it was so light."

(23rd February 1920)

With the coming of European settlement, the face of many parts of Australia changed forever. The early settlers, with no knowledge of the volatile nature of our indigenous flora, must have faced terrifying conditions, when armed only with the experience of the Northern Hemisphere. They tried their first burnoffs to make room for agriculture.

In January 1851, one of the most widespread and devastating fires hit Victoria and was known as "Black Thursday". One can only imagine how much this fire set back the state, just seventeen years old. Records of this catastrophe are sketchy, but it is known that loss of stock and property in isolated areas must have been high and loss of human life a certainty.

It is roughly around this time the discovery of gold brought great changes, particularly to central Victoria, and a few years later, volunteer fire brigades being formed in many of the developing country towns. Ballarat Brigade held its centenary in 1983 and Bendigo, Eaglehawk, Castlemaine and Geelong City all had their beginning about the same time. Closer to home, Lilydale had a Fire Brigade about 1890, but it has been difficult to reestablish a starting point.

The Basin was a farming community with several large family groups, going back as far as the 1870s. The Dobsons, Colliers, Chandlers, Kerrs, Popes no doubt banded together to support each other in times of crisis, be it flood, fire or accident. The loss of produce due to fire was real and could have had a bad effect on the community, who took most of their agricultural produce direct to the Victoria Market.

Bad fires in The Basin area around the turn of the century may well have prompted locals to organise themselves into an organised Fire Brigade, but facts are sketchy about the 1910s and 1920s. The Great War of 1914 – 1918 had a devastating effect on every small community in the land, depleting the areas of the fit young men who would normally have been available to volunteer for fire fighting activities.

In early part of the 20th century the only transport available was horsedrawn vehicles and the odd bicycle, together with volunteers on horseback. Communication was practically nil, with the "cooee" being used effectively over short distances and a man on horseback where greater distances were involved. The only firefighting tools available were rakes and hoes, heavy metal buckets, hemp in bags and branches broken off suitable gum trees to act as beaters. However, it is incredible how quickly the early pioneers learned to use back burning and other passive methods to achieve their objectives and their knowledge of fire behaviour in different weather situations was remarkable.

Early Days

During the first few weeks of 1926, a series of disastrous bushfires claimed more than fifty lives in Victoria and laid waste to more than 900,000 acres of prime forest in Gippsland.

READERS' LETTERS

Urges drastic act against The Basin

Sir, — Once more a madly racing fire has devastated the Dandenongs. Once more dozens of homes were burnt to the ground and human lives endangered, and some even lost. Once more the beautiful Penrith Gully National Park was burnt — this time completely — just as it had recovered somehow after the 1902 fire.

Once more innumerable native animals and birds lost their lives in the fiery inferno. Sugar gliders, possums, wombats, and a great variety of native birds, found their grave in the hot ash.

It is feared that this time the lyrebirds, which managed in 1902 to dodge the fire by taking refuge in the deep moist gully running from One Tree Hill to the kloof, found their way of escape blocked by flames. None of them the time to escape beyond the Park area—the fire was too swift to be overtaken. Only three were known to have been saved by a bird lover.

The magnificent, extremely well-coordinated work of C.F.A. fire brigades and Penrith Communion achieved this time something short of a miracle. Despite strong winds the fire was contained within a limited perimeter and finally extinguished — purely by human effort, as there was no rain to help as in 1902. The Basin's bush fire night with hot northerlies proved here well the job was done. Yet this experience proved, too, that once the fire starts its race from The Basin towards the One Tree Hill "switchboard" it cannot be stopped until it traverses and burns through inaccessible areas and comes closer to the road, where it could be dealt with.

One glance at the map is sufficient to realise that the settlement of The Basin is actually a fuse leading to the powder barrel of the Dandenongs. Once the fuse is lit the path of the fire is easily predicted. It goes up to One Tree Hill, plunges down into the Penrith Gully National Park, and sends its hissing tongues in every direction. The prevailing wind.

Now, if there is a fuse leading to a powder barrel and you want to prevent the explosion, what would you do? You would pull out the fuse. And that is exactly what should be done with the settlement at The Basin. It should be liquidated completely and for good.

It is not a question of a punishment, or vengeance. The simple fact is that there is a settlement at the foot of the hills and kept free of vegetation by ploughing and burning — spreading. Only when this job is completed, the residents of the Dandenongs could consider themselves safe. Some people may argue that less drastic measures could probably be sufficient — such as all-the-year round ban on the use of incendiaries and obligatory disposal of rubbish by burying it.

Some may say that the whole settlement should not be destroyed.

But such arguments won't hold water. We all know that this summer numerous people used their incendiaries on the days of total fire ban—all over Melbourne and suburbs.

The scuttling finger of the history of the fire in the Dandenongs points firmly at The Basin as the source of the most catastrophic disaster. There is only one radical way to protect our lovely hills — that waste — nest called The Basin should be eradicated from the map and from the ground. Nothing less will do. — "NATURE LOVER" (Up-Per Penrith Gully).

The Basin Bush Fire Brigade

Dandenong Ranges, but a fire raging from Monbulk to South Belgrave exacted a toll in livestock, property and bush land. This event and the move to form Fire Brigades in surrounding areas of The Dandenongs, pushed the move toward an organised brigade in The Basin. This was formalised by The Basin Bush Fire Brigade being formed in 1927 as a member of The Bush Fire Brigades Association of Victoria. The Captain was Herb Clark. His two sons, Graham and Wayne, served with the Brigade in the 1950s and 1960s. Jack Manders later became Captain.

The equipment available to the Brigade was basic but included buckets, knapsacks and beaters. When The Basin Progress Hall was finished in 1931, the equipment was stored in a small shed beside the hall and this became the first “unofficial” fire station.

With the lack of equipment, firefighting was a hit-and-miss affair. Two trucks eventually become available, an old International truck belonging to Ferndale and Bert Chandler’s Morris Commercial truck. The latter served as a Brigade vehicle from 1928 until 1945. Harry Chandler’s Morris Commercial truck also gave support over these years.

Doongalla Bushfire 1932

In 1932, the Brigade was involved with a fire that lasted several days on its eastern boundary. The classic stately home of Doongalla was burnt to the ground on January 19th 1932 and the grandchildren of the owner of that time, T. M. Burke and others, were led to shelter under the bridge on the creek until the fire danger had passed.

1935 – 36 was a change in leadership with Bert Chandler as Captain, George Langdon as his Lieutenant and George also took on Secretary and Treasurer positions and held these posts until 1945. The 1930s were bad years for fires, mainly because an arsonist was active in the area. This continued until an arrest was made in 1938 and a local person was charged and convicted.

Black Friday (13th January 1939)

Summer of 1938 – 39 saw much of Victoria drought stricken, particularly the eastern, heavily timbered parts. Uncontrolled fires were burning all through the state and during the week before

Black Friday, The Basin Fire Brigade was kept busy fighting fires along its eastern boundaries where many houses were saved. Unfortunately, many homes were lost, but there was no loss of life.

Much of the subdivided land around The Basin had small substandard timber homes on them. These were known as “Weekenders”, where inner suburban people spent the weekends “getting away from it all”. These were of course an embarrassment to the Brigade in any major fire, with no water reticulation and possibly only a half empty 500 gallon tank to call on for emergency use.

On Black Friday a hot north wind blew at a steady 60 kph with a temperature of over 40 Deg and low humidity. Fires erupted all over Victoria. These weather conditions continued for 3 days and the smoke over much of eastern Victorian reduced visibility to a few hundred yards. Some younger The Basin Brigade members went to Warrandyte to help fighting the Black Friday fires.

Judge Stretton’s Black Friday report to the Victorian Government still makes fascinating reading. Black Friday must go down in history as Victoria’s worst fire day of the 20th century. Not only from loss of life (71 persons) and buildings, but devastation and destruction of the magnificent Mountain Ash, Messmate forests and the loss to the milling industry.

Only 9 months after Black Friday, World War II erupted and many of the young men volunteered in another way, to join one of the three services. The Basin area fared badly with some fifteen to twenty regular Fire Brigade members leaving the district in the next 18 months. Some of these did not return.

1939 – 1949

1939 to 1945 saw Captain Bert Chandler with a gallant bunch of oldies taking over a very heavy responsibility. In July 1942, Boronia formed a volunteer Brigade and The Basin had to call on Boronia and Ferntree Gully during those critical times. The Brigade personnel were expected to oversee security and act as air raid wardens should the need arise, as many felt a Japanese invasion of Australia was certain. 1944 was again a drought year, with devastating grass and bushfires over the State, particularly the western district. The Basin had its share of the action, together with its sister Brigades.

Because of the magnitude and loss caused by the 1944 fires, the Victorian Government decided to make widespread changes and The Country Fire Authority came into existence, encompassing both Urban and Bush Fire Brigades and dividing the country area of Victoria into zones and regions.

The end of World War II saw many of The Basin fire fighting men returning to the district, but many had made the “supreme sacrifice”. Of those who did return, there seemed to be a reluctance to become involved in organised Brigade activity as many were busy reshaping their lives to civilian ways. When fires did occur, the response was always good. However, a full leadership hierarchy could not be maintained and in 1945 The Basin Bush Fire Brigade was disbanded.

With some urging from Regional Officer ‘Mac’ McLaren, a public meeting in The Basin in 1946 Progress Hall saw the Brigade formally reconstituted. Mac McLaren served Australia in a special way during the War. Working in Rabaul when the Japanese invasion took place, he joined that gallant body of Coast Watchers whose efforts will never be fully appreciated and their valiant efforts saved thousands of allied lives.

The Basin Rural Fire Brigade

1949 – 1962

The Basin remained a member of the Bush Fire Brigades of Victoria until 1949 when due to approaches made by Regional Officer H. McLaren, of the newly formed Country Fire Authority, a public meeting was called at The Basin Progress Hall and The Basin Rural Fire Brigade was constituted with John Chandler Captain, Don Maguire 1st Lieut., J. Ashbury Secretary, and F. Eaves Treasurer. Bert Chandler donated a block of land, opposite the present fire station that was later used as the site for the second fire station. The CFA provided the Brigade with a trailer mounted Furphy tank with a low down pump and a short length of hose.

In March 1953, the second The Basin Fire Station building was finished on a plot of land donated by Bert Chandler in 1949. In 2021, this is 377 Forest Road. This was the first official “fire station” building. Before this, equipment was stored in a small shed behind The Basin Progress Hall. Voluntary labour built the Station using funds raised by Brigade members. The Regional spare Austin 400 gallon tanker was housed in the second station and the Brigades first electric sirens installed on a windmill adjacent the Station.

In 1953, Arthur Cooper became President, Charlie Ashby Secretary and V. Poole Treasurer.

In June 1954, Chairman Mr. Seaton presented an Austin 400 gallon tanker to the Brigade which was the first official Brigade vehicle. Don Maguire became Captain and Bill Wright 1st Lieut.

The Basin was reticulated in 1959 and with the spread of housing, additional equipment was needed. After much letter writing, a new Austin Small Town Unit was obtained which proved useful.

In 1960, a serious fire prompted the Brigade to raise funds to enable the purchase an ex Forestry short wheelbase Land Rover and equip it with a radio. This vehicle served the Brigade well for many years and acted as a forward control and scout unit, not only for the Brigade, but quite often in Group fires. It was left to the Brigade to outfit the unit and to maintain it entirely as no CFA support was forthcoming due to their policy on second hand vehicles.

The extension of the high level water supply by The Melbourne and Metropolitan Board of Works saw a whole new deal in firefighting techniques throughout much of The Basin. Where previously water had to be laboriously carted by tankers to the higher areas, The Brigade could now plug directly into mains with a huge saving in time and efficiency. Another first in techniques was introduced about this time. Blacking out the edges of a large fire in steep and difficult terrain (Ferntree Gully National Park), had always been extremely hazardous and inefficient. Many fires thought to be completely extinguished would break out into unburnt areas and the danger would be on again.

With the increase of available and diverse equipment it was possible to clear a bulldozed break down the fire flanks and run small volume hoses down from the top of the fire, fed by tankers. In this way it was possible to completely blackout the fire edges, remove burning stumps and trees. The hoses were always taken down and out of the area to a point where they could be readily collected. This method of fighting large fires was an adoption of a successful technique developed by the Dandenong Ranges Group (and in particular Upwey Brigade) to deal with large static fires with no readily available water supply and was called a “Gunga Dhin”. A large tanker was set up next to the fire and a pumper at the nearest water supply. Smaller tankers were filled by the pumper and ran a water shuttle service until the blaze was extinguished. This also proved a valuable method of dealing with fires under difficult conditions.

The years 1960 – 1962 saw the Brigade increase in efficiency, although still hampered with equipment of poor standard and simply not up to the job. The H.F. radios were valve types, large and unreliable and often leftovers from Wartime disposals. Often a caller could be picked up in Fiji, but it was impossible to call another fire vehicle on the far side of a small hill.

The small town Austin Tanker, although an honest workhorse, with its 400 gallons of water, was too slow in hilly areas and was limited with its two-wheel drive configuration. It was found wanting starting cold on the hill up from the Fire Station, particularly as Forest Road was starting to become busy.

The thought of relocating the Fire Station by purchasing a block was being discussed at this stage, but no positive moves were made until 1965.

1962 Bushfires

The 1961 – 62 fire seasons shaped up early as serious both locally and Victoria wide. A wet winter, spring was warm, and things grew well, and by December the area was dangerous. To add to the Brigade's worries there was a firebug active in the area and the police were alerted. Unless the offender was caught in the act, nothing much could be done.

Sunday 14th January 1962 dawned as a typical blowup day with northerlies already gusting strongly and temperatures heading toward the 100 degree F. mark (38 degrees C), with low humidity. The scrub and forest had dried out early under the effect of a hot dry summer.

Sunday

At approximately 10.40 a.m. a fire was deliberately lit about 150 yards up Wicks Road on the eastern side. The Basin Brigade members, already on alert at the Fire Station, were on the road immediately and Captain Don Maguire in his own vehicle radioed a message to Group Headquarters to send all the support possible to the area around Clevedon. Boronia and Ferntree Gully responded as did Sassafra-Ferny Creek and Olinda. The tactics were to try to stop the head of the fire and prevent it taking hold in The Ravine area, where it would by nature of the terrain and the fuel, be lost. The heat of the fire and the speed with which it advanced, led the attack to fail and the units were forced to fall back to The Ravine to again try to contain the head of the blaze. Due to lack of water and some serious incidents where vehicles broke down with vapour locks and other mechanical problems, units were again forced back, and the fire raced on toward Ferny Creek along the northern slopes of the Ferntree Gully National Park.

All available local Brigades together with many from far and wide were directed to One Tree Hill Road and the Mount Dandenong Tourist Road to try to save some homes that were dotted around that area, while brigades initially involved at The Basin found themselves doing a similar job on the eastern flank of The Ravine.

A change of wind direction during the afternoon saw the fire take off to the North-East toward Olinda and the Mt. Dandenong Ridge Road. It was during the next hour that the second of the stately homes in The Basin, Ferndale, burnt to the ground, along with several other homes.

The story of Ferndale and Doongalla are told in another part of this history, but both these beautiful homes were destroyed by fire, almost 30 years to the day, apart. Doongalla, 19th January 1932 and Ferndale, 14th January 1962.

By Sunday evening the first day of the 1962 bushfire, the area burnt was substantial. Apart from most of the eastern and north-eastern areas of The Basin being virtually burnt out, the fire was lapping Olinda and was now running north through Doongalla Forest. In trying to secure the area above Montrose, a backburn was initiated on Glasgow Road extension using volunteers from below and above. Due to the steepness and rough nature of the area and quirks of wind patterns, this proved a costly error, with the fire jumping the track in several places. Captain Don Maguire recalls that apart from all the normal problems such as terrain and several ill-equipped helpers, he was faced with several serious heat exhaustion cases. Also, three suspected snake bite cases in an area where the only evacuation was on foot to the Glasgow Road, Sheffield Road intersection. It was now well after midnight, so the plan had to be disbanded as most volunteers had been engaged for over 12 hours and were completely spent. Another physical problem was quenching their thirst from privately owned knapsacks used for spraying agricultural poisons.

Monday

Monday morning, 15th January saw still weary crews and illequipped volunteers trying desperately to secure unburnt inaccessible areas before the predicted high temperatures, brought on a further crisis. The main area of concern was the township of Olinda, where a mass of fire vehicles and private pumpers, concrete mixers etc. had been assembled. The first strategy was to deploy volunteers and equipment to hold the fire on the low side of The Basin-Olinda Road and save as many homes as possible in the operation.

A few homes were lost, as the fire was constantly spotting on the high side of the road, and this meant that Olinda itself was soon threatened. The township itself came through unscathed, but there was a casualty with the body of an elderly man being discovered during the morning. This meant that if the police established that the fire had been deliberately lit, they had a case of manslaughter to deal with. Acting on information received from several sources an arrest was made on Wednesday 17th January.

The Basin Rural Fire Brigade

During the afternoon of Monday 15th under the influence of a strong southerly sea breeze, the unsecured fire which had been a source of worry the night before, flared up and headed toward Montrose. A plan organised by Captain Don Maguire was to encourage able-bodied home-owner residents to stay by their homes and together with a sprinkling of Montrose and The Basin volunteers, hold the fire on the high or eastern side and save the homes thus threatened. This plan was working smoothly with house after house being saved, but it was nearly brought undone by police patrols driving into the area and with loud hailers at maximum power, ordering everyone to evacuate. Some strong words were exchanged between Captain Don Maguire and the officer in charge of the police backed up with some discouraging exchanges about Captain Maguire's parents!

As the fire moved through toward Mt. Evelyn a mixture of volunteers and home-owners saved many homes. Around 5.30 pm on the Monday afternoon, a radio call came through informing Captain Don Maguire to return home as his own house and farm property, which included his Mother's home and sheds, were threatened. Captain Maguire recalls that this came as a surprise as the fire above Chandler's Hill was thought to be completely contained and well blacked out. However, the sight that greeted Captain Maguire as he sped along Liverpool Road in his old Chevrolet Ute was one he believes to be unique in his experience of fire behaviour. The fire at the northern end near Montrose was still heading steadily North-East, whilst the fresh outbreak above Chandlers Hill in the region of Short Street, was racing South under the influence of a strong northerly. Thus, there were two fires only a few miles apart, heading in almost opposite directions.

The fire in The Basin was indeed serious and was soon completely out of control. It crowned in a most spectacular fashion, right along the ridge in the Ferntree Gully National Park, above Bayview Crescent, and spawned spot fires in Captain Maguire's property and these fires ran right through to Albert Ave/Mount View Road corner. It was indeed fortunate the usefulness of large cement mixers filled with water were now fully appreciated, and these were used to black out the edges of the fire in Mount View Road most effectively. These units were found to be effective by driving them along the lower sides of roads, with shute extended, sending a cascade of water into the scrub when these roads were being used as a holding point for the fire.

Tuesday

Tuesday, the third day of the 1962 fires, saw problems in many of the unburnt areas, with temperature again nearing 100 degrees (38C) by midmorning and after reaching the 100s by noon, remaining in that high figure until after 7pm that night. The main areas of concern were Upper and Lower Ferntree Gully on the southern side where Ferntree Gully National Park still had large areas alight. At one stage when the fire in that area was most threatening it was thought that the William Angliss Hospital should be evacuated. However, a late wind change turned the fire back to the North-East and late in the afternoon a firestorm of dramatic proportions developed in the Ferntree Gully National Park, near The Devil's Elbow, which observers described as awesome indeed.

The fire continued to cause grave concern at its Northern extremity, with volunteers and Forestry crews battling to save parts of Mt. Evelyn and West of the Silvan Dam. The State Pine Forest burnt fiercely and was completely wiped out and toward evening was burning east of Olinda and Sassafras and on towards Kallista. It seemed unstoppable and The Basins' unit was sent to Kallista late evening to assist in defending the town. About 11.30 pm the first few drops of rain were felt and about 1 & ½ hours later it was raining steadily and the 4-day ordeal was over.

The cost in housing will never be accurately known but homes were lost in every part of the non-blackened Dandenongs and hardly a section of the mighty mountain range had escaped, Sherbrooke Forest being a remarkable exception.

Aftermath

Criticism was levelled at the fire services, voluntary and professional, but the Chief Secretary, Sir Arthur Rylah, roundly supported the efforts of all those who had fought so hard in such extenuating circumstances. There were plenty of lessons to be learned from this fire and some should be outlined here. Using untrained personnel, no matter how well-meant, was a bad move, for the following reasons: Many were undisciplined and were inclined to head off and do their own thing, so that the Officers in charge had extra problems on their hands. Each person who came and volunteered to help, had to be registered and approved in case of accident and injury and this proved time-consuming, for already overworked key personnel. Again, many who turned up to help were dressed in shorts and thongs or similar and could not be put in any area of real danger. Also, there was no useful equipment available to set them up to give real help. On the plus side, large concrete mixers, who not only ferried enormous amounts of water to all points of The Dandenongs, were also put into active firefighting using their shutles to black out roadsides.

Overall, the Brigade equipment of CFA and Brigade owned units showed many inadequacies over 3 days of continuous work. Engines boiled, vapour locks were frequent and put vehicles in great danger and it is incredible that only minor accidents were reported. Pumps also gave their fair share of trouble, especially when using water from some static filling points. The radio network previously mentioned proved totally inadequate, with prolonged breakdowns and at the end of the fire, the system was in tatters.

The 1962 fire generated enormous interest in Melbourne through radio and television coverage and it was anticipated (correctly) that the following Saturday and Sunday would see the roads into the hills from the city, cluttered with sightseers. The Brigades of The Dandenong Ranges Group set up collection points at strategic spots and over the weekend collected the princely sum of £2001. Then Lord Mayor of Melbourne had already started a fund to aid those who had lost so much over the State and demanded that the collection be added to his appeal forthwith. However, The Group withstood this pressure and as very high frequency (V.H.F.) was just emerging as a viable alternative in radio technology, the Group could equip a base station in Upwey and a repeater station on Channel 9's Mt. Dandenong tower, to cover bad areas of reception, as well as enough mobile sets to outfit most of the tankers in The Group. As far as The Brigade was concerned, it seemed that some good had come out of a ghastly few days.

On the Friday after the fire, all the Brigade Captains, Group Officers and key personnel were invited to attend a debriefing in the old Upwey Progress Hall. It was attended by The Chief Officer, Mr Alex Larkins, as well as local Victorian M.P. The Hon. Bill Borthwick, who was known affectionately as "Bushfire Bill" because of his support of local volunteer brigades.

The meeting started in a friendly enough fashion until a general plea to the Chief Officer for better (and more) equipment, from most of the brigade's present. Bill Borthwick had to excuse himself at this stage to attend another meeting. Instead of answering the questions and requests directly, The Chief Officer unfurled a map covering The Dandenongs and made this extraordinary statement. Pointing to The Basin, he claimed that if the Captain of the brigade at this point had assessed the danger of the situation more seriously, this huge blackened area would not have happened. Captain Don Maguire defended himself strongly but was disappointed that not one of those present gave him any moral support. This was interesting, as although CFA units were predominant during this fire under the old “Marginal Mile”, which was in force in Forestry areas, 9/10ths of the area burnt had come under the area controlled by Forestry, and yet they had emerged scotfree as far as criticism was concerned.

Captain Maguire, although deeply hurt by the Chief Officers comments (to the extent that he almost gave the fire service away), decided the service was bigger than individuals and stuck with it for another twelve years.

Soon after the 1962 fires, a public meeting was held in a Church Hall in Bayswater to press for a brigade to be formed there. At this stage Bayswater acted as an outstation with Boronia.

The need for a Bayswater Brigade was indeed a pressing issue, with a tremendous buildup of both residential and factory areas. Although well attended and lots of promises were made, it would be another 7 years before Bayswater was given the green light to form its own Urban Brigade. It was a natural transition with the timing just right, for Bayswater to join and become a strong member of The Knox Group. The only other brigades to join the group were Montrose and UFTG from the Dandenong Ranges Group, after the changes to the original Lilydale Group.

The Brigade has always been active in other areas including searches for young and old. The Brigade provided considerable help with fighting at fires at Strath Creek in 1963 and fielded a strong team to the Gippsland fires in 1965. The Land Rover was stationed on “Mt Tassy” and used as a communication vehicle and the old Austin tanker was crewed and sent to Bruthen and finished up at Gelantipy where rain finally extinguished what had been a huge fire. The CFA Officer in charge of this fire was Deputy Chief Officer Arthur Pitfield.

Soon after this, Chief Officer Larkins resigned due to ill health and Arthur Pitfield took over CFA leadership.

In 1965 Captain Don Maguire was invited to join the Committee of Management of Ferntree Gully National Park, becoming its Chairman the following year. The Park, bordered as it was by housing, had always been a worry to the neighbourhood fire brigades and Don found himself walking a tightrope between fire protection and conservation. Hard work was put into building concrete tanks at strategic ridge positions, which served well until the high level M.M.B.W. scheme came into being.

In 1967, a new brick Brigade station was built on the Triangle opposite the site of the second fire station. The station was completely financed by fundraising and local contributions. CFA Chairman R. Eason opened the new building as part of The Basin Centenary celebrations.

1968 Bushfires

In the summer of 1968, drought hit the Dandenongs. On February 19th, which was a hot gusty day, a fire starting in The Basin spread through Ferntree Gully National Park, to Upper Ferntree Gully and Upwey, destroying 65 homes and the Upwey Progress Hall.

On March 18th, another fire was lit near Ferndale Road and threatened Sassafras and Ferny Creek. The lives of several Firemen were at risk and Fire Brigade vehicles were damaged and destroyed. The CFA allocated an 800 gallon Bedford tanker to the Brigade to give extra strength. As a State Emergency vehicle, it was often crewed by volunteers from The Basin and sent to fires around the State over the next few years.

After 1968 fires, the Chief Secretary, Sir Arthur Rylah directed the Parks Service, Forestry, the C.O.M. and brigades bordering the Park to come up with a fire protection and prevention plan incorporating the entire Park, fire buffer zones and upgrading and extensions to fire access tracks. Many meetings were held and finally "The Ferntree Gully National Park Fire Protection & Prevention Plan" was adopted in 1968.

This plan was upgraded slightly in 1969 and remains in place as the basic strategy, should fires start within the Park or around its perimeter. The buying back of private land that was unfortunately subdivided in the 1950s had almost ceased due to lack of funds, but progress was made in a buyback scheme, particularly on the northern boundary in the old New Mystic Lake Estate. This is now part of the Park's fire buffer zone where a thinning programme of Eucalypts was carried out in the late 1960s and these areas are given cool burns when this is considered necessary. New tracks were created in the park, water storage tanks installed, and communication systems upgraded.

Don Maguire remained Chairman of Ferntree Gully National Park Committee of Management until restructuring of the National Parks Service saw the committee relegated to advisory status. After three years the Advisory Committee disbanded as it seemed to be serving no useful purpose.

The 1968 fires also prompted considerable discussion in local papers about The Basin being the source of fires. An article reproduced on page 197 and a cartoon reproduced on page 207 indicate the feelings of residents of the Dandenongs.

Lady Knox

Lady Knox was well known for her community work and her support for the Fire Brigade.

Her son, John Knox, relates an interesting story about his mother in a letter he wrote to The Basin Fire Brigade in 1988:

".... I go back to about 1926 to a terrible fire which started in The Basin and came up the side of Mt. Dandenong along the 1 in 20. My mother and I in her Austin 7 – the first in Victoria – had driven down from the top with tea, drinks etc. to be confronted by the fire with no space to turn the vehicle around. Six very large men picked me, my mother and the red car up and turned it round! My mother wore a red hat and I can still see it. I was four years old at the time. This is my first memory of my mother". ".... There was, I believe, Chandler, among those six men, a Gilbert, all names of families who have made a contribution to the Basin district"

The Basin Rural Fire Brigade

1968 – 1983

The years of 1968 to 1971 were torrid years for The Brigade. These were the years of arson, local suspicion, great tension and pressures, Police investigations and Court appearances which finally lead to disenchantment with the Country Fire Authority. Arthur Cooper, as President and Don Maguire as Captain, are to be commended for their leadership in steering The Brigade through this torrid period.

The years of 1972 and 1973 saw many prominent buildings in The Basin destroyed by fire, some under suspicious circumstances. The Scout Hall, Clevedon, Seventh Day Adventist Youth Camp, Salvation Army Special School and several houses were lost.

The Fire Station built in 1967 was replaced by a new urban station in 1977 which was opened by Brigadier R. Eason, Fire Brigade Chairman. The new station was financed by the CFA after the foundations of the previous station became dangerous and the building was condemned and demolished. Whilst the new station was being built, a temporary fire station was erected across the road on the old site of the second fire station. On a tragic note, a worker was killed during the construction of the new station.

Late in 1977, Captain Don Maguire stood down, after 22 years of service, to take up the job of Knox Group Officer. Allan Small was elected new Captain. Don Maguire was awarded a B.E.M. for services to the community, particularly the Victorian Fire Service.

In 1979, a hose drying tower and siren platform was supplied by the CFA. The Brigade raised $20,000 for a new Ford 350 chassis and cab and built up a high performance pumper unit to serve the needs of the rapidly growing community.

A bushfire in March 1980 burnt out a large area of the Doongalla forest area. This fire burnt for three days and stretched the resources of the Brigade to its limit.

In 1980, the Brigade purchased two sets of breathing apparatus, followed by two additional sets and four spare cylinders. A grant from Knox Council in 1981, enabled the Brigade, as part of the Knox Fire Brigades Group, to introduce personal pagers to “turnout”, thus eliminating much of the siren use.

In 1983, a Mazda Diesel Twin Cab was purchased at an initial cost of $20,000, with a further $10,000 spent on outfitting it. It served as transport for up to 7 fire fighters and carried a generator, elevated lighting towers, smoke extractors, cutting gear, chain saw and other equipment.

1983 saw Victoria’s worst bushfires in modern times known as Ash Wednesday. In fires across the state, forty-seven people died, including thirteen volunteer fire fighters. Over 2,000 homes destroyed. Entire towns are virtually wiped out. The Basin tanker rushed from fire to fire until its drive shaft disintegrated.

The Basin Urban Fire Brigade

The granting of Urban status to The Basin Fire Brigade in 1983 was indeed welcome (after years of trying). The Brigade became a D Class Unit, with 20 uniformed (“Dress Uniforms”) commenced with the granting of Urban status) members in reserve and full membership of around 45. In the same year, Roy Ritchie decided to stand down as Secretary, after 19 years of dedicated service.

In 1992, The Brigade owned 2 vehicles of its own, and 2 CFA owned vehicles. The Brigade owned vehicles were a Mazda Salvage van and a Ford Pumper with two sets of breathing apparatus and spares. An Annex was built on the north side of the Fire Station to house the Mazda Van. The CFA owned vehicles were a Hino Diesel Tanker (Tanker 1) capable of carrying 3,000 Litres of water and also carrying two sets of breathing apparatus, and an International petrol Tanker (Tanker 2) capable of carrying 3,000 Litres of water.

In 1993, five Brigade members received The National Medal for Long Service in the Volunteer Brigade. These were: Ray Cotter, Colin Hart, Kevin Hand, John Gribble and Captain Allan Small.

February 1994 saw severe bushfires erupt in NSW. A contingent of CFA members and vehicles travelled to NSW to help with fighting the fires. The Basin Brigade was represented by Graeme Linaker, an experienced member of The Brigade.

On returning from NSW, all contingent members were showered with accolades for their services.

1997 Bushfires

The 21st January 1997 was a hot summer's day with a strong Northerly wind blowing. Around 12.00 noon, several fires erupted in the Montrose area. A short time later, fires erupted in Tobruk Avenue, The Basin and at 2 other places around towards Ferntree Gully. The Montrose fires were extinguished in the early afternoon, but the Tobruk Avenue fire raced up the hill at an intense speed towards Ferny Creek and destroyed several houses. Three residents sheltering in their homes were killed when their homes were destroyed. The other 2 fires merged in the Ferntree Gully National Park and headed towards Upwey.

Enormous resources were thrown into battling these fires including water bomber planes borrowed from SA, helicopters and vehicles from around the State. In the Alamein Avenue and Tobruk Avenue areas, bulldozers were called in to build fire breaks to prevent the fires spreading to the West. By late afternoon, the fires were still threatening areas around Upwey, but were no immediate threat to The Basin. The situation changed dramatically around 6.00 pm when the wind changed to a strong South Westerly. This blew smoke back towards The Basin and rekindled many small fires in The Basin area.

Around 7.00 pm the fire jumped Mountain Highway near Alamein Avenue and threatened houses in The Ravine. This fire was quickly extinguished but the smoke in The Basin area was thick and acrid. This prompted many residents to pack up and leave.

Late evening saw the hillside above Tobruk Avenue glowing from the fires. At least 10 tankers were stationed along the top end of Government Road to prevent the fire sweeping up over Government Road and into The Basin. The fires were eventually contained within the National Park and by midnight the risk to The Basin was minimal.

Three people died, and forty-one homes were destroyed along with a CFA truck. Police investigations in the months after the fires revealed that the fires were deliberately lit. However, by the end of 1997 the Police were no closer to finding the culprits and had conceded that there was little chance of any arrests.

Dandenong Ranges brigades received considerable help from strike teams elsewhere in the state. Fully crewed teams from as far afield as Camperdown and Warrnambool were on the road for as much as five hours before they got anywhere near the flames.

Other heroes of the fires included the Ladies Auxiliary who worked throughout the day and night preparing food and drink for the fire crews.

—KNOX NEWS, Wed., Mar. 20, 1968

FTG man suggests "BULLDOZE THE BASIN"

It was suggested last week by a resident of Upper Fern Tree Gully that the only way the fire danger in the Dandenongs could be overcome was to "bulldoze" The Basin. The Basin Progress Association has invited the man to speak at a meeting.

The Knox News cartoonist shows The Basin's reaction to such a proposal.

The Basin Urban Fire Brigade

Each time a unit called in it was restocked with sandwiches, fresh fruit and cold drinks.

The generosity of local organisations and individuals was overwhelming. GlaxoWellcome donated 2,000 cans of soft drink, 100 loaves of bread, 85 crates of orange juice and milk, 30 kilos of ham, 35 packets of cheese and huge amounts of fresh fruit.

Franklins and The Basin Bakery donated foodstuffs, locals dropped in with cheques, and two nuns walked in off the street to volunteer their services. A local woman came by at 10 o'clock one night with a huge plate of freshly baked scones and a truckie donated an esky full of cold cans.

Fires erupted in Sydney in 1997 and The Basin tanker answered the call with both night and day shift crews.

Late in 1997, The Basin Fire Brigade celebrated 70 years of establishment. At a special annual dinner, several significant awards were made. Long Service awards were presented to Ray Cotter (35 years), Allan Small (30 years), John Gribble (30 years), Alan Dixon (25 years), Steve Smith (25 years), Terry Maro (20 Years) and Glenda Gribble (30 years). The DP Maguire Award, founded by former captain Don Maguire, given for community service and as a measure of the recipient's having given of themselves to their fellow people and the community, providing a tangible benefit or support to the fire brigade was given to Matthew Ahern. The Fire fighter of the Year Award was presented to Simon Chapman. The Captain's Award was presented to Ron Tyler. The Duncan Award, a nicely polished wooden seating device rescued from a building fire was presented to Martin Jennings.

Fires in Sydney over the 2001 – 2002 summer saw major strike teams deployed from Victoria including The Basin tanker 2 and crews.

Helping Hand for Victims

Loanne Lane, of The Basin, wanted to help the victims of the devastating 2009 Black Saturday fires. On the Monday after the fires she organised a collection and sorting depot at the garage in The Basin. She soon had an overwhelming public response and many truck loads of relief goods were transported to centres close to the fires.

For 71 days in 2003 the North-East of Victoria and Gippsland were on fire destroying forty-one homes, three bridges, over 10,000 livestock and 1.2 million hectares of land. The Basin tanker 2 and rotating crews were in the action from start to finish.

In the 2004 Queen's Birthday Awards, Allan Small was honoured with the Australian Fire Services Medal (AFSM). Allan had thirty-five years experience as a volunteer fire fighter including two decades as captain of The Basin Fire Brigade and later as President. He was also Group Officer with the Knox Group of CFA Brigades.

The summer of 2006/2007 saw devastating fires in Victoria's high country. Strike teams from The Basin with tanker 2 and the pumper were away almost continuously.

2008 – 2013

In February 2009, disastrous bushfires hit Victoria. Over 400 individual fires were recorded on Saturday 7th February, which became known as Black Saturday. Teams from The Basin actively participated in fighting these fires.

On Sunday 16th October 2011, members of The Basin Fire Brigade gathered with members of the family of the late Colin Hart to unveil a memorial plaque in The Triangle and plant a flowering gum in his memory.

Colin William Hart was born 1916 and died 28th August 2010.

He served with the Fire Brigade for forty years, filling many roles. He is best remembered for the key role he played in the introduction of the Wajax fire hose couplings into the CFA. To an outsider this may seem a small thing, but for any fire fighter who has chased fires through the forests and hills, the quick release coupling is a lifesaver.

In 2009, the Brigade decided to deregister The Basin Rural Fire Brigade. After the Victorian Rural Fire Brigades Association and the Victorian Urban Fire Brigades Association combined to form Volunteer Fire Brigades Victoria, The Basin Rural Fire Brigade was no longer relevant.

In March 2013, Terry Maro and Vicki Linaker received certificates in appreciation of over 20 years' service to the Victorian Urban Fire Brigades Association and Volunteer Fire Brigades Victoria. Terry Maro received the National Emergency Medal for service during the 2009 bushfires.

2014 – 2020

The Brigade devised and developed what is now known as a Field (or Forward) Control Vehicle (FCV) module. The unit is designed to transport crew to incidents and training and can act as a Strike Team Leader's vehicle. The FCV carries several radios, medical kits and tool bags.

The items making up the FCV are contained in a large multipurpose module that slides onto the tray of a vehicle. Vehicles can be upgraded and the existing module slides onto the tray of the new vehicle.

Interest in the FCV concept was received from around Australia and several Brigades copied the idea.

Fire Brigade Groups

The Dandenong Ranges Fire Brigades Group was formed in 1949 and The Basin Fire Brigade was an active member of the group until 1965 when the Knox Group was formed.

After the 1962 fires, officers in the Brigades in the lower areas, Boronia, The Basin, Lower Ferntree Gully, Lysterfield and Rowville, met to decide their future and a deputation met with Chief Officer Larkins to ask that these brigades be allowed to form a new group. This was met with a firm refusal because such a group would not be strong enough.

After the Brigades of the lower area's involvement in the Strath Creek fires in 1963, several officers put to the Deputy Chief Officer Arthur Pitfield, who was in charge of these fires, what would be some many advantages of the breakaway group. Again, this was met with refusal.

In 1965, the Brigades of the lower areas again applied to secede from the Dandenong Ranges Group and form their own Group and their application was upheld. This coincided with the breakaway of Knox from Ferntree Gully Shire and the suggestion was accepted that the group be called The Knox Group of Fire Brigades. This move was not accomplished without much opposition, particularly from members of The Dandenong Ranges Group who felt it would weaken the overall strength of the group.

The Basin Fire Brigade's involvement with the Knox Group has been extensive, with members filling several key roles in administration, as well as operationally, with a Group Officer, Deputy Group Officers, Group Communications Officers and others.

Ladies Auxiliary

The Basin Fire Brigade Ladies Auxiliary was formed in 1955, with Mrs Betty Turner as first President. They worked tirelessly to raise funds for several projects. One of the first major efforts was the raising of funds to build a meeting room for the second The Basin Fire Station. This was finished in August 1957 on the north side of the vehicle bay, which greatly improved facilities.

The Ladies Auxiliary has given the Brigade unwavering support. They have always been on hand to feed the volunteers at the firefront and when they return after operations. They have also raised funds to support and equip the active Junior Fire Brigade.

For many years at Christmas time, the Ladies Auxiliary has organised a raffle for a Christmas stocking. Local shopkeepers have provided enormous support for the raffle which has raised much-needed funds.

In 1997, Glenda Gribble was awarded a Life Membership of The Basin Fire Brigade Ladies Auxiliary.

Christmas Eve Santa Trips

The Christmas Eve "Santa Trips" that started back in the 1960s have grown to an almost embarrassing stage, as has the supplying of Santa's and vehicles for Christmas parties.

On Christmas Eve, Fire Brigade tinsel covered fire trucks circulate through The Basin with Santa stationed on the back. The routes are carefully planned so that two Santa's are not seen in the same street together. The trucks have an onboard sound system playing Christmas carols as Santa waves and distributes lollies to children

Santa's Drink

The annual Brigade Santa trips are an institution in The Basin with some residents offering refreshments to Santa. One time Santa drank what he thought was ginger ale but instead was whisky with dire consequences.

Christmas Eve Santa Trips

“Fire Fighter”

During the 1962 fires The Basin Hall was like Bourke St. The Red Cross was in full swing and had recruited many of the local young girls to assist them. Reporters were in action and media cameras were whirring. One local fireman was so impressed by all this, that he was seen rubbing charcoal over his face before entering the hall, to ensure he didn't miss out on any attention.

and adults. Some people set up tables on the footpath with cheese and biscuits and wait for the truck. Santa is sometimes lucky and receives food and gifts in return. The trucks are forbidden to use the onboard sirens but occasionally they are “accidentally” set off.

Plans are set up for the eventuality of an incident requiring a callout during the Santa run. Trucks have been diverted from the Santa run a few times in the past to attend incidents. Santa even attended a fire once.

These trips started when The Brigade only had one vehicle but these days all vehicles are utilised along with other trucks borrowed from other brigades. The first Santa trips only visited Brigade family members with a comic as a gift.

The Basin Fire Brigade considers the Santa trips a significant community service and continues and enhances the service every year. It is an institution and creates a close affinity between residents and the Brigade.

Les Trotter holds the record of being Santa for 25 years.

Santa's Letter Box

In 1992, The Basin Fire Brigade introduced a Santa's letter box located outside The Basin Post Office every Christmas. The box was made and donated by the staff of The Basin Post Office.

The Basin Fire Brigade help answer all children's Christmas letters and the letter box is now an established tradition, particularly for the kindergarten and primary school children who eagerly await participation in this activity every year.

Fire Alert Systems

Until 1932, the Brigade had no formal alarm system. A “cooe” was a popular method of raising alarm, but this was limited. For the few residents who had cars or telephones, these were used. Horses and bicycles were also used. Any visible signs of smoke always provoked investigation if it was caused by an uncontrolled fire.

In 1932, as a token of his appreciation of the Brigade efforts in attempting to save Doongalla, T. M. Burke donated a large bell, which was mounted on a pole above the shed on the side of The Basin Progress Hall. This was the first formal alarm that the Brigade utilised. The first person in attendance rang the bell by pulling a wire to summon crews to attend any fire. Jack Manders, who lived near Toorak Avenue, also had a bell mounted over his gate.

Then, the telephone system consisted of a manual exchange in a tiny room at Bayswater with only a small percentage of residents connected to the system. It was operated by one dedicated lady, Miss Baker, who lived on the premises and was always available to pass on messages, particularly when a crisis existed.

In 1953, when the second The Basin Fire Station was finished, the Brigade's first electric sirens were installed on a windmill adjacent the Station. The bell donated in 1932 by T. M. Burke was moved from The Basin Progress Hall to the windmill. For a time, warning horns were installed on Wright's and Langdon's stores for local warnings. Residents in the Ravine could not hear the siren, so when the siren at the fire station sounded, the store owners sounded the horn. The horn at Langdon's store was installed by Mr Kable, a resident of the Ravine.

In 1967, when the second fire station was finished, the electric siren was moved to the tower built with the station.

In 1979, a hose drying tower and siren platform was erected at the rear of the new station erected in 1976. The bell donated by T. M. Burke was no longer needed and was mounted in a stand and given pride of place in the station meeting room.

The siren was the primary warning device for brigade members to attend the fire station. Certain members of the Brigade also had “Fire Recall Systems” (FRS) installed. This entailed a modification at the local exchange whereby when a certain number was called, the call was also automatically redirected to certain Brigade members landlines.

Fire sirens have always been tested weekly and residents are used to regularly hearing the siren at the fixed testing times. Until April 1975, the siren was tested at 8.00 p.m. every Tuesday. After complaints from residents with young children, the testing time was changed to 10.00 a.m. on Sundays. This time conflicted with the St. Mary's bells that were rung at the same time, and the time was changed to 9.50 a.m. on Sunday.

The original siren was to alert Brigade members, as well as the community, to incidents. Developments in Brigade communication meant that the siren was no longer needed to alert Brigade members of an incident. The introduction of pagers in the 1980s started the move of directly contacting Brigade members. Some residents also complained that the noise of the siren was a nuisance. In the 1990s, the siren use was completely stopped.

After the disastrous fires in Feb 2009, using sirens to alert communities, in particular localities, was recommended by the Royal Commission into the bushfires. Consequently, in 2013, The Basin Fire Brigade siren was reintroduced. The siren may sound for up to 90 seconds to indicate the Brigade has responded to an emergency incident nearby. A prolonged, five minute signal indicates that a current emergency has been identified in the local area and people should seek further information. Also, the siren is tested every Sunday morning at 10.00 a.m.

Mobile phones, the internet and social media have dramatically changed the way people get information about incidents that may affect them. Information can sometimes be obtained faster from other mediums than fire or other services can report them. Cheap and sophisticated scanners that can monitor CFA radio frequencies can also be used.

The introduction of smartphones has changed the way fires are managed. Applications such as BART (Broadcast Alert Respond Turnout) allow participants to respond faster, communicate better and work smarter.

The Basin Fire Brigade's main response area covers some 16.18 square Km. This area extends from Canterbury Road area in the north, to the Chandler Track area in the south. To the west to Albert Ave and to the east the Channel 10 Track area. The Brigade also supports neighbouring brigades in response to calls.

Carols by Candlelight

After the disastrous fires in 1983, the Brigade made a determined effort, as a voluntary group and a necessary part of the community, to involve other people in a community activity, with the side agenda of generating fire awareness.

So began in 1984 the first "Carols by Candlelight" at The Basin Triangle with the help of the Salvation Army, local schools and other local groups. It was so successful it has become an annual local event. The local Federal member, Steve Crabb, who lived in The Basin then, conducted the first Carols by Candlelight and continued for many years.

Programmes and candles can be obtained for a small donation. At the end of the celebrations Father Christmas arrives bringing a gift for each child.

Upgrades to The Triangle, including a pavilion, public toilets and new entrance to The Basin Progress Hall, have enhanced the experience.

Good Friday Appeal

As part of the Knox Group, The Brigade helps yearly with the Royal Children's Hospital Good Friday appeal with the Group collecting nearly $30,000 in 1992.

Fire Equipment Maintenance

Fire Equipment Maintenance (FEM) involves servicing firefighting, fire prevention and safety equipment predominantly located in business locations.

All money raised from FEM was used to help in running the brigade and purchasing replacement equipment. It was undertaken by brigade volunteers in an unpaid capacity.

FEM includes all types of fire extinguishers, (water type, foam type, dry chemical, carbon dioxide CO2 and wet chemical) fire blankets, fire hose reels, hydrants and lay flat hose.

All servicing was performed in line with CFA Guidelines, and to relevant Australian Standards.

The Basin Fire Brigade originally provided the service to areas of The Basin and surrounding suburbs and was conducted by qualified CFA personnel. The service commenced in the 1950s and in 2020 still operates but is conducted by private organisations. They collect the fee for service from the business and a percentage is paid to The Basin Fire Brigade.

Fire Equipment Maintenance

Roadside Hydrants

The Brigade is permitted to use roadside hydrants provided by the water authority. It is important locations of the hydrants is marked if they are required for fire fighting purposes. Two types of hydrants in use.

- The familiar above ground type is usually a square metal with a red top. These are marked on sealed roads by a visible blue block stuck on the road.
- The other is an inground hydrant, commonly called a fire plug with a small rectangular metal or large round plastic top. These are marked by a visible post beside the road.

Junior Fire Brigade

Cr. Guy Turner encouraged the formation of a junior fireman's club in 1959, by donating a trophy for "keenest junior". The concept was to give aspiring fire fighters a place to train and prepare them for moving up into the senior ranks. Training is carefully overseen by officers and fire fighters from the senior brigade. Though the Juniors do not attend fires, the training given familiarises them with experience and knowledge of the running of a Brigade, equipment use, and carries this knowledge into the senior ranks. The club continued for many years until interest waned.

The club restarted shortly after the 1983 fires when there was a surge of interest in Fire Brigades. With modern naming conventions, the club was renamed the Junior Fire Brigade. A running team was formed later that year.

Each year, the team competes in several competitions including the State Championships, where in 1992, a second place was gained in an event for two competitors.

Although junior's have fun, they also learn serious and valuable skills that can benefit them throughout their lives, no matter what career and/or volunteer paths they may later choose. Many junior's go on to join The Basin Fire Brigade as full volunteer fire fighters when they reach 17.

Community Involvement

As well as managing bushfires, the brigade also deals with other incidents and runs various education programs.

The brigade responds to house fires, car fires and road accidents as well as dealing with fallen trees and power lines during storms. To deal with the various incidents, the brigade draws on the skills of its members trained in everything from first aid to chainsaw usage. Members are continuously building their skill set, with numerous training courses on offer through the CFA and an inhouse training regime.

Up to 2015, Fiskville, a CFA training complex near Ballan in Victoria, was used by the Brigade. It closed after the detection of contaminated water on the site. In 2021, the SETG CFA training site in Carrum Downs is used.

The CFA runs several community education programs, many of which are administered directly by brigade volunteers. From the pre-summer Bushfire Blitz program which educates homeowners on asset protection and fire safety, to brigades in schools which teaches children about fire safety.

A Brigade Community Relations Officer coordinates most of the above programs.

In 2012, the brigade commenced using social media to inform residents of brigade activities and issues of interest to the local community.

A tailored website gives the community comprehensive information about The Basin Fire Brigade.

A static message board located at the front of the station gives the passing public immediate notices such as total fire bans days and bushfire education evenings. Electronic movable roadside message boards are also used.

An innovation that commenced around 2014 are open days at the fire station which have been successful. Many events are held including demonstrations, fire safety information with firefighters on hand to answer questions.

In November 2013, the brigades Community Relations Officer, April Himmelreich, won the Education Award at the 2013 CFA Fire Awareness Awards. April devised "The Captain Koala and Friends Show" as an innovative approach to spreading the CFA's Fire Safety messages and travelled around Victoria staging the show.

Distinguished Resident
Max White

A past Secretary, President and junior team manager, Max was a great worker for The Basin Football Club. Never a shirker from hard work, Max ran a drainage business and a hardware store at The Basin. He was a former policeman and in 1962 brought honour to himself, family and town when he was awarded a Police Valour Medal for bravery in assisting to arrest an armed man at Blackburn. Many local organisations have benefited from Max’s charitable nature. In a good cause he often rolled up his sleeves or made donations of materials.

In 1965 and 1966 Max stood for the Knox Shire Council. The Basin people gave him an almost unanimous vote but the bigger population in Boronia carried the day for his opponents. Max was eventually elected to Council in 1969 and served for 12 years. He held the position of Mayor in 1971 and 1972.

After leaving The Basin, Max and his wife Pat ran the Homestead motel at Buninyong, near Ballarat for a time. Max passed away in 2009.

The Basin Badminton Club

As a result of talks between the first minister of The Basin Presbyterian Church Mr. H. M. Bell, and church members Mr. & Mrs. Roxburgh, Mrs. Pickett and Mr. L. Gretton, The Basin badminton club was formed in 1935. Mr. Roxburgh donated four racquets and a net and the game was played in the Presbyterian Church. Other first year members included Messrs. F. & E. Gretton, A. John, G. & F. Grumont, W. Martin, and Misses M. Dickson, and N. Gibson. Foundation office bearers were Mr. H. M. Bell Chairman, and Mr. L. Gretton Secretary and Treasurer.

The Basin Presbyterian church hall (on the corner of Church Street and Forest Road) was used for approximately 2 years before the club moved to the Basin Progress Hall which provided extra space and better playing conditions. Before S.E.C. power coming to the district, the game was played under kerosene lamps. Finance was limited and the club held various social functions to help defray costs.

The game was played mainly in a social nature before World War II but individuals entered Victorian Badminton Association Carnivals such as country Week. The club participated in the Central Badminton Association for several years. Matches were arranged with neighbouring clubs and tournaments held within the club. Gentlemen were then rarely seen playing in shorts. During the war, the club went into recess but reformed in March 1946, when it flourished.

In 1949, the Croydon District Badminton Association was formed with The Basin as a foundation member. In 1952, after being runners-up for the past 3 years, The Basin emerged as A Grade premiers defeating Croydon 172 points to 146 points.

To make a stronger competition, the Mountain District and Croydon and District Associations amalgamated in 1953 to form the Croydon & Mountain District Badminton Association (C&MDBA). George Grumont from The Basin was elected as President, a role he held for 17 years.

The "A" Grade pennant was again won in 1958 by The Basin after many years as runners-up.

In 1964, The Basin won the "A" Reserve premiership. Among many fine former players, Bob Irwin holds a high place having been ranked No. 5 player in Victoria in 1965 and having represented Victoria in 1965 – 66.

In 1970, the Association changed its name to the Mountain District Badminton Association (MDBA) with The Basin still an active member.

Since the early 1960s, the MDBA had been investigating the feasibility of a dedicated building for badminton. Most playing venues used were not ideal for badminton for the following reasons:

- Ceilings were too low requiring more drives and net shots, than clears and lobs.
- Nets were not permanently installed.
- Lighting was not ideal.
- Line markings were often mixed with lines for other sports or temporary lines required.
- Timber floors were not the ideal surface to play on.

In 1970, after many years of investigation by an MDBA building committee, an offer from Lilydale council for land in Liverpool Road was accepted, and plans drawn up. In 1972, building commenced and was finished in 1973 consisting of 3 courts. The building was financed by fundraising, a State Government grant and Council donations and help. These new courts were subsequently used by The Basin Badminton Club instead of The Basin Progress Hall which suffered from most of the restrictions detailed above.

In 2019, more badminton courts were erected on the site and it is also home to other sporting organisations. It is known as the Kilsyth Sports Centre.

Ugly Man Competition

Dinny Lewer, a captain and coach of The Basin Football Club, contributed more than football ability to the cause. His face won the Uglyman's competition in 1957, thus lifting the club's funds by 96 pounds.

There were many long-standing members of The Basin club including George Grumont (32 years), Ernie Gretton (over 28 years), John Chandler, Wally Goodwin, May Moran, Elsie Greenwell, Val Gretton, Marjorie Dickson, and Anne Spry.

Life memberships of the MDBA from The Basin club include George Grumont (1961) and Ernie Gretton (1962). In 1962, Sir Gilbert Chandler from was invited to become a Patron for the MDBA which he accepted and held for many years. Roy Ritchie from The Basin club was treasurer for the MDBA for the years 1971 – 72.

The Basin club produced many fine players including Ernie Gretton, Bob Irwin, Margaret Ritchie, May Dickson and Elsie Greenwell.

In 2021, The Basin badminton club is no longer active. It is unknown when the club disbanded.

The Basin Football Club

In Victoria, no town is complete without an Australian Rules Football Club.

From 1946, the young men of The Basin have been represented in this field. To the credit of many staunch workers, the club, after a modest beginning, has grown to a formidable club. It has grown even though little local support was forthcoming in the early days and great reliance was placed upon the efforts of officials and the ladies auxiliary for sorely needed funds.

Before the days of The Basin Football Club the Bayswater team had Basin boys W. Jackson, H. Collier, A. Collier, A. Turner and Gilbert and Alan Chandler playing with it. Consequently, the football club dance was well patronised by Basin lads and lasses. A wonderful supper was included in the entry price of four shillings.

The club's inaugural meeting was held at the home of Mr. Jack Martin late in 1946. Arthur Cooper was elected President, R. Peck Treasurer and F. Byford Secretary. Committee members included A. Collett, C. Whitworth, and A. J. Stephens. In 1947, a side was fielded in the Croydon Mail Football League. Having no home ground, the side was drawn to play away continuously and consequently were beaten by huge margins. Players and loyal supporters were transported by Thompson's buses.

A company known as the "Horizon Hand Weaving Co", designed and wove scarves for The Basin Football Club in 1947. The business was owned by Sonia Hardy and operated from a house on Mountain Highway near Clevedon.

In 1948, the club combined with the Colchester-Basin Cricket Club and commenced playing at Batterham Reserve after the proposed site of Wicks Reserve proved unsuitable. South West of the lower oval (beside the dam from which the football was frequently retrieved) was a bark and paling hut built by a working bee. This was supplemented by an army tent supplied by Arthur Cooper. The army tent was used as a change room until 1949 when a temporary dressing shed was built.

In 1950, the club joined the Croydon Ferntree Gully Football League, staying with them until 1961.

In 1953 Clifton Pugh, well known artist, was president and in 1955, because of insufficient players, the club was temporarily suspended.

The team was selected at "Vassos's" Hotel (later known as the Club hotel on the corner of Ferntree Gully Rd and Burwood Highway) on Saturday morning (there was no training in those days) and they could always pick two or three drinkers when short.

In 1957, the club reformed with Alf Petrie President, A. Cooper Treasurer and J. Stephens Secretary with their home at Batterham. Anyone involved with the rebirth of The Basin Football Club would scarcely believe the changes made to Batterham Reserve in the intervening years as a result of the continued presence of the Football Club and later the Cricket and Tennis Clubs.

In 1957, the club was using the lower oval and played on a surface which still bore signs of the drainage furrows from the days when the ground was part of Rowley Batterham's apple orchard. The club had many working bees to develop the grounds. Saplings were cut down at The Ravine for point and goal posts and power poles were erected to get electric power.

An "Ugly Man's Competition" (see insert on page 219) raised enough money to buy timber and galvanised iron to proudly build a 24 foot × 48 foot unlined "tin shed". It was the first in the district with a 1000 gallon water tank that served for a couple of years for showers and other water supplies. A briquette hot water service and wire netting were added later. Working bees laid the first water pipes from Arcadia Avenue.

Dinny Lewer was appointed coach in 1957 but the team finished last. Dinny was involved in a memorable event in late July 1957. The club had only a single win at this stage and were playing Yarra Glen at home. The forty-seven-year old nonplaying coach decided to play in the team and show them how it should be carried out. The side performed well, without much help from Dinny. In the dying moments of the last quarter, with The Basin three points down, Dinny took a mark thirty yards from goal. Rather than go with convention, the coach decided on a place kick to win the game — probably the first place kick in the district since the war. Dinny kicked a point and The Basin went on to lose.

All year the club had struggled to attract more than seven or eight players to training, but the coach's place kick was responsible for the full nineteen players attending an emergency team meeting at the club the following Sunday morning. After much debate, Dinny managed to hold on to the coach's position by the narrowest margin. That place kick will never be forgotten by those who witnessed it.

The club’s first success came in 1958 when side made the semifinals. Wally Lindsay took over as coach in 1959 and the side finished about the middle of the list. In 1960 Noel Harman was coach and an under 16 side, with Max Norton coach, was fielded.

In 1962, the club joined the EDFL, which later became the EFL

Continuing as coach, Harman was rewarded in 1962 when the senior side won its first premiership by one point. Officials that year were J. Wallace (President), A. Cooper (Treasurer), and R. Williams (Secretary). Star players included John Wright, Norm Parkinson, Morrie Cook, Kevin McDonagh and Ron Williams. See page 229 for a list of the players.

In 1963, a 2nd XVIII was fielded and played in the grand final.

From 1957 to 1965 the club owed a lot to the work of the Ladies committee. Stalwarts among them being Mesdames Swanson, Petrie, Norton, Murray, Scanlon and Harrod.

Until about 1962, all improvements at Batterham were jointly funded by the Park Committee and the Football Club. On many occasions, the club loaned money to the Park Committee for improvements instead of future rentals. Over the years the facilities have been improved and upgraded. The ground is now considered by many one of the best in Melbourne.

On the playing field, the club has had mixed fortunes since that 1962 premiership, but in 2021 is flourishing. The first premiership was won in 1977 by the under 15’s. The club has always been financially stable because all finances are self generated. Monies are generated by playing fees, functions, bar and food sales, gate entrance fees and generous sponsors.

A supporters group formed in the 1980s meet monthly and are responsible for many improvements to the club rooms and grounds. The group is credited with starting the highly popular Country and Western Day that was held in February for many years.

The supporters group manage clubroom based plaques that are dedicated to deceased members of either The Basin Football Club or The Basin Cricket Club who have made a significant contribution in their time at the club. As at 2020, the following people have dedicated plaques:

- Arthur Cooper.
- William Wright.
- Reginald Fay.
- Moira Fay.

The supporters group also manage a joint Football/Cricket Club honour board displayed in the clubrooms. The board has a separate plaque for each person listing their contribution to the club and their achievements. As at 2020, the board has dedications to the following people:

- Steve Mills
- David Smith
- Jack Wallace
- Terry Davis
- Michael Redpath
- Fred Davis
- Greg Smith

The Club is fully licenced and runs a well-ordered bar. Discipline was tightened when a handful of individuals were banned for behaviour unbecoming to the club. Members are aware of the value of the facilities and take pride in them. Visitors are also made welcome.

The club is stable and held in high esteem by its players. This was highlighted by senior coach John Ruffles, when he observed in June 1992 that the senior side which beat Templestowe by ten goals the previous week contained only two players who did not play their junior football at The Basin.

To commemorate 50 years of football at the Club, the Legends Team was announced at a gala function at The York on Lilydale on the 29th June 1996. See insert on page 226 for details. Also, see teams of the decades inserts on pages 233 and 225.

The club’s emblem is the Bears, its nickname is the Rosellas and its colours are green, white and red.

The first jumper used by the club was light green with a red cross stripe and used from 1950 to 1960. Later jumpers were black with a red cross stripe and vertical red stripes.

The club supports the various football pathways:

- Auskick 5 – 8 for boys and girls aged 5 – 12.
- Junior and youth football for male and female aged 7 – 17.
- Girls 8 – 18.
- Senior men.
- Senior women.

Chapter 13, page 326, has further information about the club facilities including the 1 million dollar donation and council funding in 2018.

The club shares facilities with The Basin Cricket Club and The Basin Football Netball Club. As early as 1947, the football and cricket clubs have shared facilities and held joint presentation events.

Around 2014, the club was encouraged by the Eastern Football League (EFL) to incorporate a Netball group into the organisation who are known as “The Bearettes”. The Basin Football Netball group only play in Winter and are separate from The Basin Netball Club described elsewhere. In 2021, Batterham Reserve did not have facilities to play netball but a training court is being developed. In 2021, The Netball Club has three senior teams.

Since 2017, when the AFL women’s competition commenced, there has been an explosion in women and girls playing football. With the support of Knox Council and recent donations, the club is actively encouraging women’s football and providing supporting infrastructure including a new changing facility.

In 2018, the club formed the first women’s team to play in competition football. In 2021, the club has two Senior Ladies’ football teams, Seniors and Reserves, who are known as “The Lady Bears”. The first coach was John Hayhurst and the first captains were Julia Baker and Candice Carroll.

The Hetrel Medal for women’s Best and Fairest was introduced in 2018 and the first recipient was Julia Baker. The medal is named in recognition of George and Pat Hetrel who in 2018 made a significant donation towards upgrading the facilities at Batterham Park.

Most women don’t have the network of years of support men have enjoyed. This was recognised and addressed by the club.

The club is supported by a community of passionate locals who call friends family, and see their club as their second home. Opposing teams look forward to playing The Basin on their home ground because of the passionate supporters who follow The Basin wherever they play.

Batterham Reserve facilities are colloquially called “The Bear Cave” and tightly associated with The Basin community.

The Basin Football Club Ladies Team

Little is known about the team which appeared in the 1950s, and were active for over a decade. The latest available picture was taken in 1970.

As reported in the Free Press, 7th May 1959 at The Basin family picnic and baby show at Batterham Park:

“Ladies Football Game

In a day full of entertainment The Basin ladies played a football match against the football team.

Umpire Russell Harod officiated in a most appropriate outfit – that of a clown.

Starring as a ruck-rover combination was Alison Sloane (5'10") and Eunice Harod (4'10"). Many scoring opportunities were created by the fine play of these two players and young Mavis Battersby was very noticeable as centre half forward and kicked two fine angle goals on the run. Eunice Eagles and Maxine Edwards were both prominent in defence. Jill Wright played a fine game on the wings and was too fast for Billy Girvan. Splendid handball and team work was noticed by Edith Thompson and Lois Evans.

Final scores were ladies four goals three behinds, to men, no goals one point, in a most entertaining game”.

“HEY GIRLS! ITS OVER HERE”

“The football match between the girls of The Basin and Upper Ferntree Gully didn't interest the two above (a picture shows two players looking the wrong way). One felt the need to pull guernsey down in all modesty and the other was giving the knicks a womanly tug. But where the action was there was little time to powder the nose or add a touch of lipstick The match was played at Batterham Reserve, The Basin and was naturally a ladylike affair.”

As late as 1972, the team was still playing and were known as “The Basin Beauties”.

The Basin Cricket Club

Cricket has had a rather chequered career in The Basin, having many phases over the years.

Before the 2nd World War, Cricket was played by a team calling themselves “The Valley” competing in the Ringwood competition. The side played on a pitch at the corner of Colchester and Canterbury Roads and included such players as George Fiedler, Mick Godfrey and A. Treleaven. This club continued after the war as “The Colchester-Basin Cricket Club”.

In 1946 The Basin Cricket Club formed and played on the same private property as The Valley in the Ferntree Gully Competition but shortly afterwards moved to Batterham Reserve.

The club was officially affiliated with the Ferntree Gully and District Cricket Association (FTGDCA) on 25th August 1947 with two teams. Players and officials remembered in that period include Alan Collett, Graeme Kerr, and Jim Stephens.

The Basin's first team finished the season as undisputed leaders of the competition and rightly earned the title of hot favourites for the Frank Pickett Shield, however Ferntree Gully defeated them in the final. Scores were Ferntree Gully 204 and The Basin 89. Inaugural trophy winners were presented to The Basin's George Fiedler (Batting award), Ferntree Gully's Arthur Hicks (Bowling award) and Mick Godfrey (The Basin) won the best all-rounder award.

The club met hard times and was disbanded in 1948 and suspended from the FTG District Cricket Association in December 1951.

The club changed their name to “Somerville Park” and played for the seasons 1952/53 and 1953/54.

The club was in recess for the 1954/55 to 1957/58 seasons.

In 1958 a fresh start was made when The Basin Footballers fielded a cricket side again in “B” Grade of the Ferntree Gully Competition. Over about a ten-year period, the club headed the ladder after the home and away matches several times, but unfortunately a premiership did not come the club's way. Defeats in finals were by as little as 3 and 9 runs. One season, the “B” Grade side headed the list with 88 points out of a possible 100, but was plagued by injuries and mishaps during the final.

In season 1962 – 1963 a “C” Grade side was added, and then in 1964 – 1965 A, B, C and Juniors were fielded — the club had come a long way in a short time.

There were many staunch players and officials up to 1965, among them being Doug Sims, John Wallace, Noel Harman, Alan Sward, Alan White, Norm Parkinson, Morrie Cook, John Wright and Philip Jordan.

In the 1967/68 season the club won its first premiership. See insert on page 229 for the players names.

In the late 1960s, the word “Footballers” was dropped from the clubs name. For the period 1973 – 1983 the club played under the banner of Batterham Park Cricket Club after combining with the Church of Christ Cricket Club.

At the commencement of the 1983/84 cricket season, the club reverted to the name The Basin Cricket Club and continues to play under this name.

The club has achieved much success on field and has won ten premierships throughout the grades. By far the most successful leader has been the late Phillip Johnstone, who captained three premierships teams in the lower grades before his tragic death in 1991. Phillip and his wife Robyn were staunch workers for the club.

From having two senior and one junior team in the early 1970s, in the 1990s, the club had grown to the stage where it was fielding five senior and five junior teams each Saturday.

The Basin Cricket Club has had many outstanding players, including Fred Davis, David Lambert, Steven Plymin, Garth Smith and Tony James. Players have also filled most positions on the club's committee and there have been many tireless workers including Robert Smith who served as President for eight years, Graeme Murray, Secretary for six years and Mark Posch, Treasurer for eight years.

The outstanding service of these men has been recognised with the presentation of life membership awards and others awarded this honour include Terry Davis, Dennis Wheeler, Paul Wakefield and David Smith. A full list of the awards is listed in the Appendixes.

Since 1989, there have been over 200 centuries scored for the club. The highest being 232 by K. Glover in the 1996/97 season.

Since 1989, there have been over 20 times a player got 7 or more wickets in an innings. The best being 9/41 by M. Flanagan in the 1989/90 season.

The club awards the Tony "Tacka" James medal every year in honour of a club legend. "Tacka" was often the first one at the club and the last to leave. He was inducted as a life member in 1990, was captain/coach, club champion and best clubman. Tony's passing is still felt to this day but his legacy lives on. See Appendixes for a list of the recipients.

The club awards the Jack Wallace Club Champion each year. Jack Wallace was the founding member of The Basin Cricket Club. This award recognises the club's most outstanding first XI cricketer. Jack Wallace has a stand in his honour and without him, the club would not be where they are today. Jack passed away in 2018, but his legacy will continue. See Appendixes for a list of recipients.

In 2019, after losing 8 finals, including the 1947/48 season, the 1st's won their first premiership.

Since inception and up to 2021, The Basin Cricket Club has won 23 premierships across all Grades.

The club shares many facilities with The Basin Football Club and The Basin Football/Netball Club. The supporters group, facilities and clubroom plaques are described in The Basin Football Club section.

The Basin/Ferntree Gully Salvation Army Cricket Club.

The first team was formed in 1988. Foundation members were Bill Cooper, a retired Major in the Salvation Army, his two sons, Alan and John, and the then O.I.C. Of the Salvation Army farm, Captain Barker. The idea was to field a local team in the Eastern Suburban Churches Competition.

The Basin Netball Club

In 1962, several local girls who were keen on sport decided to form a basketball club. These girls raised enough support to form two teams which joined the Mountain District Girls Basketball Association. A distinctive purple and white uniform with a "BJ" badge was designed by Joyce Reid and The Basin Junction Basketball Club made its debut with an "A" Grade and "B" Reserve team. Both teams had successful seasons with "B" finishing runners-up.

Another team was added in 1963, and playing and training on courts at St. John's The Baptist Primary School in Ferntree Gully, all teams finished in the four.

One year in the early 1960s, they were unable to play on the scheduled court and used a tennis court at the residence of Midge Beesley as a netball court. This tennis court once belonged to The Basin Tennis Club located behind The Basin store. Midge purchased the property with an attached block containing the abandoned tennis court.

The need for home courts was obvious, so the girls set to work to raise funds. With the help of parents, The Basin Progress Association and the Shire Council, a court was finally constructed in 1964 on the driest part of the lower ground in Batterham reserve. The same year saw Mrs. Marie Alexanderson appointed as the club's first official coach. With extra practice, excellent support and fine coaching, "A" Grade won the club's first premiership. It was fitting that this team consisted mainly of the club's original members. Two more courts were added as six teams were fielded.

Some original members were Jill and Carol Wright, Joyce Reid, Meryl Neeson, and Denise Gretton whose work and play combined with the efforts of Lindy Bagley, Mrs. Alexanderson, Mrs. Nicholls, Mrs. Hayles and Mrs. Kaliszewski lifted the club to prominence.

Unfortunately, the club ceased operation in the late 1960s or early 1970s. The courts in Batterham reserve were changed to tennis courts when the Batterham Tennis Club commenced operation in 1972.

Up to 1970, netball was called "Women's Basketball". In 1970, New Zealand and Australia agreed to change the name to Netball.

In 1973, a group of wives of The Basin Football Club players, who were already playing together as a netball team (Jill Lockwood, Barbara Moxham, Josie Kirkham to name a few), decided to recruit some more players to form new teams. The original teams trained at a netball court next to Batterham Park tennis courts once a week, until the competition began. Training began in September, and in 1974 teams began playing at various competitions. Although the colours of The Basin Football Club were green and red and the current team were wearing green tunics with red cord, they decided on red and black as the new team colours.

Some inaugural players in these teams were Lyn Terry, Glenda Beard, Denise Pitts, Glenda Beard, Lorraine Gowers, Joy Fitchener, Kathy Long, Lyn Shepherd, Annette Jones, Pauline West, Roxanne Hope, Kerry Sergeant, Robyn Carville, Valmai Gray, Anita Duffy, Lyn Begg, Joy Wallace and Irene Major.

Over the years, further teams were formed and training often had a line up of prams and pushers and toddlers playing on the sidelines.

*Vanessa Beesley, Norma McNamara, Heather Chandler, Alison Hampton, Unknown, Elizabeth Sims, Robyn Ritchie, Barbara Wallace. (names not verified).
The Basin Junction Basketball Club c1963.*

With the removal of the netball court from Batterham Park, training moved to Chandler Park and then to the Bayswater train park to accommodate the growing need for more courts and growing membership. The venue was shared with Bayswater Netball Club.

Training moved back to Chandler Park and in 2021 this is their training venue. Teams played at various venues including Cheong Park, Croydon Leisure Centre, Nunawading Basketball Stadium, Boronia Basketball Stadium, Lilydale Basketball Centre, Carrington Park and Knox Region Netball Centre. The original team were highly competent players and played at an elite level in many grand finals. Players wore a red and black A line uniform they made themselves.

As more teams were formed, friendships were formed and morning teas held with children playing in the background. Social evenings were held, progressive dinners, fancy dress ups, car rally's and raffles, to not only raise money, but to enjoy socialising with other members.

Joy Wallace came on board as the club senior coach and was integral in coaching senior teams to play at higher levels and developing players who had not played netball before. Many of the athletic and capable players went on to play at State league and elite netball, also playing in Interstate Carnivals. Players such as Roxanne Hope, Kerry Sergeant, Kathryn Ferrier, to name a few.

As children on the sidelines grew older, the time came to formalise the club and The Basin Junior Netball Club was formed. A committee was organised and junior teams selected. These teams began playing in 1980 at the Knox Region Netball Centre. The club grew in size and were fielding between 14 – 17 teams in the late 1980s and 1990s.

The club was officially registered in 1985 as The Basin Netball Club but deregistered in 2001. In 2006, the club was registered as The Basin Netballers and in 2021 this is the current registration.

Two life memberships were awarded in the late 1990s to Kerry Tate and Lyn Shepherd.

Over the years, committee membership has changed and members moved on as their children moved away from the sport.

The uniform has changed over the years from the dress to a red polo top and black pleated wrap around netball skirt with minor alterations to style.

For many years, the Club fielded teams in The Mountain District Netball competition and had success with player awards in the Mountain District Saturday Netball Competition. The Club also won Best Club Team awards for excellent club management and communication. Unfortunately, records of premierships and committee names have been lost or destroyed.

In 2021, the committee is active with its President, Lucy Caulfield promoting the club's activities and competitions and the Club has a more modern A line Dress.

Although the club still fields open teams, the main focus is on junior development but would like to see this further increase in teams in all age groups in the future.

In 2021, the Club has members on the Mountain District Committee helping with the organisation of over 3000 members each week and one of their coaches, Lucy Caulfield, is a Representative Team Coach.

Many of the players have gone through the Representative Team program some reaching elite netball, playing at State League and Victorian Netball League (VNL).

The Basin Netball Club is an established club of the local community with strong membership and leadership with a vision to improve and develop players with a love and enjoyment in netball.

The Basin Football Club also has a Netball group but in 2021 the two Netball groups are not associated.

Batterham Park Tennis Club

The Batterham Park Tennis Club came into being on 4 September 1972. The founding President was Rev. Ian Parton and Secretary Mrs. Claire MacMillan.

The idea of a tennis club at the reserve had been raised some time earlier when the Batterham Park Grounds Committee called a meeting of local people to discuss the formation of a tennis club. Little interest was shown however, and it was not until a chance meeting between Don Maguire and Claire MacMillan that steps were taken to form the Batterham Park Tennis Club.

Don Maguire was a member of The Batterham Park Grounds Committee, and Clare MacMillan was a member of The Boronia Presbyterian Church Tennis Club, a small, but active club without their own courts. They had three teams and hired various courts in Boronia and Bayswater for home matches. After months of negotiation, The Boronia Presbyterian Church Tennis Club ceased functioning, and together with a group of ladies from Mount View became the nucleus of the new Batterham Park Tennis Club. (The Mount View ladies played midweek on Rita Matthews' private court in Boronia.)

The aim of the new organisation was to have a family based tennis club, open to the local community and catering for all levels of tennis. Founding members were: Len and Judy Pacey, Jeanette and Don Osborne, Beryl Tate, Claire and Hamish MacMillan, Ian and Anne Parton, Ted Cornell, Jean Isherwood, Bill and Dawn Ochiltree, Peter and Lorraine Smith, Gordon and Laurence Hill, Pat Ewart, Robert Henry, Pieta Boyles, Pat Ingram, Terry Starling, Lorraine Davie, Pat Harvey, Jeanette Brown and Alan Thorne.

The new club was located on its present site and consisted of two en-tout-cas courts, a clubhouse and one asphalt netball court.

Several locals have been members of the club, including four Mayors of Knox — Hurtle Lupton, Tom Blaze, Geoff Draper and Peter Maley. Another prominent member was Hamish MacMillan, who was Treasurer of the Victorian Tennis Association and a Director of Tennis Australia. Hamish is also a life member of Batterham Tennis Club and was a past president of Ferntree Gully and District Tennis Association, a position he held for 15 years.

In 1992, the Tennis Club had grown from its original 43 members, to 266, and boasted five en-tout-cas courts and an attractive clubhouse surrounded by gardens and lawn. The courts can be floodlit for night matches.

In 1997, the club held their 25th anniversary with a celebration at a local restaurant.

The Club has had some financial help from the local council, but the most funds come from the membership and from fund-raising events.

Honour Rolls are listed in the Appendix.

Miller Park Tennis Club

Situated on the corner of Liverpool Road and Mountain Highway, the club was officially opened on 6th July 1986 by Cr Tom Blaze.

Original members of the Committee of Management were N. Gooday, A. Barden, C. Roberts, B. White, I. Major and J. Hall.

The first complex consisted of the clubrooms and 3 plexipave courts.

The first night competition was registered in July 1988 after lights were installed on the existing courts. Twelve months later, three en tout cas courts were constructed with lights installed on these courts in August 1990.

In May 2002, the worn plexipave courts were upgraded to sand filled artificial grass courts with help with a grant from Knox Council.

In October 2007, the club held its 21st year ceiling but some could not be deciphered. Runners-up flags are not included in the list. Many flags have been taken by the recipients and consequently have not been recorded.

The Basin Basketball Club

In 1975, several women living in The Basin were getting together at playgroup meetings. Their husbands also met regularly, playing cards and billiards. Instigated by Dick Thomas, some of these men decided to form The Basin Basketball Club. The team, which played at Kilsyth stadium, consisted of Dick Thomas, Matt McManus, Bill Major, Howard Blegg, Andy Sweet, Brian Hill, Godfrey Baker and Bill Barry.

The following year a women's team was formed. This team, coached by Dick Thomas, also played at Kilsyth stadium and was made up of Norma Thomas, Sandra McManus, Irene Major, Joy Wallace, Margaret Stewart, Barbara Moxham, Marilyn Rose, Carol Baker, Loretta Kelly and Lyn Blegg.

The first junior team was formed in 1978 when the coach of an under 16 boys Boronia Technical School team ceased coaching. The team was taken over by Dick Thomas under the banner of The Basin Basketball Club. Included in the team were Geoff Toulson, Matt and Seymour Van De Meere and several boys from the school.

On the 21st April 1979, the club entered its first boy's team for a full season. The team, an 11d side, played at Nunawading and was coached by Bruce Kelly, although the first game was coached by Dick Thomas as Bruce was unavailable. Much of the early work was carried out by Dick Thomas and Irene Major. A team set of green singlets with white trim were purchased from Kmart and red numbers sewn on. Red cotton football shorts were also purchased and added to the uniform. The boys in the team were David Bortolussi, Ian Bottel, Peter Dobson, Simon and Tony Major, Brian Page, Stephen Shepherd and Andrew Wallace.

In 1981, the first junior girls team was formed and coached by Margaret Sweet and Ute Frankcom played in the under 10 competition. The team played at Boronia stadium and was made up of Gillian Bottel, Michelle Sweet, Joanne Frankcom, Kendra and Donna Gill and Michelle Moore.

In 1992, the club, under the Presidency of Justin Walton, had 460 juniors and 80 seniors making 70 junior teams and 8 senior teams competing at Knox Amateur Basketball Association (K.A.B.A.), Melbourne East Basketball Association, Nunawading (M.E.B.A.), and Kilsyth and Mountain District Basketball Association (K. & M.D.B.A.).

The club started using "The Basin Wildcats" from around 1995.

Many teams have won premierships over the years.

In 2021, the club has teams playing in the Knox and Kilsyth associations and also has teams playing in various tournaments throughout the years. The club has over 400 members, a fantastic introduction to basketball for many junior players. Many talented players have gone on to representative basketball and state teams.

In 2018, the club commenced using the finished basketball stadium at The Basin Primary School as their base.

The club presents many yearly awards with the earliest recorded from 1992:

- Gillian Bottell Outstanding Player Award. Gillian was in the first The Basin Wildcat junior girls team (Under 10) which started in 1981. This award was developed by the Club in memory of Gillian and the outstanding way she represented herself and The Basin Wildcats. Gillian tragically passed away in a car accident – reportedly on her way to a basketball game.
- Shane Nicolaou Outstanding Player Award. This award was developed by the Club in memory of Shane but more so in recognition of the contributions his parents who coached at the Club and his sister who played for The Basin Wildcats. Shane passed away from cancer at the age of 18.
- Kyle Vassil Award. This award was developed by the club in memory of Kyle Vassil who was an active Club member playing in the U14 team in 2010. This is why this award is only presented to an U14 player who demonstrates good commitment/attitude/perseverance, encourages other players and represents the club well. Kyle tragically passed away at the age of 12 in February 2010 while swimming at a school camp.

- Junior Encouragement (Boy & Girl) Award.
- Celebration Services Sportsmanship Award (Boy & Girl). Player who displays outstanding sportsmanship.
- Justin DaCosta Memorial Award. The Best Club Member. The award was developed as a “Club Trophy” in honour of the DaCosta Family and all they contributed to the Basin Wildcats — this is why it is awarded to a club member (NOT a player) who contributes a lot to the club behind the scenes. The Da Costa family was involved with the club for many years as players, coaches and committee members.
- Peter O’Callaghan Memorial Award (Boy & Girl). The Best player and contributor to the club. This award is donated by the O’Callaghan family in memory of Peter’s love of sports, and his support of boys and girls in their involvement in junior sports. Peter was always encouraging participants in a range of sports/activities to persevere and to be the best they could be. It is awarded to a player who contributes to the club, not just playing, encourages others & “keeps on trying”.

- Jayco Coaches Award. Recognition of contribution.

Recipients of the above awards are listed in the Appendixes.

The Basin Tennis Club

The Basin Tennis Club was formed in 1932 at the initiative of Mr R. B. Smith, owner of Smith’s Store, the first store in The Basin. The first meetings were held in Mr Smiths lounge room. The clubs’ first President was Mr. Smith himself and the first treasurer and secretary was Miss Rose Rafferty. Mr Smith provided some land at the rear of his property and constructed an asphalted tennis court (see photo on page 234). Due to the popularity of the game another court was added a little later. The club affiliated with and participated in the Fern Tree Gully and District Tennis Association.

A newspaper report dated April 1948 of "Basin Tennis Club Ball" held in The Basin Progress Hall stated in part:

"...the thanks of the club were heartily expressed to Mr H Poulter for keeping the courts in such splendid order".

The first few years successes were few. In 1949, the B Grade won its first premiership and in 1951 the A Grade won their first premiership, the "Dr Farrow Cup".

During its existence, the club was popular with its warmth of atmosphere and the afternoon teas provided by the ladies.

The club disbanded in early the 1950s with the clubs funds donated to The Basin Progress Association.

Midge Beesley and her husband purchased a house in Olinda Road near The Basin roundabout in 1954. They also purchased an adjacent block of land which was overgrown. They discovered asphalt, net posts and wire netting from the abandoned tennis court. They later built a new house on the tennis court site.

The Basin Progress Association attempted to reform the Tennis club in 1962 in the Batterham Park area but this was unsuccessful. Later, in 1972, the Batterham Park Tennis Club was formed.

Riding for the Disabled

Early in 1971, several community minded people in The Basin formed a group with aim of teaching handicapped children to ride. Lead by Mrs. J. Ericson, of Fern Street, the group initially started at South Yarra. In October 1971, the group became the first registered "Riding for the Disabled" group in Victoria with its base at Wicks Reserve, The Basin.

Riding for the Disabled had its origins in England in 1954 and quickly spread to other countries. Queensland was the first State in Australia to start in 1964.

For the handicapped, riding represents a whole new way of life: four strong legs to carry you instead of two weak or useless ones. To those confined to a wheelchair or to moving slowly using crutches or callipers, horse riding opens new horizons, gives new independence and confidence, and much enjoyment.

The group at The Basin were known as the "Wick's" group (for the reserve where they met). They were greatly helped by the Wicks Reserve Committee and the Rotary Club of Boronia, who provided an enclosed area for the riders to work within.

Lilydale Bowmen Club

The Lilydale Bowman Club is located on the corner of Pavitt Lane and Sheffield Rd.

The club was formed in 1977 by five members of the Moorabbin Archery Club. These members were Steve Edwards, Peter Dickson, Brian Williams, Graham Windsor and David Abbott. They recognised a need for a club that focused on Field Archery while the Moorabbin Club focused on Target Archery.

The founding members spent considerable time assessing potential sites for the club; finally choosing a site of 22 acres on the corner of Pavitt Lane and Sheffield Rd. The site was ideal for the purpose and was also surrounded by national park and farm land.

The farm land had been leased on occasions for use when the club hosted international shooting competitions.

The land was originally crown allotment 51 and originally selected by William Jackson. Later it was known as Bonnie Doon Farm and is shown on early maps. The property was auctioned on the 28th June 1912 as reported in the Reporter (Box Hill) newspaper. About 1917, Thomas Burden and his family came to live on the land and renamed the farm Brockbury. Five of their six children attended The Basin Primary School. Their daughter Kathleen (Kit) married Robert Dobson, the grandson of Davis Dobson, one of the original settlers in The Basin.

At some stage, the council purchased the land and eventually it was leased to the Lilydale Bowman Club.

Field archery simulates hunting game, with small targets placed in natural surroundings at various distances. It requires a large site with natural bush surroundings.

As opposed to target archery using flat open turf, field archery is shot in the bush, which can range from open scrub land to steep terrain.

The clubhouse is surrounded by pleasant grassed parkland, used for parking and visitor camping, while the lower sections of the property the Dandenong creek flows through picturesque fern stands. The three 20 target field courses which wind their way around the grounds are set up for multipurpose use for the various games, ABA, IFAA and 3D. A field archery round has many similarities with a golf round, though the target lanes are shorter than fairways.

The site is owned by the local council and leased by the club who pay all the land rates. In 2020, the site has no reticulated water or electricity. Water is provided by on site tanks and a generator provides electricity.

In the early days, the local council supported the club by providing clubrooms in 1984 and toilets in 1986. The toilets were installed on the site boundary to be shared with Doongalla Horse and Pony Club.

Over the years, the club has spent over $20,000 improving the facilities and now have excellent clubrooms and their own toilets and showers. Finances to improve the facilities have been entirely self funded.

The club grew rapidly and in 1997 boasted the largest club membership in Australia. In 2021, the club is one of the largest and fastest growing field archery clubs in the country, having a membership of around 200, with ages ranging from 10 to 70, both male and female.

The Club is affiliated with the Australian Bowhunters Association (ABA), the national body which governs the sport and operates through a network of branches throughout Australia. As well as setting the rules and regulations, ABA provides members and clubs with public liability insurance.

Doongalla Horse and Pony Club

On the 24th March 1969, The Basin Progress Association called a special meeting inviting interested people to form a local horse and pony club. A total of 33 people attended the meeting where following points were made:

There was a definite need in the area for a Horse and Pony Club, as the nearest was at Croydon.

The Basin Progress Association compiled a list of 33 names who did not belong to a club but were interested in joining if a local one was formed.

A suitable location was available at Wicks Reserve and the Committee of Management would encourage and help a newly formed club.

The Shire Riding Councillors were in favour of the proposal and would do what was within their power to help.

The Basin Progress Association was sponsoring the proposal for community benefit and once the club was formed would take no further active participation unless asked by the club.

Various executive and members of the Croydon and Mountain District Horse and Pony Club had been contacted and some had inspected the proposed location. While the proposal had not been put at their meeting, they personally felt the proposal a worthy one and stated they felt that their club would be willing to advise and help in the formation of the club.

Doongalla Horse and Pony Club

A committee of 15 was elected to guide the formation and draft a constitution. The first committee members were Mrs Morgan, Mrs Elliott, Mr. John Pittard, Mr. Wallace Campbell, Mrs. Phelan, Mr. John Campbell, Mrs. Ierufi, Mrs. Veal, Mrs Tremewan, Mr. K. Riddell, Mr. L. Everett, Mr. Roy Ritchie, Mrs. Stellar, Mrs. Ericason and Mrs. Gale. President was Mrs. Morgan, Secretary Mrs. Elliott.

The committee arranged to hold a rally and gymkhana soon. A local veterinarian, Mr. Wilson, offered his services to the club. Miss Ericason offered to loan 4 horses to the club for a few months and Mr. Robinson offered to let them graze in his paddock provided someone looked after them to which Miss Vikki Walker volunteered.

Later meetings drafted a constitution and the club commenced operations at Wicks Reserve. It was soon discovered that Wicks was unsuitable and other areas including land near Millers Road and the Chandlers paddocks were used for a time. In 1971, the group discovered a large tract of land in Sheffield Road owned by the then Lilydale Council. Negotiations were successful in using the land, although the agreement was loose.

The land in Sheffield Road became the clubs home and has proved suitable. It consists of an area of 8 – 10 acres that has been cleared over time with a further 10 – 15 acres of bush used for cross-country jumping. All the area is appropriately fenced.

The Doongalla Pony Club Incorporated was registered/affiliated with the Victorian Pony Club Association on 25th May 1971 with full affiliation granted on 14th December 1971.

Major ground and building improvements over the years have been:

- The first shed (a double garage) erected in 1972 to store gear and an area flattened for a temporary arena.
- A double garage shed erected in 1976 beside the earlier one creating a walkway between the two.
- In the late 1970s, a cover was erected over the area between the two garages and also extended out the front of the garages.
- In 1985, a besser block shed was constructed with a concrete floor and roof and roller door. A 25KVA electric generator with electric wiring to other areas was installed. Before this, the members used a portable generator. This new shed was financed and erected by club members. The generator was donated by a club member.
- In 1988, the club negotiated with the Council to build a series of riding trails that followed local roads and led to the pony club. Many of the younger club members agist horses in local paddocks and have to ride to and from the pony club.
- A stone topped and fenced arena was created in 1989. The local Council financed the excavation and stone topping and the club paid for and erected the fence.
- In 1990, the club renegotiated the land lease

The Story of Johnny Reb

The Royal Melbourne Show is the Mecca of show jumping in Australia. Show Day is Grand Prix Day; the most coveted event on the Australian Show Jumping circuit.

On Show Day 1971, a cloud hung over the event. The third horse to jump was the skewbald, Johnny Reb, ridden by Guy Creighton. As he made his way around the course, all those who knew him could see that he was not jumping his best or in his usual neat fashion.

Coming to the second last fence, he looked right to jump the parallel bars. He failed to rise high enough to clear the bar, took the front rail with him and crashed heavily to the ground, throwing his rider well clear. He made an attempt to rise but failed to do so.

A screen was placed around him and eventually he was removed to the Research Station at Werribee, where he died on the operating table.

Owned by Max Towns of Orbost in Victoria, Johnny was only a 10 year old. Starting his jumping career at the early age of 3 years, firstly with his owner, then Geoff Richards, Robert Allen and finally Guy Creighton.

Johnny Reb had jumped with distinction at every worthwhile show between Adelaide and Cairns. He was a Melbourne Grand Prix winner in 1969 when ridden by Geoff Richards, an event he won in brilliant fashion over a very big course.

Plagued by leg injuries for a couple of seasons, he came right back to his own in 1971 with a number of placings in Sydney. This was followed by a win in the Queensland Championships, at Toowoomba, a string of wins in Northern Queensland during the Winter, winning the Australian Show jumping Championships during the Royal National Exhibition in Brisbane and 5 wins in Adelaide.

Johnny Reb was not a big horse, but he was a brilliant jumper who disliked hitting fences. By all standards he was great horse – any horse that wins a Melbourne Grand Prix must be classed as great.

Johnny Reb died a Champion – a true Champion in every sense of the word.

arrangement with the Council incorporating much tighter conditions that suited the club.

- In 1991, a huge tree planting effort saw trees around the arena and in many other areas.
- The club used pan toilets up until 1986 when Council constructed public toilet facilities on the land border shared with the Lilydale Bowmans Club. However, these toilets were too distant from the club buildings. In 1992, the club financed and erected a large toilet block located closer to the club's buildings.
- The largest “gear” shed was donated to the club in 1993 and erected by members.
- Over time, the canteen front area roof was extended and the floor concreted. In 1999, steel walls were added.
- In 2002, the construction of an additional arena commenced and this was finished.
- In 2009, new clubrooms were finished.

Major events held each year included:

- The Annual Johnny Reb memorial jumping competition (see the insert on page 240 describing how this event came to be named). This event was discontinued in 2002.
- The Annual Johnny McCabe fancy dress event held after the last rally of the year. The McCabe family were active members of the club in the 1970s. Johnny McCabe, the young son, was killed in a tragic accident and the fancy dress is named in his honour.
- Show jumping day, Dressage day and One Day Event (includes Cross Country Jumping).

The club operates a Junior Committee and a Senior Committee. The Junior Committee has been operating since inception and offers younger members of the club a venue for involvement in the administrative functions of the club.

The site is home to the Doongalla Adult Riders Club which commenced operation in 1981. They use the club facilities, provide finance to the club, and help at working bees, but operate as an independent organisation.

F.T.G. District Cricket Association

The F.T.G.D.C.A., which was formed on August 25, held a further meeting on Tuesday, September 2. Eight clubs have stated their willingness to enter the newly formed Association and entries by all clubs wishing to enter will be accepted up to September 30, 1947.

It had been hoped that two grades would be formed this year, but owing to the lateness of the move to form an Association, many local clubs were not prepared. The competition will be started in October and will be for the Cr. A. F. Pickett Shield.

The office bearers who were appointed are as follows:—Cr. A. F. Pickett, Burke road, Fern Tree Gully, president; Mr L. Ewart, the Avenue, Fern Tree Gully, hon. treasurer, Mr A. C. K. Aplin, C/o T. Hayes, Upper Fern Tree Gully, hon. secretary.

The Basin Cricket Club has obtained the services of Art. Franklin's band for club dances and extends a hearty welcome to young and old to come along and have a good time at future dances. A nice supper will be provided and there will also be some very good prizes given for Monte Carlos, etc.

If local support is given to this club it should go ahead by leaps and bounds.

Basin win first flag by point in thriller

In a hard game featuring strength and speed, The Basin last Saturday defeated Wandin by one point to gain their first premiership ever.

Right from the start the Basin went into attack but Wandin's back line turned them back. The Basin persisted, and G. Parker kicked a brilliant goal. Not to be denied, Wandin attacked and goal.

As the game settled down it could be seen that this would be a battle of back lines.

The siren rang to end the first quarter with the Basin having a one goal advantage.

Basin, 3.2.

Wandin, 2.2. With the wind in this quarter, Wandin soon evened the score and looked like running away from the Basin, but the Basin took stock, and with K. McDonough at full-back pulling down every kick that came his way, and P. Badge showing plenty of pace, slowed down the attack and many times sent the Basin into attack, where R. Williams and P. Percy gave Wandin plenty of trouble.

At the close of the quarter the Basin were trailing by 11 points but looked like settling down.

Half-time scores:—

Basin, 5.2.

Wandin, 6.7.

After the rest it was a different Basin. With a few positional changes they settled down and really got on with the job. The Basin's rucks were killing their opponents, and with J. Wright on the ball now were attacking all the time.

K. Elliott, in the centre, was giving his side plenty of drive, while G. Parker and R. Williams were putting plenty of fire into the forward line.

At the other end of the ground K. Elliot and P. Badge were turning back all that came their way, only allowing Wandin two scoring shots.

Three-quarter time scores:—

Basin, 9.6.

Wandin, 7.8.

From the start Wandin were into attack but only to be turned back by a very tight, hard-hitting back line.

Then it happened. A free-kick to Wandin, and the Basin looked like being in trouble with Wandin going mad and having shots from all angles, but K. McDonough still stood firm.

With only time-on to play, N. Harmon grabbed the ball out of a pack and running around two opponents, kicked a beautiful goal. Back to the centre and Wandin towards goal. Poulter gained possession and this looked like Wandin's flag, but up in the middle of the pack came two big hands and K. McDonough saved again. With only seconds to go the Basin were driving forward again, and then it was all over, with the Basin taking out the flag.

Basin, 10.8.

Wandin, 9.13.

Best: K. McDonough (best on ground), M.

Cook, P. Percy, J. Wright, P. Badge, J. Horsnail.

Goalkeepers: P. Percy 3,

R. Taylor 2, N. Harmon

2, G. Parker, M. Cook and

K. Elliott one each.

Summary

Summary

The Basin Progress Association was formed in 1926 and had an enormous influence in development of The Basin. It was originally formed to represent the interests of The Basin residents, and to manage and maintain The Basin Progress Hall for use by the local community. It was disbanded in 2004.

The Basin Children's Hospital Auxiliary was formed in 1930 and until its closure in 1973, it is estimated that the Auxiliary raised over $10,000 for the hospital.

The Basin Red Cross was formed in 1938 and until its closure in 1984, it had raised money for the first ambulance in the hills, provided numerous blood donations and helped in many emergencies.

The Basin Theatre Group was officially formed in 1957 but began productions in 1954 with Edna Chandler as the driving force. The company first held productions in The Basin Progress Hall, then a small building called "The Hut" in Doongalla Road. In 1973, a new building was constructed on donated land in Doongalla Road and this building was extended in 1989.

The Basin Elderly Citizens Club began operation in 1965 as The Basin Pensioners Association and was formed to look after the social and welfare needs of elderly residents in The Basin area. The Association operated from the Progress Hall until Knox Council constructed Club Rooms on The Triangle in late 1972. In 2020, the club now longer operates.

The Basin Community House began in 1987 as the idea of two local women who saw a need to organise a program of activities and services to help meet some leisure, educational and social needs of the community.

The Basin Junior Field Naturalist' Club was formed in 1983 by Ray and Jan Brown to satisfy the high level of interest in natural history amongst children in the local community.

The Basin Neighbourhood Watch scheme was formed in 1986.

The Rotary Club of The Basin was formed in 1990 and has become an active community based service club participating in a diverse range of projects.

Distinguished Resident

Edna Chandler

In 1954, Mrs. Fergus Chandler returned to The Basin with her husband Fergus to live. Her in-laws had an outstanding record of service to the community, but Edna was to gain renown in her own right by exploring and developing previously untapped talent in The Basin. As Director-Producer of the Theatre Group she has guided this organisation from a modest beginning to a highly successful and self-sufficient unit. It did not happen by chance, as Edna, with previous formal training and experience with various amateur theatrical organisations knew what was required.

Nevertheless her efforts have been wider still than this. As President, she was a leading light in the establishment of The Basin Kindergarten, a feat which was accomplished in the remarkable span of only 2 years. It is notable that it was also during Edna's term as President of The Health Centre Committee, that the centre was actually built.

Edna pays high tribute to her husband Fergus for his untiring assistance in the running of the Theatre Group. In fact this interest became almost a way of life for Fergus and Edna. Those connected with The Theatre know how long and hard they have worked to make the Company so successful. Edna has won many awards for directing and producing shows over the past 35 years. These include three Moomba awards, two Kyneton Festival awards, and awards from the Ballarat Festival and the Victorian Drama League Festival.

Edna's most distinguished award is an MBE in 1978 for services to the community and to The Basin Theatre. Fergus Eric Chandler passed away in 1995. Edna Louise Barrett Chandler passed away in 2003.

The Basin Progress Association

Formation

In 1926, The Basin was progress conscious. A new Primary School had been built, Smith's Store was in operation, many new estates were opening, and the population was growing. Many of the residents, old and new, felt the sanctity of "His Majesty's Mail" was in jeopardy because of the insecurity of the "loose mail bags" then used between Bayswater Post Office and the receiving Post Office, the home of Mrs. A. M. Dickson in Mountain Highway. Wreford Chandler, then a junior teacher at The Basin Primary School, spent many afternoons carting around a petition calling on the Postmaster General to establish a full Post Office at The Basin.

In May that year, hundreds of residents from an area bounded by One Tree Hill, to the limit of housing in the area, Hazel Dell, the Dandenong Creek, Colchester Road, Albert Avenue and Forest Road (roughly the area from which pupils came to The Basin Primary School) met at The Basin Primary School to prepare the petition for presentation to the Postmaster General.

Frank Goodwin suggested at the meeting enthusiasm generated should be continued in the formation of a Progress Association. The suggestion was enthusiastically received by all present. A resolution was passed that "One month from date ... a meeting be held to consider the inauguration of a Progress Association for The Basin".

Accordingly, at another meeting one month later in June 1926, The Basin Progress Association was duly inaugurated. The first President was Mr. Frank Goodwin, Mr. Wreford Chandler was Secretary and Mr Bob Dobson

The Basin Progress Association

Treasurer. No membership fee was set at first but members present contributed a few pence for stationary and postage.

In September 1926, meetings were moved from the Primary School to the Vestry of the Methodist Church and meetings continued to be held there until the Progress Hall was finished in 1931.

A constitution was prepared in various stages, but the final constitution was not implemented until a loan was raised from the Commercial Banking Company in 1929 to help finance construction of a Progress Hall. The Bank Manager insisted that a valid constitution was a requirement of the loan, so he offered a draft which was implemented. The guarantors for the loan were Mr. H. Beaumont, Mr. R. B. Smith, Mr. Kirkman, Mrs. Dickson and Mr. Ankers.

In 1944, a meeting was held, and a document signed, declaring:

"...that all The Basin Progress Association books and records prior to that date were lost and that no documentary information was available" (or words to that affect).

Early Entertainment

R. B. Smith, who opened the first store in The Basin in 1924, added a barn to the rear of his store in 1926. In the same year, The Basin Progress Association was formed and shortly after members decided to build a hall for their meetings and social functions. Smith provided the barn rent-free to The Basin Progress Association for both entertainment and to raise funds for construction of The Basin Progress Hall.

The barn was cleared of produce on Saturday afternoons, cleaned ready for the Saturday night dances and members restored it to its original conditions on Sunday mornings. Weather permitting, dances were weekly from 8 pm to 11.45 pm and the charge for admittance was 1 shilling or donation. Mr. Smith donated milk and tea for suppers and some novelty dance prizes. Crockery etc. was provided by members and ladies brought a plate.

Later, dance music was provided by a player piano (pianola) delivered to Mr Smith's barn which was later transferred to The Basin Progress Hall on completion of the first stage. Ballroom dancing was the order of the day (old time and modern) with novelty dances included. Fancy dress balls were also held.

A social committee was formed and continued after the successful Queen Competition (see page 271).

As a result of an inspection by the Department of Health, dances were stopped in the barn, and they were moved to the Boronia Progress Hall and were held there fortnightly until The Basin Progress Hall was finished. Private cars and trucks provided free transport from The Basin to these functions.

During the 1930s, successful and well attended dances were held in the new The Basin Progress Hall. People came from as far afield as Footscray because of the excellent dance floor. During 1935 and for a time afterwards, folk danced to the music of Mr. Hector Carricks orchestra. On other occasions, and in the years when attendances were small, Mrs. Hingham (piano) and occasionally Mr. Mat Ferguson (concertina) provided the music.

In the 1930s The Basin Progress Association ran "Carols by Candlelight" at Como for many years.

At the end of World War II, The Basin Progress Association, Red Cross and members of the community extended a warm "Welcome Home" to local members of the fighting services.

The first Carols by Candlelight to be held in The Basin Progress Hall occurred on December 1950 and was an outstanding success.

The Basin Progress Hall

Building

After being in operation for a short while, The Basin Progress Association members decided to build a hall for their meetings and social functions. Two sites for the hall were considered, one near The Basin Primary School and the present site. A ballot was held to decide the site, and as we know, the present site won the vote.

"Paw Response"

The roll call at The Basin Progress Association meetings during winter months was not always high, but it reached an all-time low when a dog was called in to make up a quorum. It is believed there was a "paw" response to most votes taken that night.

Robert William Stanley Chrystal Bingham (Salesman) owned the site and lived in Hampton. He agreed to sell the land to The Basin Progress Association at a reduced rate.

The title regulations then did not allow a land title to be in the name of an Association, so three members of the Association acted as “trustees” and the title was in their names. A trust deed signed by all trustees stated that the trustees held the land for the Association and that the Hall was owned by residents of The Basin.

Accordingly, in November 1930, the joint proprietors of the land became Reginald Thomas Charles Kirkman (Plumber), Ada Maud Dickson (Post Mistress) and Herbert Henry Langdon (Tailor).

In 1929, to help raise funds for building the hall, a Queen Competition was held. Competitors included Edna Greenwell, Dorothy Thompson, Eileen Clarke, Blakey, Mrs Dewar, Miss Eileen Clarke, Miss May Dickson, Miss Lil. Ferguson, Nancy Harris and Doris Langdon. Miss Eileen Clarke (later Mrs. Eileen Turner) was the winner. The “Crowning Ceremony” was held on the vacant site for the hall. As far as is known she still holds the title as no other competition has been held. See photo in page 269.

Enough money was raised from this and other functions to enable a bank loan to be raised. The hall, built almost entirely by voluntary labour, commenced in 1929 and was erected in two stages. The first stage was officially opened by Sir George Knox in 1931. An honorarium was paid to Mr Bill Ankers who drew up the plans and directed operations. This first stage did not include a stage, kitchen or toilets. The official opening was a roaring success. Everyone in The Basin turned up and the dancing went on till 3.00 a.m.

Stage two of the hall building occurred around 1940, when a stage and a kitchen were added., the latter forming an annex to the stage and partly exposed to the weather.

The late 1940s saw the hall used for functions to raise funds for the Miss Dandenong Quest and. Nancy Campbell represented The Basin, Betty Moulton represented Boronia, Betty Prohasky and Gwen Mapperson represented Bayswater. The hall was also used for regular dances organised by The Bayswater Football Club with transport arranged to and from Bayswater Post Office.

Towards the late 1950s the hall fell into disrepair. This was mainly due to it being rented out at low prices and consequently there was little money to spend on its upkeep. It was suggested that the Shire be asked to take over running of the hall from The Basin Progress Association, but this did not receive support. Changes in management took place and the trustees of the hall decided to strictly supervise functions, particularly when a licence to serve alcohol was issued. Rents were made more realistic, and The Basin Progress Association commenced a monthly cabaret, which raised hundreds of pounds over the next few years. The cabaret took on various themes — but one night during the football season league jumpers were sported and in a spot of frivolity one woman “shirt fronted” another.

In 1959, new trustees were appointed. These were Edward George Mortiboy (Publican), Richard Guy Turner (Accountant), Leslie Harold Edwards (Storekeeper), William Joseph Wright (Storekeeper) and Arthur Ernest Cooper (Carpenter)

During the 1960s around 3,000 pounds was spent on improvements. These included the addition of a foyer and toilet block in 1963, modernising the stage in 1964, a new kitchen in 1966, new floor and ceiling, exterior painting and indoor decorations. The first debutantes’ ball in The Basin was held in The Basin Progress Hall in 1963.

Shortly after the 1968 bushfires in the Dandenongs there was some criticism of the Progress Hall and its bad condition at a Ferntree Gully Shire meeting. Reporters from the “Knox News” newspaper decided to investigate the “bad condition” of the hall and found the opposite to be the case. Their visit corresponded with a dance in progress and in their newspaper the next week under a photograph of the hall, a caption read:

Hall Repairs

Over the Christmas period of 1961, The Basin Progress Hall Committee installed a new floor in the hall.

In January 1962, the day after completing the floor, a major bushfire broke out and the hall was used as a base for the firefighting operations. Imagine the dismay of the Committee when they came back the next day and found a 3 yards square by one yard high pile of ice in the centre of the floor!

The Basin Progress Association

“Does this hall look very bad”.

The report stated that:

“This was the happy scene at The Basin Progress Hall last Saturday night. It is tastefully decorated and well lit. Everyone appears to be enjoying themselves. The hall is a functional asset for the people of The Basin. A property in good repair around which social life of the area is centred”.

The Basin Progress Hall was originally owned and run by the people of The Basin, having vested management to The Basin Progress Association. Up to 2004, the hall was the only one in the City of Knox that is not privately owned or run by the Council. In 1950, a move was made to have the Shire take over the hall, but this never eventuated.

All monies received through rental were used to keep the hall at a high standard. With a high annual turnover, it was indeed an asset for the people, being utilised on a permanent and casual booking basis and occupied most days of the week.

Over the years, The Basin Progress Hall was a centre of The Basin community, serving as a meeting place for organisations, a venue for indoor sport and a convenient place to hold dances and balls (the first debutante ball was held in the hall in 1963), family celebrations (The first wedding in the hall was between Chris Hall and Sarah Clarke on 29th June 1992), and theatrical productions (the Basin Theatre had their early productions in the hall). Almost all local organisations owe their inception to plans made, and money raised, in the hall. The hall’s “finest hour” came during the bush fires of 1962 when it was available around the clock for the use by fire fighters and people in distress.

Life Membership

For a person to be eligible for Life Membership of The Basin Progress Association, they must have given outstanding service in the interests of the Association, or extensive assistance in some other capacity, or given outstanding service in the interests of the Association, or extensive assistance in some other capacity.

Life members are listed in the Appendixes.

Ownership

In 2003, ownership of the Hall land was transferred to The Basin Progress Association. Previously, ownership was held in the names of 5 trustees who held the title in trust for the Association. When the hall was first built, it was impossible to hold a title in the name of an Association.

For the ownership to change, the original trust deed had to be located as well as the 5 trustees. After a long search, the trust deed was located at a solicitor’s office in Boronia but only one of the 5 trustees was still alive. However, once proof of deaths and a signature from the surviving trustee was obtained, this enabled the change of ownership to proceed.

In the few years leading up to 2002, income from The Basin Progress Hall dropped dramatically and major capital works were required to maintain the standard of the Hall. The Basin Progress Association was having difficulty managing the hall. As an experiment, The Basin Community House managed the hall for about a year with some council support. They improved many facets of the hall and increased its usage. However, they were unable to raise enough funds for the required capital works.

In 2004, The Basin Progress Hall and land were sold to The City of Knox for $1.

In 2005, The City of Knox upgraded the hall kitchen and in 2007 new toilets were added and the exterior repaired and repainted. Other minor upgrades occurred in 2008 and 2010.

In 2015, the stage and surrounding walls were removed and rebuilt. The rebuild included a new stage, and an entrance and windows facing towards the pavilion.

Role

Electricity, water, and garbage collection have been the subjects of constant pressure on the authorities by The Basin Progress Association. Other improvements sought have been better roads and drainage, footpaths, streetlights, traffic signs, road name changes, parking facilities, bicycle tracks, bus services, telephone, mail services, doctors and police facilities.

The first public toilets erected in 1967 in The Basin were the result of pressure from The Basin Progress Association. The toilets were on land purchased by the Council from the Salvation Army.

In 2010, new toilets were erected on The Triangle by Knox City Council and the old toilets demolished.

Dobson Creek was named after an approach to The Basin Progress Association from the Dandenong Valley Authority in 1967. Originally known as Blind Creek, The Basin Progress Association suggested Dobson Creek and it was accepted.

As early as 1952, the idea of severance from the Shire of Ferntree Gully was discussed, members thought that such a step was in the best interests of The Basin.

It was at The Basin Progress Association meetings that The Basin Rural Fire Brigade, The Basin Pre-School Centre and the Doongalla Pony Club had their inception. Members of Parliament, Councillors, candidates for Council and speakers on topical subjects have addressed The Basin Progress Association meetings at various times. Public meetings have been called informing local residents more fully on issues affecting them, to present appeals for worthy causes and to allow the airing of grievances. Over the years, there have been many contentious issues where public meetings were called, and large numbers of people attended.

The Basin Progress Association once stood as a local interest group to voice opinions of residents of The Basin whenever matters arise which may affect their community or quality of life.

Notable Issues

The Basin Name Change

At the 2nd meeting of the newly inaugurated The Basin Progress Association in July 1926 at The Basin Primary School, it was suggested that the name "The Basin" might be changed to something more in keeping with the grandeur of the Dandenong Ranges.

It was found for the meeting, that the kerosene lamp at the school was dry. Wreford Chandler provided a radio battery equipped with a small globe to make a storm lantern. The battery had been charged by a generator running off a water wheel in the Dandenong Creek at "Trewell", the home of Harry Chandler.

This was the only time a public meeting in The Basin was lit by power generated from the Dandenong Creek.

A motion was put, supported by Guest House proprietors and some who had weekend cottages to let, to change the name of the district because of its "ludicrous nature".

The motion was opposed by the Chandlers and Dobsons, pioneer families for whom the name had its roots in family traditions. Those favouring the name claimed it had "distinction". The names of "Eurimbla", "Echo Valley", "Eigenia", "Veronica", "Lower Sassafras" and "South Sassafras" were suggested. The motion was lost by a narrow margin.

Rating System Change

In early 1960s, the Progress Association called a public meeting to discuss changing the rating system from NAV to Site rating. The debate continued late into the night with discussion becoming so heated that blows were exchanged. The meeting voted narrowly in favour of NAV. The rating system was later changed to Site rating.

The Triangle

The area of land known as "The Triangle" is the land bounded by Forest Road, Mountain Highway and Church Street. It was subdivided in the early 1920s as part of Chandler's Hill Estate and a few homes and shops were built on the allotments created.

A Mr Scott had a property on Church Street and purchased two W Class trams which he located behind the Glideaway and made into a house. Somehow, a seat out of one of the trams ended up out the front of Smith's Store. The seat can be seen in a photo of Youls' Store in Chapter 7 — Businesses and Industries.

There was also a property in the 1940s on Church Street that had a cable tram built into it. The tram number (53) was mounted on the front gate.

Other owners of property on The Triangle were Battersby and Gretton.

The Basin Progress Association fought for many years to have this area declared and converted to a “passive park”.

The Basin Progress Association

In the late 1960s, word spread that a speculator had made offers to buy all the properties on The Triangle as he intended building a supermarket on the site. At the public meeting called to discuss the issue in The Basin Progress Hall, the then Shire secretary Neville Haines was present along with Councillors of the day. Local residents and The Basin Progress Association members thought that active development of The Triangle should not occur, and Council should convert the Triangle into passive park by buying back the properties and not allowing any further development. It is reported that the Council agreed to do this, but the agreement was never recorded. Due to enormous public pressure, the supermarket proposal was squashed.

The Basin Progress Association voiced opposition to the building of The Basin Fire Brigade Station on The Triangle in 1967 (which was rebuilt in 1976) but this was ignored.

In 1968, due to The Basin Progress Association pressure, the land on The Triangle was rezoned by the Council to “passive park” and over the next few years a few properties on The Triangle were compulsorily acquired by the Council. The Basin Progress Association members saw this as the first steps to preventing any further buildings on The Triangle.

In 1972, Council decided to erect The Basin Elderly Citizens building on The Triangle and The Basin Progress Association was not asked for their opinion or told of this decision. The Basin Progress Association voiced its disapproval of this new building being erected on The Triangle, but it was ignored.

From 1972 onward, Council purchased more properties on The Triangle (including the old “Glideaway” hall which was demolished in 1979) and in 1978 the Council prepared a report on possible uses and plans for The Triangle. The Basin Progress Association was asked to comment on the report. The Council's concept was to categorise The Triangle into active and passive. Active uses included the existing Progress Hall, Elderly Citizens Hall and the Fire Station, and passive uses included yet to be provided children's playground, bowling green, car parking and grass area. Passive usage would be encouraged to adopt a “village green” atmosphere. The Basin Progress Association was generally happy with the concept as it implied that there would be no more buildings on The Triangle.

In 1974, the Mountain Highway end of Church Street was closed after a suggestion to council from The Basin Progress Association.

In 1980, The Basin Progress Association was informed of plans to erect a Scout Hall on The Triangle. The Basin Progress Association members were outraged and over the next year instigated many meetings between Council, the Scout Group and local residents trying to prevent the building being erected. The Basin Progress Association even considered taking out an injunction against the Council. Suggestions of a management committee for The Triangle were rejected by Council who were of the view that they own the land and will thus make the final decision on its use.

In 1981, the Scout Group were offered 2 other sites on Army Road, Boronia but rejected them as unsuitable. After extensive debates in Council about the matter, it was decided by Council in March 1981 to offer the Scout Troop a site on The Triangle.

In 1983, the current car park was constructed with a path beside it covered by a pergola. Other areas were attractively landscaped and included children's play equipment and barbecues.

In 2010, the last remaining dwelling on The Triangle reverted to Council ownership and was demolished. A children's playground was erected along with a new public toilet block. The old public toilet block on Mountain highway was demolished.

In 2014, a permanent pavilion was erected on the Triangle. Previously, temporary pavilions were used for events such as the Christmas carols and the music festival.

Overall Development Plan

In 1992, The Basin Progress Association called a public meeting to discuss Knox Council's Overall Development Plan (ODP) which would allow land development along Mountain Highway. Over 250 people attended the meeting, one of the largest attendances ever. The proposed large scale development of land on the North side of Mountain Highway including a large amount of the Salvation Army, Dobson's and The Basin Primary School.

The plan was developed by the Council after a request from the Salvation Army to redevelop an eight hectare paddock. Council extended the area requested by the Salvation Army to see how the area could be developed in the future. Residents at the meeting said they were not opposed to the Salvation Army development, but the further development made possible by the ODP. Knox Council was accused of "cutting out the green heart of The Basin".

Under extreme pressure from all sides, the council revised the development plan to what the Salvation Army had originally asked for — the redevelopment of an eight hectare paddock.

Symbol

In 1971, after extensive investigation by George Grumont, The Basin Progress Association adopted as their symbol a small blue native flower — Brunonia Australis, commonly known as Blue Pincushion. It is protected under the Wild Flowers and Native Birds Protection Act of 1958. This little blue flower used to "carpet the ground" between The Basin and Bayswater. Like most other native flora, it has suffered the effects of urban expansion and has all but disappeared in the area.

The name "Brunonia" commemorates that of Robert Brown, famous botanist with Captain Matthew Flinders on the "Investigator" and discoverer of the flower at Port Phillip in January 1804.

Disbanded

In 2004, after The Basin Progress Hall and land was sold to The City of Knox, The Basin Progress Association was disbanded.

The Basin Children's Hospital Auxiliary

This organisation, like the Red Cross, never sought publicity but its work has been most admirable since it was formed in 1930. Many women have well served this most deserving cause. Among them have been Mrs. A. Chandler, who was President for 21 years, Mrs. James, Mrs. H. Chandler, Mrs. Allen, Mrs. Thompson, Mrs.

Robinson, Mrs. Stevens, Mrs. Gower and Mrs. James, the last four having been awarded Life Governorships. Mrs. Gilbert, Mrs. Gower, Mrs. Lees, Mrs. Booth, Mrs. Freeman, and Mrs. Dobson, having been awarded Long Service Badges for 21 years of service.

Various functions were run over the years to raise funds for the hospital, ranging from Pleasant Sunday Afternoons to Banjo Shows, from Crazy Whist to Street Stalls and garment making. In later years, the opportunity shop helped with fund-raising. It is estimated that the Auxiliary has handed over $10,000 to the hospital over its lifetime.

Incalculable voluntary help in many areas has been unselfishly given by members. Other donations have been made to deserving local charities. All the members over the years deserve great credit for their efforts carried out in such an unpretentious way.

The Basin Children's Hospital Auxiliary ceased operation in 1973.

The Basin Red Cross

The Basin Red Cross was formed in 1938 with Mrs. H. Chandler President, Mrs. Pickett Secretary, and Mr. H. Henley Treasurer. The organisation has had staunch workers in Mr. & Mrs. H. Jewell and Mrs. A. Macauley.

In the early 1940s, Mrs. H. Chandler and others felt the need to do something about the urgent need for an ambulance service in the Hills area. They managed to raise enough funds to buy a chassis and build an ambulance. The ambulance was built by C. King and J. Wrigley and was on the road by 1942, with Mrs. H. Chandler as its driver. At one time up to 60 calls a month were made. Harry Jewell and Charlie Cahill were also well known drivers.

During the 2nd. World War, funds for war relief, were raised at regular Red Cross Dances at The Basin Progress Hall. Members were on call for any emergency work and in 1942 were prepared to receive evacuees from Melbourne. Red Cross workers were quickly on the scene in case of fires. Members frequently gave blood for emergency situations. Mrs. H. Chandler, Branch President until 1965 and Commandant of Dandenong Ranges Region for over 35 years, was awarded a medallion for 50 donations of blood.

The Basin Red Cross

The Basin unit provided entertainment to many patients from hospitals. For example, as reported in the “Free Press” on 16th November 1950:

“The Basin branch Red Cross entertained 40 patients from Heidelberg Hospital at ‘Como’ Mrs Chandler’s resident on Thursday, November 9. A big gathering of members were present to entertain and help with refreshments and distribution of tobacco and cigarettes. It being a beautiful day, everybody had a thoroughly pleasant time and the patients expressed their appreciation to all who helped. The basket raffled in aid of funds was won by Mrs Pan, of The Basin.”

In the early 1960s, a transport company was formed within the Region and up to 100 patients a week were driven to and from hospital. Among the 56 drivers on the roster were The Basin Red Cross Members.

The Basin Red Cross unit officially closed in 1984, but Mrs. H. Chandler continued working with the Wantirna unit until her health deteriorated.

The Basin residents should be proud and appreciative to have had residents serving such voluntary organisations as the Red Cross.

The Basin Theatre Group

In 1954, a small group of friends met in Edna Chandler’s lounge room at “Noweenth” in Doongalla Road and work on a play intending to perform it in public. The play was the charming English comedy “Quiet Week End” by Esther McCracken. It was performed that year on October 22nd in The Basin Progress Hall. Edna directed the play and Fergus Chandler was the set designer.

The performance success encouraged its repetition in Boronia that same year. This success led to the performance of further plays by “The Basin Dramatics Group”, with the players manufacturing their own settings and properties, and gradually compiling equipment. Regular members of these early casts were Tony Poole, Barry Cummings, Lorna Goodwin, Lucy Bond, Betty Turner, George Grumont, and Fergus Chandler in plays which were recalled enthusiastically by regular members of the audience.

The movement became so strong in 1957, a constitution was drawn up, and office-bearers elected. Led by Edna Chandler as Director/Producer, “The Basin Theatre Group” settled to a scheme of three major productions a year.

Plays were all performed in The Basin Progress Hall except for once in The Boronia Progress Hall (1954) and once at The Boronia Primary School (1956). Rehearsals were conducted in the home of Edna and Fergus Chandler, as well, monthly acted-play-readings were introduced for workshop purposes and social enjoyment.

By 1962, the Group had outgrown the facilities of the Director/Producer's home and needed more space and a home base in which to rehearse and perform. A building affectionately known as "The Hut" was then erected nearby by voluntary labour. The Hut was an A frame "barn" with two tree trunks supporting the roof. It provided an environment of rustic charm for rehearsals and Group meetings. (see picture on page 276).

The purchase of a piano led to the musical productions "Puss in Boots", "Salad Days" and "Love Rides the Rails". The new home meant easier storage, and a workshop where sets were prepared by designer Fergus Chandler and other members, before the final setting up in The Basin Progress Hall, the venue of the Group's productions.

Interest grew in competitive Festival work, resulting in several early successes including:

- Best One Act Play — "Disclosure Day" (Ferntree Gully Festival — 1957).
- Regional Award (Launceston Drama Festival — 1961).
- The Launceston Players Torch Best Actor — Trevor Robinson in "The Farce of M Pierre Pathelin" (Tasmanian Festival — 1963).
- Best Producer — Edna Chandler for "The Farce of M Pierre Pathelin" (Victorian Drama Festival — 1963).
- Best Actor Award — Graham Fly in "The Bet" (Moomba Drama Festival — 1966).

There were also honourable mentions for various members. Favourable press reports indicated a sustained high standard, and the Group was compared with leading metropolitan Groups.

Hon. Secretaries who helped to further the Group in the early days were Lorna Goodwin, Sally Lowther, Dorothy O'Connell and Midge Beesley. Councillor Guy Turner was an untiring Hon. Treasurer for many years and was followed by Tibor Bedohazy.

In 1966, in honour of the forthcoming The Basin centenary celebrations in 1967, the Group presented a play devised by Edna Chandler titled "1866 And All That".

Up to 1974, Edna Chandler was the director and Fergus was the set designer for most productions.

The Basin Progress Hall continued as the main performance venue. During this time, The Hut was improved to performance standard. By 1969, the Group brought all its productions to The Hut and for the next 4 years it served as the centre for all rehearsals and productions.

With the continuing success of the Group came the need for a permanent home. The requirement was for an intimate theatre with good facilities. The Group membership included a strongly motivated workforce prepared to voluntarily support the effort and in 1967 a Theatre Building Fund was created. The quest for a permanent theatre in no way affected stage productions which continued in parallel with the intensive drive to raise funds.

The theatre was to be built on land donated by Edna and Fergus Chandler in Doongalla Road on the fringes of the Dandenong Ranges State Forest. Member architect, Ian Cole, commenting on the style the theatre should take, observed that:

"Everyone connected with The Basin Theatre Group was familiar and enchanted with the A frame rehearsal room erected in earlier days. It had character, rustic ruggedness and dramatic volume."

In 1968, Knox Council rezoned $\frac{3}{4}$ of an acre on the corner of Doongalla and Simpsons Roads from Rural A to Special Uses A which was the land the new theatre was to be built on.

It was this appeal which everyone wanted to be captured in their new building. The new theatre was to be a result of these factors blended;

Copperplate Handwriting

Councillor Guy Turner will long be remembered, if not for his community work, but for his beautiful copperplate handwriting which decorated the pages of The Basin Progress Association minute books. What a pity we do not learn to write like that in these modern times simple gable shape portal frames, concrete floors throughout, rough sawn timber ceilings painted with homemade paint, rough sawn Oregon fascia's, hand adzed timbers in handmade doors to entrances, beamed sloping ceiling to foyer and native landscaping amongst logs and rocks around the car park and the building.

Group members were enthusiastic in fund-raising efforts for the new theatre. Money was raised to pay for building materials from walkathons, garden parties, balls and even chair donations where people donated money to have their name inscribed on a plaque attached to a seat in the building. Group members volunteered their labour each weekend to help construct the building and after a huge community effort, the new theatre was officially opened in April 1973. It had raised seating for 126, underfloor heating, a foyer, backstage dressing rooms, work space and a lighting control room.

The Basin Theatre Group was the first amateur theatre in the Commonwealth to build its own theatre without the aid of government funding. The first performance in the new venue was "Royal Hunt of the Sun".

A home for the Group's activities made possible a considerable growth in production skills, particularly in the technical skills lighting and set design. The working space designed in the theatre greatly increased the scope of set building, enhanced by the capacity to construct sets onsite. It also enabled refreshments for patrons to be provided at interval and after performances where patrons could meet the performers.

The theatre thrived, performing four programs yearly, with a panel of four producers, a working membership of 130, 20 associate members and subscriber membership of 550 playing to around 2,000 patrons at each production.

Subscriber membership commenced in the 1970s. Membership was free and provided members with advance notification of productions and preferential booking arrangements.

Tickets to productions were first available by telephone with tickets mailed. In later years, the option of internet bookings (with seat selection) was introduced.

The Knox News reported on 29th April 1975

that:

"The Basin Theatre celebrated its 21st birthday."

In 1984, The Basin Theatre Group was registered as an incorporated association.

Since 1989, extensions have been added to increase the foyer size, another wing added for a workshop and storage area. Facilities have been improved for stage lighting, special equipment procured for backstage projection and the kitchen extended to twice its size for preparation of refreshments. A shelter portico has been added to the front entrance for the convenience of patrons.

The popularity of the theatre is reflected in sellout performances for every season. The practice of donating the proceeds from the opening night of each season has been of considerable benefit to many local charities. The Group is proud of its independence and regards itself as being very much a part of a community to which it has contributed so much since 1954.

In 2004, The Basin Theatre Group celebrated its 50th anniversary.

The Group has won many awards over the years performing in numerous interstate and country venues.

The Victorian Drama League (VDL) was formed in 1952 to support the amateur theatre world in Victoria, Australia. Awards commenced in 1997. The Group has also won many VDL runners-up awards.

The Edna Chandler Memorial Trophy is awarded annually by the VDL for Best Director of a Drama Production and is donated by The Basin Theatre Group.

The Lyrebird Awards were established in 1992 to encourage participation in performing arts and talent in the outer eastern region.

The Basin Theatre Group has three internal awards.

- Instituted in 1998, the Edna Chandler Award is for the most outstanding performance and is awarded by the members each year.
- Instituted in 1998, the Fergus Chandler award is for a member who has made an outstanding contribution to the Group's activities and is awarded by the committee when appropriate (not every year).
- Instituted in 2007, the Group judges award is for male and female lead and support roles when appropriate (not every year).

The various The Basin Theatre Group Awards are listed in the Appendixes.

In 1993, Edna Chandler was inducted into the Lyrebird Awards Hall of Fame.

The involvement of Edna Chandler in The Basin Theatre Group and other voluntary organisations in The Basin makes her one of the towns "Distinguished Residents". Her profile is detailed on page 268.

Productions included modern tragedies, comedies with significant social themes, comedy/dramas and merry melodrama providing a wide range of entertainment for patrons.

Social media provides a convenient means to advertise and promote the activities of the Group and in 2021 is used extensively.

Since 1954, and up to 2021, the Group has performed at least one production every year, with four productions most years. A list of all The Basin Theatre Productions is listed on page 290.

The Basin Elderly Citizens Club

The Basin Elderly Citizens Club began operation in 1965 as The Basin Pensioners Association.

The objective of the Association was to look after the social and welfare needs of the members in The Basin area.

The Association operated from The Basin Progress Hall until Knox Council constructed Club Rooms on The Triangle in late 1972. The official opening took place on 31st March 1973.

Building clubrooms on The Basin Triangle was controversial because The Basin Progress Association already had an agreement with Knox Council that the Triangle was to be used for passive recreation.

Activities provided to members were indoor bowls, bingo, cards and regular trips. Consequently, a high level of fellowship existed.

In 1979 weekly meetings were changed to monthly and Knox Council began providing hot meals on Wednesdays at lunchtime.

Except for a brief period in early 1980, the Club was a happy and enjoyable place. During this brief turbulent period, some local members objected to residents from other parts of Knox joining the Club. At one stage, the feeling was so strong, ten members, including four committee members, resigned. However, the Club rallied continued successfully.

In 1983, the Club moved from being the Pensioners Association to become the Elderly Citizens Club and the joining age was lowered to 55.

In 1990, the club registered as an incorporated association called "The Basin Senior Citizens Inc".

In 2018, the club was deregistered because of a reduced need for the elderly facilities.

In 2020 the clubrooms are still used by many other community and private groups with bookings organised by The Basin Community House. The high demand for facility use is testament to the previous efforts of the Club and Knox Council in keeping the facilities at a high standard.

The Basin Community House

The Basin Community House began in 1987 as the idea of two local women, Anne Fitzpatrick and Anne Taylor. They felt that the people of The Basin, particularly young mothers like themselves who were at home with children, could benefit from having a place to meet. They could share ideas and experiences and organise programs of activities and services to help meet some leisure, educational and social needs of the community.

From the early 1970s Community Houses (sometimes called Neighbourhood Houses) have appeared in municipalities throughout Victoria. Their goal was set out:

"...to enable individuals and groups to participate in the organisation and development of their community and provide support for individuals and families in the community."

Generally, they are run by a committee of management made up of local people. They receive some funding from various government departments, but depend heavily on volunteer input for the day to day running of the house and employ at least one paid worker as a coordinator for between ten and twenty hours per week.

A community house is a place where everyone is welcome. Men, women and children can come along to join a class or group, carry out some volunteer work, share their own skills or learn new ones. It seemed a good idea to have such a place in The Basin community.

Word soon spread, and by early 1988 a group of enthusiastic women began meeting. The members of this original group were: Anne Taylor, Anne Fitzpatrick, Wendy Smith, Yvonne Foster, Mandy Cranwell, Debbie Pearton, Annette Onions, Julie O'Callaghan and Nella Sandham. Later in that first year they were joined by Gil McFadyen, Ros Mortimore, Mieke De Vries and Paula Gullion. The group began meeting once a week at St Mary's Hall.

The Basin Community House

All these women had at least one child and most were pre-schoolers. The children had plenty of room to play and the women could talk about the idea to establish a community house in The Basin. The big question was how could they manage to turn such a great idea into reality? They were without any funds, equipment or a permanent base from which to operate, and had no experience in getting these things.

They applied for grants, worked towards becoming an incorporated body (a legal necessity), clarified their aims and objectives, and sought feedback from the local community on the activities and programs they would like. The women drew on the experience of established Community Houses and to find a whole network of information and advice for newcomers. They received funding to employ a coordinator for 10 hours a week and Anne Taylor was appointed. As the "Community House without a house" they started to run classes and groups out of local halls and members' homes.

With the impending sale of St Mary's Church and hall and the ongoing difficulties in providing safe child care, the need for a permanent home became urgent. The best chance seemed to be the former teacher's residence in the grounds of The Basin Primary School.

It had been empty for several years and, although structurally sound, it had been repeatedly vandalised and would need extensive renovations to become inhabitable. Anne Fitzpatrick had been negotiating with The Basin School Council for several years for the house to be made available for community use. They decided to intensify the campaign to be able to use the property. Besides the work they were already involved in, they now had to start lobbying local politicians and public servants as well as raising thousands of dollars for renovations. This was the beginning of a long, long process. They still never doubted that The Basin would have its own Community House.

Because of their lobbying, late in 1989 Knox Council entered the negotiations between the Ministry of Education, The Basin Primary School Council and the group. The outcome was that the property at 1221 Mountain Highway would be transferred to the Knox Council for community use. This was the group's first victory. With the support of Council, they began renovating the house in 1990. Councillor Geoff Dempster officially opened the doors of the completely renovated home on 1st July 1991.

During this period the group received enormous support from many, many individuals and groups both within and outside the local community. Councillor Geoff Dempster, the local ward councillor and later Mayor, was a good friend to The Basin Community House. Councillor Dempster supported the group when they first approached the Knox Council for help and continued to look after their interests for many years in their dealings with the Knox Council.

Council allowed The Basin Community House Group to operate from the house rent-free and helped with renovations and maintenance. Local service clubs including The Rotary Club of The Basin, The Footmen Club of Croydon and The Rotary Club of Boronia all helped with some major renovation tasks. The Basin Primary School Principal Ian Green and members of the School Council offered support and encouragement.

In 2001, the House added extensions to the property to cater for an increase in its services.

The Group have always been on the lookout for larger premises. The refurbished residential house had several constraints including accessibility and only six parking spots to cater for more than 50 people who attended daily. With an increasing range of courses offered, more room was needed.

In 2010, a State Government Community Planning Grant funded a joint study between Knox City Council, The Basin Community House and the then Department of Education and Early Childhood Development to access the feasibility of developing a multipurpose facility in The Basin.

In 2016, the State Government committed $2M for the development of a new Community House on the grounds of The Basin Primary School and construction began in February 2018.

Knox Council committed $600,000 to the fitout, maintenance and renewal of the new building and will manage it for the State Government to ensure it is accessible to the broader community. Council also agreed to provide annual partnership funding to support ongoing programs and services.

The new Community House officially opened 1st April 2019 with facilities including:

- Flexible training rooms that can be converted into a large function room.
- Training kitchen with classroom space.
- Computer lab.
- Meeting space.
- Kitchenette for students.
- Several office spaces.
- Large outdoor space for community activities.

The new centre also allowed the Community House to offer more courses and better cater for people with a disability and the elderly.

During the groups short history, the group have achieved a great deal through hard work and sheer persistence. What started out as a good idea has become a reality. They never doubted it would.

The Basin Community House offers a broad range of activities and programs. Children are well catered for in playgroups, three-year-old kinder and child care programs — including a successful Before and After School Hours Program. Adults can take part in computer courses, relaxation and yoga classes, and many one day workshops covering everything from hairdressing to astrology. The group are home to a sole parent and low income support group and hope to encourage more support and self-help groups to get started. The group once held monthly art and craft markets at The Triangle.

In 2021, the group also manages hiring of The Basin Elderly Citizens Club rooms, The Basin Progress Hall and Boronia Progress Hall.

Thousands of people have come through the doors to take part in the various programs and classes, to find out what happens at The Basin Community House or simply to find out whom we are. Many of these people have stayed and started groups, joined the Management Committee or helped with office work and child care. With their help The Basin Community House will continue to grow and develop and remain a significant place in The Basin.

The Basin Junior Field Naturalist' Club

Ray and Jan Brown formed The Basin Junior Field Naturalist' Club because of the high level of interest in natural history amongst children in the local community.

The Club held its inaugural meeting on 8 March 1983, with the help and encouragement of Bruce Führer, who was a well known natural history photographer and author of many books. Bruce ran The Ringwood Junior Field Naturalists Club for 16 years. Ray and Jan “ferried” children from The Basin across to his meetings once a month, in The Basin Fire Brigade’s bus. Bruce felt there were enough children from the area to start a club. The Basin Junior Field Naturalists’ Club commenced.

The first meeting held in The Basin Primary School Library attracted wide interest. Numbers soon grew as the Club became known. Within a few meetings, membership rose to 60. The Club catered for children of all ages (and their families) and looked at natural aspects of The Basin area and beyond. It encouraged an appreciation of the local flora and aimed to help develop the skill and knowledge needed to expand and maintain this area of interest.

The Club affiliated with The Victorian Field Naturalists’ Club and was a “charter” member of the Friends of Ferntree Gully National Park. It was also a member of The Gould League and therefore had access to their many wonderful publications, charts, etc. Many prominent speakers gave talks on an array of interesting topics too numerous to list!

Andrew Wegner, a well known local naturalist, had enormous input into the organising of field trips and weekends away to places of interest. The Club charged a tiny annual fee and was self funding. The office bearers were all children, with an adult member as an assistant. Meetings held on the third Tuesday of each month, at The Basin Primary School, in the Senior Staff Room, from 7.00 pm. to 8.30 pm.

The Basin Junior Field Naturalist' Club

Regular field trips arranged, and at least once a year the Club went away for a weekend to explore wildlife, etc., and to have fun together.

In the late 1980s, Andrew Wegner took over the running of the group from Ray and Jan Brown.

In 2019, the club no longer operates.

Chandlers Hill Parkcare Group

The Chandlers Hill Parkcare Group is a small group of dedicated individuals who are interested in caring for the environment in and around Chandlers hill. They cover about 1,000 hectares in the southern part of the greater Dandenong Ranges National Park.

The group formed in 1990, and is registered as a volunteer group in Parknet, a Parks Victoria initiative for people to be involved in environment issues with National Parks.

The group meet regularly in the park to search for and remove environmental weeds. Not only weeds on and beside tracks, but in the bush. Many thousands of weeds have been removed that have invaded the park from neighbouring suburban gardens, carried by wind, animals, people and even vehicles. Lingering remnant plants from former house sites in the Park were also a problem, but most of these have been removed. The group has key access to the Park and are permitted to bring vehicles into the Park.

Parks Victoria provides material help to the group, such as tools and weedkillers, as well as training and social functions with other volunteer groups. They also collect bags of weeds for disposal.

In 2015, the group celebrated 25 years of service with congratulations to Ray Cowling as the longest serving member of the group.

The Basin Neighbourhood Watch

At a meeting held at The Basin Primary School in October 1986, hundreds of residents voted in favour of the commencement of a Neighbourhood Watch scheme in The Basin.

Ray Brown was elected the first area coordinator with Brian Lawrence as assistant. The first meeting was held in The Elderly Citizens Hall continued to be held there for several years.

The Basin Neighbourhood Watch area was bounded by Mountain Highway, Miller's Road, Mount View Road, The Basin-Olinda Road, Wicks Road, Clevedon Road, Nyora Avenue and Bayview Crescent. The area was divided into 62 zones. Each zone had a Zone Leader whose task was to distribute a monthly newsletter, work with residents and the coordinator and to attend monthly meetings.

Ray Brown served for two years and was followed by David Apps for two years. Bryan Cranwell served for one year and in 1992 Cheryl Amess was the coordinator.

In 1991, The Basin Neighbourhood Watch celebrated its fifth birthday. Cheryl Amess had the pleasure of awarding certificates to those residents who had made a special contribution to Neighbourhood Watch. Twenty five-year certificates and 29 two year certificates awarded to local residents. Special awards to Bert McAulay for his tireless dedication and to Norman Solomon for the most attendance at monthly meetings.

In 1996, The Basin Neighbourhood Watch celebrated its tenth birthday. Ten-year awards presented to Jan Jonker, Neville Perry, Bert McAulay, Norm Solomon and Rhonda Fergus.

In 2001, several 15 year awards were to be made, but the lack of a sponsor postponed the ceremony.

In 2021, The Basin Neighbourhood Watch no longer operates.

The Rotary Club of The Basin

Formation of The Rotary Club of The Basin began as a discussion in the bar of the Knox Club following a Boronia Rotary Club meeting on Tuesday 5th September 1989, between three old friends; Bill Wright, Jack Wallace and Ted Robertson.

As Neil Whittorn was the then postmaster of The Basin Post Office and a member of The Rotary Club of Boronia. He was asked by Jack Wallace to draw up a list of prospective members for a Rotary Club in The Basin. Within three days, Neil came up with a list of 38 names. Jack spoke to many people and gained the interest of enough numbers to hold an interest meeting on 2 May 1990, at the Eastwood Golf Club, Liverpool Road, Kilsyth.

This meeting, attended by 33 prospective members, was unique in that 12 Rotarians from Boronia were each invited to give a five-minute segment on different aspects of Rotary. Although possibly overwhelming, it succeeded in gaining the interest of most people and two weeks later the Provisional Rotary Club of The Basin was born, with 23 members.

Appointments to office resulted in Clive Rust emerging as Charter President and Peter Van Zeyl as Treasurer. Secretary Ray Bolduan and Sergeant-at-Arms David Oreagan were included in the first Board of Directors. Official charter of The Rotary Club of The Basin registered on 8th November 1991, and the Club became the 50th in Rotary District 981.

The Rotary Club of The Basin was an active community based service club. It participated in diverse projects ranging from an Annual Golf Day to sponsoring exchange students to and from overseas countries. Fellowship within the Club was a major factor in its success, resulting in a solid core of members who worked hard to promote Rotary ideals. The Club met weekly and was always keen to encourage new members and undertake new projects which enabled club members to achieve real happiness by helping others.

Sadly, the Rotary Club of The Basin ceased operation on 30th June 2002 and was officially deregistered on 6th March 2003.

Betty's drive was legendary

A TIRELESS worker for the Knox community, Mrs Helen Elizabeth (Betty) Chandler, has died at Glengollan Village.

Mrs Chandler, the widow of Bert Chandler, had just turned 93.

She was awarded an MBE in 1970 for her services to the community, particularly for her work as a volunteer ambulance driver.

Mrs Chandler will also be remembered for her work with Red Cross and Glengollan Village.

She began her community work as an air raid warden for Boronia and Ferntree Gully during World War 2.

Mrs Chandler later became a driver for the Red Cross, involved in transporting handicapped children to hospitals. At the same time, she pushed for an ambulance service for the former Ferntree Gully Shire.

Through a Government grant, the shire was able to provide its own ambulance service. Mrs Chandler was again behind the wheel as a volunteer driver.

She worked with the local ambulance service through the 1950s and early 1960s, all the Victoria Ambulance Service came to the area.

Mrs Chandler was a very determined woman whose patients were her uppermost concern.

One favorite story tells of when Mrs Chandler was driving a very sick child into the city with a police escort.

She evidently thought the police were a hindrance rather than a help and evaded the escort to race ahead.

The ambulance reached the hospital first while the police searched for a "lost" driver.

Mrs Chandler was Dandenong Ranges Red Cross Region commandant, a divisional council member and later, a life member of the organisation.

She was involved with Glengollan for 30 years and in September of last year, was admitted to its hostel.

Among the many tributes paid to Mrs Chandler were those from the Knox mayor, Cr Marie Wallace, and former Knox mayors, Cr Wally Tew, and Mr Bernie Seebeck and Dandenong Ranges Red Cross secretary, Mrs Noreen Barry.

THE BASIN PROGRESS ASSOCIATION

Return Night to the President

There was a good attendance at the Return Night to the President, Mr. E. G. Mortiboy. Music was provided by Art Franklin's band.

The novelty of "Mr. Basin" was won by Mr. L. Clarke. The judging was very difficult, having defined the dancers down to four couples, it was necessary to call another judge. Eventually, Mr. L. Clarke, dancing to beautiful waltz time, won very narrowly from Mr. Harrison.

Presentations were made by Councillor King to:

Mr. E. G. Mortiboy, President.

Mr. L. Clarke, winner of "Mr. Basin."

Mrs. Harris, an old member of the Progress Assn.

Mrs. Collier, who joined the Progress Assn. about 20 years ago.

Mrs. Freeman.

It was also stated that the Social Committee, during the last three years, have raised nearly £150.

It was the 21st birthday of the Basin Progress Assn. and Mr. Langdon, a trustee, had the privilege of cutting the cake.

All had an enjoyable time when supper was served. Dancing continued till midnight.

RESIDENTS UPSET OVER LAND DEAL

Discontent is brewing among residents of The Basin over what some claim is a 'mishandling of a land deal' by the Knox City Council.

The land was originally acquired for parkland four years ago, but it is now being used for an Elderly Citizens' Club.

The council is providing $25,000 towards financing the club.

The area involved is the three acre triangle bounded by Mountain Highway, Forest Rd. and a back road connecting the two.

The Basin Fire Brigade and the Progress Hall are the two public buildings already on the site.

A number of houses are still there, but these are now owned by Knox Council.

The idea of the natural parkland was commenced by The Basin Progress Association late in 1968.

Moves were initiated to have the land set aside for natural parkland to retain a bush setting flavor in the area for the future.

The Association held some heated meetings at the time, with people living on the land "fighting tooth and nail" to stop the planned development.

These people, however, eventually agreed with the scheme and the last of them was bought out by council about six months ago.

Mr. Bill Wright, the President of the Progress Association at the time, told The News that when the house-holders on the land decided to sell, they were required to do so to Knox Council.

He is a bit surprised that council has gone ahead with an elderly citizens club when the original intention understood by the Progress Association was to leave the area in its natural state.

Mr. Fergus Chandler, a strong member of the association at the time, told The News the association requested council to buy the land as a natural park.

"In my opinion what council has done is quite wrong."

SET ASIDE

"I have nothing against the elderly citizens and, in fact, they are over-enthusiastic to get a building, but this land was set aside as a permanent

KNOX Council is to compulsorily acquire land needed to build a senior citizens club in The Basin.

Tenders will be called for in about six weeks' time by council for the construction of the building at an estimated cost of $30,000.

The land to be acquired is an area behind The Basin Hall. Knox Council owns other land in the vicinity.

In addition to an area for the holding of meetings, the new clubrooms will have a kitchen, reading room and office.

Summary

The first the Basin Picnic and Baby show was held in 1959 and was the first major gathering of The Basin people for an event of this type.

The largest event ever held in The Basin was the 1967 centenary celebrations commemorating 100 years since the foundation of the Basin. Planning commenced in 1964 for a week of celebrations that were held in February 1967.

The centenary of The Basin Primary School was held over a weekend in December 1980.

The Claremont cup commenced in 1986 and was held until the late 1990s.

Celebrations to commemorate 125 years since the foundation of The Basin were held over a weekend in November 1992. On the following weekend, Clevedon celebrated 100 years of establishment in The Basin with an open day.

The Basin Primary School reunion was held in October 2011 for former students who finished Grade six between 1978 and 1985

The first The Basin Music Festival was held on the weekend of 18-20th March 2005 and has been held every year since then,

Distinguished Resident

Jim Stephens

Jim Stephens lived in The Basin for over 60 years and was probably the best known of our bus drivers as he spent 30 years behind the wheel. He told many incidents of the earlier days such as driving a bus load of people down Boronia hill when the brakes failed – and rushing over the rail crossing at 50 mph, unable to stop. This would be deadly nowadays but was achieved safely by good luck and good driving. Jim felt that the bus lines had a remarkable safety record, considering the state of the roads in earlier times.

Jim was an original office bearer of The Basin Football Club and served many years as Secretary/Treasurer, goal umpire, timekeeper, gatekeeper etc., and was also with the cricket club and The Basin Progress Association.

When he retired, he was a dedicated worker with the Knox Historical Society, with particular interest in The Basin History. Over many years, he built up an almost complete collection of The Basin School class photographs, with names of teachers and students. This is no mean feat considering the long history of the school. He also compiled an extensive history of The Basin and its people.

Jim passed away in February 2009.

The Basin Picnic and Baby Show

The inaugural The Basin Picnic and Baby Show was held in April 1959 at Batterham Park.

Representatives from The Basin Progress Association, The Basin Fire Brigade, The Basin Scouts, The Basin Football Club and Batterham Park worked tirelessly to make the event hugely successful. Many firms donated goods or prizes and shopkeepers from The Basin and Boronia also gave support.

Three student doctors from the Women's Hospital judged the baby show with the winner being Colin Thoren, aged 6½ months, with a total of 3138 points.

An entertaining game of football between The Basin Ladies Football team and The Basin men's team saw the Ladies winners.

The Basin and Upwey Fire Brigades battled out some events and held a series of demonstrations.

In the intervals, the crowds were entertained by a group of Highland dancers from Mitcham with by pipe bands.

The Basin Scouts and Cubs ran the hot dog stall, the wishing well and the lucky dip.

Children's races and competitions were popular with both competitors and spectators.

Overall, a successful show,

The Basin Centenary Celebrations

In 1964, a meeting of all local organisations in The Basin was called with the object of forming a committee to organise suitable celebrations for the town's centenary which had been determined to be February 11th 1967. A committee was set up with Bill Wright as chairman and representatives from seventeen organisations. Each put in $10.00 to start an organising fund. Midge Beesley from The Basin Theatre Group took on the position of secretary and Jean Pritchett treasurer.

One of the first decisions was to accept Ron Ikin's offer to write a short history of The Basin, beginning with the first purchase of land by William Peverill Watson on 11th February 1867.

The Basin Centenary Celebrations

The purpose of the book was not only to provide a record of the town's history, but to publicise the proposed celebrations. Despite several early problems, Ron's book was an outstanding success and even the centenary committee were surprised by how quickly it sold out. The centenary committee were appreciative of Ron's contribution and also the technical "know how" and advice provided by George Russell in the printing of the book.

Besides the centenary book, pennants and post cards were used to promote the celebrations and raise funds. Functions held throughout the year included open days at Doongalla, a Pop Concert at the Boronia Theatre, The Basin Badminton Club Tournament, The Basin Kindergarten open day and Carols by Candlelight.

An inaugural dinner opened the celebrations attended by the Minister of Agriculture the Hon. G. L. Chandler and many other distinguished local identities and parliamentary representatives.

The official opening of the new Country Fire Authority fire station at The Basin took place on Saturday, 11th. The opening followed by an informal social evening; the success of this function due, in no small way, to the efforts of The Basin Fire Brigade Captain Don Maguire and his many helpers.

A thanksgiving service was held in the Salvation Army Home grounds on Sunday February 12th. The service graced by the presence of the Dean of Melbourne, the Rev. Tom Thomas and representatives of all local organisations. A large crowd attended, and music provided by the Salvation Army Band.

An Early Citizens dinner was held on Friday February 17th. The dinner was attended by many local citizens who played a long and prominent part in the development of the district and by former residents who provided significant contributions in years gone by.

Peoples day on Saturday February 18th, saw a huge influx of visitors from outside the district, including many from interstate. The Lieutenant-Governor, Lieutenant General Sir Edmund and Dame Mary Herring were guests of the centenary committee at an informal luncheon at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Fergus Chandler on this day. Nominated representatives of local organisations were guests of the centenary committee at this function which was also attended by the Shire President and Councillors.

Peoples day commenced at 11.00 am with a floats procession through the main streets of Boronia, proceeding up Forest Road to The Basin Progress Hall. The procession was led by six Police Troopers followed by a timber jinker pulled by sixteen bullocks. Twenty-Five floats, bands from Southern Command, Nunawading Pipe Band, Marching Girls, many novelty entries and vintage cars made an interesting and spectacular parade. Many appreciative letters and comments received by the centenary committee testified to the success of the parade.

Entertainment was provided throughout the afternoon, concluding with three parachutists landing in the area. On the same day as the parade, the school committee held a "back to school" and people's day concluded with an open-air concert followed by open-air dancing.

Several four-day exhibitions were staged with the centenary celebrations. These included a historical exhibition and displays of historical models, antiques, stamps, Latvian craft, art and international dolls. Banks in Boronia also staged displays to coincide with the centenary and Messrs R. Brewer, Bert Chandler and Son, G. Chandler and N. Perry opened their properties for public viewing.

As a permanent reminder of The Basin centenary, a small cairn, suitably inscribed, was erected on a piece of land, generously donated by the Salvation Army for a Centenary garden, opposite The Basin Progress Hall. The cairn was unveiled by Bert Chandler on the night of the dinner, and he planted a tree to provide a living memento of 100 years of The Basin history and perhaps to provide a link with The Basin Bicentenary in 2067. The cairn contains a time capsule to be opened in the year 2017.

A second cairn was erected by the Chandler Family under the great "Chandler" oak tree in Sheffield Road. Legend has it that this tree was planted by William Chandler in 1875 to commemorate the birth of his son Archibald. The Shire President, Councillor Arthur Kleinert, whose forebears were neighbours of the Chandlers unveiled the cairn.

Knox Council kindly donated $400.00 towards the centenary celebrations and generous personal donations were received from Cr. Kleinert and Cr. Ernholm. It should be recorded that all organisations received a 300% profit on their shares.

Several people contributed to the success of the centenary, but the efforts of the entire centenary committee particularly Chairman Bill Wright, the Secretary Midge Beesley, the Treasurer Jean Pritchett and Jim and Barbara Stephens deserve special mention. The contribution of those who opened their gardens was greatly appreciated as was the input from countless others without whose co-operation the Hon. Gilbert Chandler would not have been moved to state:

"This is possibly the best function conducted in the Eastern Suburbs".

The Basin Primary School Centenary

Heavy rain and poor weather conditions did not dampen the enthusiasm and pleasure of the hundreds of people who joined in the festivities to celebrate The Basin Primary School's Centenary held over the weekend of 12, 13 and 14 December 1980. One hundred years was condensed into that weekend as many past students and teachers returned to share their laughter and memories.

The festivities started on 12th (Friday) with a presentation of centenary medals to present pupils and staff. This was followed by a grade six luncheon in The Basin Progress Hall and, later, a family barbecue at the school. A twilight sports meeting followed and in the evening films of old school camps were shown.

On Saturday the school was open all day for visitors. The historical display was popular, particularly by those former students returning to the school and reliving old memories. Of particular interest was the slice of an old pine tree cut down recently with each yearly growth ring tagged with that year's historical significance to the school. Many old school photographs were on display, causing many former students plenty of head scratching in working out the names of their old classmates. The school photographs on display were the start of a huge collection which date from 1892. Over one hundred years of school children in over 500 photographs with most children named. This collection is held by local resident Jim Stephens.

At 1.30 pm., a procession from The Basin Progress Hall to the school was watched by hundreds of people. The procession included the many forms of transport used by children travelling to the school over the years, a horse and cart and old school bus generating much interest. Marching Girls, local organisation members and people in period costume all joined in the procession.

At 3.00 pm. the centenary celebrations were officially opened by the Minister for Education, Mr. A. J. Hunt when he unveiled a commemorative plaque at the school. In attendance at the plaque unveiling, was Miss Kitty Chandler, 93, who was the oldest returning pupil at the celebrations. Miss Chandler began school at the age of 3 and her name is shown on a list of pupils in 1893. Other former students and teachers travelled from all over Australia to attend the celebrations.

Later in the day, the Assistant Minister for Education, the Hon. Norman Lacy, was involved in a tree planting ceremony. The school choir performed an item, and a dance and gymnastic display closed the days celebrations at the school.

In the evening, The Basin Progress Hall was the venue for a foot tapping old time bush dance which entertained parents, pupils and teachers late into the night.

On the Sunday, an ecumenical church service was the highlight of the day. The school was again open all day for visitors.

Lachlan and Briony Armfield, who attended the school in 1980, were direct descendants of Mr. William Chandler, one of the first settlers in The Basin.

Melinda Dobson and Catherine Smith, who also attended the school in 1980, were fourth generation pupils at The Basin School. Their great grandmother, Janet Wicks, attended the school when it opened. She married Robert Dobson, and their son Robert John Dobson attended the school from 1907 to 1916. He was a member of the school committee for 20 years, and a memorial playground was erected in recognition of his work. He married Kathleen Burden, who first attended the school in 1914, and also taught at the school in 1923. Their children, James, Joyce, Lois and Alison attended the school between 1940 and 1951.

The Basin Primary School Centenary

President of The Basin School Council, Mr. Bob Cole, summarised the success of the school over the past 100 years in part of his speech

“Many of our children have achieved greatness in both local and State affairs and each child, in his/her own way has taken something of The Basin to enrich their lives”.

The Claremont Cup

Held in honour of the Melbourne Cup on the first Tuesday in November, residents of Claremont Avenue in The Ravine in The Basin held their own event — The Claremont Cup.

Mounted on skateboards, the residents of the street, young and old, held a series of races in which the overall winner got their name inscribed on an aluminium cup.

First held in 1986, the event continued to be held into the late 1990s. Daniel Norton was the first winner of the race.

The Basin 125 Year Celebrations

Superb weather contributed to the success of the focus of the 125-year celebrations held on the weekend of November 7th and 8th 1992 at The Basin Primary School. Over 3,000 past and present residents of The Basin joined in the celebrations.

The idea of staging 125-year celebrations had been considered for some years before the event. At The Basin Progress Association meeting in November 1991, a decision was made to hold the celebrations and planning commenced early in 1992. The theme for the festivities was to be “Back To The Basin”. A program of events between October 1992 and February 1993 was planned with the focus on the weekend of 7th and 8th of November.

Local resident Rick Coxhill volunteered to edit a book entitled “Fire on the Hill — Flowers in the Valley — The Basin 125 Years” to be published with the celebrations in November. The book was to expand on the Centenary Booklet edited by Ron Ikin.

A balloon launch, held at The Basin Primary School on Saturday 7th November 1992, officially launched the 125-year celebrations. Students of The Basin Primary School and St. Bernadettes Primary School joined to release hundreds of helium filled balloons. Each balloon was tagged inviting the finder to attend The Basin 125-Year Celebrations and/or advise the school where the balloon landed.

A cocktail party held at The Basin Progress Hall on the 29th November 1992 to launch the book was successful with over 100 people in attendance. The organisers were privileged to have Mrs. Eileen Turner, who was “Queen of The Basin” in 1930, involved in the official launch of the book. Also in attendance was His Worship, Colin Tidball, Mayor of The City of Knox, and Ron Ikin, author of the Centenary Booklet.

A 50/50 dance organised by The Basin Fire Brigade and held on Friday 6th November at The Basin Progress Hall, attracted over 100 people and was a fitting start to the weekend celebrations.

Celebrations on the weekend of the 7th and 8th of November were focused at The Basin Primary School and consisted of continual entertainment and included the following happenings:

- Displays by The Basin Fire Brigade.
- Billy Tea and Dampier provided by The Basin Scout Troop.
- A monster Fête on the Saturday at The Basin Pre-School Centre.
- Community clay paver making.
- Extensive historical displays.
- A twilight Bush Dance on Saturday between 5.00 pm and 7.00 pm attended by over 200 children and adults.
- Tractor rides all day Saturday and Sunday between The Basin Primary School and The Salvation Army Home.
- A Sunday Ecumenical Service held on Sunday at The Salvation Army Home.

A highlight of the weekend celebrations were free conducted bus tours of some of The Basin’s scenic & historic sites. Three mini-buses leaving from The Basin Primary School at hourly intervals, gave over 1000 people enthralling one hour historical tours of The Basin.

A “Farm to Forest” run on Sunday attracted over 150 entrants. Two courses were offered, a 9 km and 3 km run. Both commenced at The Basin Primary School with the 9 km run winding through the Salvation Army Home and Doongalla Forest Reserve.

The Basin Theatre Group, The Salvation

Army Home and Bert Chandler Gardens held open days over the weekend where visitors were welcome at any time.

The final 125-year celebration event occurred on Saturday 6th February 1993 when Clevedon celebrated 100 years of establishment in The Basin with an open day.

Many individuals, traders and community groups contributed to the success of the 125-year celebrations. For the organisers of the event, over nine months of planning came to successful fruition.

The Basin Music Festival

Local resident John Mortimore had been saying for years that someone should organise a music festival in The Basin. Musical gatherings have had a long history in the neighbourhood so taking the next step to having a musical festival seemed perfectly natural.

Those early ambitions of John were realised on the weekend of 18-20th March 2005 when the first festival of live entertainment and original music was held in The Basin.

Organised by The Basin Music Festival Association, the event was an outstanding success with folk, acoustic, jazz, pop, blues, country, bluegrass, Celtic and a hint of reggae sounds featured across several stages in restaurants and around The Basin Progress Hall and park.

After Fridays opening night acts, Saturday was the festival's main day with Sunday featuring a village fair and picnic in the park.

Music could be found throughout the indoor and on the free stage in the park. The festival included exhibitions and displays by community groups and organisations, including The Basin Fire Brigade who also shared in the profits, with activities for kids and a laid-back country village atmosphere.

Successful events have also been held every year since. Except for the first year, local resident John Allan has been the host for the event.

Associated with the music festival is the popular "The Basin Big Break Youth Stage" for performers under the age of 18 and 25 years. For the years up to 2011, this event was held during the yearly festival in March. In 2012, the event had its own dedicated weekend in July and was an outstanding success.

In later years, in the months before the main event, a series of free summer music concerts have been held in the Triangle.

The Basin Primary School Reunion

Inclement weather did not dampen the spirits or smiles of those who attended The Basin Primary School reunion in October 2011. Former students who finished Grade six between 1978 and 1985 and one ex-teacher gathered to reminisce.

Tales were told of how the big dent in the face was made; shelter shed liaisons and weddings; how long it took to get a pen licence; who spent lunchtime inside after venturing into Dobson's orchard during play; how cold was that pool at the Salvation Army Boys Home across the road; and which teachers gave the strap.

FUN RUN

The Basin prepares for 125th birthday

A cross country fun run will be held as a part of The Basin's 125th year celebrations on Sunday November 8.

Called the 'Farm to Forest Fun Run', it has been mapped out to take in the paddocks and bushland which dominate the surrounding landscape.

Starting at The Basin Primary School at the corner of Liverpool Road and Mountain Highway, the course winds its way through the paddocks of the Salvation Army Farm and then into the Doongalla Forest Reserve.

The return journey will utilise little-used tracks through the forest and then back through the Salvation Army Farm to the finish at the primary school.

The distance of the run is an undulating nine kilometres with a very testing uphill section along the Doongalla Road past Como Nurseries and The Basin Theatre.

A shorter run of three kilometres, from the school through the farm and back has been included for the younger age groups and the less energetic.

Categories have been included to cover a variety of age groups from Under 14 to veterans, walkers and family groups.

Trophies will be presented to the winners of all categories and all contestants will be eligible for the many spot prizes.

Registration forms are available from various traders in The Basin and competitors are also welcome to register on the day from 8.30am.

An entry fee of $2 will be applied to adults with a charge of $1 for children under the age of 15 (parental consent required) or $5 for a family of two adults and two children.

Further enquiries can be made by calling 762 8362 or 751 1061.

Summary

Summary

The “Chandler” oak tree in Sheffield Road was planted from an acorn by early settlers William and Kate Chandler in 1875. Legend has it that it was planted to celebrate the birth of their fourth son, Archibald, who they thought was the first white child born in the district.

Many prominent people have lived in, or had an influence on The Basin and some of these are described.

Many proposals that involved The Basin never eventuated and some of these are described here.

The “Chandler” Oak Tree

This famous oak tree in Sheffield Road was planted from an acorn by early settlers William and Kate Chandler in 1875. Legend has it that it was planted to celebrate the birth of their fourth son, Archibald, who they thought was the first white child born in the district. However, it is now known that Louisa, daughter of William and Margaret Turner, who was born in 1851 near where the oak tree is now, was the first white child born in the district. Tragically, Louisa died at the age of 17.

The tree is located beside Dobsons Creek in Sheffield Road, near the corner of Sheffield Road and The Basin-Olinda Road. William and Kate Chandler built their first house on the flat near the tree.

The tree is regarded as one of the oldest and finest specimens of English Oak (Quercus Robur) growing in Australia and is approximately 30 metres high and 25 metres across.

As part of The Basin Centenary Celebrations, a stone cairn was erected by the Chandler family under the oak tree in 1967.

The tree has special significance for the Chandler family, who held a reunion beneath the tree in 1975.

The tree has been pruned several times over the years and in 1982 steel cables were attached from the main trunk to support the weight of its massive limbs. Over enthusiastic pruning by Knox Council has on occasions led to the intervention of local residents.

In 1984, the tree was classified by the National Trust because of its size, form and historical significance

The famous tree is cared for by the Knox Council.

The Who’s Who of The Basin

Many famous, sporting, community minded and high achieving people have lived in, or been associated with, The Basin at one time or another.

“Distinguished Residents” are profiled at the beginning of some chapters. Other people are highlighted in various chapters for their contribution to the community.

Eddie Williams recalled his younger days in The Basin in the 1920s and 1930s that the most significant people in the district were Mr. Smith, storekeeper, Mr. Clarke, butcher, Mrs. Dickson, post-mistress, Dick and Alf Thompson, coach-drivers, and Myra Collier, assistant at the store. The Thompson's drove the horse coaches from The Basin to Boronia Railway Station before they had the hire car. All these people were known to every resident of the district.

Danny Findlay

Danny was the “D” of the pop group “MPD Limited” who made their fame in the 1960s. The M & P being Mike Brady and Peter Watson. Originally a member of the “Sonics” band, who played at local functions, he went from success to success after forming the band MPD Limited. Their record “Little Boy Sad” headed the hit parades for 8 weeks. Many other records followed.

Jason Daniltchenko

Jason started playing at The Basin Football Cub and later played for the Australian Football League club North Melbourne.

Shane Flyne

Shane started playing at The Basin Football Cub and later played for the Australian Football League club Carlton.

Baxter Cox

Mr A. R. Baxter Cox gained prominence as an architect, war historian and member of the Salvation Army. He lived at “Wychwood” on Old Coach road which he designed and built.

In 1933, with Mr R. Summerhayes, he designed the Science wing of the Perth University. He was member of the Victorian Housing Commission in the late 1940s and involved in a controversial proposal to build “pre-cut” houses for the Victorian Railways and the State Electricity Commission.

Closer to home, he designed the redevelopment of the Salvation Army No 2 Home in 1958.

C. J. Dennis

The wife of the famous Australian poet C. J. Dennis lived for some time in Forest Road. Mrs Dennis had vivid recollections of her husband’s friendship with Henry Lawson and told how her husband came to write of the now famous character "Doreen". Dennis attended the Progress Association meetings in a small country town, and there the Secretary often broke off into lyrical descriptions of his friend Doreen. Dennis was so impressed that he wrote this character into his poems.

Bob Irwin

The father of the famous Steve Irwin, Bob, once lived in The Basin and attended The Basin Primary School.

He worked at Locksley Textiles, the site of which later became Lowline and in 2021 is a housing estate.

It is rumoured that he kept snakes and other reptiles in boxes under his bed. Naughty young children were threatened to be sent to his house for punishment.

Jean and George Hill

Jean and George Hill between them won over 60 local and international medals for commercial food preparation.

George, as a member of a team of four who represented Australia, won a gold medal in food preparation in the Culinary Olympics in 1980. In 1983, George was the recipient of the Australia Food Service Manufacturers Award or the "Australian Caterer of the Year". In 1988, he was awarded a Churchill Fellowship to study Hospitality Education in the USA and Canada. He was also the first recognised Australian International Cookery Judge in Work Skill in Austria. When George was head of the food department at William Angliss College, he organised thousands of meals for the fire fighters during the Ash Wednesday bush fires.

Jean became renowned as a commercial food artist winning medals in many competitions including the Culinary Olympics and "Food Asia". In 1992, Jean became the greatest individual winner of Culinary Olympic awards when as a member of the Victorian team of chefs, she was awarded three gold and two bronze medals from five entries.

Both George and Jean were active members of the local community over many years. When involved in The Basin Primary School, they hosted many progress dinners (some which I attended) to raise funds for the school.

Steve Crabb

Steve Crabb was a minister in the Cain/Kirner Labor Government that governed Victoria from 1982 to 1992. He was the MLA for Knox which included The Basin area. He held various ministerial positions whilst Labor was in office.

Steve resided in The Basin and conducted several Carols by Candlelight in The Triangle.

Sharon Blegg

Constable Sharon Blegg scooped the pool at the 1987 Victoria Police Games by winning 17 Medals. She won 12 gold, two silver and three bronze.

Deanna Blegg, sister of Sharon, was also a prolific athlete. In 1989, she was ranked as one of the three top women triathletes in Australia.

Kevin Gale

In 1971, Kevin Gale was awarded the Knox "Citizen of the Year". Kevin was a tireless volunteer for several organisations.

Kevin moved to Western Australia, and was appointed the Prince Regent of Hutt River Province in Western Australia by Price Leonard who originally established Hut River as an independent principality.

That Which Did Not Happen

Many proposals that involved The Basin never eventuated. Some were controversial and did not proceed. Others were too advanced for the time.

Tramway Past The Basin

Around 1888, a proposal was put for a tramway to run from Bayswater to Olinda past The Basin. The scheme was to take advantage of the recent extension of the rail link to Ferntree Gully.

The rail link did not satisfy everyone. Not all locations would be served, and many considered that a link from Dandenong would have served the area better. As expected, many schemes were soon announced to take advantage of the new extension to Ferntree Gully. One such scheme was to build a multi-purpose tramway from Macaully (Bayswater), running East, past The Basin to the North, and terminating at the State Forest boundary, roughly below Olinda.

Concern for the Trees

When the State Electricity Commission (SEC) commenced upgrading the power supply lines along Sheffield Road in the 1980's to cater for increased development in the Milleara Road and Simpsons Road area, they chose the wrong side of the road to run the power lines. Their route headed straight through the famous oak tree and they fully intended trimming branches to make way for the lines.

The vehement intervention of a local resident whose grandfather planted the oak soon changed the workers mind.

The lines were re-routed to cross over to the other side of the road.

The tramway was to have been electric or cable and be used to help local rural and forestry activities and the tourist trade.

The promoters included many well-known and influential landholders and residents including John James Miller and Mr Bruce, owner of the retreat in The Basin known as "Fern Glen" or "The Basin Bower". Considerable time and effort was expended in pursuance of the scheme. It was reported that a Mr Muntz, a surveyor of railway projects, had submitted a favourable opinion of the project. Extensive publicity was given in the publication "Visitors guide to the Upper Yarra and Fern Tree Gully Districts".

Plans drawn up showed a detailed route and the Shire of Berwick passed a motion, put by councillor Dobson, granting permission to build the tramway, but it never eventuated. Then, there was an act forbidding any person to operate a railway except the Victorian Railways. An exception was that tramways were allowed, requiring the approval of the local municipality. Hence, the Shire of Berwick's involvement in the approval.

Funicular Tramway to One Tree Hill

Another scheme devised by John Martin (a local landholder) in 1888 was to build a funicular incline tramway from Fern Tree Gully part way up One Tree Hill. The collapse of the land boom a few years later squashed the proposal.

Ratchet Tramway to One Tree Hill

In 1925, the Railways Standing Committee was considering the best route for a railway from Oakleigh to Ferntree Gully. If the proposed railway was built, a private company was prepared to spend between £12,000 and £15,000 in constructing a "ratchet" tramway to One Tree Hill. The railway line never eventuated.

Fox's Point Scenic Railway

One scheme in the Dandenongs that eventuated was the "Fox's Point Scenic Railway". It was built by Mr. Neil Foxcroft in the 1950s to carry building materials up the hill to his house near Montrose. It had a gradient of one in one with a vertical rise of 110 feet. The railway was designed and constructed by Mr. Fox. He later opened the railway to tourists. It closed in the 1960s.

Ferndale School

In early 1983, the Kalinya Community School submitted a proposal to the relevant authorities to open a temporary school on Ferndale Road for 15 to 20 children

The Kalinya Community had planned to occupy old the Ferny Creek School site, but the school had been destroyed by arsonists. The new proposal was to modify and use a residential building owned by Uniting Church on Ferndale Road. The residence was in allotment 313 in the grounds of the former Ferndale building burnt down in 1962.

The Health Department inspected the site and gave tentative approval subject to several building changes. It was noted the impact of recent bushfires (Ash Wednesday), the road conditions, and remote location were not ideal for a school location.

The proposal was squashed when The Shire of Sherbrooke advised the use of the property as a school was prohibited pursuant to The Shire of Sherbrooke planning scheme 1965.

Overall Development Plan

In 1992, The Basin Progress Association called a public meeting to discuss Knox Council's Overall Development Plan (ODP) which would allow land development along Mountain Highway. Over 250 people attended the meeting, one of the largest attendances ever. The proposed large-scale development of land on the North side of Mountain Highway including a large amount of the Salvation Army, Dobson's and The Basin Primary School.

That Which Did Not Happen

The plan was developed by the Council after a request from the Salvation Army to redevelop an 8 hectare paddock. Council extended the area requested by the Salvation Army to see how the area could be developed in the future. Residents at the meeting said they were not opposed to the Salvation Army development, but the further development made possible by the ODP. Knox Council was accused of “cutting out the green heart of The Basin”.

Under extreme pressure from all sides, the Council revised the development plan to what the Salvation Army had originally asked for — the redevelopment of an 8 hectare paddock. It took another four years before the area was subdivided and made available for housing.

Grab For The Basin

In 1994, the then Sherbrooke Council revealed it had applied to include The Basin and parts of Ferntree Gully into its boundaries. Then, the areas were covered by the City of Knox. Sherbrooke believed that The Basin should be part of the Council that covers Dandenong Ranges.

Residents of The Basin disagreed with the proposal. A petition circulating the township opposed the move on several grounds. In particular, that the move would split the township and that the Sherbrooke rates were considerably higher.

The proposal hinged on discussions between the neighbouring councils with the City of Knox against the proposal.

Discussions broke down and the proposal never eventuated.

Fire Buffer Zones

In 1990, the State Government put forward a proposal to create a “Fire Buffer Zone” classification for properties in The Dandenongs. The concept involved the compulsory acquisition of properties for fire control. A few properties in The Basin would have been affected by the proposal.

The Government refused to identify a time frame for the identification and acquisition of classified properties and to what degree residents would be compensated for the loss of their homes.

After a bitter battle with the Hills community, the Government relented and abolished the scheme in 1992. Any properties that the Government wished to acquire in the future would need to be rezoned to permit the purchase.

Healing Centre

In early 2009, residents of Augusta Road in The Basin learned that The Department of Human Services (DHS) had purchased a residence at 20 Augusta Road.

DHS lodged an application with the Knox Council to change the property from a dwelling to a place of assembly. The intention was to operate a “healing centre” that will “prevent, reduce and respond to all forms of family violence to indigenous people who live in the eastern metropolitan region”. A DHS spokesperson said that Knox had the second highest indigenous population in the Eastern Metropolitan Region, but “no Indigenous services delivery site”.

About 40 families lived in the street. Some had been there for decades. All residents disapproved of the location for the centre and set up an “Augusta Road Fighting Fund”.

Local politicians and councillors supported the concept but thought it was in the wrong place.

Knox Council considered the proposal in April 2009. The Council received 73 objections and no submissions in support. Council voted for the centre to go ahead, but only if it did not turn into a drop-in centre, crisis accommodation or halfway house.

Residents setup the “Augusta Road Fighting Fund”, and appealed Knox Council’s decision to the Victorian Civil and Administrative Tribunal (VCAT).

The DHS also appealed because it wanted to use the centre for crisis accommodation.

After a two-day hearing in October 2009, VCAT ruled against the DHS centre. VCAT provided several reasons. In particular:

“The incontrovertible value of the healing service does not, in our view, outweigh the direct amenity impacts the proposal would have on the abutting residential properties”.

In April 2010, the property at 20 Augusta Road was auctioned and sold. An alternative site for the healing centre had been proposed in Lilydale.

The Best Place To Live

The Basin of course! The many articles that have appeared in local papers praising the attributes of living in The Basin. Headlines such as “Basin brimming with friendliness”, “Togetherness is still alive in the foothills” are testament that it is the best place to live.

The Best View

The Western and Northern slopes of the Dandenongs have magnificent views of the Eastern suburbs and even to the Melbourne CBD skyline. At the base of the junction of these slopes is The Basin and many houses have been erected to exploit the view.

One of the best views is towards the Melbourne CBD skyline with a forest canopy. James Griffiths was the first to exploit this view when he erected Ferndale. Later, the new owner of the land erected a modern building with its view aligned to the tallest building in the CBD.

The Doctor

Dr Lorna Jones was the only Doctor in The Basin/Boronia area in the late 1940s and early 1950s. Originally, she used a horse and buggy to do her house calls but later moved up to a motor vehicle.

When she left the area in December 1953, a crowd of hundreds attended a farewell held in The Boronia Progress Hall.

In recognition of her services to the local community, the council built and dedicated a playground behind the Methodist Church in Boronia. Later, the playground was moved to Maguire Park and upgraded to the status of a regional playground whilst still keeping the name of “Lorna Jones Playground”.

With the building of the Boronia Junction shopping centre, the playground was again moved to a small area near the Boronia station. The name Lorna Jones was removed, and the playground downgraded to a few metal animals.

BASIN MAN IS CITIZEN OF YEAR

The Basin scored again last night when the Boronia Rotary Club nomination, Mr. Kevin Gale, was awarded the Knox Jaycees-Dunlop "Citizen of the Year" prize.

Mr. Gale, who accepted the award "with the deepest amount of respect," is the second Basin resident to win the award in its five years standing.

The first was local store-keeper and former president of The Basin Progress Association, Mr. Bill Wright, who won the first award in 1967.

Mr. Wright and other winners, Mr. Jack Callahan (Fern Tree Gully), 1968, Mr. David McInnes (Boronia), 1969, and Mrs. Vivian Parratt (Boronia), 1970, were present at last night's function at the Sky High Restaurant, Mt. Dandenong.

Announcing the winner, Knox Jaycees president, Mr. Neil Harrison, said the response to the award over the past five years has shown Jaycees the dedication and time given by so many people to their organisation.

"This is surely an indication of the tremendous voluntary effort being performed within our city," Mr. Harrison said.

Mr. Harrison said of the award winner, Mr. Gale, that he had been an active worker not only among the young people, but he had devoted years of service to community projects, charity and school committees.

● Outstanding

He described Mr. Gale as an outstanding member of one of the city's service clubs, and spoke of his organisation of the successful appeal for a relief vehicle for the Salvation Army; a charity ball which ultimately raised $15,000 for local charities, and fund-raising effort for the fire brigades.

CHILDREN MOLESTED AT THE BASIN

Residents have expressed concern at the bullying and intimidation indulged in by youths who are terrorising several of the school children on their way from school. Strong action will be taken by parents if there is any repetition.

Satan 'Ordered Woman's Death'

MELBOURNE, Monday. — "Satan has directed me and I have killed," an alleged murderer had said when captured on a hush road, the Prosecutor, Mr. P. Mullaly, said in the Criminal Court to-day.

The man had been captured near the camp of reclusive psychiatrist Dr. Annie Yoffa, 68.

The old woman, camped in the bush for 10 years, was "the Mother of Israel" and had to be "destroyed," the man later told police, according to Mr. Mullaly.

Victor Maxwell Jones, 28, gold prospector, of Greenvale, is charged with the murder of Dr. Yoffa.

Mr. Mullaly said Jones had beaten Dr. Yoffa to death with a tent pole and sapling lengths he broke off at Dr. Yoffa's tent camp at The Basin, in the Dandenong Ranges.

Dr. Yoffa was killed February 18, 1959, but was certified insane days later and had been out of mental inst until a recent deed that he was fit to star.

Mr. Mullaly said Jones would testify the driving along the road 8 p.m. on February saw a man trying to woman through the "terribly battered" body. The man went back to the road and down it half-a-mile and saw Jones in the centre of the road.

When told he would be taken to a police station, Jones replied, "Satan has directed me and I have killed." He kept muttering about Devil," he told police.

The trial will resume to-morrow.

BACK in December young Laraine Petrie hit the headlines when she dragged an elderly woman from their burning Boronia home.

Tonight, local citizens have arranged a bright variety show at the Progress Hall, The Basin, to raise funds for her family.

Big names in Melbourne's radio and theatre world will be there and it's sure to be a good night.

You'll be welcome.

Army land rezoning

REZONING of Salvation Army owned rural land in The Basin will not necessarily lead to subdivision, the project's planning consultants said this week.

Last week Knox Council voted to prepare a planning scheme amendment to rezone a portion of the Army's land on Mountain Hwy, west of Melbourne Water's storage tanks, to a residential zoning. The land is currently zoned as special uses.

Rezoning would pave the way for subdivision into 725 square metre residential blocks, but Greg Tulloch from planning consultants and architects Perrott Lyon Mathieson, said the Salvation Army has no plans to subdivide at this stage and is simply broadening its long-term options.

The amendment will be placed on public display for one month.

Snow in The Basin

The readers may find the attached photo to be of interest. The house was built in the late 1960s, on Mountain Highway, the Basin, opposite the Salvation Army grating paddocks, between Augusta Road and Stanley Street.

Initially I thought it may be of interest because of the snow. The photo was taken at the beginning of June or July, 1951. (I cannot remember which but I'm leaning towards July.) That was the year my family moved from Caulfield to The Basin and we couldn't believe we had snow. I was rather surprised, when I went to catch the bus, at the shops, there were green men in the middle of the intersection engaged in an almighty snowball fight.

But then, I thought some history might also be of interest.

My father bought the house from Stanley (7) Ralph. It was situated on six acres. I think Mr. Ralph had owned quite a large amount of land in that area and had developed it. The builder of the house in Mountain Highway and Stanley Street was a Mr. Jeffreys. He lived at the end of Stanley Street, along with the "Yon" family. Just down from our house were the "van Tols" and the "Hills" and perhaps Mr. Ralph's brother. On the eastern corner of Stanley Street and Mountain Highway there was a Mr. Cyril Rich. No doubt there will be readers who can fill in the gaps.

The house was sold in 1972 through P. King, to the church. It was leased until about 1982, when the construction of St. Bernadette was commenced. Frances Radford, The Basin.

Summary

Summary

Wicks Memorial Reserve is situated on the corner of The Basin-Olinda Road and Wicks Road and is named in memory of the Wicks family. It was created in 1942 when the Shire of Ferntree Gully purchased 9 acres of land from Emily Wicks.

Batterham Reserve is situated on Miller Road and is named in memory of Rowley Batterham who originally owned the land the reserve is located on. In 2021, the reserve is home to The Basin Football, Cricket, Netball and Batterham Tennis Clubs.

Mortiboy Reserve is situated on the corner of Stewart Street and Augusta Road and is named in memory of Mr. Ted Mortiboy who originally owned the land. Mortiboy Reserve was purchased from Ted Mortiboy by the Knox Council in the mid 1970s.

Grumont Reserve is situated at the end of Stanley Street. It was created in 1974 as part of the Goodwin Estate. The name “Grumont” is in recognition of George Grumont, a resident of The Basin for over 60 years.

Gravenstein Reserve is situated on Gravenstein Crescent and was created in 1974 as part of the Goodwin Estate.

The Triangle is the area of land bounded by Forest Road, Mountain Highway and Church Street.

Distinguished Resident

John Mortimore

A long time resident of The Basin, John has worked tirelessly towards improving many of the facilities and serving the area’s needs.

He served on The Basin Primary School council and taught photography at The Basin Community Centre. He was the key founder in establishing The Basin Music Festival, driving the redevelopment of The Triangle, upgrades to The Basin Progress Hall and redevelopment of The Basin Community House. His passion for the environment is reflected in his involvement in the Wicks Reserve Bio-Infiltration System. He was the editor of Boronia and The Basin Community News for over 25 years. He is a Life member of The Basin Fire Brigade.

He was elected to council in 2008 and became mayor in 2018.

Wicks Memorial Reserve

Wicks Memorial Reserve is situated on the corner of The Basin-Olinda Road and Wicks Road and is named in memory of the Wicks family, who had considerable influence in the early development of The Basin.

As early as 1938, it was reported in The Argus that an area of land was offered to the shire council as a suitable site for a recreation ground, but it is not known what became of that offer.

The land for Wicks Reserve was purchased by the Ferntree Gully Council in 1942. The Shire Secretary at that time (Mr Dance) inspected the area with Mr Bert Chandler and an approach was made to Emily Wicks to purchase the land. Emily was the daughter of the landowner John Wicks who was the son of Edmund Wicks, the original selector of the land. The land proved suitable, the Wicks family agreed, and the land was purchased. Contrary to general opinion, the original Wicks homestead was not on this land.

In mid 1948, a "John Wicks Memorial Park" committee was created, and the group worked hard to develop the park. A member, Mr. Les Greenwell, cleared timber. The scheme for the 9 acres was to develop a park, and an attempt was made constructing an oval for use by The Basin sporting teams. Drainage problems arose and, upon the proclamation of Batterham Reserve, interest declined in using this site for an oval. Students working on the much later bio-infiltration project discovered small gravel trenches below the surface indicating that some effort had been made to drain the area.

In 1965, the Knox Shire called for the election of a park committee and made a financial grant for earthworks. A picnic ground was created in 1968. The Council offered to build a pavilion & toilets if the Committee laid pipes to bring water from the north boundary to the site for the pavilion. This was accomplished with the help of Barry Alexanderson and his tractor.

Council erected a rotunda with provision for seating up to 75 people and included four barbecues. Later improvements have included roofing the outside barbecue, installing playground equipment and picnic tables and creating nature walks.

Members of early committees were Randall

Robinson, Bill Major, Arthur Jackson and Eric Johnson.

The reserve is a popular spot for family groups and social clubs who come from all over Melbourne, especially in November and December, to enjoy the open spaces and fresh air.

Sword-grass Brown Butterfly

Wicks Reserve has been recognised as having wildflowers and indigenous plant species that have local significance. The reserve is a large area of remnant sclerophyll forest, unique areas of heath land and open grassed picnic areas. The reserve contains species of flora that are significant in Knox, including Swamp She-Oak, Scented Paperbark and the Small Grass Tree. The area is also home to the uncommon Sword-grass Brown Butterfly, as well as supporting a large diversity of bird and small mammal species.

In the 1980s, it was recognised that the Sword-grass Brown Butterfly was locally threatened due to loss of habitat. In particular, its larval food plant Gahnia Sieberiana (commonly known as Sword-grass or Red-fruited Saw-edge). The Sword-grass Brown Butterfly is dependent on habitat which contains the Red-fruited Saw-edge. This is the only food plant of the Sword-grass Brown Butterfly.

The Red-fruited Saw-edge as its name suggests, has sharp, cutting strap like leaves. When fruiting, the bright red seeds are conspicuous, hanging down from the old flower stem. It is a plant species found in wet and swampy forests. This habitat occurs in small isolated pockets within the City of Knox and in Wicks Reserve.

Sword-grass Brown Butterflies can be seen flying on sunny days in the warmer months, between November and March. They are typically seen flying around the Red-fruited Saw-edge. After mating, eggs are laid singly on the Red-fruited Saw-edge. Once the eggs hatch, the leaves of the Red-fruited Saw-edge becomes food for the developing caterpillar.

In the 1990s, several voluntary groups undertook planting of the Red-fruited Saw-edge in Wicks Reserve to increase the Sword-grass Brown Butterfly population.

Bio-infiltration Basin Project

On July 17th, 2011, a unique bio-infiltration system was officially opened in Wicks reserve. It is basically a large-scale rain-garden to help improve the health of Dobsons Creek into which storm water runs.

When the system was installed, it was the largest of its kind in Australia and the only one combining bio-filtration, infiltration and storm water harvesting.

The system captures storm water and filters it through layers of sandy soil and plants, and then passes this clean water back into Dobsons Creek. It protects animals, plants and fish that rely on natural waterways for survival.

Dobsons Creek was selected for this project because it is in a catchment area with minimal storm water degradation and is thus considered of high value and relatively inexpensive to restore.

The area also has unique environment issues including:

- Being near the Dandenong Creek, the site is on a corridor for daily and seasonal movements of birds and insects.
- Essential for waterway function is the floodplain. It attracts thousands of waterbirds during floods (even where no native vegetation exists), and several waterbird species are threatened.
- At least one roosting site for the vulnerable Powerful Owl exists.
- The waters of Dandenong Creek and Dobsons Creek support platypus, fish (including a locally rare species) and the smaller organisms that support them.

Project initiatives included rainwater tanks for properties that fed water into Dobson Creek and an extensive tiered bio-infiltration system in Golden Grove and Bowen Avenue within the council reserve immediately next to the creek

In September 2012, a suggestion to name the bio-infiltration system the "Ferdinand Von Mueller Raingarden" was implemented.

Batterham Reserve

Batterham Reserve is situated on Miller Road and is named in memory of Rowley Batterham who originally owned the land the reserve is located on.

At the turn of the 20th century the land now occupied by Batterham Reserve was owned by J. J. Miller. The area which was swampy was covered with Swamp Gum, Appletree Box and many shrubs, indigenous ferns and ti-tree. J. J. Miller had the area cleared and drained and used it to train trotting horses for many years. The track was still visible in 1951 and situated behind where St Bernadettes School is located in 2021.

Around 1912 John Maguire bought 50 acres of land once owned by J. J. Miller which included what is now Batterham Park. Then, three young male members of the Batterham family, who had recently been orphaned, went to live with Mr and Mrs John Maguire as foster children. The three Batterham boys served in the Army during the First World War and on returning, the youngest, Rowley, married, and continued to work for John Maguire; he bought the 50 acres from John Maguire a short time later.

John Maguire was the father of Don Maguire, a well known member of The Basin community. John was born in Glenboge, Scotland and arrived in Melbourne as an infant. At the age of 13 he started work with the Dobson family and later worked for James Griffiths. After his marriage in 1913, he became a farmer. A track through his property was the only way of reaching Ferntree Gully then.

In 1927, Boronia Church of Christ formed a cricket team, and Rowley, who was a member, offered his bottom paddock as their home ground. The efforts of several working bees saw a lysterfield sand wicket constructed and this was used continuously until the outbreak of war in 1939.

After the war the Church of Christ continued to use the lower paddock as a member of the newly formed Ferntree Gully and District Cricket Association.

In 1947, Rowley decided to subdivide his property and Don Maguire was instrumental in having the Shire of Ferntree Gully purchase a 12½ acre area, now Batterham Reserve, to be used as a sporting development site.

Fergus Chandler was approached by the Committee of Management to submit a landscape design for the entire area. Fergus carried out this free of charge, including a tree planting program. His design formed the basis for the layout of the Reserve which we see in 2020.

In early 1951, the Boronia Church of Christ were told by the Ferntree Gully and District Cricket Association to build a concrete pitch to conform to match standards. It was decided to clear the orchard to the South of the lower ground and lay the pitch on the new oval. This was carried out, and this ground was used for the 1951-1952 Cricket season.

The Basin Football Club began using the Reserve in 1948 after the proposed site of Wicks Reserve proved unsuitable. South West of the lower oval (beside the dam from which the football was frequently retrieved) was a bark and paling hut built by a working bee. This was used for the first two or three seasons and was supplemented by a tent supplied by Arthur Cooper.

Later, the Reserve had a need for clubrooms for the sporting bodies which used the facility and so Jack Wallace organised plans and a pavilion was built on the southern side of the reserve midway between the two ovals.

This "tin shed" served for many years until a new brick pavilion was opened in 1979. The new pavilion was opened by the Mayor of Knox Cr. Marie Wallace and Mrs Batterham, widow of Rowley. Three of her daughters were also present. The building was named The D P Maguire Pavilion in recognition of Don Maguire's contribution as a member of the reserve committee for more than 33 years. In 1990 a new brick storeroom and scoreboard were opened and named in honour of Arthur Cooper who had served the reserve committee for more than forty years.

In 1960, an area towards Millers Road was levelled and covered with crushed rock and salamander and was used for some years for Basketball. An even greater need for Tennis Courts arose however and it was decided that as the interest in Basketball had waned, the area would be used to build two tennis courts. The Batterham Tennis Club was formed and has used the facilities ever since.

Improvements included the installation of floodlights to help with night football training and the total reconstruction of the lower oval to transform it into a high standard ground. This reconstruction included a new boundary fence containing a reticulated water system for summer watering. A program for the planting of ornamental and other trees to Fergus Chandler's original plan greatly enhanced the parkland effect of the reserve.

The sporting facilities of the reserve are heavily used, particularly the ovals, with not only The Basin teams using them, but also local schools and social groups booking them when they are available.

The reserve is owned by Knox Council and users pay rent.

In 2018, the local owners of the renowned Coma Gardens estate in The Basin, George and Pat Hetrel, donated $1 million towards upgrading the facilities at the reserve. Together with $150,000 from the Australian Government, $25,000 from The Basin Football Club and $25,000 from the Knox Council, the upgrades will cope with the massive increase in numbers, particularly junior and female football.

In summary, the upgrades were:

- New changing facility. To cater for increased participation, particularly in women's sport.
- Change rooms extension. To accommodate girls and women.
- New floodlighting. Relocation of lights from main oval to top oval.
- Cricket nets. Replacement of existing nets to multipurpose curtain-like nets.
- New pathways. All-ability footpaths circling the ovals.

Batterham Reserve has come a long way from the days when Don Maguire would use his draught horses to mow the lower oval before cricket matches. The decision by the old Ferntree Gully Council to purchase the land for future development of sporting facilities has certainly been vindicated.

Mortiboy Reserve

Mortiboy Reserve, on corner of Stewart Street and Augusta Road, is named in memory of Mr Ted Mortiboy who originally owned the land the reserve is situated on. The land was purchased from Ted Mortiboy by the Knox Council in the 1970s.

Ted, a keen scouter, bought 4 blocks of land in Stuart Street in the 1920s and often brought his troop, the 6th Malvern Scouts, there for weekend camps. A bunkhouse was built and many a pleasant weekend enjoyed. Camp fire “singsongs”, and the appearance of “The Ghost of Sassafras” on initiation nights were features of these outings.

Ted and his scouts rushed to the scene of the first Boronia level crossing accident on 27 April 1926 to render help to the injured survivors of that gory affair. A plaque on Mortiboy reserve commemorates the efforts of the scouts stating:

“DEDICATED TO THE 6TH MALVERN SCOUT GROUP, AWARDED THE MEDAL OF MERIT FOR THEIR RESCUE WORK AT THE BORONIA RAILWAY CROSSING TRAIN CRASH IN 1926”

Praise also came from the Governor (and chief scout) of NSW.

In later years, 1st The Basin Scouters used the bunkhouse on the property as a meeting place. This facility greatly helped group planning and training in those early days. It is unknown what became of the bunkhouse.

In 1949, Ted became the proprietor of the Wine Saloon on Mountain Highway, Bayswater.

Ted was President of The Basin Progress Association from 1945 to 1949. He once stood for Ferntree Gully Council against Brigadier Inglis of the Salvation Army, but as Ted explained, the “Devil drink” (he was then Bayswater wine saloon proprietor) had little chance against the Salvation Army.

The reserve once had a circle of pine trees, each one planted from a seedling by a scout on being awarded his Patrol Leaders stripes. In 2017, due to the pine trees impacting on power lines, the council replaced some with native plants.

Mortiboy Reserve is relatively small and undeveloped.

Grumont Reserve

Grumont Reserve is situated at the end of Stanley Street. It was created in 1974 when the Goodwin Estate was created.

The name “Grumont” is in recognition of George Grumont, a resident of The Basin for over 60 years who contributed much to the development of the area.

George arrived in The Basin in 1911 with his parents and older sister. His father took up the position as gardener at Ferndale. George was heavily involved in many local activities including The Basin Tennis Club, The Basin Badminton Club and The Basin Progress Association.

Gravenstein Reserve

Gravenstein Reserve is situated on Gravenstein Crescent. It was created in 1974 when the Goodwin Estate was created in the area once used as an apple orchard. The name “Gravenstein” follows the naming of areas in the estate after types of apples.

The reserve is relatively undeveloped, but is well-used.

The Triangle

The area of land known as “The Triangle” is the land bounded by Forest Road, Mountain Highway and Church Street. It is so named because its shape is an approximate triangle. It was part of a subdivision in the early 1920s as part of Chandler’s Hill Estate and a few homes and shops were built on the allotments created. The Basin Progress Association fought for many years to have this area declared and converted to a “passive park”.

The Triangle development is detailed in Chapter 8 – Voluntary Organisations.

George and Pat Hetrel donate $1 million to transform Batterham Reserve

A couple's lifetime of generosity has culminated in a $1 million gift to The Basin community.

Local owners of the renowned Como Gardens estate in The Basin, George and Pat Hetrel, have just provided a cheque to Knox City Council to transform nearby Batterham Reserve into a landmark sports and leisure precinct.

Knox Mayor John Mortimore has praised the couple for their "incredible generosity" and love for the community. "I'm still trying to believe it!" Mayor Mortimore said. "I'd been speaking with them over recent weeks as they prepared to make the donation, and can't wait to see it put to good use."

"While I'm still astounded, it's so typical of George and Pat to do something special to help the local community," Not only have George and Pat provided this outstandingly generous financial support, they are the driving force behind many of the improvements that will now take place at the Reserve.

The timing is great," he added. "Right now, the Batterham clubs are in desperate need of more facilities to cope with the massive increase in numbers, particularly junior and female teams."

Generous 'for years'

"George and Pat have been doing this sort of thing for years," he said. "Through their Open Days and Como Gardens they have supported such vital groups as St John Ambulance, the State Emergency Service and The Basin Fire Brigade."

The cheque was presented to the Mayor in private during recent weeks, so that staff could safely deposit the gift and immediately plan for its use.

"Not one cent will be wasted," the Mayor added. "In fact, our teams are working to deliver specific ideas for improving this much-loved facility at Batterham Reserve."

"For example, improving facilities for the significant growth in women's sport is behind the change rooms extension."

Summary of works planned

New changing facility: Matching gift funding for new changing facility to cater for increased participation, especially women's sport $218,500

Change rooms extension: New & better facilities to accommodate girls and women at Batterham $220,000

New flood lighting: Relocation of existing flood lighting from main oval to top oval $75,000

Cricket nets: Replacement of existing cricket nets so that new multipurpose curtain-like nets can accommodate cricket and other sports $250,000

New pathways: Adding in a new all-ability footpath network around both ovals $235,000

Total Estimate of Cost $998,500

Perfect Timing

The timing for the enhancement works is perfect, the Mayor explained when presenting a certificate of appreciation to George and Pat Hetrel at Council's 28 May Ordinary Meeting.

"We have just started replacing the existing floodlight towers at Batterham Reserve's main oval with towers that can provide an enhanced coverage of light across the oval," the Mayor explained.

"That was because of another couple of generous contributions made by both The Basin Football Club for $25,000, and the Australian Government for $150,000." Knox City Council contributed $25,000 from its 2017-18 Budget for the works.

Pat and George's gift means that the existing floodlights can be moved to the second oval at the same time - which will mean that this facility can be used for junior and senior training throughout the winter months.

"Now, with the money to be able to do additional works, this whole precinct is effectively getting a facelift that will make it one of the best facilities in the City of Knox," the Mayor said.

Special thanks from clubs

A special combined clubs thankyou announcement was held last week on Thursday 24 May to allow members, players and supporters to meet George and Pat Hetrel and show their appreciation.

Representing the local clubs was Matt Young, President of The Basin Junior Football Club, who praised the Hetrels for being such humble and community-minded individuals. Mr Young said the massive growth in numbers experienced by clubs using the Reserve would enable plans for better facilities to be fulfilled. "The dream is about to become reality!" he said.

Also present at the 24 May event was President of The Basin Cricket Club, Steve Porch, and President of The Basin Football and Netball Club, Alex Windsor.

The Basin John Wicks Memorial Park

The new committee of the John Wicks Memorial Park, who have been in office for six months have worked wonders and the area has been vastly improved.

The ground which was waterlogged, covered with the stumps of huge trees and overgrown with ti-tree and scrub has been cleared, thanks to generous donors and active working bees and is now ready to be sown with grass in the early Autumn.

The committee plans further amenities which will add to the pleasure and comfort of all players and visitors.

The committee is anxious to sustain interest in this beautiful park which is situated at the foot of Mount Dandenong in a delightful position. They invite residents to visit the park and help with donations and labour. The energetic secretary of the committee is Mr L. Greenwall of Forest Road, The Basin.

Basin Recreation Reserve

The Basin Recreation ground is taking shape and is just about ready for the grader.

However, there is still a little work to be done particularly in burning out a few stumps, and if possible a working bee could be formed it would reduce the time lag considerably and enable the Recreation committee to put its many plans into effect.

Volunteers can contact the secretary of the committee.

A dance will be held at Progress hall, September 13, a novelty monte carlo, prizes to consist of poultry.

The executive of this reserve would ask all young men and women of the district to support this dance, much depends on the finance as to whether cricket will be played Support your local dance. Art Franklin's Band will be playing.

The Women's Committee are working hard for the young men and women, in return help them with this dance.

Beauty and the Beasts...

It's time to get the deviants and dealers out of our lovely Wicks Reserve.

The beauty and serenity of our Wicks Reserve has once again been compromised by deviants looking in the wrong places to satisfy their urges, be they physical or chemical. Coming on top of a serious problem with the toilets for a recently picnicking family group, the unedifying spectacle of various deviants hanging around with no care for anything but the isolation and solitude to indulge their desires is dragging this lovely bush park down to the standard we rescued it from about eight years ago.

Next week I'm meeting with Boronia Police and Knox Council officers to begin work on a strategy to rescue our lovely reserve and return it to its rightful owners, meaning all of us. This is a place to enjoy the bush, let the kids play, get together with friends and, above all, feel safe. As our campaign gathers momentum I'll be keeping you all informed of our moves and progress.

John Mortimore.

Summary

Summary

In 1957, the Ferntree Gully District Association sponsored a closed Scout Troop operating at the Salvation Army Home in The Basin. This group was called 2nd The Basin because scouting rules would not allow for a closed group to be designated “1st”.

The appearance of uniformed scouts in The Basin evoked enough interest to form an “open” 1st The Basin Group. The first meeting was held in April 1958 at a garage on the property of Mr. and Mrs. Taudevin at 26 Augusta Road.

Over the years, meeting places included various garages until the Presbyterian Church building in Forest Road was purchased in 1964. When this burnt down in 1972, St. Mary’s Church Hall, The Basin Progress Hall and The Basin Special School Gym were all used at times. In 1988, after many years of searching and controversy, a new custom tailored hall was opened on The Triangle using mostly voluntary labour.

The first Guide and Brownies groups in The Basin were formed at public meeting held in April 1964. The first Guide company and Brownie pack began operation later that year.

The Scouts and Guides used the same meeting places and when the new hall was opened in 1988, they both also used the facility for a while but later the Guides moved to a hall in Boronia.

Distinguished Resident

Bill Major

After moving to The Basin in 1973, Bill Major was involved with nearly every community group in The Basin. President of The Basin Primary School Committee, Member of the Wicks Reserve Committee, President of the Doongalla Pony Club, Co-ordinator of The Basin Primary School Centenary Celebrations and Scout Group Leader were some of Bill’s more formal involvements. In between these commitments he made time for Basketball, St. Mary’s Church, Brownies, Kindergarten and other interests outside The Basin. A versatile man indeed!

Bill contributed enormously to The Basin community and had the continual support of his family. They watched him depart at night to attend unending meetings; weekends involved in maintenance projects and opened their home for fund-raising social events on many occasions.

Bill was the winner from his community efforts; he gained many friends that he knew would see him through the good and bad times; he had a social and enjoyable life and every good turn he did was repaid many times over.

The Basin Scouts and Cubs

The story of 1st The Basin Scout troop would not be complete without mention of two earlier Scouting events connected with The Basin.

The first of these was property use on the corner of Augusta Road and Stewart Street, in the 1930s, by scouts from the 6th Malvern troop, under the leadership of Ted Mortiboy. This property is now known as Mortiboy Reserve. It was purchased by the council from Ted Mortiboy in the middle 1970s. On the property is a circle of pine trees, each one having been planted as a seedling by a scout on being awarded his Patrol Leaders stripes. In later years the house on the property was loaned to 1st The Basin Scouters as a meeting place. This facility greatly helped group planning and training in those early days.

The other event which played a significant and more direct role in the formation of 1st The Basin was the sponsorship of a Scout Group, 2nd The Basin, at the Salvation Army Bayswater Boys Home by the Ferntree Gully District Association in 1957. This group was called 2nd The Basin because scouting rules would not allow for a closed group to be designated "1st". The Salvation Army group was initially run by several Scouters from the Ferntree Gully District, until Councillor Guy Turner obtained the services of Des Smith, who officially became Scout Master on 1st December 1957. He served in this capacity until 1st October 1958.

The appearance of uniformed scouts in The Basin evoked interest from several parents who asked that their sons be allowed to join. This was impossible as 2nd The Basin was a closed group. However, interest grew, and it was decided at a public meeting to form an "open" 1st The Basin Group. Under the guidance of District Commissioner O. E. Gepp and District Scoutmaster Jim "Silver" Billingham, 1st The Basin was formed. Des Smith agreed to take the job of Group Scoutmaster until another Scouter could be found.

Red and green were chosen for the Group colours to match the Eastern Rosella colours which were common in the district. The original Rosella scarf badges were all hand embroidered by Mrs Riverans who lived on Mountain Highway. The District emblem then was a silver bracken fern frond on a black background. See the insert on page 335 for information on the badge.

The first meeting of the Scouts and Cubs was held in April 1958 at a garage on the property of Mr. and Mrs. Taudevin at 26 Augusta Road. Scouts and Cubs met on the same day as this was the only time the garage was available. Furniture consisted of a chair and a packing case.

The first cub pack met under the leadership of Marj Woollard who was the first Akela. Another Scouter was found for the Salvation Army Group and Des Smith transferred his warrant permanently to 1st The Basin on 1st October 1958. The Group was fortunate in its early days to have the services of leaders of the calibre of Marj Woollard and Des Smith.

The garage in Augusta Road soon became too small as numbers grew and a new meeting place was found in a larger garage at the rear of Howe's Greengrocer shop in Forest Road. This shop later became the Forest Lodge Restaurant and in 2021 is The Acorn on Forest. This garage was available at any time, so the Scouts and Cubs could meet on different days. Conditions were still fairly primitive, but enthusiasm did not dim. The floor of the garage was red scoria which after some vigorous activity caused a red smog to fill the air.

A parents' committee was formed and held regular meetings in the "Scout Hall". Several fund-raising activities were held, and although money was urgently required for equipment and a Scout Hall, the helping of others was not forgotten. A special activity raised a substantial sum of money to help The Basin Fire Brigade purchase a new vehicle.

In December 1960, David Rickard and Wayne Watson attended the Pan Pacific Jamboree at Lansdowne in NSW.

Councillor Guy Turner was actively working in the Ferntree Gully Council to get a site for the erection of a hall. Two sites were under

The Plastic Pigs

One of the fund-raising efforts in the late 1950s involved the sale of large plastic piggy banks. Mrs Beasley, of The Basin-Olinda Road, collected them from a friendly manufacturer in Moorabbin. One large collection filled the rear of her car and any sudden braking treated the driver to a shower of pigs, much to the amusement of other motorists.

The Basin Scouts and Cubs

discussion, Wicks Memorial Reserve and land in Conyers Street at the rear of the Health Centre. Mr. "Wally" Beazley produced a design of a hexagonal shaped hall for consideration. It was decided to name the future hall "The Guy Turner Memorial Scout Hall", but when it was discovered that donations to the building fund were not claimable as a tax deduction, the name of the proposed building was changed to "Guy Turner (War Memorial) Scout Hall" as tax deductions were allowable for war memorial buildings.

Whilst still at Howe's garage, the first Summer camp was held at Butterfield Flat, near Monbulk. The Salvation Army provided a truck for transport.

David Rickard became the Groups first, First Class Scout and consequently the first Troop Leader. Another first was the winning of the Eden Park Challenge Trophy, a competition open to Tenderfoot and Second Class Scouts only.

The Group soon outgrew the garage The Basin Progress Hall was used. Steady growth continued in all sections of the Group and fund-raising became more adventurous. To mention a few; there was a supper dance, a Christmas bazaar and a mini gang show. Another event which originated then was the annual “Midnight Hike” from The Basin to the top of Mount Dandenong, via the SEC track. Few of the scouts from those early days will forget the adventurous “Wide Games” devised by Des Smith and played out on the moonlit paddocks of the Salvation Army.

The Group was offered, and purchased, the Special State School gymnasium which stood in Liverpool Road with the idea of relocating it for use as a Scout Hall. The building proved impossible to move and the building was wrecked, and all usable material sold for a good profit.

Part of an oak sideboard once owned by John James Miller came into the possession of Des Smith who carved a shield from it. The shield was presented to the district as a Scout competition trophy. Challenged by a team from the Bayswater Troop for its possession, 1st The Basin successfully resisted the challenge and were the first to record their name on the shield.

Story of the Fern Tree Gully District Badge

The District Badge that is worn by all Scouts and Cubs is a symbol not only of the fern glades that abound in our district, but of the Boy Scout Movement.

On close study, you will notice that the frond is not fully grown. Hence, anything that is not fully grown must have movement. As the brotherhood of Scouts is always growing, it must always be known as a movement.

It is essential that every solid construction must have a strong foundation; the fern stem proves itself here as it will not shed its leaves even in death. The leaves themselves also depict the older and younger members of our brotherhood. The lower leaves depict the Scouters who train the boys in the arts of scouting, the slight curl in this leaf denoting that a Scouter has a chance to grow (not upwardly or outwardly as some do) and that he can improve his knowledge by attending his training course. As we move up the stem we have Rovers seeking to further their knowledge on one side. We move further up and find the Senior Scouts are doing likewise on both sides. Then on to the Boy Scouts, to whom our founder Lord Baden Powell dedicated the movement.

At the top we have the bud, signifying the Wolf Cubs who are looking to all those before them for survival in this wonderful movement. The partly opened bud being the promise of the future; truly the Scouts of tomorrow.

A Senior Troop was formed with several of the Seniors helping as instructors in the Cub Pack and Scout Troop. Leaders increased with Des Smith as Group Scout Master, Marj Woollard as Lady Cub Master with assistants Mary McGillwray, Anne Revill, Audrey Foggitt and Lynda Smith. The Scoutmaster was Ken Gould with assistants Vernon Roy, David Rickard and Eric Lock was Senior Scout Leader with assistants Tom Bedohazy and Terry Elliot. In 1963 the troop was renamed the 5th Knox.

A Scout Hall became number one priority when the Group was unable to get enough bookings at The Progress Hall to accommodate the expanding organisation. The senior troop was meeting in Grange Road State School in Boronia. The Group also had a lease on some land at the rear of The Basin Kindergarten, although this was relinquished in 1967. Several discussions were held with local and district Girl Guide leaders to share a hall and fund-raising. However, no agreement could be reached.

Around this time, the Elders of the Presbyterian Church which stood on the corner of Forest Road and Church Street made a decision to move to Boronia. Wishing that their vacated building would be put to a good use, they approached Des Smith with an offer of purchase. After some delicate discussions, the group, now numbering 42, purchased the Presbyterian Church building in Forest Road, and this became the 5th Knox Scout Hall.

The new hall seemed a prize. The building was in an elevated position facing down Forest Road and on freehold land that could only appreciate in value. However, a few problems became evident:

- The corner was busy as Church Street was a shortcut to and from Mountain Highway (in 2021, the shortcut is closed).
- The land sloped and was not ideal for outdoor activities.
- There was a Right-of-Way beside the property connecting Forest Road to View Road, and it was not fenced which could mean considerable fencing cost.

In January 1965 Ken Gould took over as Scoutmaster. Staunch committee members over these years included Mesdames Watson, Keable, Brown and Messrs. Wilder, Watson, Foley, Churchland and Keable.

The Basin Scouts and Cubs

Phil Molesworth took over as Scoutmaster in 1966 after Ken Gould left leaving Vernon Roy in charge. Then, Phil lived in Thornbury and commuted to The Basin from there. Phil stayed until September 1967 when he was conscripted. Phil was discharged in December 1967 and in January 1968 moved to The Basin. Imagine his surprise when The Basin Scout Troop came to his home and asked him to return as they had no scout leader. Phil stayed until mid-1971 and was instrumental in helping John Maas gain his Queen Scout, the first for The Basin Troop.

In 1971, a brick extension to the Hall was added to. Shortly after this in 1972 the Hall was burnt down under suspicious circumstances. A large amount of gear and records were also lost. Luckily, the hall was insured with the Scout Association although the group had difficulty getting money from the Association for the Hall insurance.

The loss of the Hall was a blow to the group and for a while fund-raising was at an all-time high. The community was sympathetic to the group and a large amount of money was raised. Thought was given to rebuilding the Hall on the same site, but the site was not a suitable place for a Scout Hall and the Council would not issue a permit to rebuild on the site. Section meetings were held at St. Mary's Hall for about one year and later at The Basin Special School Gym until the new hall was built. Without a permanent storage area, gear was stored with various families and at the above two venues.

In 1978 the troop name was changed back to 1st The Basin. This was in line with a new policy to name troops according to their district and gives more identity to the name.

In 1979 a Ladies Auxiliary was formed. In this year three members — Scott Brennan, Glenn Butcher and Ian Winkworth attended the 12th Australian Jamboree. In 1982, Mark Ray, Simon Major and Stuart Laird attended the Jamboree at Collingwood Park, Ipswich. Queensland.

In 1983, 1st The Basin won every competition in the District and 1st The Basin Venturer unit was formed. In 1985, Stuart Dorwood, Matthew Major, Matthew Kelly, Karl Meerten and Stuart Blegg attended the Jamboree at Cataract Park. NSW.

Committee representatives for the years 1971-1985 include Goodman, Winkworth, Aroin, Hacking, Heard, Williams, Newman, Bell, Tomlinson, Wood, Brennan, Bloomer, Bettens, Major, Butcher, Short, Moorfoot, Spiteri, Coxhill, Hudson and Whalan.

After the loss of the hall, the Troop searched for another site. Sites offered by the Council included The George Grumont Reserve (rejected by community) and Batterham and Wicks Reserves (rejected by the troop as unsuitable). In 1980, Knox Council offered land on The Triangle.

Over the next few years, many plans were considered for a new Hall. The Basin Progress Association was against having a Scout Hall on The Triangle as they claimed they had an agreement with The City of Knox that land on The Triangle be restricted to “passive park” although this “agreement” was not in writing. Thereafter, ensued a public debate between the Scout Troop community and The Basin Progress Association. At one stage the Scout Troop even had a publicity caravan in the Service Station in the main street. Eventually, Knox Council decreed that the site be used for a Scout Hall.

In 1984, a building committee was formed consisting of Irene Major, Ron Short, Gus Pearl, Alan McIntyre, Ian Dorwood and Paul Navarro. Irene Major took on the task of building co-ordinator. A permit was obtained, and building commenced. The building was financed by the insurance from the old Hall, sale of land (old Hall site) and funds raised (approximately $40,000 in total). Except for bricklaying, the hall was built entirely by voluntary labour with special help from Ian Dorwood.

In 1987, the Rotary Club of Boronia fitted the roof to the hall. Internal work was finished, and a certificate of occupancy granted.

In 1988 the hall was finished and the hall was officially opened by members of the troop in front of an entourage of community members and local dignitaries. A 30th birthday party was held at the same time to commemorate 30 years of the group. The hall was also used by The Basin Guides and Brownies for a time, but they later moved to a hall in Boronia.

In 1988, Matthew Hellier, Luke Hellier, Jason Spiteri, Robert Elery, Ben McManus and Paul Lowe attended the Jamboree at Adelaide.

Group leaders since 1973 have been John Brennan, David Aroin, Stewart Tomlinson, Bill Spiteri, Bill Major and Phillip Ball.

The Basin Guides and Brownies

The first Guide company functioning in The Basin appears to have been in the 1920s but no evidence that the company was officially registered could be found.

Before 1964, Basin girls of Brownie or Guide age had a wait of up to two years to join the Boronia pack.

On 28th July 1964, a public meeting was held in The Basin Progress Hall to propose forming a Guide association in The Basin. The response was overwhelming, and an association was formed with Mrs. Cartmel President, Mrs. Pritchett Secretary and Mrs. Kirkham Treasurer. The association was registered on 14th August 1964. These then became the executive of the first Guides and Brownies based in The Basin.

The 1st Basin Brownies pack of eight girls commenced on 18th September 1964 under Mrs. R. C. Brown (Brown Owl) and Mrs. Brenda Jackson (Tawny Owl). The pack was registered on 12th March 1965. The girls in this first pack were Loraine Jackson, Alice Kingma, Lynette Whittleston, Barbara Cartmel, Vivian Kirkham, Wendy Frost, Elynda Watson and Mandy Noone (see photo on page 336).

The Basin Guides and Brownies

A second pack of 6 was registered on 21st September 1978 and commenced on 23rd September 1978. Leaders were Marilyn Simonsen and Alida Van Dongen. The second pack joined with first pack some years later.

A third pack of 6 commenced on 10th September 1980 and was registered on 20th October 1980. Leaders were Mrs J. R. Hudson and Mrs A. Goodwin.

A notable cub leader was Dianne Aroin who served for 20 years before retiring in 1995.

The guide company of nine girls commenced on 26th October 1964 with leaders Sue Anderson (Captain) and Mrs. Shirley Frost (Lieutenant). The company was registered on 21st December 1964. The girls in this first company were Anne-Marie Zaicz, Lenise Easley, Janice Gould, Robyn Ritchie, Ann Shanks, Leonie Noone, Margaret Smith, Carol De Haas and Gabrielle McDonald (see photo on page 334).

1st The Basin Gumnut Guide Unit was registered and commenced operation on 8th October 1993 with leaders Mrs Margaret Jones and Miss Meagan Shepherd

Cassandra Aroin was the first 1st The Basin Guides to receive the Baden Powell award in September 1994.

The Marinda Ranger Guide Unit was registered on the 12th May 2009 with leader Kiri Ratcliffe

Special mention must be made of the service given to The Basin Guide Company by Sue Anderson. She was the first Guide leader in The Basin and was with the company for a total of fifteen years.

Scouts forced out

Scouts are being forced out of The Basin after 25 years because they don't have a home.

After eight frustrating years of trying to get a hall, the 1st Basin Scout Group has come to the end of its resources.

"We will either shut the scouts down altogether or move from the area," said the group leader, Mr. Stuart Tomlinson.

Either way there will be no more scouting in The Basin.

Mr Tomlinson said morale in the 1st Basin Scouts is very low. "We have gone to the leaders, parents and boys so many times asking them to get enthusiastic and involved about a new home and each time it's fallen through.

"We are faced with losing many of our leaders, they have said if we don't have a final offer on a site by our annual meeting in March, they will drop out."

It was a bitter and disappointed Mr Tomlinson who told the history of the scout's long fight to stay in The Basin.

"We originally had our own hall at the corner of Forest Rd and Church St, but that burnt down in 1971 and we couldn't get a permit to rebuild on that site."

He said the scouts were offered the choice of several sites by Knox Council over the next few years, but they always fell through.

"It's normal for local councils to provide the land for scout halls," he said. "We have had the money for a hall for the past three years, we just can't get the land."

Finally council offered the scouts a site at The Basin Triangle where The Basin Elderly Citizens Club and The Basin Progress Association are situated.

"We just wanted a little part of that," Mr Tomlinson said. "But we heard the progress association was upset about our plans."

"We arranged a meeting with them to put our side of the story and hear their objections."

"Our people and I also turned up to the meeting and the chairman said there weren't enough people to form a quorum, but he held an unofficial meeting so we could put our case forward."

"We understood the association fully supported us and indicated they would help us."

"However, we then found the association had written to the council objecting to us."

Mr Tomlinson said the scouts had been fully supported by Cr Hurle Lupton in their search for land.

"At the last council meeting before Christmas a motion was put forward that we be offered the site at The Basin Triangle, but Cr White gave notice of a rescission motion."

The rescission motion was withdrawn at last week's council meeting and will be discussed at council's March meeting.

"The city has got to make up its mind by its next meeting (March 21)," said Mr Lupton. "It has got to give the scouts a definite answer as to whether they can continue to operate in The Basin."

Cr Lupton said council had offered the scouts the use of a pavilion at three different reserves — Wicks Reserve, Baltham Reserve and George Grumont Reserve.

He said in each case the committee of management had turned down the scouts' request for facilities.

In a bid to keep the scouts at The Basin and retain the leaders, Cr Lupton has offered them a site on the corner of Army Rd and Market St, Bournemouth.

"It's out of The Basin but it's a site," he said.

10 YEAR AWARD

Mrs Sue Anderson of The Basin has been awarded a long-service ribbon for 10 years with the guides.

● Mrs Sue Anderson of The Basin, with daughters Helen (left) and Penny, after the 10 years service award.

"I get as much from the brownies as my kids do. It is a good hobby," she said.

Mrs Anderson, who interrupted 10 years service to have a family, started with a pack in Yarnville, and took her promise as a guide in 1955.

She joined the leaders ranks in 1962 becoming an assistant leader, with the third East Ringwood guide company. In 1964 she started a guide company at The Basin.

Mrs Anderson's first Basin guide pack had six girls. It has grown to 18 girls in the guide pack with an additional three brownie packs each with 18 girls.

After having a break from the movement to raise her family she got back into the action in 1977 and became a leader of the one The Basin brownie packs.

Her eight-year-old daughter, Helen, is a member of the pack, and her elder daughter Penny, is a guide.

BURNT - OUR SCOUTS PLAN FETE

The 5th Knox Scout Group will hold a carnival and fete at Maguire Park, Bournemouth, from 10am to 5pm on July 20 to raise funds to rebuild their scout hall which was recently destroyed by fire.

Among the many attractions are a Ferris-Wheel, a Moonwalk, a trampoline, books, comics, balloons and plant stall as well as a White Elephant-Jumble Sale.

There will be a decorated hike competition with two attractive prizes, one for the winning boys and one for the best girl's hike.

Everyone can enter this competition and the entry fee is only 25c payable on the day and judging will start at 12 noon at the carnival.

The committee is negotiating further attractions including a judo demonstration, mini train and doddgem cars.

Refreshments will also be available with ham-burgers, hot dogs, fairy-floss, tea, coffee, soft drinks, cakes, lollies etc.

Unlike major disasters, where publicity and public support is plentiful, all fund-raising in this case is done the hard way. The committee is still seeking further help with some of their stalls. Donations of any kind are most welcome.

By donating it to the jumble sale you may well not only support the rebuilding of the scout-hall but you also make another happy buyer.

Any further information is available from the committee members by ringing one of the following numbers: Mrs Pat Lawson (Secretary) 762 2775, Mrs Joan Morse 251 1119, Mrs Francis Bell 729 9157, Erits Tiekink (President) 231 2271.

Rotary ra

● The Basin Scout Hall... waiting for a roof.

● Bournemouth Rotarians Geoff Spencer, Robert Armfield, Ted Gibbon, Doug Lee and Neville Sanders hard at work giving the scouts a roof over their heads.

The Basin's first scout group now has a roof over its head, thanks to a weekend of hard work by members of the Rotary and Rotaract clubs of Bournemouth.

Parents and friends of the scouts have been battling for more than a year to build a new hall to replace one which burned down in October 1971.

With about $40,000 and a lot of voluntary work, the new brick hall had been built up by a series of working bees, to the stage where a roof was required.

A member of the building committee, Mrs Irene Major, said that until Rotary offered help, it appeared that the roof was a far-off dream.

"Without money to pay for the labor costs involved in fitting our roof and with only a handful of parents to assist, it looked as if it would take at least three months to complete the task," Mrs Major said.

But just two days of solid work by Rotary saw the roof completed. Mrs Major said the hall might now be ready for use by Christmas.

"It will be a welcome sight to all the people who have waited 12 years for a new home for the scout group," she said.

In the meantime, the scouts have been meeting at The Basin Primary School.

Mrs Major said that having no hall or base in all that time had not dampened the enthusiasm of the scouts.

"In 1983, the troop won every trophy it competed for in the district," she said.

"Now they will have a home for those trophies."

She thanked the Rotarians and Rotaractors who gave up their time to help with the roof.

We specially want to thank Roy Ritchie for telling Rotary about our plight, Tony Worley, Rotary president, for putting our case to his committee, and Graham Hayden, organizer, and his willing band of workers," Mrs Major said.

Double reason to celebrate

THE BASIN Scout Troop will celebrate its 30th anniversary year with the opening of a new hall.

The hall replaces a previous one burnt in the 1971 bushfires.

The 1st The Basin Scout Hall was built by volunteer labor with great help from the Bournemouth Rotary Club.

The building took three years of weekend and part-time work to complete.

All past scouts, leaders, friends and the public are invited to attend the opening on Saturday, May 28, at 2.30pm. The hall is at the corner of Forest Rd and Church St, The Basin.

FROM left, The Basin scouts, David Killian, 10, Adam Smart, 10, Dale Linsaker, 9, and Aaron Gribble, 10, rake in the leaves in preparation for the opening of the scout group's new hall on May 28.

63. Stone wall. Originally built by sustenance workers during the depression of the 1930s. Has been repaired several times since then.

66. Site of old quarry. The location can be easily pinpointed as the roadside margin has a peculiar bend around the site. Not known who owned it or when it started operation, but it was used as a source of stone for local roads. Not used after about 1935.

The proposal never got past the planning stage.
77. Site of fire bell and shed with fire fighting gear used up until the 1950s by The Basin Fire Brigade. The shed sat behind the Progress Hall. 85. Schneider's Hill. So named as this hill was part of the "Schneider's Estate" first offered for sale in 1913. This hill is the highest piece of land in the Estate. A track runs to the top of the hill which was constructed by the owner of the land on top of the hill. The owner never had a chance to erect a house because the surrounding land was reclaimed by the Government to become part of the

Summary

This chapter details some of my research notes.

Research Notes

William Turner

Helen Coulsen in her publication “Story of the Dandenongs” and Muriel McGivern in her publications “History of Croydon” and “Founder of the Dandenongs” have numerous references to William Turner.

Neither author refers to a series of letters between William Turner and Government Officials discovered in the Public Record Office Pastoral Run files which provide valuable information about where he lived and when. The letters which have been reproduced here have been copied from faded handwritten copies and translation may not be correct. Letters are copyright The Public Record Office.

Neither author mentions the Pre-emptive right application by Turner listed in Marjorie Morgan’s “Crown Lands Pre-emptive Right Applications: Victoria 1850 – 1854” publication.

Robert Hoddle, who became the surveyor general of the Port Phillip District in the early 1800s, wrote in his letter book in 1851 an instruction to Assistant Surveyor H.B. Foot to:

“...mark lots for Turner and Thompson...”

These instructions are cited by both authors. McGivern cites that Hoddles letter book also states the survey was complete. I have not checked this citation.

Coulsen writes that Turner selected land in The Basin and indicates the selection may be linked with the 1851 instruction to Surveyor Foot. Letters 2 (page 8) and 3 (page 9) from the Public Record Office Pastoral Run files have made it clear the 1851 instruction referred to land found to be on John Thompson’s run. Also, an entry in the “Applications Register for the purchase of Land under Pre-Emptive Right” held by the Public Records Office confirms this.

McGivern wrote that:

“In 1851 Turner was satisfied with 81 acres of land on his homestead site in The Basin as he had applied for and obtained a licence to ‘east of Rouke Bros run’ at Bayswater so described.”

The references to “1851”, “81 acres” and “east of Rouke Bros run” are explicit but I have been unable to find evidence to support the claim in 1851. However, the 81 acres mentioned is the same size as Allotment 72A in The Basin east of Rourke Bros run. Turner mentions similar land in letter 5 (page 11) but the letter is dated 1858. McGivern may have had an incorrect date, but “Bayswater” was not a term used in 1851.

When William Chandler applied for a licence of 40 acres, later surveyed as allotment 72B, he described his land as “east of Turner’s 42nd Section known as The Basin.” If Turner held any right to allotment 72A, this land is west of allotment 72B as described by Chandler. The 42nd Section applied to land acquired under the 1865 land act, so it is assumed Turner had applied for a lease on this land earlier than 1865.

It has been recorded in other publications that Turners elder son, William, took over The Basin leasehold on Allotment 72A, but he lost the licence for encouraging “illicit distillation”. The “Turner” that William Chandler referred to above is most likely also Turners oldest son.

McGivern also refers to a lease by Turner of 320 acres in the forest just below Sassafras. Many “put away” 1868 maps of the Dandenong State Forest area by John Hardy show handwritten annotations referring to an area of 320 acres just below Sassafras. On one map, “Wm Turner” is written on the map but no land area is shown. Other maps refer to “Thomas Turner” (Wm Turners son) and rough boundaries of the area have been drawn. The land appears to be in the same area as land later held by Rosney and Hodgson with an additional section located North East, crossing the Dandenong Creek and finishing below Mount Dandenong in the area later granted to George Dodd. If Turner held land in the area that Hardy proposed as State forest, then possibly his licence or lease was revoked. However, no official records have been located that confirm any licences or leases in that location.

The 1868 map of the Dandenong State Forest by John Hardy was also used extensively by surveyors who first surveyed land under the 1869 Land Act. Many maps in the land selection files of The Basin settlers used the Hardy map to indicate the location of the surveyed land on a larger map.

I have located two William Turners that were active in Victoria around the same time as the William Turner who settled in The Basin. One had holdings in Northern Victoria and the other is included in a montage of early explorers and colonists of Victoria held by the State Library of Victoria. The dates ascribed to the Turner in the montage match those of the William Turner who settled in The Basin, but the photograph is different to that provided by the descendants of William Turner.

Turners descendants supplied me with a “Will” dated 1884 in which William Turner left all his real and personal estate to his son William Hector Turner who was also the executor. An online search of wills and Grant of Probate did not locate either. However, if an estate is not complex or large, it is not required that probate be granted.

Turners descendants also supplied me with a Turner family tree. The birth-dates of some Turners children on the tree do not agree with computed values from the family tree and official birth, death, newspaper records and genealogy websites. However, official records in the 1800s may not be correct.

Many references to William Turner are in The Melbourne Argus. He was made insolvent several times (see articles on 28th January 1848, 10th July 1862, 20th June 1874 and 3rd October 1878). The 20th June 1874 insolvency document is available from the Public Record Office. The 1878 insolvency resulted in an auction of his tailors’ stock at his Elizabeth Street, Melbourne premises on 11th October 1878. On 6th November 1888, his land at Lilydale was put up for auction.

Land Selection Files

Land Selection Files are held by the Public Record Office in Victoria. The links to the file numbers are read from Crown Plan allotment maps and “Put Away” plans. The Public Record Office has guides to assist in selecting the required files.

In The Basin area, some land selection files could not be located and sometimes not all documents were in the file. For example, files for Turner, Miller, Watson, Woodhouse and Dobson could not be located but this may because they were subject to a land act earlier than 1869 or had been pilfered.

Index

In the thousands of names entered in this book, some will be incorrect, so I apologise to these people in advance.

Not all names have an index entry. Most names in the appendixes are not indexed because there were too many to enter. Text can be easily searched for in the electronic version of this book.

Many index entries appear to be the same person. For example, “Cook”, “Cook, M.” and “Cook, Morrie”. These are most likely the same person, but the information came from different sources, and to be safe, I have not combined the entries.

Premiership flags

Premiership flags won by Batterham Tennis Club pack the clubroom ceiling, and it was impossible to remove them for listing or read them from the floor. Also, many flags have been taken by the recipients.

Premiership flags won by Miller Park Tennis Club also adorn the ceiling but are not tightly packed. It was possible to photograph them and read the details from the photograph. However, there may be some errors in translation.

Subdivisions and Titles

Subdivision references after about 1900 (LP Plan Numbers) can be found on the Land and Survey Spatial Information (LASSI) website. Enter the reference number into the Landata website and the plan can be purchased.

Subdivisions earlier than about 1900 are shown as a map on the associated title.

All subdivision plans have the associated Volume and Folio number (Certificate of Title reference) written on the plan. The title can then be purchased via the Landata website.

Titles contain pointers to the parent title and children titles which can be traced and purchased via the Landata website. Sometimes titles have more details about subdivisions.

Titles contain a number relating to the land purchase transaction. Using this number, a copy of the transaction can be purchased via the Landata website. It contains details about the transaction including purchase costs.

In addition to land purchase transactions, early titles have numbered references to caveats, red ink entries, court rulings, memos and leases (all known as Instruments). These old numeric instruments had multiple documents registered using the same numbers and most have been over-written. The only useable numbers are those relating to land purchase.

Birth Death and Marriage Certificates

Early settlers did not always record full or correct names on birth certificates. Parents death certificates often did not list all children and sometimes used the child's family pet name. Most early certificates are difficult to translate due to poor writing.

Other

I have used both the terms "died" and "passed away". Older reports used "died", so I have used this where appropriate.

I have not used the terms current or now because in later years they are redundant. Instead, I use the publication year of this book.
